But portaging is the hardest work which comes to the voyageur, for osmetimes it is necessary to drag the heavy boat and then carry her load of four or five tons over a rough, rocky point a mile in width. A portage strap is fastened to one "piece" of about one hundred pounds; another piece, perhaps two, are placed upon this, and with the strap against his forehead, with bare legs and shoeless feet, man after man toils across the portage, until the narorw path beneath is soft and damp with human sweat. They are glad when the last piece is over. The clumsy oars seem light when they pick them up again.

In former times buffalo pemmican constituted the chief food of the voyageur; now dried moose and caribou meat have taken its place. Then tea and flour were luxuries enjoyed but once a year, at Christmas; now they form part of his daily ration.

Hunting is the main recreation of the majority of the officers and clerks. The staff at a post often go off and hunt for a week, and a hundred or more geese and double that number of ducks load the boats on the return. The ptarmigan—brown in summer and white in winter—is a good game bird, and in some localities pinnated grouse or prairie chickens are very numerous. Our ubiquitous little friend, the partridge, too, is nowhere more frequently "at home" to the hunter than here, and he is often such a stranger to the guile of man that an Indian will walk up to the tree upon which he is sitting and slip the noose that he has fixed to the end of a pole over his head. After the first snow in the fall rabbit shooting is good sport, and in seasons when they are plentiful fifty or sixty to the credit of a single huntsman in an afternoon is not an uncommon score. Then there is the large game, such as moose and deer, while now and then a stupid bear pokes his nose in dangerous proximity to the fort, the staff turns out and he is shot for his fatal inquisitiveness.

At one of the posts where I was stationed we kept a moose for two years. She was taken when very young by an Indian, who killed her mother and brought the calf in his canoe to the fort. She was quite tame, and in the second winter we broke her to harness. Her chief amusement was scaring Indians by racing up to them and stopping abruptly with a loud snort, and planting her forefeet on the backs of the train dogs. A train dog will howl on the slightest excuse, and the pathetic outburst which greeted the successful performance of this latter feat appeared to cause Maud unstinted enjoyment and a certain wonder which it was ludicrous to behold.

The clerks often set traps adjacent to the forts, and in this way find another means of passing time and of adding to their incomes. Snowshoeing is also popular exercise on the short days, and at posts where they are kept horses are in much requisition.

SAFE WAS TOUGH.

The Apaches Pounded, Roasted It and Soaked It.

"The Apache Indians had a hard nut to crack when they got hold of our paymaster's safe," said the ex-sergeant of cavalry who was asked about his experience in Arizona. "On this particular trip I was detailed with six men to escort him. He and his clerk rode in an ambulance drawn by mules, and, of course, the escort was mounted. We were in camp one night between two forts, when we were jumped by at least one hundred Indians. They killed two men before we got out, and the ambulance was left in their hands.

"The paymaster's safe contained about $7,000 in greenbacks. It weighed something like 400 pounds and worked with a combination. None of the redskins had ever examined one at close quarters before, but they all knew what it was hauled about from post to post for, and, of course, they were anxious to get hold of the money. They first pounded off the knob with stones, thinking the door could then be pried open. It was a failure, of course, and then they tried their tomahawks, or the chilled steel, hoping to cut a hole in it. They had seen iron softened by fire, and the third move was to give that safe a three-hours' roasting. Luckily for Uncle Sam, it was fireproof. They threw big rocks upon it while it was still hot, and it was dented here and there, but they were as far from the money as ever. After working away for for a night and a day, the safe was dragged up the side of the mountain and tumbled over a precipice 200 feet high. They expected to see it burst open. But the only damage done was to break one of the wheels off. It was left lying where it fell for three or four days, and the gang then returned and carried it to the river and let it soak for a whole week. It was thought that this would soften it up, and great was their chagrin when baffled again. Then they tried gunpowder, but knew nothing of blasting they brought about an explosion which burned half a dozen warriors and left the safe as good as ever.

"The Indians were fooling with that strong box for a month or more. They roasted it again and gave it another fall, and no burglars ever worked harder to get at the long green. They failed to get at the inside, however, and in disgust they tumbled it into a deep ravine and left it. It was fourteen months later that peace came, and we accidentally got track of the safe. An ambulance and a guard was sent for it,and we found it lying in the bed of a creek, with a great pile of driftwood around it. It was a lonesome-looking old safe, as you may suppose, and nobody had the slightest hope that the money had escaped from the fire and water. When we got it to the fort and blew off the door we found the $7,000 as snug as you please. Some of the bills were a little tender from the heat and some hod grown moldy from the water, but Uncle Sam redeemed every dollar and the paymaster was made happy again. When the Apaches heard of our getting the money again, one of them, who had worked hardest on the safe,. growled at me:

"'White man some fool; Indian more fool, and big iron box great big d—n fool!'"

The Profession of "Burgling."

A well-known detective of several years' experience has this to say of burglars: "If one were to become a professional burglar his work would require study and practice, just as success in legitimate business demands education and experience. The burglar who does several 'jobs' and eludes the officers of the law is a keen observer, a man of forethought and one whose executive ability is unquestioned. Houses are not entered because they are brownstone fronts, nor are stores broken into by the professional thief without an investigation.

"When the skillful burglar it to do a 'job' he studies the habits of the resident or proprietor. In a case in Troy a few years ago a jewelry store was robbed. Apparently there was not a clew. Detectives were placed on the case and named the thieves by the method employed in getting into the store, and subsequently the thieves were convicted. Certain burglars always enter a cellar and come up through stairs, floor, or trap doors. Others have skeleton keys.

Others go above and come downstairs. Some break in rear and others front doors. In the robbery above referred to the two thieves had been in Troy three successive Saturday nights. They had fastened a silk thread on all entrances in such a way that if any one entered or left the store the thread would be broken. Thus the burglars learned that the proprietor and clerks did not visit the store after closing Saturday night until Sunday. The fourth Saturday night they 'cracked' the safe. Except for their methodical way of entering (by the cellar) no suspicion would have attracted itself to them.

"Even burglars have some style. People living in modest homes, unless they have large sums of money or jewelry, need not fear a visit from the professional. He is always posted on the plunder for which he seeks. As a rule, burglars are cowards, and it is only in emergencies that revolvers are used."—Troy Times.

How Murder is Reached.

A murderer usually finds out from the newspapers whether the person he shot has died. When he finds that he has committed a murder he cannot stop thinking of it. He weighs the fearful consequence of detection. The most desperate criminal is appalled by the vision of the gallows tree and the hangman's noose, which he conjures up before his eye. He must take some one into his confidence. A frank confession is good for the soul, no matter to whom the confession is made. He has shared and lightened the load he is carrying.

Usually his confidant is the woman with whom he finds refuge after the crime. That is the first step to his conviction. He tries to leave the woman at some later time or the woman wants to be shut of him. In either case she tells what she knows to the police authorities. This is the way in which murder mysteries are most frequently solved.

BIG INSURANCE.

The Prince of Wales Carries an Enormous Amount.

A big insurance man told me recently in New-York that the Prince of Wales was the heaviest risk of any patron of the insurance business, and that his death would cost English, German, French and American companies not less than $10,000,000.

"No other person carries 20 per cent of that insurance," he said, "but comparatively little of it is for the benefit of his family; perhaps not more than $1,000,000.

"It is a curious fact," continued my insurance friend, who spends a good deal of his time in England, "that $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 of insurance, perhaps more than that, has been placed on the life of the Prince of Wales as a speculation by persons who do not know him and have never had any relations with him whatever. This would not be possible under the insurance laws of the United States, but it is allowed by some of the English companies. Over there any man can secure a policy on the life of a neighbor, provided he can persuade the neighbor to submit to a medical examination or find a company which has recently had him examined. Thus when the Prince of Wales undergoes an examination for insurance lots of speculators apply to the same company for policies on his life, or get certified copies of the report of the medical examiner and use them with other companies. It is pure speculation. They pay a high premium, a margin, so to speak, or, to put it in another way, they book a wager with the insurance companies that the Prince will die before the total of their premiums exceeds the amount of the policy. Therefore, many persons would be financially benefited if Albert Edward should drop off suddenly one of these fine days. The Prince is perfectly aware of this fact. He knows very well what advantages have been taken of his situation, but I do not suppose it makes any difference with his habits."

"Are kings generally insured?" I asked.

"Yes, most of them, but they are not regarded as a good risk, and companies that carry the policies do not advertise the fact any more than necessary. It injures rather than benefits them. The late Emperor Frederick, father of the present Kaiser, carried nearly $5,000,000 of insurance, which is about all the money his widow has to live on, for her pension from the German Government is small. Frederick was considered a first class risk. He was a man of robust health, splendid stature, with the training and frugal habits of a soldier, and was an athlete; but all at once a cancer was discovered, which he doubtless inherited from his grandmother, beautiful Queen Louisa, and he failed rapidly. The present Kaiser is not considered a good risk. This is quite as much because of his constitutional defects as for political considerations, but for obvious reasons no company would decline an application from him for insurance."

"I understand the Queen of Spain is heavily insured?"

"Yes, that is supposed to be the case, although little is known about it, and the prevailing impression is that most of her policies are in American companies, which have agencies in Madrid. Alfonso XII, her husband, was insured in several French and English companies—some say to the extent of $5,000,000, but I do not know the exact amount."—Chicago Record.

Partly Immune to Electric Shock.

"It is a singular fact," said an electrician of this city, "that the human body is capable of becoming more or less inured to shocks from live wires. I suppose the average scientist would scout the idea, but what I say is borne out by every-day experience. The employees of a big electric light works, for instance, are continually receiving shocks that would disable an ordinary man, but are apparently none the worse for the experience.

"I remember sometime ago a couple of young fellows came in contact accidentally with a live wire at a manufactory here in town, and both received exactly the same current. One of them was a helper around a dynamo and had met with mishaps of that sort before. He was knocked off his feet and momentarily stunned, but was all right in less than two minutes. The other man, who was a stranger, fell over as if struck by lightning, and it was fully half an hour before he showed the least signs of returning consciousness. He was laid up several days, and oddly enough, was much the more powerful, physically, of the pair.

"I have known several cases of practically the same sort. The motormen on the street cars frequently 'get the current' as they call it, especially in rainy weather when wet wood becomes a conductor. They tell me they don't mind it much after the first few times. It is certainly difficult to understand how repeated shocks can fortify the system against the mysterious fluid, but the fact is as I state. I'll leave the explanation to somebody else."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Operatic Airs for Station Calls.

Many Schuylkill Valley commuters invent pretexts for taking at night the 10:40 train from Broad street, so as to travel with the Singing Brakeman. This robust and humorous young man has a good baritone voice, and he sings the names of the stations. "I am," he declares, "the original Singing Brakeman. I have the field all to myself, but this will not endure. The directors and big chiefs have been hit hard by my work, and it will not be long before all brakemen will be singers. Won't it be better so? Consider the ordinary brakeman. When he comes to Fifty-second street he grunts in a discord: 'Hrump-hrump,to-ra-ra-hrump!' The passengers can't understand that, and besides their ears are displeased. But I sing the station's name clearly, now to the air of 'Lohengrin's swan song,' now to the bird music of 'Siegfried,' and again to the intoxicating handkerchief motive of 'Tristan and Isolde.' The passengers look at me and smile. Sometimes they clap, stamp with the feet, cry 'bravo!' and 'encore,' but I am obdurate, having my work to do, and give no encores. I admit that I am proud of the fame I have won and that my heart throbs with joy when I overhear young ladies saying, as I pass through the train: 'Look, there goes the Singing Brakeman.'"—Philadelphia Record.

She Sends to Herself a Package of Arsenic-Laden Fruit.

A Happy Accident Frustrates an Attempt to Fasten the Guilt Upon an Innocent Woman — Most Wicked of Plots — The Result of Her Love.

It is a queer story that comes from San Francisco, where the police have been wrestling with a mysterious poisoning case, in which, fortunately, no one was poisoned. It is the story of a woman's love for a married man, and her attempt to get rid of his wife by having her sent to prison on a false charge of sending a box of arsenic-laden fruit by mail. In many of its details the case is similar to that in which Mrs. Botkin figured, and the disclosures are such as to make some experts doubt the worth of the evidence on which the Botkin woman was convicted.

Miss Florence M. Campbell, of San Francisco, was infatuated with John Rathom, a married man. She got the idea into her head that if she could get rid of Mrs. Rathom by bringing about a divorce Rathom would marry her. This was the sole purpose of a plot that would have done credit to Lucretia Borgia. It is admitted by the girl, and her confession has been sustained by the investigations of detectives. Miss Campbell did not wish to kill the woman who stood in her way. She merely wished to blacken her character with a false charge which would land her in prison and give Rathom an

Mrs. Rathom and Miss Campbell were at one time close friends and had carried on a correspondence. The latter had several of Mrs. Rathom's letters in her possession, and one day a devilish scheme came into her head. She had been reading how Mrs. Botkin had been convicted of sending poisoned candy through the mails to the wife of her lover, and the most conclusive bit of evidence against her being the handwriting on the package. As she studied the Botkin case the love-sick Miss Campbell hurriedly framed out a course of action. She She would mail a box of poisoned fruit to herself; the address on the cover would be apparently written by Mrs. Rathom, and this would afford the desired means of prosecuting the woman into prison. It would be easy to secure conviction, as San Francisco juries are not inclined to be lenient with Borgias, and the proof of Mrs. Rathom's guilt would be conclusive.

(Miss Florence M. Campbell.)

All this, it should be remembered, is not surmise or police theory. It is the story told by Miss Campbell in a moment of remorse when she thought she was dying from the effect of her own carelessness.

What made the plan prepared by Miss Campbell easier was the fact that Mrs. Rathom had discovered the liaison and was threatening a suit for divirce.

Miss Campbell bought some candied cherries and loaded them with arsenic. Then, taking one of Mrs. Rathom's letters addressed to herself, she trimmed down the envelope so as to get rid of the old postmark and pasted it on the box. Her next move was to mail the package. This done she called up by telephone the residence of Mrs. Scheib, where she boarded, and, imitating the voice of Mrs. Rathom as closely as possible, inquired whether Miss Campbell had received a package by mail. This was another move to fasten guilt on Mrs. Rathom, as Mrs. Scheib, when questioned by the police, said it was undoubtedly the latter who had talked over the telephone.

In preparing the box of poisoned fruit Miss Campbell was careful to leave the top layer of cherries undoctored. She did this for the reason that she would have to pass the box around among the members of the Scheib family when she received it, and, as she did not wish to poison anybody, the top layer could be eaten without danger. Later she would make the discovery that the rest of the contents were poisoned, give the affair into the hands of the police and the running down of Mrs. Rathom would be easy.

As luck would have it, after sampling the contents of the box the afternoon it was received Mrs. Scheib complained of not feeling well, and innocently said that she thought the cherries had made her sick. Miss Campbell, her nervous system overwrought by excitement, at once imagined a horrible condition of affairs. "What," she argued to herself, "if I have made a mistake and put some of the poisoned fruit on top?" The more she thought of it the more nervous and apprehensive she became, and finally she imagined she also felt queer pains in her stomach. Then she was sure both she and Mrs. Scheib had eaten the poisoned fruit and were going to die. She rushed to the drug store and got an antidote, consisting of mustard and soap, swalowed a lot herself and hastened back home to the relief of Mrs. Scheib.

In the meantime the druggist had informed the police of the poisoning case. Detectives called at the Schieb home and took possession of the box of fruit. Chemists analyzed the box of cherries and said they contained arsenic enough to kill a herd of cows. Experts examined the address, and, prompted by the information given by Miss Campbell, found it was in the handwriting of Mrs. Rathom. Thus far the plot had worked well, with one exception. Mrs. Rathom was implicated all right, but Miss Campbell was afraid that both herself and Mrs. Scheib were going to die. She said things in her terror that the police remembered, and when they ran against a snarl one day that could not unravel they came back to Miss Campbell for explanation.

Neither Miss Campbell nor Mrs. Scheib had partaken of the poisoned fruit. The illness of the latter was caused by some slight bowel trouble, while the girl suffered solely from a guilty conscience and high nervous tension. They both recovered speedily. For nearly a month the police worked on the mystery. It was soon settled, despite the incriminating address, that Mrs. Rathom could not have sent the package. Detectives ascertained that a young woman answering the description of Miss Campbell had bought the cherries at one place and arsenic at another, and had been noticed by the postal clerks when mailing the package. Then it was intimated to Miss Campbell that she might have sent the box herself. She repelled the charge dignantly. Then the officers asker her to explain some of the odd things which she had said when she thought she was dying. She tried to do so and made a sorry mess of it. Little by little they tangled her in a web of contradiction, and at last she broke down and told the story virtually as given in this article.

Miss Campbell is an attractive woman of good family. She is the daughter of the Hon. John A. Campbell, of Cumberland, W. Va., and a graduate of Hiram College, Ohio. She went to California with letters of introduction to Senator Perkins and other prominent people, and has been well received in society there.

SHEDS HIS SKIN.

A Man Has Done so Yearly for Forty-Three Years.

A man who sheds his skin in its entirety once a year, and who has done so regularly for the last forty-three years, is one of the curiosities that Butte, Mont., boasts of. The man—J. M. Price, a fairly well educated miner—it at the present time engaged in the curious pastime of skining himself. The methods that he adopts is to first skin his hands and face and then strip it in an immense sheet from his body.

The process of skining hig hands and face was completed August 6, and it came from the face like a mask. The skin from the hands resembled a pair of gloves and was exhibited on the streets. The toughness is something remarkable, and two men tried with might and main to tear it. They were not successful, although the skin is not thicker than the leather of a man's street glove. Price talks freely about the matter, although he is rather tender about any publication in the newspapers. Many physicians have examined him during the period of the skining, but not on ehas been able to solve the problem. In speaking of the matter Mr. Price said:

"My mother told me that she first noticed the trouble when I was about 6 months old, and regularly every year since then I have shed my skin. It is a phenomenon that no physician has yet satisfactorily explained, although hundreds have made examinations and investigations. The fact is, that I shed my skin, and that is all there is to it. Regularly on the twenty-fourth day of July of each year I feel the premonitory symptoms, and on very few occasions has it missed the 24th of that month. The first thing I feel is nausea, and then I know that I am in for it. The skin becomes perfectly dead, and the perspiration that should come through forms in blisters under it, and the whole thing becomes loose. I generally cut a circle around my wrists, and with the aid of a lead pencil strip it off whole for the purpose of preserving it in the shape of a glove. I take it off from my face in the same manner, but am compelled to remove it from my hair like dandruff. I took a long walk this morning for the purpose of getting up a perspiration, and, as you see, my whole body is blistered. I will strip it off to-day or to-morrow. It comes off in great strips, as you can see by this photograph, which was taken last year. There is no particular pain accompanying the operation, although new skin is very soft and tender during the first week or ten days. I have to lay off for about two weeks each year to attend to it. My children do not inherit the disease from me. There is one of them, and she is 9 years of age, and there has been nothing of the kind ever noticed with her. Several years ago I was in San Francisco when I shed my skin, and the doctors there preserved it in its entirely and then stuffed it. I am a miner, but my work in the mines does not effect my condition in any way that I can see. My general health is good, even if I do have skin to throw at the birds.

Grander than Niagara.

A correspondent, writing in the London Spectator, says the Gersoppa falls, on the Sharavatti river, in South Kanara, India, are larger and more magnificent than Niagara. He says: "The river is 250 yards wide; the clear fall is 830 feet. The Gersoppa falls in the rainy season are incomparably finer than Niagara in every respect. The roar of the falling waters is simply terrific; the whole earth shakes, and the thunder is so great that it completely drowns the human voice. When I visited Niagara and told my American friends about Gersoppa they replied, with polite incredulity, 'We never heard of Gersoppa.' I replied: Make your minds easy; the people at Gersoppa have never heard of Niagara.' If Niagara could seen Gersoppa she would wrap her head in a mist."

SPORTING.

GOLF

It is the opinion of the best golf players that the Hillside course is not only a very sporty one, but is equal if not better than the one at Baltusrol.

Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, Jr., of the Hillside Tennis and Golf club, was one of the contestants in the handicap tournament on the Baltusrol Golf Club links Thursday. She finished twenty-first in a field of sixty, with a low handicap. Her gross score was 126 for the eighteen holes. With a handicap of 6 it made her net score 118. Miss Maude VanBoskerck, of this city, also contested, but as a member of the Baltusrol Club. Her gross score was 136, her handicap 6 and her net score 130.

In a few weeks both the Hillside and Park Golf Club links will close for the season, golf enthusiasts will seek other forms of amusement for the winter. It can truly be said that this season has been the most successful hereabouts in golf, and from now on the popular sport will become more so each succeeding year. At the Hillside Club there has been a gradual increase in membership until at the present time there is only room for ten more members in the club. After the quota is filled it is not believed that the limit will again be raised for years to come.

The present membership of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club is 240 and the limit is 250. There is no disposition on the part of the members to again increase the limit in membership, as the club is not on a good paying basis and no additional money is needed. If anyone desires to join the club it would be well for them to do so at once as only ten more persons will be received. The total membership of the club including associate, active and honorary members is about 450. The growth of this club has been phenomenal and it is one of the leading clubs of the kind in this part of the country.

HURLED FROM TROLLEY CAR

New Brunswick Runaway Plunges Down a Steep Grade and One Victim May Die.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, October 24.—There is a steep grade of the trolley road which runs down the tracks of the Raritan River Railroad, and this morning the rails were covered with wet leaves, as a car started down. It was under way only a few seconds when the brakes refused to work, and down it sped like a shot.

Half-way to the bottom is a curve, and as the car rounded it Peter Zenowich, who was holding on to the rear platform, was hurled off. It seemed a miracle that the car did not leave the tracks. The motorman stuck to his post and succeeded in stopping the car at the edge of the railroad tracks. Zenowich may die of his injuries. Several passengers were slightly cut by flying glass.

TOOK THEM BY STRATEGY.

Officers Captured Three Italians and a Justice Fines Them $160 for Killing Eight Birds.

Gabriel Marino, aged fifty-nine, and Tony Marino, twenty-five years old, both residents of Brooklyn, were lodged in the Union county jail yesterday afternoon for violation of the game laws. The prisoners were arrested on the outskirts of Roselle by Game Warden Hawkins and Constable Bonnell, who caught them after they had shot eight brown thrush.

There were three Italians in the party, and they showed fight by pointing their guns at the officers and threatening to kill them. The officers were armed with revolvers, but they concluded to try strategy, and opened a parley with the hunters. When the Italians lowered their guns Hawkins and Bonnell drew their revolvers and, rushing upon them, called on the Italians to surrender, which they did with very bad grace.

After being disarmed the prisoners were marched to Justice Noah Woodruff's office. He fined the men $20 for each bird killed, or $160 in all, with costs. One of the prisoners was released in order that he might go to Brooklyn and raise money enough among friends there to pay the fine. He had about $30 in his pocket which was held as security until he returns.

HIS SECOND HOLD-UP

William French Met With Another Exciting Experience—This Time Near Union Village.

William French, of West Fourth street, who was held up two weeks ago on West Front street and shot in the arm by one of the highwaymen after a desperate encounter with them, experienced another hold-up last night while on his way to his grandfather's home near Union Village. French, who was discharged from the hospital only a few days ago, and still carries his arm in a sling as the result of being shot, was walking along an isolated part of the road when a strange man stepped out from behind the bushes at the side of the road and refused to allow French to pass. French became frightened and started on a run back to "Highland Farm," where he told his story to Richard Rogers. The latter got out his shotgun and taking two dogs started towards the place where French said he had been held-up. They got trace of the stranger and followed him over Wolf hill, but lost sight of him when he disappeared in a thicket.

HOWARD AND HOUSTON PROBABLE NOMINEES.

There's a Chance For Coriell and Halsey.

A COMBINATION POSSIBLE.

OTHERWISE THE SLATE IS LIKELY TO GO THROUGH.

Houston's Nomination for Shrievalty Seems the Inevitable Result — But There May Be a Deadlock Between Howard and Halsey Which Would Give Plainfield Candidate a Chance.

The time for noise on the part of the various candidates for nominations on the Union county Republican ticket this fall is over. From now until to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, each of the would-be nominees and his friends are hard at work pulling "wires" and trying to in some way win the support of the various delegates elected to the county convention.

Plainfield has a delegation of thirty-seven to go to the county convention and that delegation is going solid for somebody. It is impossible now to say what course of action the Plainfielders are going to take when the convention begins. Two of the local wards selected delegations which were openly in support of B. Frank Coriell although they went uninstructed. The other wards sent delegations uninstructed.

The results of the primaries through the county have divided the delegates into two parties. One party or faction openly supports the candidacy of William Howard, of Rahway, for County Clerk, and Robert Houston, of Elizabethport, for Sheriff. The other doesn't. The latter is divided. A strong element in upper Elizabeth favors Charles Halsey, of Elizabeth, for County Clerk, but has no candidate for Sheriff. Now the Plainfield delegation is understood to favor B. Frank Coriell for the Shrievalty nomination. The Plainfielders are anxious at any rate that this city shall have something on the ticket.

At present Coriell is a deputy to Clerk Howard who is after the nomination. Mr. Coriell is understood to be in favor of Mr. Howard. Such a state of affairs would naturally cause trouble in case the friends of Coriell should unite with Halsey to nominate the latter instead of Howard for the County Clerkship.

In the convention the Sheriff will be nominated before the County Clerk. There is no doubt but that Robert Houston, of the 'Port, is the strongest candidate in the field for the Shrievalty. There are certain Plainfielders who firmly believe that the nomination was promised to him three years ago and that the promise ought to be kept. In past years the 'Port and Plainfield have stood by each other. There are men who believe that Houston is almost certain, with his present support, to receive the nomination.

If Houston is nominated, will Plainfield put up a candidate for the County Clerkship and if such a candidate is put up, who will he be? This is a possible outcome that is worrying some Plainfield Republican workers. There is no telling what combinations may be made before the convention is called to order. On these combinations will depend the answers to the questions mentioned. If the contest between Howard and Halsey for the County Clerkship results in a deadlock, then there will be a chance for a Plainfield candidate to be put forward as a compromise candidate and secure the nomination.

Present prospects point, however, toward the probable nomination of Houston and Howard with a single Assemblyman to satisfy Plainfield.

To Lessen Chance of Fire.

F. C. Lounsbury, of the Crescent Embossing Works, is having a brick building erected close to the works in which he expects to store combustible materials which is used in his business. The many frame structures in close proximity to his works has led him to take this action to insure safety to his property.

A Private Wire.

The Councilmanic committee has given Mr. Morse, of West Front street, the privilege of having telegraph wires run across Grant avenue and West Front street to his house. Mr. Morse is associated with the telegraphic department of the Jersey Central Railroad.

Plenty Who Will Run.

It is rumored that there are any number of Plainfielders who want to be elected Councilmen at the next city election. Heretofore there has been a scarcity of candidates, but this year is an exception to the rule.

JERSEY WILL SEE BRYAN

HE IS TO MAKE A TOUR OF THIS STATE IN DECEMBER.

Committee of Fifteen Met in Trenton Yesterday — They are Bound to Have Jersey Fall in Line for the Nebraskan.

The Bryan Democrats held a lengthy meeting in Trenton yesterday and completed their plans for the delivery of the State to Bryan at the next National convention. The meeting of the committee of fifteen named at the Philadelphia conference was held for the purpose of creating a distinctive Bryan State committee. Congressman William D. Daly, of Hoboken, who is Mr. Bryan's personal representative in New Jersey, presided. The principal speeches were made by James Minturn, of Hoboken; Allyn Brewer, of Camden, and Charles Stokes, of Beverly.

It was decided not to be aggressive and attempt to oust the present State committee, but to arrange all the details of the coming State convention and to select the delegation to the National convention. If, however, the convention should name a delegation favorable to Senator Gorman or any man but William Jennings Bryan, a convention will be called ten days later and a Bryan delegation elected, and the fight carried into the National convention.

The committee, after much discussion, agreed upon an invitation to all Democrats to get on the Bryan band wagon before the next State convention.

Col. Bryan will come to New Jersey about the first week of December and will be given a triumphant escort through the State. He will speak in Camden, Trenton and Newark. A committee was named to arrange the details. It consists of Congressman Daly and James Minturn, both of Hoboken; John F. Hall, of Atlantic City; John Wright and Allyn Brewer, of Hoboken; Charles Stokes, of Beverly, and Anthony Killgore, of Frenchtown, Hunterdon county.

TO FIGHT MATCH TRUST

MATCH MAKING MACHINES TO BE MADE IN BOUND BROOK.

The Company is Organized With $100,000, But it is Said Has $5,000,000 at its Command if it is Needed.

What promises to be a lively fight between concerns each representing a large capital will have its beginning in the filing Saturday with the Secretary of State at Trenton, of the report of the newly organized American Match Machine Company. The fight will be between it and the Diamond Match Company, in which Edwin Gould is largely interested, and which up to the present time has enjoyed a monopoly of manufacturing machines for the making of matches.

The company is capitalized at $100,000, but it is asserted that there there is more than $5,000 000 back of the company, and that many millions of dollars more are available if the Diamond Match Company should decide to make a fight against the new company.

A large plant has been erected at Bound Brook, with a daily capacity of match making machinery equal to 800 gross or 100 boxes. Already orders have been received for machinery for five factories which are to be established in cities between New York and Chicago. One of these cities is in Pennsylvania and another in New Jersey. The capacities of the different plants range from 500 gross of 100 boxes of matches daily up to 4,000 gross.

Hitherto all the patents for match making machinery in this country and several in Germany have been held by the Diamond Company, which thus was secure in its monopoly.

Middlesex Prohibition Ticket.

The Prohibition party of Middlesex county has nominated the following ticket: For Sheriff, Jesse Perry, of Metuchen; for County Clerk, A. C. Holman, of Cranberry; for Assemblymen, Joseph Sylvester, of Perth Amboy; Rev. Joseph Horner, of New Brunswick; Symmes Perrine, of Cranberry; for Coroners, Dr. E. B. Dana of Metuchen; E. A. Hulse, of Perth Amboy. The party decided to continue its organization in the county. The following county officers were chosen: President, C. F. Garrison of Cranberry; secretary, F. A. Demaris, of Cranberry, treasurer, Jesse Perry, of Metuchen.

THE DEMOCRATS TONIGHT

THE PRIMARIES PROMISE TO BE LARGELY ATTENDED.

Delegates Will Not Go Pledged for Any Candidate, Though Reports to That Effect are Circulated.

For the first time in several years the Democratic primaries in this city tonight, to elect delegates to the county convention in Elizabeth Friday, promise to be largely attended. An extra effort has been made by a number of the younger members of the party to stir up interest, and there are indications that every ward will see a large and representative crowd at their respective primary.

The business to be transacted will be the election of delegates and a county committeeman from each ward. It is probable that other party business will also be brought.

Though there are now a number of aspirants for the various county nominations, and each one is looking for delegates, it is not likely that the Plainfield delegates will go pledged for any candidate. It was reported yesterday that a Fourth ward worker was trying to fix matters so that the Plainfield delegates would go to the county convention with the understanding that they would support William Oliver for County Clerk. It is doubtful if any specific work has been done in this direction, but if there has been such efforts they will probably go amiss. Democrats at large in this city are not now inclined, so those who take the greatest interest in the party say, to go to the convention this year pledged to any candidate. It is certain that the Democrats who have usually taken the lead are not going to father any movement that looks to the elevation of any single office-seeker to the injury of the party as a whole.

ON A TOUR OF INSPECTION.

Grand Jury Visited County Jail and Commended Warden Dodd for His Work.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 25—The Grand Jury of Union county has completed its labors and will announce the result of them to the court tomorrow morning. At the session of the Grand Jury yesterday the last of the cases was considered and the Grand Jurors were taken to the county jail, where they inspected the jail and the prisoners.

There were several very tough characters locked up there. All were much pleased with the remarkably clean and neat appearance of all parts of the jail. Warden Dodd's efforts had evidently met with much success. The condition of the county jail was compared with that of Plainfield's city jail and the Grand Jurors were of the opinion that Plainfield ought to be indicted for allowing such a state of affairs to continue in the city.

TO DEBATE A BIG QUESTION.

Rev. J. B. Cleaver and Councilman Swackhamer to Discuss the Policy of Imperialism.

What promises to be the most interesting and exciting public debate held in Plainfield in several years will take place tomorrow night in Reform Hall, when Rev. J. B. Cleaver, of Bound Brook, who has become quite a factor in the Republican party of Middlesex county, and S. S. Swackhamer, president of the Common Council of North Plainfield, will discuss the question—"Resolved, That the United States should follow a policy of imperialism.' Rev. Mr. Cleaver is a profound believer in President McKinley's policy with reference to the Philippines, and he will take the affirmative of the question. Councilman Swackhamer, an ardent Democrat, will represent the negative side. Col. Mason W. Tyler, Gen. Negley and Alex. Miller will act as judges.

M'lle Mira Marisona, a grand opera singer, will be present and sing for the audience.

STRUCK BREWERY WAGON.

James Brady, of Easton, Narrowly Escaped Death Last Night on Railroad Crossing Near Easton.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Easton, Pa., October 25—The east bound passenger train No. 16 on the Jersey Central Railroad struck one of the Seitz Brewing Company's wagon at Stuker's Crossing last night. The driver was thrown out and badly injured and one horse was killed. The train is due in Plainfield at 9:30 o'clock.

James Brady, of 130 West street, this city, was driving. He did not hear the whistle until too late. The locomotive struck the wagon and threw it some distance in the ditch. Brady had a leg broken and was badly bruised and cut. He was brought to the hospital. He will recover. One horse was killed outright and the other was injured.

A FORGED CHECK BY A DRUG CLERK.

Edmund Dantes Arrested on Complaint of Druggist Hepburn.

THE CHECK WAS FOR $12.

IT WAS CASHED BY DR. LEONARD, THE DENTIST.

The Accused Was Employed as a Clerk By Charles E. Hepburn—Of Late He Had Charge of Druggist Hall's Store—Held To Await the Action of the Grand Jury, But Is Released On Bail.

Edmund Dantes, a drug clerk, formerly of Newark, was arrested this morning by Constable Mattox on a warrant issued by Justice Nash upon complaint of Charles E. Hepburn. The charge against Dantes is for forging the name of "Hepburn & Co." to a check for $12.

The check was drawn October 2d on the First National Bank, of this city, and made payable to W. Yates. It was cashed by Dr Leonard who deposited at the First National Bank when the forgery was discovered

Dantes was employed at Hepburn's drug store for several months last summer. Later he entered the employe of Druggist Charles Hall, at Watchung avenue and Fifth street, and had charge of Mr. Hall's store for a few weeks while the proprietor was abroad. While in Mr. Hepburn's employe Dantes gave good satisfaction and when he severed his connection with that establishment, he was given a letter of recommendation.

Before Justice Nash this morning Dantes waived examination and gave bail for his appearance before the next Grand Jury. Kolman Bottberg went on his bond for $150.

CONSOLIDATION DENIED.

LACKAWANNA WILL NOT LEASE THE JERSEY CENTRAL.

Rumors of an Approaching Consolidation Denied by the President of Each Road—The Causes of Stock's Advance.

The truth of the rumor which has been currently circulated in Wall street for the past few days that the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western road was negotiating for a lease of the New Jersey Central was emphatically denied by the officers of both railroads yesterday.

President Truesdale's private secretary said that there was no possible foundation for any report to that effect.

"In the first place,' he said, "this road could not in any way be benefited by any such combination of interests. I understand that the report has it that our road would be able to compete with the Pennsylvania for Western traffic. That is absurd, for our road has no idea of competing with the Pennsylvania road in any way than generally occurs in the ordinary course of the road business.

"I see that it has been said that the advance of our stock has been assigned as an indication of some contemplated big deal or combination in which our road was interested. The real reason for the advance of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western stock is the large increase in the earnings of the company for the past few months and the economical management of the road."

President J. R. Maxwell, of the New Jersey Central Railroad said that he had not yet heard of any proposed leasing of his road.

"If such a thing were going to take place in the near future," said President Maxwell, "I should think that I would have had some word of it; but I have not"

SURPRISE WAS COMPLETE.

Delightful Affair in Honor of Birthday of Miss Hazel Van Sickle.

A delightful surprise was arranged last evening for Miss Hazel Van Sickle, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Van Sickle, of East Third street. It was the occasion of the celebration of her twelfth birthday. The Misses Simmons were interested in arranging it. There were some forty guests present and they spent a delightful evening playing games. The surprise was complete.

Discussed Boys Work.

There was an interesting meeting of the boys' work committee of the Y. M. C. A. last evening. A liberal discussion was indulged in regarding the best plans to pursue to obtain the best results and how to improve the work. The conference held last week awoke considerable interest among the boys. It is believed that much benefit will result from these conferences, which have come to be looked upon by the boys of vital good to the welfare of the Y. M. C. A.

EVENING WITH AUTHOR

JOHN KENDRICK BANGS ENTERTAINS A CULTURED AUDIENCE.

Selections From His Works Read at the Y. M. C. A. Hall—Society Graced the Occasion and Gave Mr. Bangs a Reception.

Society of Plainfield paid John Kendrick Bangs, a deserved compliment last evening by its appearance at the hall of the Y. M. C. A. on the occasion of the readings given by that well-known author. The entertainment was given for the benefit of the Wellesley College Endowment fund. The audience was one of culture and refinement, but in point of numbers was not large. There were five numbers on the programme.

Mr. Bangs was introduced to the audience by Henry M. Maxson, the superintendent of the public schools.

The ability of an author to read correctly and entertainingly his own productions is often questioned. It is, indeed, a difficult position in which to place one of refined sensibilities. While Mr. Bangs can not be said to give evidence of embarrassment or positive awkwardness, nevertheless his elocutionary powers, and delivery lacked that degree of fitness expected to be found in a literary genius of Mr. Bangs' splendid reputation. In kindly difference to the gentleman it is the opinion of many people who listened to his readings that it is possible that his writings can be better handled by some person other than the author. However, the entertainment was a pleasing one and Mr. Bangs' graceful literary ability was much admired.

The readings included selections from "Coffee and Repartee," "Van-Bibber's Failure," "Ghosts I Have Met," "Peeps at People" and "A House Boat on the Styx." The readings were well received and their author generously applauded.

The patronesses of the entertainment were: Mrs. Marion S. Ackerman, Miss Bass, Mrs. Albert B. Beers, Mrs. Charles B. Brooks, Mrs. Josiah Brown, Mrs. John Bushnell, Miss Cock, Mrs. Martin I. Cooley, Mrs. R. Henry Depew, Mrs. J. B. Dumont, Mrs. Geo. W. Ferry, Mrs. Alex. Gilbert, Mrs. Ellis W. Hedges, Mrs. Wm. T. Kaufman, Mrs. August W. Kleinecke, Mrs. Henry M. Maxson, Mrs. Thomas Minford, Mrs. Wm. T. Pelletier, Mrs. L. V. F. Randolph, Mrs. Frank Raymond, Mrs. James T. Scott, Mrs. Louis G. Timpson, Miss Tweedy, Mrs. Mason W. Tyler, Mrs. George VanBoskerck, Mrs. Daniel T. VanBuren, Mrs. Orville T. Waring.

COAL PRICES.

President of the New Jersey Central Reports Great Demand for Anthracite.

President J. Rogers Maxwell, of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, is quoted as saying:

"As for coal prices, it seems to me that they are going to be higher. Certainly it looks so at present, with the enormous demand.

"Our road is doing a wonderfully heavy and gratifying business, and we are making money. In coal alone we are carrying every day over 25,000 tons, while the general freight and passenger business is excellent. What is more, this condition of things promises to continue all fall and winter—indeed, there is no indication of any let-up for a good time to come.

"You can see what faith we have in the future when I tell you that we have just ordered 1,000 box cars and 500 gondolas to be ready for April next.

"The Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg, is now operating with us, assuring a large interchange of traffic and an inlet into other fields. By next spring that line will be in full blast, and of course that will help us still further.

"As for general railroading conditions, so far as I can see and learn, they are of the best throughout the entire country."

Funeral of Archibald Douglass.

The funeral services of the late Archibald Douglass, who died suddenly a few days ago, were held Monday afternoon from the residence of the parents on West Eighth street, and Rev. Dr. W. R Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church, officiated, assisted by Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes. There was a large attendance of the friends of the young man, and the floral tributes were many and handsome. During the service selections were sung by Miss Charlotte Messersmith, Mrs Samuel Case, Wyatt Barnes and E. E. Runyon The interment was at Hillside cemetery, and those who acted as bearers, all associates of the departed, were Edgar Daniels, Ray Biglow, Edward Hobbie and Owen Yerkes.

HALSEY IS CONFIDENT

CLAIMS HE WILL HAVE OVER 100 DELEGATES IN THE CONVENTION.

Says That He Will Have Eighteen From Plainfield and More Than Enough to Renominate Him for County Clerk.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, October 25.—When asked about the outcome of the Republican primaries throughout Union county Monday night, County Clerk Howard seemed very jubilant yesterday morning. He cheerfully remarked:

"They can't beat me now, as I will have over 100 votes on the first ballot. I have secured thirty-seven delegats in Elizabeth, nineteen in Rahway, eighteen in Plainfield, eight in Union, five in Roselle, four in Fanwood, two in Springfield, ten in Westfield and one each in Linden and Clark. This makes a total of 105, and I am promised Summit's nine votes after the first ballot, but as ninety-three is all I require I do not need them. In fact, Summit's delegation will probably cast its vote for me at the outset. I consider the contest, as indicated by Monday night's voting, practically settled in my favor."

The success of County Clerk Howard of course means the nomination of Robert G. Houston, of Elizabethport, for Sheriff, as their forces worked together in the battle. William Dorval, of Westfield, who is a candidate for Sheriff, will probably get a complimentary vote from that township.

Candidate Halsey was seen yesterday afternoon and said he had not yet given up the fight, and that he did not believe Howard had more than nine votes in Plainfield.

"If I get the balance of the delegates there," remarked Mr. Halsey, "I can still win in the convention. Howard will not get all the votes he claims in the townships. I am satisfied with the fight I put up in Elizabeth, where I downed the machine and secured a majority of the city's delegates. The leaders fought me tooth and nail, but they did not win."

HORSE FELL INTO BROOK

PERPLEXING PLIGHT OF TONY LUSARDI YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Drove on to a Bridge That Had Not Been Completed and Steed Fell Into a Hole—Trolley Car Came Along Very Shortly.

Anthony Lusardi, the North avenue fruit dealer, had a lively experience yesterday afternoon while driving home from Bound Brook. Lusardi attempted to drive over the trolley bridge the other side of Lincoln, which is not quite completed. The horse stepped on some planking that was not fastened, and his feet went through.

After the harness was removed, and the loose planking taken away, it was comparatively easy to roll the horse off the bridge, and Lusardi and an assistant lost no time in doing so. Down went the horse, followed by a terrific splash. The animal did not seriously object to the involuntary plunge, The horse and wagon had scarcely been removed from the bridge when a trolley car came along, and went over the bridge like a flash. The passengers and those in charge of the car little realized the danger that might have resulted seriously.

The horse was then rescued from the stream, harnessed up again and the homeward journey continued without further trouble.

ENTERTAINED AT CARDS.

Miss Pierson Gave a Pleasant Affair in Honor of a Guest.

Among the first galeties of the season was the progressive euchre party given yesterday afternoon by Miss Pierson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Israel C. Pierson, of Watchung avenue, in honor of her friend, Miss Corbett, of Wilmington, Del. The house was prettily decorated with flowers. In the parlor and library eight small tables were arranged, at which the guests played six hand euchre. Miss Corbett and Miss May Evans were the winners of two handsome prizes, while Miss Edith VanBoskerck and Miss Emma Schoonmaker carried off the consolation prizes. Refreshments followed the game.

Still Resides in Lincoln.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—An item appeared in your paper a few days ago stating that I had taken up my residence in Plainfield. I wish to correct the error as I have merely moved my offices to Plainfield, and still reside at Lincoln, where I have large interests at stake, and I expect to reside at Lincoln as long as I live, and yet I am interested in Plainfield and am here every day in my office, believing I can aid in making it the "Greater," as I believe it is a field to operate in where all will share in my efforts. EVERYTHING COMES M'GRAIL'S WAY NOW.

Middlesex Will Try To Send Him To State Prison.

PRINCIPAL WITNESS CAUGHT

LARRY READY FOUND HIM AT THE OLD HAUNT.

Danny Cobb's Testimony Will Play Important Part In Convicting McGrail—Danny Saw the Fight—Florence Grote Will Be Returned To Home For Wayward Girls From Which She Escaped.

Everything is coming "Reddy" McGrail's way this time. After the physical beauties of his face were spoiled, the authorities of Middlesex county are going to use their best endeavors to send him to state prison. Larry Ready, the boss at the "tanks," the man who so severely punished McGrail, yesterday captured the principal witness in the case.

Before Ready took a hand in the rescue of little Florence Grote from the hands of the gang of tramps, McGrail and Danny Cobb, a notorious character from Newark, were quarrelling over the girl. Cobb had a coupling pin in his hand and was preparing to go to war with McGrail when Ready interferred. Cobb witnessed the attempt on the part of McGrail to kill Ready with the razor, and he also saw how Ready handle the leader of the toughs.

Cobb appeared afterwards in Dunellen and told his story, but when the authorities decided that he would be a convenient man to have around Cobb was nowhere to be found.

Yesterday Ready was on duty with his arm in a sling. During the morning Cobb showed up at the old haunt, and Ready quietly explained that he was wanted. Cobb did not think favorably of the scheme, but Ready, even if he only had the use of one hand, was a clinching argument in favor of the suggestion. Cobb was taken to New Brunswick during the day by Detective Dougherty.

At New Brunswick Cobb explained that he had nothing to do with the departure of Florence Grote from Elizabeth. He saw her with McGrail and his gang and noticed her brother's fruitless efforts to bring about her return. He thought it was a shame that such a young girl should be with that gang of toughs and had attempted to take her home when Ready interfered. Cobb's testimony will be given against McGrail and will be an important feature in his conviction.

Florence Grote was taken to Elizabeth yesterday by Detective Decker, of the Elizabeth force, and will be confined there until she can be transferred to a home for wayward girls in New York. Florence was confined there sometime ago after being arrested by the police in a raid at the Port. She subsequently escaped and returned to Elizabeth where she remained until she went away with McGrail and his cronies last week.

A MIDNIGHT MILL.

A Pugilistic Event Pulled Off at Raritan—Sports From Plainfield Were There.

Raritan is greatly exercised over information that leaked out yesterday of a twenty-round "mill" that took place at midnight Monday near that place, between the featherweight pugilists, "Kid" Thomas, of Newark, and A. Bufano, of Collinsville, Pa.

The fight came off in a large ice house near the town, and was witnessed by about two hundred men from Somerville, Bound Brook, New Brunswick and Plainfield. The arrangements were made with the greatest secrecy. The authorities got wind of the fight early in the night, but agents of the managers gave them false tips about the place, and led them a wild goose chase until after the fight was over.

A HIGH BRIDGE BRIDE

Miss Catherine Meaney Becomes the Wife of Wilbur Shaffer.

The marriage of Miss Catherine Meaney, of High Bridge, and Wilbur Shaffer, of this city, took place yesterday at St. Joseph's church, High Bridge, and Rev. Father Coughton, rector, performed the ceremony, assisted by Rev. Father Westman, of St. Mary's church, this city. The maid of honor was Miss Nellie Meaney, sister of the bride, and the bridemaids were Miss Annie Daly and Miss Margaret Meaney. John Meaney was the groomsman. After a short honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Shaffer will reside in Plainfield.

—Unity Lodge, Knights of Pythias, will hold a regular meeting this evening.

FIRING ON OUR OUTPOSTS.

EXCITEMENT STIRRED UP.

Reinforcements Are Constantly Arriving From the North to Help Fight the Natives.

Manila Papers Kept Aguinaldo Posted As to The Movement of American Troops—More Important Fighting Expected to Occur at Any Time in Vicinity of Iloilo.

Manila, Oct. 25.—Iloilo is stirred by the expectation of important fighting.

General Pulion began "unrolling the bloody scroll," as he promised his followers in a recent speech, by firing volleys at the American outposts at night.

Since Sunday reinforcements have been arriving from the north. This activity is designed to divert the Bisayans from their dissatisfaction against the Tagalos.

Aguinaldo has ordered the release on parole of Arenta and other Bisayan leaders, who are disposed to negotiate for peace, and is watching them to prevent further negotiations.

The Fourth Infantry reconnaissances about Imus found that the Filipinos had returned to Das Marinas. Their bugles blew when the Americans approached.

It is reported that they are reorganizing at Malabon and other towns. The leading inhabitants of that section have requested Major General Otis to garrison the towns, because the insurgents are living off the people. Sufficient troops are lacking yet.

General Otis has prohibited the local papers from printing the arrivals, departures or any movements of troops.

Aguinaldo, if he is a student of the Manila papers, has been kept posted as to the whereabouts of every company in the army.

The news that the Spaniards attempted to surrender the rebel artillery at Santa Rosa has reached Tarlac and has spread through the country. The Filipinos are taking vengeance on the prisoners by curtailing the few privileges they had.

Inter-Island Trade in Philippines.

Washington, Oct. 25.—Under the laws of the United States, foreign vessels cannot engage in coastwise trade, and as all the trading vessels in the Philippines flew the Spanish flag, much embarrassment has resulted. Many of these vessels have now passed into American hands, and the Secretary of War will shortly issue an order permitting them to fly the American flag and enjoy all the privileges of American register.

The Cabinet has decided to allow vessels purchased by American citizens to engage in Philippine interisland trade.

A Message From Otis.

Washington, Oct. 25.—The War Department has received the following cablegram:

"Manila, Oct. 25.—Hughes reports Panay insurgents driven out of Negros.

"Byrne struck one band, killed ten, captured thirteen.

"Native troops struck another band, killed six. No casualties. OTIS."

Two Men Killed, Seven Injured.

Orange, Tex., Oct. 25.—By an explosion of a boiler at the Luther & Moore lumber mill two men were killed and seven injured. Lawrence Buehler, one of the men who was killed, was riding by the mill on horseback. His body was horribly mangled. Louis Ricks received injuries which proved fatal. The persons injured are W. C. Diggs, George Matthews, Thomas Day, Ben Abbein, Rum Peats, Sebastian Englica and Amos Arnold, employes of the mill.

Zinc Mines To be Reopened.

Jolpin, Mo., Oct. 25.—The zinc mines of the Joplin-Galena district which have been shut down for the last three weeks by order of the Zinc Miners' Association, are to be put in operation next Monday, as the shutdown has been declared off by the association. The cause of the shutdown was the refusal of the smelters to pay the association's schedule of prices for ore. A surplus of ore that had accumulated has been practically consumed.

Home For Inebriate Women.

Columbus, O., Oct. 25.—The members of the Central Woman's Temperance Union have decided to undertake the establishment in this city of a home for inebriate women. No institution of the kind exists in the United States, and but one, which even remotely approaches it, in the world. That is the Duckworth Home at Duckworth, England, an asylum founded by and under the patronage of Lady Somerset.

Campaign Opened in Maine.

Saco, Me., Oct. 25.—The first Republican mass meeting in York County since the nomination of Amos L. Allen for congress has been held. Mr. Allen declared himself in favor of protective tariff, maintenance of the gold standard, the present national banking system and the policy of the administration in the Philippines.

Burnett Was Exonerated.

New York, Oct. 25.—Ex-United States District Attorney William B. Burnett, who, was arrested at the Hoffman House charged with attempting to compound a felony, has been exonerated in the Jefferson Market Court.

Both Kicked to Death.

Bardwell, Ky., Oct. 25.—While "frolicking" with a mule on the Brown place, three miles south of here, Tom and "Bud" Williams, brothers, were simultaneously kicked and almost instantly killed.

THE MOLINEUX TRIAL.

It Will Be One of the Most Notable Ever Held In New York.

New York, Oct. 25.—Assistant District Attorney Osborne states that steps have been taken which will effectually thwart the efforts made to keep the New Jersey and Connecticut witnesses for the prosecution out of the State, and to insure their presence in court when Roland B. Molineux is called to the bar on Nov. 6, to stand trial for his life. The trial will be a battle of handwriting experts, compared with which that over the bordereau in the Dreyfus case was a small affair.

Seventeen handwriting experts will be called by the prosecution to establish the fact that the handwriting offered as exhibits and evidence are Molineux's, and then experts will testify for the defense.

The most sensational feature of the trial will be the calling of Molineux to the stand by the prosecuting officer to indite a letter to be dictated by the District Attorney. If Molineux refuses to write the jury will be asked to put its own construction on the fact. It cannot but react against the prisoner.

It is generally believed that General Benjamin F. Tracy will be called in to help in the defense of General Molineux's son. Both Generals are old and fast friends.

Has Over Forty Wives.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Forty-two wives scattered throughout the world, four of whom are in Chicago, is the confession made by Walter L. Farnsworth, a Chicago candy commission man, who has been arrested charged with bigamy.

"I cannot tell exactly how many women I have married," said he, "I know of eleven in Europe, three in Peru, four in China, one in England and over twenty others in different parts of the world, but to save my soul I could not tell how many.

"I married them for different reasons. I did not live long with them. They will all tell you I was good to them."

Farnsworth also admits that he is a man of many aliases. Some of these are Charles Bradford, A. J. Hittig, S. L. Thomas, A. L. Kiefer and Bradshaw.

Miners are Placed on Trial.

Moscow, Idaho, Oct. 25.—The cases of Edward Boyle and Emil Fosberg and others have been submitted to the United States Grand Jury here. The defendants are charged with interfering with the running of a United States train and conspiracy at Wardner, on April 29 last, when the Bunker Hill and Sullivan mill was blown up with dynamite by a mob. The indictment is against forty-three persons, whose names are given, and four hundred others whose names are unknown. It is expected the trials will begin Thursday before United States District Judge Beatty. Twenty-five Federal prisoners under the charge are in the stockade at Wardner, and eighteen are in jail at Moscow.

Must Go Back To England.

New York, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Edwin E Berrin, accompanied by her son Har old, twelve years old, who recently arrived here from England, has been excluded by the Board of Special Inquiry of the Immigration Bureau. Mrs. Berrin last month sold her house in Yorkshire, where her husband died, and came out here for the purpose of joining the Latter Day Saints in Utah. The woman has a glass eye, and this excludes her without appeal to the Treasury Department, and consequently she will be deported.

Big Verdict Against Railroad.

New York, Oct. 25.—Philip A. Barton, of Baltimore, Md., has been awarded $10,000 damages in a suit brought by him against the Third Avenue Railroad Company, which was tried before Judge Simpson and a jury in the United States Circuit Court. Barton was in this city on October 2, 1897, and boarded an open car of the Third avenue road at Fifteenth street. The car started before he had gained a seat and he was thrown against a pillar of the "L" and seriously injured.

Denver to Own Its Water Plant.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Local advices say that the Denver Board of Supervisors has passed and Mayor Johnson has signed an ordinance providing for the issuance of bonds by the city to the amount of $4,700,000 for the purchase of the plant of the Denver Union Water Company, or the construction of a new one. The Denver Water Company asks $9,000,000 for its plant.

Rockefeller's Gift to Cleveland.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 25.—Announcement has been made that John D. Rockefeller has expressed his intention of presenting the city with $225,000, with which contemplated improvements can be made by the Park Commission. The money will be expended in adding to the fine property of the city now under the jurisdiction of the Park Department.

More Forest Fires Raging.

Nyack, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Forest fires are making disastrous inroads in the woodlands on the Ramapo Mountains in the western part of Rockland county, this State. Heavy loss has already been caused and acres of cordwood cut and piled for shipment have been consumed. The fires are still burning.

The Body Was Petrified.

Springfield, Ohio, Oct. 25.—Charles Arbogast, of Catawba, bought a lot at Vienna and started to dig a well. The workmen struck a coffin and found therein a petrified body. There was a graveyard in the vicinity a half century ago. Mr. Arbogast has decided not to build there.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Oct. 25.—A number of the prominent issues were under last night at the opening of the stock market to-day. This was occasioned by the weak London market. Underneath the selling at the opening there was a strong tone which evinced itself in the firmness of the prices under the heavy blocks of stock thrown on the market and the closing was at better prices.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Closing prices: Wheat 69, corn 31¾, oats (Dec.) 23 pork (Dec.) 7.92, lard 5.20, ribs 4.72.

GEN. YULE FALLS BACK.

Will Form a Junction With General White to Fight the Boers.

WOUNDED DOING WELL.

The British Troops Are Again Successful in a Fierce Battle With the Enemy Near Dundee.

Paris Paper Declares Boers Were Badly Inspired When They Declared War—President of Royal College of Surgeons Goes to South Africa—British Abandon Glencoe.

London, Oct. 25.—The following dispatch from General Sir George Stewart White to the Marquis of Lansdowne, Secretary of State for War, just received, has been posted at the War Office:

"Ladysmith, Oct. 24.—Information received yesterday showed that the Boers had established themselves in considerable numbers in an exceedingly strong position west of the main road leading from Ladysmith to Dundee.

"I also had information that the Dundee force, formerly commanded by General Symons, and since his wound commanded by General Yule, was falling back on Ladysmith by way of the Helpmakaar road, Beith and the valleys of the Waschbank and Sunday rivers and was expected to reach Sunday River Valley to-day.

"I therefore moved out with a strong force to cover the movement of Yule's column. The enemy was discovered about seven miles out of Ladysmith in a position of exceptional natural strength, west of the road. When he saw that preparations were being made against him he opened fire with one gun, with great accuracy.

"Our artillery soon got into position, and the gun was silenced. Our troops were ordered to occupy a strong ridge, parallel to the enemy's position, but nearer to the road.

"I confined my efforts to occupying him and hitting him hard enough to prevent his taking action against Yule's column. Numbers of the enemy fled to the west, and the firing had practically ceased at 2 o'clock."

The British troops have abandoned Glencoe and united for a big battle north of Ladysmith.

The Situation Summed Up.

London, Oct. 23.—In the House of Commons Tuesday afternoon Mr. Wyndham, Parliamentary Secretary of State for War, read Gen. Lord Wolseley's summing up of the situation in Natal.

Gen. Yule has fallen back in order to effect a junction with Gen. White. He camped Monday night eighteen miles south of Dundee without seeing anything of the enemy. He has since reported all well on the Waschbank river.

Gen. White has again fought successfully a force of Orange Free State troops on the road from Ladysmith to Newcastle. He should join Gen. Yule at once.

Mr. Wyndham read a cable despatch from Gen. Sir Frederick Forestier-Walker, the present commander of the British forces in South Africa, confirming the report that Kimberley was still safe.

Mr. Wyndham also announced that Sir William MacCormac, President of the Royal College of Surgeons and Surgeon in Ordinary to the Prince of Wales, had volunteered to go to South Africa to assist the medical department during the war.

Sir William MacCormac's offer was accepted.

The House voted, 237 to 25, to raise £8,000,000 by the issuance of Treasury bills.

It also authorized the payment of £10,000,000 from the Consolidated Fund. The vote on this proposal was 255 to 23.

Gen. Yule reports that his wounded are doing well. The wounded Boers are being treated the same as the British soldiers. Gen. Yule says he has no doubt the Boers will treat the wounded British prisoners equally as well.

Says British Were Beaten.

Paris, Oct. 25.—The Temps's London correspondent says he has inside information that the War Office has learned that the British were beaten in the second action at Glencoe. He says: "They sustained such losses that the War Office wishes to await news of another favorable engagement before announcing them."

The Figaro says the Boers were badly inspired when they declared war. It would have been better to grant the concessions asked, since the issue of the war was inevitable. The universal impression is that the war will not last long. The Figaro does not fear foreign intervention. Germany, it says, is occupied with her own affairs, and France is busy with the coming Exposition.

Situation is Alarming.

London, Oct. 25.—Military authorities and the public in general are today much alarmed over the situation in South Africa. It is evident to the veriest tyro that the English are not carrying everything before them, as had been expected. Official dispatches it is feared, do not represent the condition of affairs accurately. When they are read between the lines they indicate that the Boers, although driven off twice from Glencoe, still have the town beseiged. The burghers, under President Kruger and Commandant-General Joubert, it is admitted, have overwhelmed Dundee and compelled its abandonment. The British have retreated to Glencoe. This statement receives added light from the confession of Lord Wolseley in Parliament that the British wounded were left in Dundee. Glencoe is now surrounded by the Boers in force. Nothing is heard from there except the official reports. It is believed that military censors have stopped all independent despatches since Sunday morning, fearing to cause unnecessary alarm in England. Evidently operations of the highest importance are taking place.

SHE WORKED FOR TEMPERANCE.

Mrs. Hawley Spent Her Fortune And Is Now Penniless.

Pekin, Ill., Oct. 25.—Mrs. Mary E. Hawley, at one time one of the richest women of Tazewell County, has left Pekin to reside in Chicago. Twelve years ago she had about 1,200 acres of land valued at $125 per acre. She was a great temperance advocate and began working among the miners of the Illinois Valley. She had extensive mining interests and was, therefore popular among them.

She established churches at many of the mines in Tazewell, Peoria and Fulton Counties and devoted her time and money in an endeavor to better the miners' condition. In this line she worked year in and year out and to-day finds herself penniless and without a home. She is a member of the Executive Committee of the Illinois Prohibitionists, and through their influence she has been secured a home in Chicago.

A wealthy cousin there has promised her assistance in the issuing of a book entitled "One Woman's Life." She is a woman of more than ordinary intelligence and writes for some of the leading prohibition journals of the country.

Father Drank; Daughter Suicided.

Brazil, Ind., Oct. 25.—Miss Myrtle Bond, the seventeen-year-old daughter of David Bond, of Clay City, has committed suicide because her father refused to quit drinking. She had been appealing to her father to cease his intemperate habits for the past week. He promised to comply with her request, but got intoxicated again and scolded the girl for crying when he came home. This was more than she could endure, and she took morphine, which caused her death. A letter which was found on the bed by her side gave the above cause for her rash act.

Hangman Sees Ghosts.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 25.—Amos Lunt, the hangman of San Quentin Prison, who has a record of twenty executions in five years, is now a mental wreck from insomnia and hallucinations. He has not slept for nearly two weeks because every time he falls into a doze he sees the spirit of some of the murderers whom he has swung off. Especially is he haunted by the spirit of Durrant. Warden Hale will send Lunt to a sanitarium and attempt to restore his mind.

Wooster's Largest Funeral.

Wooster, O., Oct. 25.—The remains of Harry McClarran, ex-Senior Vice Commander Department of the Ohio, G. A. R., have been interred here. The funeral was the largest ever held in the city. State Commander T. R. Shinn and staff, of Ashland, and many Grand Army men from different parts of the state were present.

Lover Ends Two Lives.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 25.—Juan Garcia a Cuban, and his sweetheart, Miss Bessie Mahoney, daughter of a prominent publisher, were found dead in the road near here. Garcia had shot the girl and then himself. The Cuban was in love with the girl and wanted to marry her, but her parents objected.

New Transatlantic Service.

London, Oct. 25.—The new Plymouth-New York steamship service has been inaugurated by the Hamburg-American Line steamship the Patricia. A special train will be run from London to Plymouth in connection with the departure of the vessels engaged in this service.

Kidnapped His Own Child.

Columbus, O., Oct. 25.—Alphonso E. Jelinko, a traveling agent, kidnapped his two-year-old daughter Leonie on Sunday after chloroforming his wife. Mrs. Jelinko has received a telegram from his sister, Mrs. Brodbeck, in Cincinnati, saying that she had the child. Jelinko's object in kidnapping his child is unknown.

Propeller Cut in Two And Sunk.

Fishkill Landing, N. Y., Oct. 23.—The steam propeller Rogers, loaded with 1,200 barrels of cement, was cut in two by a New York, New Haven and Hartford transfer boat and sunk with her entire cargo. The crew had a narrow escape. The loss is about $9,000.

Law Declared Unconstitutional.

Decatur, Ind., Oct. 25.—Frank Boyer has been arrested for not sending his twelve-year-old daughter to school. Hon. Richard K. Erwin, attorney for the defense, attacked the constitutionality of the law. The Court has declared the law unconstitutional. The case will be appealed.

Sudden Death of Religious Worker.

Boston, Oct. 25.—Deacon George W. Chipman of Tremont Temple, widely known as a prominent worker in the Baptist denomination in this state, dropped dead on Tremont street here. He was seventy-eight years of age. Death was due to apoplexy.

Woman Beat The "Oil King."

Findlay, O., Oct. 25.—Mrs. Mary S. Wotgamuth was awarded $150 in her suit against Kirkbride, the "oil king." He shot an oil well near her house, and her property, including her clothing, was sprinkled with the loud-smelling fluid. She wanted $800.

Bookmakers Must Go to Jail.

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 25.—Eighteen bookmakers have pleaded guilty in the County Court to the charge of conducting poolrooms in various parts of the city. They were sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and serve three months in prison.

Has a Claim Against The State.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Mary A. E. Sweet and William L. Sweet of Waterloo, Seneca County, have filed a claim against the state for $3,625 for loss of water to the Waterloo mills. The water was diverted by the state for canal purposes.

Reed Elected Trustee.

New York, Oct. 25.—Thomas B. Reed, ex-speaker of the House of Representatives, has been elected a trustee of the New York Life Insurance Company, filling the vacancy caused by the death of William H. Appleton.

I work in a cotton mill, am thirty-five years of age and have been bothered with indigestion and dyspepsia about five years. Have had several doctors, but none of them ever helped me any. I spent several hundred dollars for doctors and medicines, but instead of getting better I got worse. Finally, I heard of Ripans Tabules, and decided to try them. After I had used them two weeks I commenced to get better. In three months I was like a new man, and can say my cure was brought about by the use of Ripans Tabules. I believe they are the only sure cure for dyspepsia.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York, or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents. RIPANS TABULES may also be had of grocers, general storekeepers, news agents, and at liquor stores and barber shops.

CHICAGO OFFICERS IN TROUBLE.

Constables and Lawyers Are Charged With Conspiracy.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Constables and lawyers of the west side justice courts who had been giving their attention to druggists, tobacco dealers and saloon keepers in that section of the city are under the ban of Corporation Counsel Walker. Mr. Walker has placed the matter in the hands of C. C. Woodruff of the City Law Department, and the following-named have been arrested on warrants taken out in Justice La Buy's court, by Mr. Woodruff. David Goetz and Joseph Kristian, constables; J. K. Tennant and David Hallman, lawyers. At the Central Police Station the prisoners were booked on charges of conspiracy.

Many complaints have been brought to the city law department alleging that it has been the custom of certain constables and justice court lawyers to employ a boy to go out and buy cigarettes and whiskey wherever possible. Persons who sold to the boy, it is said, would be visited a few days later by the constable with warrants, and if they refused to "fix things up" with the constable they were arrested and taken into court. The boy to whom whisky or cigarettes had been sold would then be brought into testify against the defendants. The victim seldom escaped without being fined, and it is said it became the rule with dealers who fell into the trap to settle with the constable.

Both Sides Working Hard.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 25.—There is no denying the fact that Goebel and his friends are putting up a hard fight for the success of the Democratic ticket in this state; and Mr. Goebel has speakers in every county working for him. The Republicans, too are laboring fully as hard for their ticket as the Democrats, and from the present outlook a winner in the race for governo would be hard to pick.

The Labor Union War.

Lynn, Mass., Oct. 25.—Joseph W. Gaunt, a slipper manufacturer, has been forced by a labor union to advance the wages of his hand-turn workmen 25 per cent. He says that he will have no conflict with his employes, but that he cannot continue in business and pay the advanced wages. The output of Mr. Gaunt's plant is about 1,500 pairs of slippers a day. The average earnings of his workmen are higher than those of any other factory in the city. A number of the employes earn more than $1,000 a year.

Were Crazed From Starvation.

Seattle, Oct. 25.—The schooner Hera, which left Cape Nome on Sept. 26, has arrived. Two men died on the way down, one from starvation and one from dementia. The only supplies aboard when the schooner arrived were a little flour and water. The crew was in a pitiable state. There were 200 persons on board. Some of the passengers were half crazy from starvation and lack of water.

TO BE DISPOSED OF SOON.

Russia Agrees to Submit Differences With America to Arbitration.

A PROTOCOL DRAWN UP

Claims Resulting From the Seizure of Sealers in Bering Sea Will Be Satisfactorily Settled.

Damages Asked For by The Americans Aggregate About $150,000—Protocol Prepared in St. Petersburg By American Ambassador And Russian Foreign Office.

London, Oct. 25.—Russia has at last agreed to arbitrate with the United States the claims resulting from the seizure of sealers in the Bering Sea, which have been pending for about eight years. A protocol between the two governments has been drawn up, the final formalities are expected to be concluded next month, and the arbitration will propably take the form of the Venezuelan Court.

Russia's agreement is a source of great satisfaction to the United States Ambassador to Russia, Mr. Charlemagne Tower, who is stopping in London on his way to St. Petersburg. He says:

"The relations between Russia and the United States were never more close or friendly than to-day. The only difference existing between the two nations is now sure of settlement on lines similar to the Venezuelan arbitration. I return to St. Petersburg on Saturday and the finishing touches will then be put upon the agreement."

Mr. Tower was asked regarding the frequent publication in British newspapers of the rumor that Russia intends to take advantage of the Transvaal war by aggression upon British territory. He said:

"Naturally, it is impossible for me to speak of Russia's policy toward Great Britain, even if I knew anything. But I can say most emphatically that Russia's attitude toward the United States is not prejudiced by our friendship for Great Britain."

What The Claims Are.

Washington, Oct. 25.—The claims referred to in the above dispatch originated in the seizure by the Russian authorities off the coast of Siberia of three American sealing vessels and the damages claimed aggregate about $150,000. The vessels were the James Hamilton Lewis, the Cape Horn Pigeon and the C. H. White. In each case the largest item of the claim is on account of the sufferings of the American officers and crew while under arrest.

The claims differ from those presented by British sealers, which were settled by the Bering Sea arbitration, in that while the British vessels were seized by the American revenue cutters on what the arbitration declared to be the high seas the Russian men-of-war seized these American sealers within seven miles of the Asiatic coast. It is a matter of interest that for the first time the Russian Government contends that marine jurisdiction of a country extends at least this distance from the shore line, instead of being limited to a marine league, as laid down by the older writers on international law. The league was fixed originally because it represented the extreme distance from shore that a shot could be thrown by one of the old cannon used in coast defense and the Russians hold that the limit should be extended to correspond to the increased range of modern ordnance.

The protocol through which the arbitration was arranged was prepared in St. Petersburg by Ambassador Tower and the Russian Foreign Office.

It was agreed by both parties that there should be but one arbitrator, and the person selected for that post is Dr. Asser, a celebrated Dutch jurist, who took a prominent part in The Hague conference. The case will be submitted to him as soon as the papers can be prepared at the State Department.

Cheaper Gas in Passaic.

The city of Passaic is undergoing an experience similar to Plainfield in the effort to secure gas at fair rates, but as Passaic has been agitating the subject longer, with more chance of definite developments, it will be profitable and interesting for the people of this city to know something about how our sister city is progressing in the matter.

In the first place it was proposed to establish a municipal plant in Passaic, but the committee in the Common Council who looked into the project struck a formidable obstruction by discovering that there is no law in New Jersey that permits of a municipality owning a gas plant. This information will doubtless be a surprise to many, and as applied to the situation in Plainfield it seems that the only way to secure relief from the present high rates will be by private competition. The People's Gas Company would therefore seem to have a very strong point in its favor in applying for a franchise in this city.

The agitation in Passaic has done something, however, as it will in Plainfield, probably, even if the People's Company should fail in its present effort to get a foothold, and that is that the old company has already offered better terms for furnishing the commodity than could have ever been expected if there had been no likelihood of competition.

The Paterson and Passaic Gas Company, which has had much the same kind of a monopoly as the Plainfield Gas Company in this city, has submitted a proposition that will tend to give the city fair rates, although it puts the company in the unenviable position of admitting that they have been charging more than a realization of a fair profit in the enterprise required. The company agrees to cancel its present contract with the city, and make a new one for the city which will give the city greatly reduced

THE RIVAL COMMANDERS AT MAFEKING.

The English forces at Mafeking are under command of Colonel Baden-Powell, who has a regiment of volunteers said to somewhat resemble our own Rough Riders, of the recent war with Spain. Against this small band of defenders the Boers opposed a force of several thousands, under command of General Cronje, one of the ablest of the republic's military leaders, the man who whipped Jameson, the raider. Mafeking is one of the most strongly fortified posts in the Transvaal, and its equipment at the opening of hostilities was considered sufficient to repulse the attacks of a force greatly superior in numbers.

rates—in some instances almost a reduction of 100 per cent. The company also agrees to make a wholesale reduction in the rates to private consumers by a sliding scale for a period of five years, which will finally bring the price down to $1 per thousand square feet of gas. Up to a short time ago the company was extorting $1.80 per thousand feet from the people of the city.

The inability of establishing a municipal plant in Passaic, however, has resulted in the organization of the Citizens' Company, which, like the People's Gas Company, of Plainfield, guarantees to furnish gas at a maximum price of $1 per thousand feet from the outset.

Under such conditions it would seem as though the Passaic officials would be acting for the best interests of the community by granting the new company a franchise.

Will Bring Old and New Patrons.

The fall trade among merchants is booming—there can be no doubt about that says the Philadelphia Record. The crowded stores, the busy clerks, the mighty stocks of goods, and, above all, the display of fat purses, proclaim times of satisfaction and profit among the alert tradesmen. Two chief influences are contributing to their enrichment—the needs of the public and catchy newspaper advertising. The people know what they want; the merchant must let them know where to get it. This he can do most thoroughly by telling the people about his establishment and his lines of goods. The inducements which he offers in these trade notices in the way of the excellence of his goods and the reasonableness of his prices bring old and new patrons to his store daily.

A campaign more bitter than any ever carried on in a New York Assembly district is on in the Nineteenth. The weight of the Republican State and county machines is being brought to bear to re-elect Robert Mazet to the Assembly. Tammany Hall, the leaders of which are smarting under the sting of the investigation conducted by the committee of which Mr. Mazet is chairman, is devoting all its energy to retiring Mr. Mazet from public life by electing Perez Stewart, the candidate of the Citizens' Union, whom it had indorsed.

So confident are the Democratic State campaign managers of recovering control of the New York Assembly that there has been a serious talk at the Hoffman House headquarters as to who should be the Speaker. Chairman Danforth, who usually knows the preference of ex-Governor Hill, frankly declared himself in favor of Dr. J. Barnes, of Schuyler, while others who reflected the views of Edward Murphy and Richard Croker talked more about Julius Harburger and Patrick T. Trainer, of New York.

The majority of the delegates elected at the Essex county primaries will favor Samuel Kalish, a well known Newark criminal lawyer, for State Senator; Jacob Hauseling, of Newark, for Sheriff, and Horace Stetson, of Orange, for Surrogate. Hauseling and Stetson may not accept. In that case it will probably be George M. Titus for Sheriff and Oliver H. Perry for Surrogate.

Senator Charles A. Reed does not propose to let any grass grow under his feet in the political path he is following in this campaign. The "Tall Sycamore" is hustling every minute from early morning till late at night trying to array a majority of the voters in Somerset on his side.

Apropos of the fact that the Kaiser has decorated several officers of the German Navy for showing discretion at Samoa, the Boston Transcript observes that "so far as is known, Admiral VonDiederichs is wearing no special medal for discretion at Manila."

The Democratic primaries will be held in the various wards of this city tonight. As the fountain head of all political powers and prestige every Democrat should consider it a duty that he owes to his party to participate in the proceedings.

It is evident that Editor Runyon has some sort of an axe to grind with the powers that be in the local G. O. P. camp. His editorial page in yesterday's issue must have caused some of the "leaders" to have had a sleepless night.

The Republican campaign press bureau in Somerset county seems to be working overtime in supplying the New York Tribune's Jersey page with articles advising Chancery Clerk Thompson what is expected of him.

Two weeks from today a large number of would-be office holders will be sojourning up Salt River.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

The United Gas Improvement Company, which owns the Passaic gas works, has agreed to reduce the price of gas in that city to $1.25 a thousand feet, and cut off five cents each year thereafter until the rate is $1. The impelling reason for this concession is said to be the prospect of a rival company, backed by abundance of capital. The city of Plainfield should not lose sight of this instance of concession forced by the threat of competition.—Newark News.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Oct. 25—The citizens of Dunellen and New Market feel much relieved to learn of the arrest of the tramps captured Monday night near the "tanks." CURRENT ATTRACTIONS THAT PLAINFIELDERS MAY WITNESS.

Local Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World.

What promises to be a gala event for theatre-goers of this city, is the coming engagement at Music Hall next Saturday evening, of a genuine, legitimate New York attraction, a play that is a legitimate New York success, and presented by the same New York cast, with all the scenery and stage accessories precisely the same in every detail as given in that city. This attraction is Hoyt's most successful effort, "A Contented Woman," which enjoyed a prosperous run at Hoyt's Theatre, New York. The production here will be identical with that given at Hoyt's Theatre in every respect. Every piece of scenery, which the New York critics declared to be the best ever seen in farce-comedy, will be used during the engagement here, as well as all the original mountings and accessories. The company comprises thirty talented people, and is heralded as the strongest and most versatile ever seen in a Hoyt comedy. It is headed by Miss Belle Archer, who has played the leading role for the past two seasons, and is noted for her wondrous beauty, which has been the subject of both song and story. She will be supported by such artists as Arthur F. Buchanan, Augusta DeForest, Henrietta Lee, Bonnie Lottie, Belle Chippendale, John L. Kearney, C. P. Morrison, Will Granger and others. The piece is brimfull of bright dialogue, funny scenes, catchy music, novel specialties, dainty dances and the prettiest lot of girls ever assembled upon one stage.

* * * * *

Next month there will be produced under the direction of Manager Augustus Pitou, at Music Hall, in this city, a play by Messrs. William J. McKiernan, of the Newark Sunday Call, and Hugh J. Gallagher, formerly of the U. S. S. New York. It is a naval drama, and has been copyrighted under the title of "The Gunners Mate." It is an up-to-date drama, depicting life aboard our modern war-ships. The drama is in four acts and five scenes. Three of the scenes are aboard the cruiser New York. Mr. Pitou's scenic artists are engaged painting these scenes from the photographs of the ship. In the fire room scene in the third act there is an entirely original and thrilling episode, never before shown on the stage. This episode is the sensational climax of the drama, and is expected to be very effective. It is a duplicate of an actual occurrence in the navy, where a valiant blue jacket entered the furnace while the fire was still in it, in order to stop a leak which would have caused an explosion and possibly the loss of many lives. This sailor was afterwards rewarded by promotion and given a medal of honor. This is only one of the many incidents of sailor life shown in the play.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

John I. Blair, the venerable Jerseymen, in his earlier days owned a western railroad along the route of which he established a series of lunchrooms, at which employes of the road were to be charged 50 cents and all passengers 75 cents. Mr. Blair once dined at one of these, and, concluding his meal, laid down a half dollar. "Hold on!" cried the cashier, "you don't belong to this road." "I know that," replied Mr. Blair, "the road belongs to me."

It has been suggested by a reader of the Daily Press that the citizens at once take steps to remember the brave boys who are in the Philippines fighting to uphold the honor and glory of these United States. By sending the soldiers Christmas boxes will be a handsome way in which to show that we all appreciate the dangers and hardships which the gallant wearers of the blue are enduring while following to victory the Stars and Stripes Quartermaster General Ludington has made public the fact that the Government has decided to transfer free of charge from San Francisco any Christmas boxes which may be delivered there prior to November 20, for officers and soldiers in the Philippines. Such boxes should be consigned to Major O. F. Long, General Superintendent Army Transport Service, San Francisco. The Government will also forward from New York any Christmas boxes which may be delivered there prior to Nov. 1, such boxes to be consigned to Major B. F. Jones, General Superintendent Army Transport Service, Pier 22, Columbia Stores, Brooklyn, N. Y. All freight or express charges to San Francisco or to New York must in every case be prepaid by the senders, the maximum weight of boxes to be about twenty pounds. Who will take the initiative in Plainfield to help make some soldier boy happy on Christmas morning by receiving a box from home—dear old America? Almost any person will be willing to chip in for so worthy an object. While some of the churches in this city are doing a laudable thing in trying to help along the cause of the foreign mission they should not forget the brave boys so far from home This is not an act of charity but simple displaying gratitude for the services of some brave Americans who are strangers in a strange land among a tribe of savages.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Is VanHerwerden a Republican?

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—The election at the Second ward Republican primary of Councilman VanHerwerden as a delegate to the Republican county convention caused considerable comment among his political friends in Netherwood. Some of those who originally named him on the Citizens' ticket are not surprised, as in city affairs he has always appeared to be more friendly to Republicans than Democrats. Several of the knowing ones, however, say that he has been captured by the "parlor circle" crowd in the club car, who will favor him with the regular Republican nomination for the Common Council at the city convention next December. It is one thing to be nominated and an other to be elected!

HE HEALS BY PRAYER.

Italian Catholics Tell of Cures by a Good Priest.

"Ah, ah; ze 'bambino' is sick, is it? Zat litti', black-eyed baby or you? It's Father Tom, then, that can cure it. Let him once commend it to the blessed St. Philip Benizi and its tiny round cheeks will grow rosy again like other bambino! Ah, you no believe? Well, well," with a shrug, "go and see; go and see!"

Thus, with many gesticulations, dark-eyed mothers in the neighborhood of the Italian Catholic Church of the Assumption in Chicago will tell marvelous stories of healing by Father Thomas Moreschini. For "Father Tom," as he is affectionately and generally known, is not only a cure of souls, but his parishioners firmly believe that he possesses some strange power to heal the ills of the flesh as well. Father Tom is the priest in charge of the Church of the Assumption, corner of Orleans and Illinois streets. From one end of Chicago to the other, especially among the 30,000 or more Italian residents in the city, the fame of his alleged healing powers has spread, and daily dozens of the afflicted make their weary pilgrimage to the rectory adjacent to the Church of the Assumption to invoke what they believe to be the miraculous services of the priest in their behalf. "Father Tom" smiles gently and a soft inward light shines through his eyes and indicates his kindly face.

"If you are cured, my children," he says again and again, "it is to God that you should render thanks. It is not I who have cured you."

In "Father Tom's" treatment diagnosis is not a requisite. Neither are the resources of materia medica invoked. Prayer and the laying on of priestly hands are the only remedies which he employs. This he never refuses to rich or poor.

"The blessing of St. Philip Benzini," he says, "fall as the gentle rain from heaven. You believe, my children, that they heal the body. Very well: we know the benediction of the saints lifts up the soul. They are never given in vain; never, my children."

Mothers bring their ailing infants, confident that the touch of Father Tom's hands and the potency of his prayers wil restore them to health. Grown-up people come because the doctors have given them up, and many are confident that the blessing of St. Philip, through the kindly old priest, has saved them from the grave.

"Look at me," said a slender young fellow as he tiptoed reverently from the church. "A year ago the doctor said: 'One lung only have you left; what can I do? Nothing my poor boy.' Now you see how strong I am; two lungs now in my chest. Such a 'hunger' for meat, also, just when the price goes up 2 cents, 5 cents, 10 cents a pound. Yes, Father Tom did it with his prayers."

Sufferers from St. Vitus dance apply to Father Tom in great numbers.

"Terreeble, terreeble!" ejaculated a little French girl who said she had been cured and was saying fifty "Hail Marys" in thankfulness. "Oh, my head nod, nod, all the time nod, and me so tired, and the Blessed Virgin turning a deaf ear. Terreeble'! And then Father Tom laid his hands on my head, and the blessing of St. Philip Benizi came down from heaven!"

These are the things one hears among the lowly folk who believe "Father Tom" can heal their bodily afflictions.

Father Moreschini was asked by a reporter for the Sunday Inter-Ocean about this alleged power he is said to exercise, and while acknowledging that he was sought out by the sick modestly disclaimed any credit to himself, and was reluctant to discuss the subject. "All that I can do," he said in English, strongly marked by the soft Italian accent, is to give the afflicted the blessing of St. Philip Benzini, the founder of the order. Do I cure them? I don't know. Many return to thank me for having done so. I am always glad to know they are healed, but I tell them not to thank me, but to give their thanks to God, who alone can restore health to the sick."

Since the founding of the Church of the Assumption in 1880 up to the present time, all the Italians in the city have belonged to its parish. During nearly all that time Father Moreschini has been connected with the parish, for a number of years as assistant, and since 1893 as rector.

FASHION'S FANCIES.

Veils, Hairdressing Styles and Hair Ornaments.

White veils with a black dot are always worn. The newest have a mesh so fine as to be almost invisible, while the dots are so widely distributed as to suggest the patches of the eighteenth century. Blue and beige veils are also worn, and indeed veils of all tints are to be had, but black, gray and and white are the only ones which are becoming.

GIRL'S CLOAK.

Hairdressers are striving to revive the old style of coiffure where the hair is coiled or looped at the top of the head, waved smoothly over the brow and allowed to droop over each ear in a little bunch of curls. At the back of the head is an ornamental comb. For the present the hair continues to be waved and kept rather fluffy, but there are indications that this style has not much longer to live. The mass of the hair is kept on the top of the head.

The use of combs as an ornament is becoming more and more marked. Some are large, and some are small. There are jeweled side combs and jeweled bands. Ribbons and bows are beginning to be worn in the hair in the afternoon, and for evening there are many very fanciful devices.

The cut shows an attractive coat for a little girl. It is a long, straight sack, with no seam at the middle of the back, and has a yoke of velvet, with the edge cut in tabs. The front of the cloak is caught up to the left shoulder, where it is draped with a steel buckle. Around the edge is a trimming of velvet cut in tabs, and the sleeves are similarly decorated. The accompanying sailor hat of felt is trimmed with tulle.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

WINTER SKIRTS.

Prevailing Shapes of the Newest Models.

The double skirt has obviously come to stay. The majority of more elaborate winter models show it in one form or another. The long open polonaise over a skirt much trimmed with ruffles or other decorations is a favorite style. There are also many crossed tunics, and tunics of the plain peplum variety, cut in different forms at the lower edge and falling over an ample circular flounce, which finishes the foot of the lower skirt.

The general shape of skirts continues the same—that is, they are narrow and tight at the top, flaring at the foot, made very long and their lower amplitude still further enlarged by trimmings. A new style divides just below the hips into four or five panels more or less ornamented around the edges and falling over a plain lower skirt trimmed at the foot. The plain skirt continues in much favor, however, for simple gowns and is indeed seen in more elaborateness, as no skirt so well displays a graceful figure.

The cut shows a costume of royal blue amazon cloth. The skirt is plain save for a tunic effect given by three white cloth cordings. The coat bodice, similarly corded near the edges, has a vest of white cloth, closing with two rows of dull gold buttons. There are double revers, the lower of white cloth, the upper of broche pompadour silk. The tight sleeves have white cording at the wrists. A white linen collar and chemisette are worn, with a tie of royal blue silk. The blue velvet toque has white feathers and a gold buckle.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

PUMPKIN PIES.

Money in Making Them if They are Palatable.

Farmers' wives who wish to earn a little money are unaware that pumpkin pies will find a ready and profitable market in the cities, and especially is this the case at Thanksgiving time and during the holidays. True one may buy pumpkin pies at the bake shops purporting to be the real old-fashioned articles, but they neither look the same nor taste the same. There are numbers of persons with such a lively and delightful memory of the pies "mother" use to make, that to taste one in any way like them is considered a rare treat indeed.

In preparing pumpkin for pies and puddings, it is nice baked as well as stewed, and decidedly less trouble, as there is no danger of its burning. When possible, use a steamer to boil the pumpkin. Deep pie plates should always be used. A shallow pumpkin pie is a delusion and a snare.

Pumpkin Pie No 1: Pare and grate raw pumpkin. To each pint of the grated pumpkin allow 1 qt. milk, 2 cups sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon extract cinnamon, a little ground mace and 3 well-beaten eggs. Bake in a pan lined with puff paste.

Pumpkin Pie No 2: Cut the pumpkin in halves, divide into rather small pieces, remove the seeds, and bake in the oven until done. Then scrape from the shell and rub through a colander. To 1 1-3 pints of the cooked pumpkin, add 1 qt. hot sweet milk, ½ cup sugar, and the well beaten yolks of 3 eggs; beat well together, add the stiffly-beaten whites of the eggs, and beat thoroughly again. Flavor to suit the taste and bake in a pan lined with puff paste.

Pumpkin Pie Without Eggs: Prepare the pumpkin as previously directed. For two pies heat 1½ pints milk in a double boiler, and when almost boiling stir into it 2 scant tablespoons flour rubbed smooth in a little cold milk. Let boil until it thickens, stirring often. Add ½ cup sugar to 1½ pints of the sifted pumpkin and after beating well together, stir this into the hot milk. Bake in one crust.

Pumpkin Pie Without Eggs, No. 2: To 1 qt. of cooked pumpkin add 1 lb. sugar, a lump of butter, 1 pint sweet cream, and flavor with ground cinnamon. Bake in rich pastry.

Children's Attire.

The illustration shows the fronts and backs of a child's double breasted cape and coat. It is designed for children of from two to six years and is comfortable as well as pretty. For mild weather the cape may be removed, thus giving a second garment quite as attractive as the first. Material and trimming may vary to suit the taste and pocket of the mother.

Domestic Pointers.

For a tasty hash, cut a few nice slices off a cold roast joint of beef, slice three onions, and place these in a frying-pan with the beef, and one and a half ounces of butter. Stir all constantly until meat and onions are a light brown. Turn into a stew-pan, pour over about half a pint of stock, and simmer for a few minutes. Serve hot.

Before using new earthenware, china, or glass, place it in a boiler of cold water and salt, and let it gradually boil, and then slowly cool. It is less liable to crack if thus treated.

The teapot, requires to be washed out and dried each time after use as carefully as any jug or cup if good tea is to be had.

Where marble is spotted, sprinkle stained or soiled, and then wash the marble with warm water, using a flannel.

A slice of ripe tomato, rubbed on to ink stains on a white cloth or the hands, will remove the stains.

Still Grinding.

In the Bible we read of "two women grinding at a mill," but that was in Palestine, two thousand years ago, and in the light of our modern machinery we scarcely comprehend just what it was that those women were doing. But if we go to Mexico to-day we will comprehend for we will see not only two but thousands of women grinding at the mill just as did those of bible times, the only difference being that instead of the wheaten loaf they will be preparing to bake the tortilla, a thin cake made from Indian corn without yeast. First softening the corn by soaking it in water, the women spread it out on a flat stone called a matate and with another stone shaped like a rolling pin crush it into a paste. When this paste of dough is of the proper consistency it is patted into cakes by hands that are not necessarily clean, and baked to a rubber-like impermeability on another flat stone.

Dark Fruit Cake.

Use one-half a cup of butter ¾ cup of brown sugar, ¾ cup raisins seeded and cut in pieces, ¾ cup currants, ½ cup citron thinly sliced, and cut in strips, ½ cup molasses, 2 eggs, ½ cup of milk, 2 cups flour, ½ teaspoon soda; 1 teaspoon mace, ¼ teaspoon cloves, ½ teaspoon allspice, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon lemon extract. Mix dry ingredients and mix and sift baking powder and spices with flour. Put butter in bowl, work till soft, add sugar gradually. Add eggs beaten until light, the liquid, then the flour mixture.

GINSENG ROOT.

The Peculiar Qualities Attributed to It by Chinese Superstition.

C. H. Mead, a Delaware County druggist, was at the Broadway Central Hotel last night. "I've been disposing of a lot of ginseng root to an exporter in Cedar street," said he. "Nearly all of it goes to China. The Japs don't use it, but the Chinese think there's nothing like ginseng. It is a slender, slow-growing shrub, found all through the North, and there is a good deal of it in Delaware and Sullivan counties. The root, dried, brings $6 a pound here in Manhattan. The Chinese ascribe all sorts of virtues to it, and the value of each individual root depends on its size and shape. A big root brings enormous prices in China. It has no particular medicinal properties. It has been analyzed more than once, and the absolute absence of healing qualities in the herb is perfectly well known to the druggists of this country. That makes no difference to the Chinaman, however. He believes it is the greatest cure-all, and the root possesses a charm in his eyes. The possession of a big root will make the first baby boy in a native Chinese family exceedingly wise and valiant. In fact, it is believed that after a big root is secured the first male child will turn out to be a mandarin or something of that sort. If the root, besides being large, possesses any peculiarities suggesting a resemblance in miniature to the human form, then that root is indeed a jewel, and worth more than gold. Just how long the Chinese will keep on believing in ginseng root is a problem. It is a good thing for the backwoodsmen of Delaware and Sullivan counties. When the women and children have nothing else to do they stroll out in the forests and dig ginseng. They frequently accumulate $100 worth in a single year. It is a shrub of slow growth, however, taking five years to become of merchantable size. It is cultivated successfully, though, on a small scale by some of our farmers. The cultivated root brings $7 and $8 a pound. The ginseng found in the Southern States is rather inferior, while Canada grows the best of all."—N. Y. Exchange.

SMALL BILLS.

There is a Scarcity of Those of One and Two Dollars.

The United States Treasury is being appealed to for small bills. It has none to spare. Nor has it any silver dollars, uncovered by certificates, which it can part with. Gold is being offered in vain for these once despised coins, which it was almost impossible to get the people to handle. Evidently there is a phenomenal lack of small-change bills, due to the increasing magnitude of pay-rolls and of retail purchases. According to the United States Treasury there were outstanding July 31, 56,378,256 one-dollar bills, 17,186,885 two-dollar bills and 57,620,344 five-dollar bills. There were also in circulation 63,158,273 silver dollars. The one-dollar bills and silver dollars aggregate 119,536,529. This is an average of one and one-half per capita. Small bills and coins circulate with such rapidity and thus do so much work that seemingly the facilities for making one-dollar payments ought to be ample. But, in the first place, the Treasurer's figures are excessive. They make no allowance for bills that have been destroyed. In the next place, the savings of the very poor are primarily in small bills. They cannot afford to save more than a dollar or two at a time. Thousands of the smaller bills are out of circulation because they are hoarded up. Furthermore, men who usually draw checks for small sums do not do so now because of the two-cent stamp. That has added to the demand for small bills. But without going into the reasons for the scarcity, it is evident that the country, with its increasing population and expanding retail traffic, needs more small bills, and those are the ones the Treasury should supply by substituting them for notes of higher denominations whenever such notes are paid into the Treasury. If small bills in excess of the demand are issued they will gradually find their way back to Washington.—Chicago Tribune.

Trouble With Cables.

The saw fish poking in the mud with his serrated snout has been blamed for piercing cables, but never caught in the act. In any case, it is a fact that some fishes do penetrate submarine cables, for the writer took part in a cable expedition from Para to Cayenne, and scarcely had the cable been successfully laid on the bottom of the sea when it failed altogether. I was also present on the repairing expedition and actually saw fragments of fishes' teeth picked out of the faults as caused by the real bites of some fish, and not the angry strokes of a sawfish. The iron wires protecting the cable had been forcibly crushed as between powerful jaws, and, as I have said, bits of the teeth were found sticking in the India rubber which coated the copper wire.

More than one whale has been entangled in a submarine cable and suffocated under water. A notable instance occurred in the Persian Gulf, where the cable was lying slack, and the repairing ship hauled up the dead body of the mammal. Mr. Lumsden, of her majesty's telegraph ship Monarch, has told me that in repairing a postoffice cable in the North Sea he once pulled up the wreck of a small schooner which had sunk upon the cable. It is not infrequent for fishing boats and other vessels to cut cables with their anchors and say nothing about it. Mr. Hockin, a well-known telegraph engineer, was once on board a steamer which anchored off Lisbon and cut a cable in lifting her anchor. With ready ingenuity he improvised a battery and telegraphed the exact position to the telegraph office in the city, and so saved the cable engineers a good deal of time and trouble.

Wonderful Discovery.

A young hopeful sat in the window a long time the other night during a thunder storm and contemplated the scene with a wise look on his face. Then he turned to his mother and said: "Mamma, the angels are scratching matches on the sky."

The One—I have been in society ever since I was 15.

The Other—Tell me, was it not much easier to get in in the early days?

A BRUSH WITH SAVAGES.

Capt. Slocum Finds a New Use for Carpet Tacks.

Capt. Joshua Slocum, in his solitary voyage around the world in the sloop Spray, found a new and exciting use for carpet tacks. In the Century Magazine he thus describes an encounter with the natives of Tierra del Fuego:

Canoes manned by savages from Fortesque now came in pursuit. The wind falling light, they gained on me rapidly till coming within hail, when they ceaser paddling, and a bow-legged savage stood up and called to me, "Yammerschooner! yammerschooner!" which is their begging term. I said "No!". Now, I was not for letting them know that I was alone, and so I stepped into the cabin, and, passing through the hold, came out at the forescuttle, changing my clothes as I went along. That made two men. Then the piece of bowsprit which I had sawed off at Buenos Aires, and which I had still on board, I arranged forward on the lookout, dressed as a seaman, attaching a line by which I could pull it into motion. That made three of us, and we did not want to "yammerschooner;" but for all that the savages came on faster than before. I saw that, besides four at the paddles in the canoe nearest to me, there were others in the bottom, and that they were shifting hands often. At eighty yards I fired a shot across the bow of the nearest canoe, at which they all stopped, but only for a moment. Seeing that they persisted in coming nearer, I fired the second shot so close to the chap who wanted to "yammerschooner" that he changed his mind quickly enough and bellowed with fear. "Bueno jo via Isla," and sitting down in his canoe, he rubbed his starboard cat-head for some time. I was thinking of a good port captain's advice when I pulled the trigger, and I must have aimed pretty straight; however, a miss was as good as a mile for Mr. "Black Pedro," as he it was, and no other, a leader in several bloody massacres. He now directed the course of his canoe for the island, and the others followed him. I knew by his Spanish lingo and by his full beard that he was the villain I have named, a renegade mongrel, and the worst murderer in Tierra del Fuego. The authorities had been in search of him for two years. The Fuegans are not bearded..... At night, March 8, at anchor in a snug cove at the Turn, every heart-beat counted thanks. Here I pondered on the events of the last few days, and, strangely enough, instead of feeling rested from sitting or lying down, I now began to feel jaded and worn; but a hot meal of venison stew soon put me right, so that I could sleep. As drowsiness came on I first sprinkled the deck with the tacks that my old friend Samblich had given me, and then I turned in. I saw to it that not a few of them stood "business end" up; for when the Spray passed Thieves' Bay two canoes had put out and followed in her wake, and there was no disguising the fact any longer that I was alone.

Now, it is well known that one cannot step on a tack without saying something about it. A pretty good Christian will whistle when he steps on the "commercial end" of a carpet tack; a savage will howl and claw the air, and that was just what happened that night about twelve o'clock, while I was asleep in the cabin, where the savages thought they "had me," sloop and all. They changed their minds, however, when they stepped on deck, for then they thought that I or somebody else had them. I had no need of a dog; they howled like a pack of hounds. I had hardly use for a gun. They jumped pell-mell, some into their canoes and some into the sea, to cool off, I suppose, and there was a deal of free language over it as they went. I fired the rascals a salute of several guns when I came on deck, to let them know that I was at home, and then I turned in again, feeling sure that I should not be disturbed any more by people who left in so great a hurry.

A Dinner in Mexico.

"The American Club in Mexico City is a unique and interesting institution," said a former resident now in business in the sister republic. "It has about 450 members and occupies the whole of a sumptuously furnished mansion opposite the historic turbide Hotel, on San Francisco street. The initiation fee is $100 for 'regulars' and $50 a year dues, but now residents get off with a $50 initiation fee alone. The concern is most admirably managed, and the cheapness and excellence of its cuisine is something really marvelous. What do you think of a first-class dinner for 31½ cents? That is the charge to members, and it may interest clubmen in this city to know exactly what our steward gives us to eat at such a figure. Here is a sample dinner card that I happen to have in my pocket:

Cucumbers, radishes.
Soup—Veal broth, with rice.
Fish—Breaded frogs' legs a la Poule.
Entres—Sautes of doves, with small strips of bacon; chops, with tomato sauce; braized spring lamb, with mint sauce; stuffed chiles a la Mexicana.
Roast—Sirloin of beef.
Vegetables—Mashed potatoes, boiled cabbage, stewed tomatoes.
Dessert—Baked apples, coffee, cheese, fruit.—N. O. Times-Democrat.

Tooth Brushes.

In selecting a tooth brush always get the best. A cheap tooth brush is only a waste of money. If the gums are hard and healthy a rather stiff brush should be selected, as it will grow softer by use. The bristles of the brush should be of different lengths. In brushing the teeth put the tooth powder on the side of the brush, then work it up and down on the teeth so as to force the bristles in between the teeth. Upper teeth should be brushed downward and the lower ones upward, applying the brush both inside and outside, and also upon the grinding surface of the double teeth, where decay often commences. After brushing vigorously, rinse the mouth with clear water.

"Excuse me," said the stranger, on a hot July Sunday to the distinguished usher, "but is this the Church of the Heavenly Rest?"

"No" replied the usher, "that's just around the corner; but you can sleep here every bit as comfortably as you can there."

So the stranger entered.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

THE VANISHED RACE

A BUILDING THAT HOUSED 6,000 CLIFF DWELLERS.

A Ruined Aboriginal City on a Cliff a Thousand Feet High—Skulls of People That Had Double Teeth All Around—Some Remarkable Relics.

Laden with relics of the vanished race of the Cliff Dwellers, the Rev. Dr. George L. Cole has returned from a journey to the ruined cities of Southeastern Colorado and New Mexico. Valuable results were secured by excavations in an ancient communal dwelling, as yet unnamed, which stands on the cliffs of the Santa Fe River, fourteen miles from Espanola, N. M. This is the largest pueblo yet discovered in the United States, and Dr. Cole was practically the first to visit it with scientific objects in view. He found stone implements and pottery of extreme rarity, and the bones of a race all of whose teeth were molars or grinders. Among the bones excavated from a burial mound on the mesa were a woman's femurs measuring nineteen inches, a length which indicates that the aboriginal giantess must have been at least seven and a half feet tall.

The cliff on which the unexplored ruins stand rises a thousand feet above the surrounding country. On one side of the isolated rocky mass is the valley of the Santa Fe River, on the other that of the Santa Clara. Up to 600 feet is a shelf which furnished a nesting place for the Cliff Dwellers of nobody knows how many centuries ago. In the soft pumice stone they burrowed dens for their families. Eventually the original shelters in the cliffs grew to be a great warren. Room after room was hewn out until the rows were four or five deep. Under the shelter of the overhanging cliff, walls were built, extending the rows of rooms. The Cliff Dwellers were sheltered from rain or storm and their homes were inaccessible for their enemies.

Not satisfied with their rock caverns, the Cliff Dwellers climbed upward, and on the mesa, 400 feet above the shelf on which the caves opened, built a communal dwelling.

This mesa is about three-quarters of a mile wide and a mile and a half long, with cliffs all about and the best of opportunities for defense. On its edge was reared a watch tower of granite, whose height Dr. Cole believes to have been not less than sixty feet. The blocks were painfully carried up the 1,000-foot cliff, for the nearest granite deposits are at a considerable distance. For greater security a wall was built across the middle of the mesa.

On this rock platform, 1,900 feet up in the air, there stand to-day the ruins of two communal dwellings, one evidently much older than the other. The older dwelling is as yet untouched, and what little exploration of the more modern one Dr. Cole had time for amounts to a mere scratch on the surface.

There were not less than sixteen hundred rooms in the larger building in its prime, says Dr. Cole, and probably two thousand. The building measured 240x300 feet. It was of blocks of stone measuring six by six by fifteen inches, quarried from the cliffs below, and carried up by the workmen. The rooms were roofed with timber, and the walls then carried higher. In the centre was a great court, a common kitchen for all, from which radiated immense numbers of rooms. The building spread with the growth of the community until it was three stories high and the rooms stretched away twelve deep from the central court, with smaller courts here and there. Dr. Cole estimates that the population averaged about three to a room, which would make between 4,800 and 6,000 people dwelling in the immense pueblo, besides those who lived in the cliff caves.

The rooms at the sides of the communal dwelling averaged about fourteen feet in size. On the upper stories they were mostly smaller, some being only seven by fourteen, others seven by twenty-one. Some rooms were found as large as fourteen by twenty-one feet.

With the trophies of his summer's explorations spread out about him, Dr. Cole has turned his parlor into an anthropological museum. One table is covered with water jugs and incense pipes, the sofa hidden under stone axes, mortars, pestles, weaving shuttles and pottery. Another table is decked with a row of grinning skulls and huge crossbones; beneath it comfortably repose all the parts of a skeleton, from the toe bones to the shoulder blades, waiting to be wired together, and strewn about are bows and arrows, baskets, jugs of twisted twigs, made water-tight by pitch; modern Indian pottery, photographs by the score, and a stump of petrified wood. The skulls are a particularly valued possession.

"Look at those teeth," said Dr. Cole, tenderly fondling the skull of the giantess. "She has no incisors, no cutting teeth, in front, as have all the other races of which I have any knowledge. She has grinders all around, and so have the other skulls. That shows they were grain-eaters rather than meat-eaters. The foreheads are high and the shape of the skull shows intelligence, but notice how curiously they are flattened at the back.—Los Angles Times.

A Chloroform Story.

A pet tortoise, owned by a lady in south London, was badly worried by the house-dog, so the owner decided to have the maimed reptile put out of existence. A friend, a medical student, undertook to achieve the business of killing with a minimum of pain, so he placed the thing in a box along with a fuster saturated with chloroform. The next morning it was found that the dog, which had apparently jumped on the box with the idea of again mauling his victim, had been overcome by the fumes of the substance escaping out of a hole in the receptacle, and was lying dead, while the tortoise, which had been doomed to destruction, was alive, and comparatively brisk in its movements, and looked as though it had considerably benefited by the chloroform.

Vaccination in Japan.

In Japan vaccination is compulsory, and the Government makes its own lymph, and issues it free of charge. Revaccination at stated periods is also rigidly enforced. Only calf lymph is used.

Long-Lived Bird.

Among the birds the swan lives to be the oldest, in extreme cases reaching 300 years. The falcon has been known to live over 162 years.

TO CLEAN MATTING.

To make soiled matting look fresh and bright prepare a pailful of warm water with a handful of salt and four tablespoonfuls of Ivory Soap shavings dissolved in it. With a clean cloth squeezed out of the mixture, wipe every breadth of the matting, rubbing soiled spots until they disappear.

A WORD OF WARNING.—There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

GOLF!

W. Lester Glenney, who is one of Plainfield's best golf players, has been selected as a member of the golf team of Columbia University. The first team met the second team Thursday in a match on the Staten Island Cricket Club course. Glenney defeated his man 5 up. The Columbia boys met the Richmond Golf Club team yesterday afternoon.

It is not generally known but Miss Underhill, the present holder of the championship at golf, visited this city last spring and made the Hillside course in 103 from scratch. Not a great while ago Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, who has been playing championship golf, made the Hillside course in 103. It is considered that a woman who makes this course in 100 is playing par golf, and thus it can be seen that Mrs. Rogers is rapidly nearing par golf.

The members of the Cranford Golf Club began to play rough golf on the links Saturday. There were over fifty people at the grounds during the afternoon, and the game was greatly enjoyed. Four tees have been placed in position, and there is a little stubble yet to be removed. The grounds have been rolled and the club has purchased a $150 horse lawn mower to keep the course in shape. The grounds will not be in first-class shape until next May. In the meantime rough golf can be played over the course. George Morrison, who never had a golf stick in his hand before, drove the ball 500 yards, and Harry Sanderson, another noted golf player, got lost in the bunker. Still all had ther fun. A meeting of the club will be held at the rooms in the Opera House Friday evening. About $3,000 of stock has already been subscribed by the members. Just as soon as the $4,000 worth of stock is subscribed the plans for the clubhouse will be considered, and contracts made for the building of the structure.

ROD AND GUN.

Drs. J. Hervey Buchanan and D. C. Adams went hunting over the mountains Monday, and all game above the number of fifty will be distributed among their friends.

THEATRICAL.

Manager Maze Edwards has added another mark of credit to his managerial record in this city by presenting a metropolitan attraction that naught but good can be said of from a theatrical point of view. In this case it was "The French Maid," presented at Music Hall last night. The opera was put in excellent shape, no detail in acting or staging being lacking. A fair-sized audience was present and was highly pleased by the performance.

SHAM BATTLE POSTPONED.

Brooklyn's Crack Regiment Did Not Meet Rahway Soldiers.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Rahway, Oct. 25.—The sham battle which was to have taken place Saturday morning at Demarest-on-the-Hill, a few miles from here, has been indefinitely postponed. The battle was to have been fought by a company from the Brooklyn Twenty-third Regiment and the Spanish War veterans of Company F, of this place. Lieutenant Cloke, who was to have commanded the Rahway soldiers in the fight, received a telegram Thursday afternoon from Brooklyn that the soldiers from there could not come to Rahway and that the affair was off.

The Rahway men are much annoyed and disappointed over the message, as they were preparing to give the visitors a royal reception and a fine dinner after the fight was over, and have been put to considerable expense in connection with the affair.

Force—Todd Nuptials

The marriage of Miss Sarah Elizabeth Todd, formerly of the borough, and Benjamin R. Force, of East Front street, took place yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's brother, Abram Todd, Bernardsville. Rev. Mr. Jones, of Bedminster, officiated. The affair was a very quiet one, and was attended by a few relatives. The happy bride and groom are spending a few days in Philadelphia, and on their return will live on East Front street, near Washington street.

One Night Was Enough.

Roundsman Frederickson found Barney Tracy drunk and behaving in a disorderly manner. So Barney was locked up. This morning he was arraigned before City Judge Runyon and sentence was suspended, as the night amid the creeping and crawling ones was sufficient punishment in the eyes of the Judge for the little offence with which Barney was charged.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. HE BOOMED BUSINESS.

Business Was Bad So He Invented a Cheap Edible.

"Speaking of oysters," said the major, "puts me in mind of the time I went into the patent oyster business. It was when I was with Smith & Coleman, formerly proprietors of the St. Nicholas and Astor houses, New York, respectively, but at the time running the Metropolitan in Washington. Business was bad and we cudgeled our brains how to build it up without incurring extra expense. Finally they left it to me. I concluded to try a plan that would either make or break business.

"There were some old rubber mats in the store room, and I had the boys wash them thoroughly and then cut them up in pieces about the size of a domino. Taking about two hundred of these pieces, I went to De Mar, the chef of the hotel, and famed for his fried oysters, and asked him if he could cover the chunks of rubber with butter and brown it without getting the rubber so hot it would smell. He tried it and succeeded beautifully and when I had placed the patent oysters in a chafing dish behind the bar they looked as appetizing as the real bivalve ever looked when properly fried.

"My first customer was Smith, one of the proprietors. He saw the oysters and said, 'Good heavens, major, we can't stand that. Fried oysters will break us. Why, I know fellows who will stand here and eat a dozen.'

"I told him I didn't think they would and as he wanted to try one I passed it out on a plate with the regulation fork. He chewed on it a while and then took it out of his mouth and looked at it. Just what he said doesn't matter, but he went out and sent Coleman in for an oyster. In an hour or two the run had commenced, every fellow that got an oyster went out to get a victim. Gen. O'Burns brought in Frank Turk, John Chamberlain introduced Chester A. Arthur to the dish, Sunset Cox, Sam Randall, Allen G. Thurman and a host of others were brought in only to say, 'Don't give me away. I want so and so to have an oyster,' and they'd go and get them.

"Teddy Quinn came to me, and says he 'Major, I want a dozen of your oysters put up in a box for my friend Flannigan of Troy, N. Y., to take with him for lunch on his journey home tomorrow. Flannigan had his wife with him, and they did not open the oysters until they got to Wilmington, and there Flannigan went out to get some coffee for her while his wife opened the lunch.

"She, good kind soul, asked several ladies sitting near to help her eat the oysters, and in truth she needed help to eat them. When Flannigan came back with the coffee there was a coach load of about as angry women as can be imagined. Flannigan tried one of the oysters to see what the trouble was, and when he got home he wrote me a letter. But the patent oysters boomed the business, and I was known for many a day as the rubber oyster man"

SPORTING NOTES.

Wheelman's Advice to Wheelmen.

Be moderate. Don't try to make a century run every day, and end up in the undertaker's quad.

Temper your zeal with judgment. If the tires of your life-wheels are pumped up too tight, you will find you have a rough road to travel and will get shaken up tremendously; if they are flabby you will make poor headway and spoil your tires.

Keep your bearings well lubricated with the oil of diligence and perseverance and see that every nut is screwed home by the wrench of determination.

Always keep to the right and so avoid collision with the wrongdoer and the evil-disposed, and keep your eyes open to see danger and avoid it.

Ring you bell vigorously when the Prince of Darkness appears before you, that he may flee from before you and leave you a clear road to a correct living.

Keep yourself erect, that men may see that you possess the full stature of a man. Don't run amuck through temptations, with your back in the air and your eyes between your feet, or you will surely be lost.

Keep Your Mouth Shut.

The bicycle thirst is admitted by all wheelmen who have experienced it to be the most intense longing for liquid refreshment that they have ever known. Wheelmen, and especially wheelwomen, are the best customers of country drug stores and roadside inns where "soft" drinks are obtainable.

The principal cause of the bicycle thirst is the fact that nearly all riders keep their mouth open or partially open when on the wheel. This is, of course, in violation of the rule laid down by athletic trainers that while undergoing exercises a man must breathe only through his nostrils. The experienced wheelman does this, but nine riders in ten breathe through the mouth. The result is that road dust enters, clogs up the throat, giving it the sensation of dryness and oftentimes of soreness and inflammation.

A Legless Baseball Pitcher.

A man without legs pitched seven innings in a baseball game at Standard Park in Fairview, N. J., recently, and as often as his turn came around took his position at the bat. This baseball wonder was Van Cleef, formerly captain of the Trenton baseball team, who two years ago lost both his legs in a railroad accident. The game was between the Electrics of Englewood and the Standard Athletic club's nine. Van Cleef pitched for the Electrics.

To get about the field the legless man used a wheeled chair. It was designed to be propelled by himself, but there were a dozen small boys who were ready to fight for the honor of wheeling him. Others found a lesser degree of glory in holding his red sweater while he was pitching.

And it was a good game of ball that Van Cleef pitched. He has retained all of his old curves and speed, and the batters found it extremely difficult to hit him. He was continually on the alert, and three times caught men napping on bases and put them out. While a small boy braced the wheels of his chair Van Cleef put a fly into right field and by proxy ran three bases, bringing men home from second and third. He seems as handy with the bat as if he were standing on his legs.

The Smallest League Player.

Casey, of the Washingtons, is one of the smallest men that ever wore a League uniform. He is about the size of little Nicol or Yale Murphy. His size, however, does not interfere with his ball playing. He is quick as a flash, throws like a phenom and can use the bat effectively from either side of the plate.

To Preserve the Enamel.

Vaseline smeared on the framework of a machine, especially the underside of the bottom main tube, will be found useful, as the caked mud will wipe off most readily without scratching the enamel.

Come Into the Garden Maud.

"Come into the garden, Maud,
For the wintry days have flown;
Come into the garden, Maud,
And see how things have grown.
I have planted pansies and sweet peas
And morning-glories there—
Come into the garden, Maud,
And see how my seedlings fare."
He took her little hand in his,
And they sauntered out to see,
But not a pansy had come up,
Nor a solitary pea;
He took one look around, and then
He wildly tore his hair—
Preceded Maudie there.

Crushed.

"If you were in my place," he said,
"Pray tell me would you go
To fight your country's battles and Help lay the Spaniards low?"

She looked at him a little while,
She slowly shook her head,
She viewed him o'er from head to foot,
And finally she said:

"Nay; were I in your place, indeed,
I'd not rush forth to battle—
But I would ask my mother for
A rubber ring and rattle."

Firing from the Rear.

There was a man in our town
And he was wondrous wise;
He knew just how the Spaniards might
Be taken by surprise.

But when it was suggested that
He ought to haste away
And carry out his lovely plan
He had no more to say.

HOW PEOPLE LAUGH

NAPOLEON MADE HIS SOLDIERS RAISE A LAUGH THAT WON A BATTLE.

It is Said That Laughter Was First Used When Adam, on Awakening, Saw Eve By His Side.

Since the days of Adam, who said to have invented laughter when he awoke and saw Eve by his side, no two people have laughed alike. The laugh is as distinct as the voice. Women laugh differently from men, children from women; indeed, even the laugh of a full-bearded man is different from that which he laughs when he has shaved.

The Abbe Damascent thought he had discovered in the various enunciations of laughter a sure guide to the temperaments of the laughers. Thus he said: "Ha! Ha! Ha!" belonged to acholeric person; "He! He! He!" to a phlegmatic one, and "Ho! Ho! Ho!" to the sanguine. And it is a scientific fact that while men commonly laugh in A and O, women usually laught E and I.

Those who practice laughing to any extent have been divided wittily into dimplers— and to know how charming they can be, one has only to go back to Charles Reade's "Simpleton with a Dimple"—smilers, grinners, horse-laughers and sneerers. This is to lay down a science of laughing, for which there might have been need had our generals in the late war taken up the idea of old Bulow, who proposed to form troops, in face of the enemy, in line of battle, and order them to advance with their arms at a shoulder and salute the foe with ringing bursts of laughter.

"Be sure," said Bulow, "that your opponents, surprised and dismayed at this astonishing salute, would turn about and run off."

Perhaps this scheme would not work now, while the present long range artillery is used; but, as a matter of fact, it is related that the Mamelukes once turned tail from an assault upon the French in Egypt on hearing the roar of laughter with which Napoleon's veterans greeted the command: "Form in squares, asses and men of science in the centre."

Great men often have fancied it a part of greatness to refrain from hilarity. Philip IV. of Spain is said to have laughed only once in his life. That was when his bride, Anne of Austria, wept at hearing that the Queens of Spain had no feet. She took with German literalness an old piece of Spanish courtesy. As she was journeying toward Spain some German nuns met her, and desired to present some stockings of their own knitting. The worthy Princess was about to accept the gift when a Spanish grandee of her suite interfered with the remark that it would be against etiquette, as the Queens of Spain were not supposed to have any use for stockings, whereat the Princess began to weep, understanding, poor woman, that on her arrival in Spain her feet would be cut off.

Lord Chesterfield said: "Nobody has seen me laugh since I have come to my reason," and Congreve makes his Lord Froth in the "Double Dealer" say: "When I laugh I always laugh alone." Young people and fools laugh easily, says an old proverb, which often has proved true.

Nevertheless, the singer Robert gave lessons in laughter in Paris and in London in 1805, and, so far at least as filling his own purse went, with success. He held that men and women could not laugh "decently and systematically" without proper training, and said that a person who could laugh only in one tone seemed to him like one who could say only oui and non; but that a trained laughter should express many things.

It is a curious fact that it is only among the French and among the ancients that we read of people laughing themselves to death. We, in our days, must have either more jokes or a duller appreciation of wit. Zeuxis is said to have died of laughing at a painting of an old woman, his own handiwork. Philemon expired laughing at a donkey who ate so contentedly the philosopher's figs that with his last articulate breath, he sent out his last glass of wine to the beast, who drank it with equal enjoyment, and thus proved himself, it would seem, not such a donkey after all.

It remains true, however, that laughter is good for the health. "Laugh and grow fat" is the old proverb. Sydenham maintained that the arrival of a clown in a village was as wholesome as that of twenty donkeys laden with drugs. Tissot, the famous French physician, cured consumption and liver complaints by causing his patients to laugh, and Erasmus, through immoderate laughter at the rude Latin of Hutten's "Letters of Obscure Men," broke an internal abscess which had long plagued him.

"When a man smiles, and much more when he laughs, it adds something to his fragment of life," said Sterne, who wished laughter enumerated in the materia medica, holding it as a curative of the same kind as coughing, sneezing, and perhaps vomiting, only much pleasanter than any of these."

Bit Bluecoat and Died.

Policeman Albert W. Owens, of the Flatbush station, Brooklyn Borough, was strolling up Erasmus street when a big Newfoundland dog with an antipathy for policemen jumped over the fence of No. 64 and savagely attacked him. Before the brute was driven off the policeman's hand was badly lacerated.

Owens did not wait to ask questions, but hurried to a physician's office and had the wound cauterized, then he went back to look up the dog and settle accounts.

"Where's that dog what bit me?" asked the officer, holding up his bandaged hand as proof of the accusation.

"He's dead," said the owner.

"Dead!" said Owens, incredulously. "What did he die of?"

"I am sure I don't know. He died about ten minutes after you went away. Perhaps the bite killed him," said the owner, wiping his eyes and sobbing bitterly.

Policeman Owens returned to the station-house, but he has been doing a pile of thinking ever since.

THREE OBSTRUCTIONISTS

Cause Application to Courts for Condemnation of Land to Widen Second Avenue, Roselle.

The Roselle Borough Council has passed a resolution authorizing the borough attorney, Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, to apply to the court for the appointment of commissioners to condemn the land on Second avenue in order that that thoroughfare might be opened and widened to eighty-one feet, in compliance with an ordinance recently passed by the Council.

At present there are only three objecting property owners who will not come to terms. The Rikers have laid one track through Second avenue, which allows the running of cars through the borough, but the trolley company's franchise permits a double track road which cannot be laid until the street is widened.

The Roselle Aldermen are now anxious for the City Council of Elizabeth to grant a speedy franchise to the Rikers in order that the line may be in operation by Thanksgiving Day. It is said considerable weight will be brought to bear on the Council at Elizabeth by the business men of that place, who are anxious for the trade of the people of the section about Roselle. A lengthy petition is being prepared, which is being signed by the Elizabeth business men, and which will be presented in the interests of the trolley.

VanWinkle-Gillies Nuptials Performed Yesterday Afternoon.

WAS A CHURCH CEREMONY.

LEFT THE CHURCH AT ONCE ON THEIR WEDDING TRIP.

Rev. W. R. Richards Tied the Nuptial Knot—Maid-of-Honor Was Miss Anna Teal, of Newark—A Trick Was Played on the Couple by Sending Their Baggage Away Placarded With Notices.

The Crescent Avenue church was yesterday afternoon the scene of a very pretty wedding, when Miss Mabel Alice Gillies, daughter of Mrs. Mary B. Gillies, of 310 Central avenue, was united in marriage to Nelson Van Winkle, of 107 Central avenue, in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends. The happy event was celebrated at 5:30 o'clock, and Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony.

The decorations were beautiful. They consisted chiefly of palms, and were arranged about the altar.

William E. MacClymont, organist of Holy Trinity church, New York, presided at the organ, and his rendition of pleasing selections preceded that of the Loehengrin wedding march, the first notes of which announced the arrival of the bridal party. First appeared two ushers, Joseph M. Hawkins and Frank VanWinkle, a brother of the groom. Then followed the maid-of-honor, Miss Anna Teal, of Newark, a cousin of the bride. She was gowned in blue cloth, trimmed with mousseline de soie, and wore a hat to match. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Then appeared the bride, escorted by Edward B. Ryder, her brother-in-law, who gave her away in marriage. She looked charming in a handsome gown of Bengaline cloth of a steel color. It was trimmed with passementrie and lace, and a hat of velvet to match was also worn. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses.

Following the bride were the other two ushers, T. O Doane, Jr., and J. Alba Runyon. At the altar the party was met by the groom and his best man, Thomas A. Cuming, and the officiating clergyman. A semi-circle was formed and the contracting parties were then made one. The responses during the service were very distinct and could be heard audibly in any part of the church. The ceremony throughout was very pretty and impressive.

As the bridal party was leaving the church the familiar wedding march from Mendelssohn was played. The bride and groom preceded, and then followed the others of the party. Upon their return they will reside at 310 Central avenue, which house they have rented for the winter. They were handsomely remembered by a host of friends and relatives, and the elegant and costly selection of presents received show unmistakably the esteem in which they are held.

The bride was until recently a valued employe at the house of Woodhull & Martin, and the groom is a machinist and holds and excellent position in the Pond Machine Tool Works. They both have the best wishes of all for a prosperous and happy life.

Guests were present at the wedding from Brooklyn, New York, Bergen Point, Elizabeth, Philadelphia and this city.

Yesterday afternoon prior to the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. VanWinkle, one of the relatives played a neat little trick on the bride and groom. Their dress suit case was packed and ready for the honeymoon trip to Philadelphia, when suddenly it was missed. Later it appeared at the North Avenue Station decorated in true fashion. It was tied with white satin ribbon, and on one side was a sign which read "Just Married." Tied to the handle of the case case was a pair of small shoes, and at each corner corner there was a small quantity of rice which had been fastened with mucilage. The case was checked on the 4:14 Philadelphia train, and the most amusing part of all must have been when the bride and groom called for it at the railroad station in the Quaker City.

Owing to the fact that the bridal couple was late in arriving at the church, they were unable to take the train intended and it was 8:20 o'clock when they left the city. At the North Avenue station their relatives and friends gave them a royal send-off. About six pounds of rice was used and after the couple took their seats in the train, some of the guests walked into the car and introduced the bride and groom to the passengers, saying that they hoped they would treat them well and also see that they got off the train in Philadelphia.

SANITARY CO TO QUIT.

LACK OF PATRONAGE MAKES IT A LOSING ENTERPRISE.

The Plant to be Closed Down the Last Day of This Month—It Means Rehabilitation of the Ash Cart Men.

The Plainfield Sanitary Company, which has been operating a garbage disposal plant in this city for the past three years, will cease doing business and close down their plant November 1st, owing to a lack of patronage. The company was organized with $50,000 capital stock to erect a plant for the disposal of garbage, ashes and refuse by incineration, the system being a patent of Former Councilman Seymour G. Smith, of this city.

Owing to the failure of several of the original stockholders to come forward with the full amount of their subscriptions the company passed into the hands of a receiver over a year ago. It was afterwards reorganized, the creditors being prevailed upon to accept stock in payment of their debts. After a thorough trial of the business, however, it is found that there is not enough private business in the city and borough to operate the plant on a paying basis, and at a meeting of the trustees of the company last night it was decided to suspend operations.

This will mean the rehabilitation of the colored ash cart men, many of whom were compelled to seek other ways of making a living after the sanitary plant was put in operation.

Those who are now customers of the Sanitary Company will have to make other arrangements for the disposal of their garbage after October 31st.

MAY BE MURDER CHARGE.

Brunges, Held for Assault on Wife, May Be Tried for Death of Still-Born Child.

Although lodged in the Middlesex County Jail at New Brunswick on a charge of assault, there is a possibility that Charles Brunges, of Woodbridge, may yet be held on a charge of murder.

Brunges assaulted his wife, Mrs. Kate Brunges, in a brutal manner Oct. 13th, and was arrested by Charles Grover, a constable, as he was getting ready to leave the State. Since the assault his wife has given birth to a dead child, and it is alleged that the husband's assault caused its death. The county authorities are looking into the matter with a view to holding him for murder if it can be done legally.

DEMOCRATS TURNED OUT IN GOOD SHAPE.

Representative Primaries Held In All The Wards.

PLANS FOR ORGANIZATION.

MEMBERS APPOINTED TO CITY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

A Lively Time In the Second Ward Over The Selection of a Member of The County Committee—Delegates Go Unpledged and Will Only Act For The Best Interests Of The Party.

As had been anticipated, the Democratic primaries last night were largely attended in comparison to the records of previous years. An effort had been made by a number of the younger Democrats to stir up interest and get out a larger attendance than has been the case heretofore, and they were successful in this respect. It all the wards considerable interest was manifested and representative primaries were the result. The delegates elected go unpledged to the county convention and will only support such candidates for the county convention nominations as will be regarded as the strongest men for the party. Personal favoritism will not gain sway in determining the choice of the Plainfield delegates.

The most important business transacted at the primaries, so far as Plainfield is directly concerned, was the concerted effort made to organize a city executive committee. For years the party in this city has been without organization of any kind, and it is calculated that a city executive committee, if working aggressively and with interest, can do a great deal towards putting the party on a firm basis in this city.

The result in the various ward were as follows:

FIRST WARD.

The First ward Democratic primary was held last evening in the Jacob Voehl building on East Front street. There was a good representation of party men present. The meeting was called to order by Michael DeCourcy, who was made chairman. Councilman Walter L. Hetfield was made secretary. The ward was entitled to four delegates, one member of the county executive committee and two members of the proposed city executive committee. The following persons were elected as delegates by the vote opposite their names: John Rafferty, 20; Andrew Nolan, 24; Walter L. Hetfield, 22; Charles Book, 16. William A. Coddington was nominated and received 14 votes. He declined the position, however, after he was nominated, but as there were five nominees, it was decided best to allow a vote to be taken.

Andrew Nolan was unanimously chosen a member of the county executive committee, and in the selection of men to represent the ward on the city executive committee, Charles McGinley was chosen from the first district and W. T. Banks from the second. The delegates were empowered to fill vacancies. William A. Coddington acted as inspector of election and Andrew Nolan as judge. They were both sworn into office and they attended to the counting of the votes. Everything passed off harmoniously.

SECOND WARD.

The Second ward primary showed signs of activity. It was held in the Bryant School building and there were twenty present when W. K. McClure called the meeting to order. He was made chairman and Louis Stover secretary. Frank Vosseller was chosen judge of election and Edward Brown inspector. There was no contest in the choice of three delegates to the county convention. H. W. Marshall, E. M. Tomlinson and J. B. Guttridge were elected.

There was a lively time when it came to choose the member of the county committee. James B. Guttridge was nominated by James Sharkey, and William K. McClure by Hezekiah Hand. Guttridge was finally elected by a vote of 15 to 2.

J. B. Guttridge and H. W. Marshall were chosen members of the city executive committee of the new Democratic organization. A letter was read from James E Martine telling that it was his first absence from the Second ward Democratic primary since the city was incorporated and explaining that very important business detained him elsewhere.

The liveliest part of the primary was the choice of the county committeeman. Hand was very strong in his advocacy of McClure and declared that Guttridge would not take the position. Frank Vosseller was equally positive that he would. The remarks began to grow bitter and Hand's past political record and the fact that he was once Republican postmaster of Scotch Plains were referred to. The lie was passed and then Hand applied an insulting epithet to Vosseller. Both men jumped up, there was an exchange of blows and they clinched. Then the crowd dragged them apart.

Hand seized a chair and made an attempt to use it against Vosseller but the blow went wild and E. M. Tomlinson, who was trying to assist in the preservation of order, caught most of the force of it. Then there was a struggle to disarm Hand in which the chair was wrecked. The combatants were finally separated.

THIRD WARD.

In no ward in the city was the increased interest in the primary more manifest than in the Third ward. For several years past the primaries in this ward have never been attended by more than five or six, and on several occasions no primary at all has been held, although the usual call to the voters was issued. But in cooperation with the effort that is being made to make the party more active throughout the city, a representative attendance of twenty-five Democrats were at the primary in the Third ward last night. The primary was held in one of the parlors of the Revere House. After the meeting had been called to order John H. Hillman was made chairman. The first business brought up was the election of delegates to the county convention. John H. Hillman, William F. Harding and Martin Galbraith were elected. James Hibbitts was elected the member of the Democratic county committee from that ward. After the anticipated action of the bther primaries with reference to naming members of a city executive committee was explained and a motion made that the ward take similar action, John Moran from the First district, and Walter Manning, from the Second district, were chosen to serve on that committee. The primary then adjourned with the attending Democrats considerably enthused over the prospect of more life in the party in Plainfield in the future.

FOURTH WARD.

Seventy-five Democrats were in attendance at the Fourth ward primary, held in the upper part of T. A. B. Hall. The interest manifested in the primary, as shown by the good attendance, indicated that the Fourth warders were willing to do their share towards putting some fresh energy into the party organization henceforth. The primary was called to order by Michael R. Flynn, chairman of the last primary. He was made permanent chairman and Elmore D. Moffett was named for secretary. James Kane was elected judge of election and Vincent L. Frazee inspector. After the call for the primary had been read nominations for delegates were called for. The following delegates were nominated and unanimously elected: First district, Edward C. Searing, Myer Leichtentritt and Thos. Carty; second district, James Kane, John Cory and Cormack Caufield; third district, Ira G. Hurlburt and James H. Phillips. The delegates were empowered to fill their own vacancies. The selection of a county committeeman to represent the ward was then taken up. William W. St. John and Elmore D. Moffett were nominated, but Mr. Moffett subsequently declined and the election of Mr. St. John was then made unanimous. A motion was then made that the primary proceed to the election of one member from each district in the ward to act as a member of a city executive committee that it was anticipated would be formed by concerted action last night in all the ward primaries, but if concerted action did not take place the members elected in the Fourth ward should be authorized to take such action as they thought necessary towards securing the establishment of a city executive committee. The following were elected: First district, Michael R. Flynn; second district, P. J. Reville; third district, Vincent L. Frazee. Brief remarks were then made by Messrs. Reville, Flynn and St. John, urging upon every Democrat to do a little personal work for the party in this campaign, so that the full Democratic vote could be brought out on election day.

FANWOOD TOWNSHIP.

The Democratic voters of Fanwood township met in the Bucket and Engine Company rooms last evening to elect delegates to the county convention, and to elect one member of the county committee for the coming year. Wm. S. Emery and Theodore Buchanan were elected. The alternates are C. H. French and John Radin. Member of county committee, Charles H French. The delegates go

AUTUMNAL FESTIVAL AT CATHOLIC CLUB.

Commenced Under Auspicious Circumstances Last Night.

FATHER WESTMAN ON HAND

YOUNG WOMEN ARE IN CHARGE OF THE BOOTHS.

A Special Feature of the Affair is the Contest Between the Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H. and the Children of Mary for an Elegant Banner—To Continue for the Balance of Week.

Last evening in the Plainfield Catholic Clubhouse, under the auspices of the women of St. Mary's parish, an autumn leaf festival was opened and will be continued the rest of the week. The opening was an auspicious one, and the affair gives promise of being one of the most successful ever held.

Rev. Father Westman, assistant rector of the church, is master of ceremonies, and he has left nothing undone toward making the festival all it should be. He makes it pleasant for all who attend and looks after everything in general.

The clubhouse is prettily decorated with flags and flowers. In the parlors there are fancy and refreshment tables in charge of the Ladies' Sewing Circle, and there is a fine assortment of fancy articles. Those in charge are: Mrs. James L. Slevin, president; Miss Anne Slevin, secretary and treasurer; Mrs. N. McElroy, Mrs. J. H. Hillman, Mrs. E. N. Conway, Mrs. Thomas Cogan, Miss J. Butscher, Miss B. Phillips, Mrs. E. A. Gross, Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Brady, Mrs. Geibelhouse, Mrs. Knowlton, Mrs. McCarthy, Mrs. A. G. Slevin and Mrs. Gilmore.

Those who are assisting at the refreshment tables as waitresses are Maggie Hardy, Loretta Flanagan, Jeanette Somers, Annie Galbrath, Bessie Shea and Mamie Birmingham.

In the large hall of the clubhouse there is a table containing many useful and ornamental articles which is in charge of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H. and the Children of Mary. Those in charge from the auxiliary are Mrs. Fitzgerald, president; Miss Alice Kelly, vice-president; Miss Kittie Moen, financial secretary; Miss Etta Tobin, recording secretary; treasurer, Mrs. Walter Barry. Those from the Children of Mary are Maggie Carney, president; Mary Curren, vice-president; Mary Mercier, secretary; Bridget Colbert, treasurer.

Rev. Father Smyth and J. H. Hillman are in charge of the bowling alleys and athletic sports, and last evening both of these gentlemen surprised their friends by very high scores. They enlisted the interest of many young men, who spent a greater portion of the evening in bowling.

A feature of the affair is the contest between the Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H. and the Children of Mary for an elegant and costly banner. This contest is sure to be one of the most exciting, as both societies are working very hard.

There was a large attendance last evening for the first night, but for the balance of the week it is expected that the clubhouse will be filled with people. There is dancing every night and music is furnished by Eugene O'Reilly's orchestra.

Plainfield Boys Who Were in Company H Can Get Them Next Monday.

An Interesting Public Debate.

This evening at Reform Hall there will take place a debate on one of the most important topics of the day. Rev. Mr. Cleaver, of Bound Brook, and Councilman S. S. Swackhamer, of the borough, will be the principals. The question to be debated is "Resolved, That the United States should follow a policy of Imperialism." The judges will be Col. Mason W. Tyler, Gen. Negley and Alex. Miller. A feature of the affair will be the appearance of M'lle Mira Marisona, a singer of note and wide reputation.

A PARENTS' MEETING.

Various Teachers Had a Talk With the Parents on School Affairs.

The High School teachers held a very successful "Parents' Meeting" yesterday. Supt. Maxson and Mr. Travell had sent a letter of invitation to the parents of every pupil and the response received indicates that the move is a very popular one.

At 2:30 o'clock the parents were received informally by the teachers. At 3 o'clock Mr. Maxson addressed a few words to the parents, then he was followed by Mr. Travell and Mr. Meredith. After an interval for asking questions, the meeting again took on an informal character, the parents chatting with the various teachers of their children. The assembly room was well nigh filled with parents and it was late in the afternoon before the last one had gone.

OBJECT TO ASSESSMENTS

EIGHTY TAXPAYERS APPEAR BEFORE COMMISSIONERS OF APPEAL.

Second Ward Had the Most Complaints—Fourth Warders Object to Dog Tax—The Y. M. C. A. Assessment.

The Commissioners of Appeal of this city completed their labors last evening as far as the public was concerned. The first session was held Tuesday afternoon when some fifty complaints against assessments were heard and considered. Last night there were thirty more citizens who were not satisfied with their assessments appeared before the commissioners.

Out of the thirty present the Second ward had the largest representation. There were fifteen from the Second ward, principally those who owned property along Woodland and Belvidere avenues. There was the usual number of old soldiers and soldiers' widows, who are exempt under the law up to a certain amount.

The dog tax was the cause of several complaints from the Fourth ward. One man was assessed for a dog that belonged to a boarder, and another did not understand that puppies came in the tax.

There was a strong objection against the tax on the Y. M. C. A. property Tuesday afternoon, when W. D. Murray, Nelson Runyon, Stephen Cahoone and John Valiant all spoke for the Y. M. C. A. The commissioners will consider that case at a later date.

Evarts Tracy, of Hillside avenue, is the architect, and he has designed a structure that will include every convenience and will combine beauty of style as well. John Abbott, of West Front street, has the contract to do the carpenter work, and William Pangborn, of Chatham street, the mason work. The residence will cost about $10,000 complete.

A QUIET MARRIAGE.

Miss May DeNise and Erwin Y. Neighbor Married Last Night.

The marriage of Miss May E. DeNise, a daughter of Mrs. Mary DeNise, of West Front street, and Erwin Y. Neighbor, of East Second street, was celebrated last evening at 6 o'clock. Rev. Charles L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, performed the ceremony at his home on West Seventh street. The affair was a very quiet one, no one being present but the interested parties. For the present Mr. and Mrs. Neighbour will board, but the first of the year they will go to housekeeping. The bride is a popular young woman, and has a host of friends. The groom is associated in business with Thomas Timbo on North avenue. They have best wishes from their many friends for a happy and successful journey through life.

Cole was notified and has gone to bring the remains to Plainfield. Notice of funeral will be published tomorrow.

MACHINE MEN WILL CONTROL CONVENTION

Cross, Howard and Houston Will Probably Win.

WHAT PLAINFIELD MAY DO.

SOME OPPOSITION TO NEWCORN FROM HIS OWN WARD.

If Latter Can Get Unanimous Support of Fourth Ward Delegation He Can Be Named for the Assembly—Halsey Claims That the First and Fourth Wards Will Support Him at Convention.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 26—As the hour for the Republican county convention draws closer the impression that the "machine" candidates—Howard for County Clerk, Houston for Sheriff and Cross for Senator—will carry everything before them with good majorities on the first ballot. In fact, those who are opposed to this slate practically concede that the aforesaid combination will win, although the opponents are looking as pleasant and confident as the circumstances will allow. B. Frank Coriell, who has been pushed as Plainfield's candidate for the Shrievalty, announced early this morning that he was out of the contest. This is taken to mean that the Howard faction are so confident of winning at the out set that there will be no need of using Mr. Coriell's name further in the contest, it being generally understood that the Plainfielder was only in the contest as an aid for Howard.

Of the Plainfield delegations, the Howard faction claim that the Second and Third wards—eighteen delegates in all—will be on their side, but the Halsey men are claiming the First and Fourth wards delegations from Plainfield, who have 19 delegates. The Halsey advocates are trying their best to persuade the Plainfield delegates to go into the convention and join their forces, insisting that if they will there is a strong possibility of such a combination being able to control the nominations. But it is not likely that such a deal will be made.

The Fourth ward delegation from Plainfield seem to be somewhat perplexed over the turn of affairs here this morning. It is stated that William Newcorn can secure one of the Assembly nominations providing the Fourth ward people will request that he be nominated. Some of the delegates consider him to be a weak man, however, and are averse to doing this. Just what the outcome will be can hardly be told when the convention is called upon to nominate the Assemblymen.

It is claimed that George Squier is practically out of the race for renomination to the Assembly, but when Mr. Squier was seen by a Press reporter this afternoon he did not infer that this was right.

George Matthewson, of Elizabeth, will probably be one of the Assembly candidates, Chetwood Smith, of Westfield, another, and possibly Newcorn, of Plainfield, the third.

The convention will be called to order in the Lyceum Theatre at 3:30 o'clock by Charles Codding, chairman of the county executive committee.

The delegates from this city are as follows:

Second ward—John B. Dumont, S. A. Ginna, M. S. Ackerman, Thos. A. Cuming, J. E. Keely, Chas. Davis, J. VanHerwerden, Chas. S. Foote, W. N. Runyon.

Third ward—N. B. Titsworth, Alex. Gilbert, Charles F. Abbott, Roger F. Murray, F. E. Marsh, W. A. Pinto, Fred H. Andrews, Robert Rushmore, Albert I. Littell.

Fourth ward—Neal Head, Daniel Galbraith, A. Leivers, G. Greenleaf, Jacob Kriney, Howard Woolston, George Fielding, James Morrison, William Abbott, James Saunders, B. Harvey, W. Jenkins.

Address By Councilman Swackhamer

Councilman S. S. Swackhamer, of the borough, was the principal speaker this afternoon at a flag raising at the Round Top school house at Mount Horeb, in Warren township. There were also interesting exercises by the children of the school. The affair was under the auspices of Fairview Council, Jr. Order of United American Mechanics.

BOERS NEAR KIMBERLEY.

Another Battle Between the British and Kruger's Followers is Imminent.

THIRTY HUSSARS RETURN

The Boer Forces Occupy Klipdam, One of the Paincipal River Diggings in South Africa.

The Important Engagement Fought Near Ladysmith—Transvaal Issues a Proclamation in Regard to Territory Claimed—The Inhabitants of Douglas Ask Protection.

London, Oct. 26.—The War Office has made public the following dispatch, sent by Gen. White, received from Ladysmith Wednesday evening:

"The advance guard of the force sent out by me this morning to get in touch with and help General Yule's column was within three miles of that column, which had temporarily halted at Sunday River, about noon. I have occupied all the strong positions on the road to Ladysmith and I have no further anxiety about them. I have received from Lieutenant Kendrick, Signaling Officer of the Queen's regiment who has ridden in, and also from Colonel Dartnell of the Natal police, who accompanied the column, the best accounts of the spirits and efficiency of the troops, who are very anxious to meet the enemy again."

A dispatch from Maseru says Commissioner Lagden has started to meet Lerothodi and other Basuto chiefs at Putiatsus River, where the chiefs have assembled at the request of Lerothodi to pledge their loyalty to the Queen.

Was a Hand Battle.

Ladysmith, Natal, Oct. 26.—The fight made by General White, seven miles from here to cover General Yule's march to Ladysmith, was short and savage. Worst of it was between a detachment of a Devonshire regiment and twice their number of Boers.

Boers outnumbering British began extending their lines so as to turn British left flank. The Devonshire men were at the extreme left of line. Long, low hills sort of separated them and the force immediately opposed, from the rest of the battle. One remarkable thing was that both sides charged at once. Originally nearly a mile apart, they advanced by rushes, dropping to cover every fifty yards. These tactics brought them very close before many were hit. The English yelled "Majuba!" at every jump.

A Hand-to-Hand Battle.

The conclusion of the affair was what was never expected to occur in battle again—a hand-to-hand conflict, just as if the opposing forces were not armed with rifles for which a mile is a moderate range. It was an awful mess, and the British would have been overpowered had not the main fight to the eastward gone against the Boers. They had to fall back, and those fighting against the Devonshire men found themselves without support. Thirty men were killed and wounded in a space smaller than a city square. Fourteen soldiers were killed and nearly one hundred wounded in the fight. Among the wounded are six officers, two seriously injured. The Boer loss is estimated at least double this. The Orange Free State sharpshooters proved themselves in this battle equally as efficient at winging officers as have the Transvaal troops. Among the British casualties were Colonel Wilford killed, and one major and five lieutenants wounded. General Yule has some wounded with him. It cannot be ascertained yet if General Symonds was left behind at Dundee.

Yule's retreat from Dundee and Glencoe, small mining towns, was made necessary by the advance of the Boer forces. Otherwise they would have been between him and Ladysmith, and his small command would have been exterminated if he did not surrender.

The Hussars Captured.

London, Oct. 26.—A notice posted at the War Office says it is presumed that a squadron of the 18th Hussars has been taken prisoners by the Boers.

The Central News publishes a report that a squadron of the 18th Hussars under command of Lieut.-Col. Maller has been captured by the Boers. The prisoners include the commander, two captains and five lieutenants.

The Central News says that the Hussars were captured after the battle of Glencoe on Oct. 23. They were pursuing the retreating Boers, and were probably captured by the Hattingspruit commando.

The Hattingspruit commando was the one under Gen. Erasmus that failed to join the troops at Glencoe in time to take part in the battle.

Statement of Boers' Strength.

Brussels, Oct. 26.—The agency of the Transvaal Government has issued a statement regarding the number of Boers in the field. It says there are now 100,000 men under arms. This force is made up of 35,000 regulars, 35,000 Orange Free State troops, 3,000 Natal Boers, 8,000 Bechuanaland Boers, 4,000 Germans, 6,000 Dutch Belgians, 2,000 Irish, 600 Americans and about 6,000 miscellaneous troops. The statement also gives some other details of the Boer strength.

This is the place which Gen. Lawton intends to use as his base of supplies for the expedition to Tarlac. The work is being pushed forward rapidly.

A corporal, photographer and signalman have been missing since Gen. Young's recent fight. An escaped Spanish prisoner says there are four American prisoners with Gen. Pio del Pilar at Penaranda.

Big Orders For Steel Rails.

New York, Oct. 26.—There has come to light the fact that an agreement as to price has been made among the steel rail manufacturers of the country, and that the first result is the immediate booking of orders, for delivery in 1900, of steel rails worth $50,000,000. To fill these contracts will require nearly one-fifth of the entire steel production of the country—all to be manufactured into steel rails, which is a single branch of a great industry. And the new prices! They range from $35 to $40 a ton, as compared with $18 a ton for steel rails in 1897, when the big steel rail pool collapsed.

New York, Oct. 26.—A well-known New York palmist has examined the palms of both Jeffries and Sharkey and declares that Jeffries will win the coming championship fight in the seventeenth round. And Jeffries makes a like statement in regard to his ability to win.

CRYING FOR HELP.

Lots of It in Plainfield, But Daily Growing Less.

The kidneys cry for help.

There is no organ in the body so delicately constructed or so important to health.

The kidneys are the filters of the blood.

If they do not filter the blood very soon becomes foul and poisonous.

Anybody knows that there can be no health where there is poisoned blood.

Backache is one of the first indications of kidney trouble.

It is the kidneys' cry for help. Heed it.

Doan's Kidney Pills are what is wanted.

Are just what overworked kidneys need.

They strengthen and invigorate the kidneys—help them to do their work—never fail to cure any case of kidney disease.

Read the proof from a Plainfield citizen.

Mr. Richard Day, of 134 East Front street, says: "I was troubled at times with symptoms of kidney complaint for four years. My chief difficulty was a miserable pain across my back and a sort of lame feeling over my kidneys. Standing any length of time or walking any distance aggravated it greatly. I was never sick much in my life and consequently never took much medicine, so when I first began having these attacks I paid but little attention to them. They however grew worse instead of better so I had to look about for a remedy. I read quite frequently in our papers about cures brought by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store and after taking them I felt greatly relieved. I have recommended them to my friends and those who have used them speak very highly in their praise. I consider that Doan's Kidney Pills are a splendid remedy for complaints like mine."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all dealers; price 50 cents a box. Mailed on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

DRESSED CHICKENS.

There is nothing quite so good for dinner as chicken. This week we have an extra nice lot of fancy roasting chickens, broilers, also fowls of the highest grade. We pride ourselves on dressed chickens. Prices very low, considering the goods. We would like to have your meat trade and we think a plump dressed chicken would be a good introduction.

MURPHY WANTS TROOPS.

Trouble of a Serious Nature is on Between Mexicans and American Cowboys.

WILL MAINTAIN ORDER.

The Secretary of War Has Been Officially Notified of the Existing Difficulty.

Governor of Arizona Requests That a Company of Troops be Ordered to The Scene of Hostilities—Germany Has a New Name For Trusts—Thanksgiving Proclamation.

Washington, Oct. 26.—The Secretary of War has just received a telegram from Gov. Murphy, of Arizona, saying that considerable trouble has occurred at Naco, on the border, between Arizona and Mexico, between American cowboys and Mexican officers.

He recommends that a company of troops be ordered there from Fort Huachuca to remain until the trouble has subsided.

He says that the civil officers will do everything possible to maintain order, but will not be able to do so.

Germany's Name For Trusts.

Washington, Oct. 26.—Consul-Gen. Richard Guenther has sent to the State Department, from Frankfort, a translation from a recent issue of a German trade paper relative to trusts in Germany. The article says: "For industries in Germany, the last few years have been an era of rings. In this matter Germany has not taken the lead, but she is following with increased eagerness the example given by more advanced countries. During recent years, a number of new industrial rings were founded or their organization was planned. Thus, in 1898, there were founded the unions of iron-wire manufacturers, of woolen goods manufacturers, of iron goods dealers, of wall-paper manufacturers, of sheet-iron manufacturers of cloth dealers, of asphaltum manufacturers, of yarn consumers, of cotton-yarn consumers, of indigo exporters, &c.

"As to the effectiveness of the rings in the textile industry during the past year, the following is reported:

"The union for promoting the German linen and hosiery industry has been able to develop a very satisfactory activity in the interests of its members in the political field. The efforts of the union to promote the interests of the textile industry at Crefeld were more in the field of art industry. The union of German wall-paper manufacturers has been able to keep up to its agreement in every respect. The same applies also to the convention of manufacturers of dressmakers' busts at Berlin, which is in indirect connection with the textile branch. The commercial political relation of the union of yarn consumers merits special consideration.

"It is known that the German spinners desire on the conclusion of new commercial treaties, to again have the yarn duties raised. This intention is seconded by the influential protective union, but since, notwithstanding the high customs duty, it has not so far been possible to manufacture the finer yarns in Germany in competition with Great Britain, the yarn consumers fear from an increase of customs duties serious injury to their export interests. Their endeavors, therefore, are directed to preventing the increase of the duties and, if possible, to obtaining facilities for the import, as they cannot refrain from importing from Great Britain."

Thanksgiving Day Proclamation.

Washington, Oct. 26.—President McKinley has issued a proclamation designating Thursday, Nov. 30th as a day of general thanksgiving and prayer; and advises: "That on this day religious exercises shall be conducted in the churches or meeting places of all denominations, in order that in the social features of the day its real significance may not be lost sight of but that prayers may be offered to the Most High for a continuance of the divine guidance without which man's efforts are vain, and for divine consolation to those whose kindred and friends have sacrificed their lives for country."

Will Fight Goebel on Crutches.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 26.—Ex-Gov. John Young Brown is so eager to defeat Goebel that he has decided to fill the remainder of his stump appointments, although his left leg is fractured. He will appear on crutches, and says that his challenge to Goebel for joint debates is still open. Col. Brown will speak on Monday.

Steamship Badly Injured.

Liverpool, Oct. 26.—The White Star steamship Germanic collided with the stern of the steamer Hopper in the Mersey. A hole twelve feet square was smashed in the Germanic's port quarter and she returned to her dock here. The Hopper is a steel twin-screw smack of 799 tons and is owned by the trustees of the Clyde Navigation Company.

MINERS STARVE TO DEATH.

Blizzard Causes Three More Deaths In Alaska.

Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 26.—William Lafler, who has just returned from Alaska brings the story of the death of N. C. Daily and two Frenchmen, names unknown, all of Boston, on the Bonanza River, in Northern Alaska, last winter. The men had been searching for gold, but their food gave out and they starved to death during a severe blizzard.

Daily and two Frenchmen got separated from Lafler and his partner during the blizzard and wandered away almost without provisions and with scanty clothing. When the storm moderated Lafler's party searched for their missing companions. Finally discovering their tent they found one skeleton inside and the remains of Daily and the other Frenchman a short distance away.

The bones of the men had been picked clean by wolves but their belts containing gold dust remained intact. On the camp stove in the tent was found a kettle filled with the rawhide thongs of snowshoes, which the three starving men had tried to boil for food.

YELLOW FEVER IS SPREADING.

It Causes an Increase of Alarm At Jackson, Miss.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 26.—The indications some time ago that the fever this season would not have an opportunity to spread before the frost, have proved fallacious, and now the disease is epidemic in Jackson, according to the statement of the Board of Health. Six new cases have been reported in the past twenty-four hours.

There have been about twenty-five new cases within the last three days reported to the Board. The weather is warm and favorable to a further spread. Many citizens who have remained up to this time are leaving. The whole state is quarantined against Jackson, and business is paralyzed. There are three cases in the State penitentiary, one of which is the secretary of the Board of Control and the other two are convicts. As nearly all the inmates of the penitentiary were removed at the first announcement of the fever to a convict plantation, it cannot spread much inside the prison walls.

More New Cases.

Jacksonville, Fla., Oct. 26.—Key West has reported six new cases of yellow fever and no deaths. Miami reports four new cases and one death. Mayor Bowden, of this city, and the Board of Health met to decide as to declaring a quarantine against Miami. Dr. Porter is there, however, and has a strict quarantine on, so no person can leave that place without his permission. No anxiety is felt here at all.

Locomotive Didn't Hurt Him.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Pedro Domedo, a ten-year-old Polish boy, of this city, was riding on the bumper of a New York Central locomotive in the freight yard here. The engine, which was running slowly backward, gave a lurch an Pedro was thrown off. Fortunately he fell between the rails, but within the track. He lay sprawled out on his face and stomach while the tender and locomotive passed over his body. The fire-box just grazed his back. The lad escaped without even a scratch.

Mr. Wildman May Be Recalled.

Portland, Ore., Oct. 26.—The Oregonian says:

"The recall of R. Wildman, United States consul general at Hong Kong, is imminent. It is said that he is to be relieved from duty for cause, and the 'cause' is his prominence in connection with the affairs of Aguinaldo, the Filipino rebel. It is reported that the successor to Wildman will be Dr. Edward Bedloe, United States consul at Canton, who was recently called to Washington."

He Held The Wife Murderer.

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 26.—The Rev. G. E. Morrison, the white Methodist preacher under sentence to be hanged for wife murder at Vernon, Texas, on Oct. 27, has made a desperate effort to escape from jail. He and another prisoner assaulted Jailer Shive when he brought them their suppers. The jailer was badly beaten, but held on to Morrison until help came. The other prisoner was recaptured a quarter of a mile from the jail.

Circular Saw Cut His Throat.

Buckhannon, W. Va., Oct. 26.—A young man named Lewis, who was working in a sawmill on Sand Run, got his foot caught in a belt. He was thrown to the roof, breaking three of the rafters, and fell back on the belt and was carried to a circular saw, which cut his throat and badly mangled his body.

Gen. Tracy Buys a Farm.

Middletown, N. Y., Oct. 26.—General B. F. Tracy has bought from Seneca Jessup, for $7,500, the Owens farm of 125 acres, on the Florida road, a mile and a half from Goshen, and has also secured an option on an adjoining farm of 100 acres.

GEO. W. ROCKFELLOW,
THE GROCER.
Park Avenue and Fourth Street.

A gentleman living in a Pennsylvania town says: "I had to give up my business on account of my poor health, and just attend to the work on my small lot, and that was more than I felt able to do. For several years I have had indigestion and liver complaint, and been very much troubled with constipation. I employed different physicians and tried different kinds of patent medicines, but only received temporary relief. Early in the summer I saw an advertisement of Ripans Tabules in the Bucks County Intelligencer. I did not have much faith in them, but finally decided to give them a trial, and on July 23d I purchased a box and commenced taking them. Before I had taken half of the Tabules I began to improve, and by the time I had taken all of them I was so much improved that I felt like another man. I have continued their use, and I am gaining daily in health and strength. Now I can do the work on my lot with ease, where it used to be a burden to me. I can speak only in praise of the Tabules, and I would recommend them to all persons who are ailing."

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor as well as the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mailing forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents. RIPANS TABULES may also be had of grocers, general storekeepers, news agents and at liquor stores and barber shops.

MURDER MYSTERY CLEARED UP.

Man Who Killed James W. Beardsley Makes a Confession.

Norwalk, Conn., Oct. 26.—By the confession of one of the guilty men, the mystery which has surrounded the murder of James W. Beardsley in this city ever since the crime was committed in 1892 has been cleared. The confession is in the hands of the police, and fixes the crime, it is said, upon Thomas Kinsella and William Mahoney, who are now serving sentences in this State for burglary.

Mr. Beardsley was one of the most respected and philanthropic citizens this city had ever known. He lived with his maiden sister in a large farmhouse facing the park. On the evening of Thursday, Dec. 22, 1892, two men rapped at the side door of his home. Miss Eliza Beardsley opened the door and the two men brushed past her into the house. Mr. Beardsley was sitting in the sitting-room reading. In the kitchen Burr Oakley, the hired man, was sitting by the stove. Both of the intruders wore handkerchiefs tied about their faces. The taller and heavier of the two passed directly into the room where Mr. Beardsley was sitting, and covering him with a revolver demanded his money. Mr. Beardsley was a large, powerful man and unusually courageous.

In spite of his seventy-three years he immediately grappled with the larger of the two men. There was a desperate struggle for a few minutes, when Beardsley was finally overpowered and his pockets were rifled. He had about $65 in money on his person and a silver watch, which were taken from him. During the struggle Mr. Beardsley received many cuts and bruises. He was thrown over a chair by his antagonist, and while prostrate was bruised by the burglar's knee, which was forced into his abdomen with crushing force. Mr. Beardsley lingered until Sunday, Jan. 1, and died.

The two men who became murderers by the death of Mr. Beardsley, it is now learned, were Thomas Kinsella, a man of enormous proportions, and William Mahoney, both members of a gang of burglars whose headquarters were at Greenport, L. I. The gang had operated all over the State of New York and the New England States. Robberies at Lee and Lenox were known to be the work of this gang. One of their victims was a Mr. Hodges of Stratford, who unwillingly contributed $1,000 to the gang.

After enjoying for a long time immunity from arrest the gang finally came to grief at the home of Congressman John M. Wheeler on State street in the early morning of March 1, 1894, when one of the members was fatally wounded by Policeman Larkin and the other two captured.

The police refuse to say whether it was Kinsella or Mahoney who confessed.

Klondike Prospector Pardoned.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 26.—Governor McLaurin has pardoned Charles Summers from the State Penitentiary. Summers was formerly a Pinkerton detective. He robbed the Southern Express Company of $5,000, was convicted and imprisoned, escaped, went to the Klondike, made a lot of money in the mines, came back voluntarily some months ago, surrendered himself to serve out his unexpired term and reimbursed the express company and the State for its expense in hunting him. He will return to the Klondike at once.

Shaw Given a Reception.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 26.—An informal reception was given to Governor L. M. Shaw of Iowa by the Union League Club here, prior to his departure for home. Injured While Firing a Salute.

Trenton, Oct. 26.—A serious accident has marred the celebration in honor of Rear-Admiral Sampson. While a salute of seventeen guns was being fired from an old brass howitzer, there was a premature explosion and Walter English, who was at the rammer, was mortally injured. Both his hands were torn off at the wrist and he was otherwise burned and lacerated. He was taken to a hospital, where the surgeons said death was almost certain. The news of the accident was kept from Admiral Sampson.

UNDER AMERICAN RULE.

Postoffice in Cuba Has Improved Wonderfully in Uncle Sam's Hands.

IT IS NOT YET PERFECT.

The Postmaster General of the Island Tells What Has Been Done and What is Being Done.

Efforts to Work Cubans Into The Government Service of Different Branches are Successful—The Entire Postal System Was Rebuilt From The Ground Up.

New York, Oct. 26.—Col. E. G. Rathbone, postmaster general of Cuba, has arrived here from Havana on the Ward Line steamship Havana. He expects to return to Havana with his family in three weeks.

Col. Rathbone says that the postal system in Cuba has been vastly improved during the United States' occupation of the island, and although it is not as perfect as the service here, it is already thoroughly efficient. What is more, the Cubans have learned to put confidence in it and are using it freely. It is the policy of the administration, Col. Rathbone says, to work the Cubans into the government service as far as possible. This has been done in the Havana police force and has been done in the postal service.

"I went to Havana on Dec. 1," Col. Rathbone continued, "and took charge of the postal service on Jan. 1. We have now in the postal service on the island 600 employes, 500 of whom are Cubans. The Americans are employed chiefly to act as aids to the Cubans.

"I found a postal system that was bad at the best, badly administered and disrupted by war. There was little left of it in fact. This necessitated the rebuilding of the whole system from the ground up. We introduced several new features, the most important of which were the money order and registration. Under the Spanish rule they had a sort of registration, called certificado, but it was nothing like our perfect system of registration. The money order system has met with great favor. Since April, when it was introduced, between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 has been remitted to the United States by money order. The Cubans have the greatest confidence in the system. This is shown by the fact that the merchants and bankers of Havana are now making use of it to the extent of about $125,000 a day.

"I am better pleased with the Cubans than I expected to be. I was told that they were stupid and lazy, but I have found that they are not. They are lethargic, but that is because of the climate. An American who has been down there six months feels as though he would like to have some one put on his shoes for him."

Col. Rathbone spoke of the excellent sanitary condition of Havana, and of the good work done by McCullagh in organizing a police force.

More Transports Have Sailed.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 26.—Five United States transports left here on Wednesday. The Pennsylvania and Olympia went to Portland, Ore., to take on board the Fortieth Regiment and two companies of the Thirty-ninth Regiment, which are encamped on the banks of the Willamette. The Tartar, the Newport and the Manuense are to follow the Olympia and Pennsylvania to sea. They are to go direct to Manila.

Shotgun Cooled His Wrath.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 26.—Patrick Phillips went to the home of John Mitchell demanding to see Mattie E. Marley who had discarded him and threatened everybody with death. Watching his opportunity Mitchell used a shotgun hitting Phillips in the abdomen with fatal effect. All the parties are colored.

Coasting Wheelman Killed.

Wooster, Ohio, Oct. 26.—The body of David Keiffin, aged 30, of Smithville, has been found near Overton. A broken bicycle a few feet away showed that he had tried to coast down a very steep hill and had struck a small obstruction. He was hurled against a fence with such force as to break his neck.

Rubber and Cement Works Burned.

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—The Rubber and Cement works of George Wilcox & Sons, at Wheatsheaf lane and Memphis streets, have been totally destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $20,000. The plant was one of the few in the country that was not a part of the Rubber Trust.

West Shore Station Burned.

Hackensack, N. J., Oct. 26.—The West Shore Railway station at Bogota, near here, has been burned to the ground causing a loss of $5,000. Telegraph service and traffic were suspended for several hours. It is thought that tramps started the fire accidentally.

Anglo-Egyptian Forces.

Cairo, Oct. 26.—The Khalifa having fled from his position at Jeb el Bir, Major-Gen. Lord Kitchener has ordered the Anglo-Egyptian expedition to return to Omdurman. A reconnaissance to Jeb el Bir will be made by the cavalry and camel corps before the return of the expeditionary troops.

The President Accepted.

Washington, Oct. 26.—A delegation from Richmond, Va., called on the President to invite him to attend the launching of the torpedoboat Shubrick, on October 31. The President gave a provisional acceptance.

Russia Working For Naval Station.

Success Depends Upon Publicity.

When the statesman makes a speech he speaks to crowds, and when his address appears in print he communicates with multitudes, says The Philadelphia Record, and adds: "The popular minister thunders his sermon to his own congregation, and the press proclaims it to the whole land. The great author reads his laboriously written manuscript in the seclusion of his home, and the types set it before the civilized world. The creators of an immense industrial or commercial enterprise plan successfully the scope and purpose of their undertaking, but until its merits have been set forth in the press would-be investors remain in ignorance of its existence. And so it is with the merchant. He, too, must depend for success upon publicity, which is always profitably furnished him through the medium of a popular newspaper."

That entertaining observer of Jersey affairs, "Freehoider," of the New York Press, has this to say of Hoboken's experience with "cheaper gas," and it is a warning that Plainfield should take good care to heed in time: "Hoboken is having a taste of the monopolistic tendencies of the successful gas syndicate. Not long ago that old humbug known as 'cheaper gas rates' was worked in the Jersey Berlin, and now there is an epidemic of gas pressure on, with a corresponding increase in the bills. The gas man cannot account for it any more than the ice man can explain a shrinkage in weight, but he takes the higher rate, however, and the fiend in the gas house gives another turn to the lever that puts the weight on the pressure."

It is said that the coming of Colonel Bryan into New Jersey has much to do with Congressman Daly's boom for Vice President. The Colonel himself is not averse to having Congressman Daly on the ticket with him. He has a warm place for Daly in his heart, and believes that it is owing to his hard work more than anything else that New Jersey has been swung into line for him. Daly is chairman of the committee that is to receive Mr. Bryan and escort him through New Jersey. He will speak in Camden, Trenton and Newark, and will be Mr. Daly's guest at the Congressman's home in Hoboken. Mr. Daly, it is said, will contribute a large check toward this triumphant tour through New Jersey.

GENERAL WHITE AND ONE OF HIS MAXIM GUNS.

General White, the British commander in Natal, is a veteran with a distinguished war record. He is 64 years of age and has been forty-six years in the army. He fought in the Indian mutiny and in Burma, Afghanistan and Egypt. He has been governor of Gibraltar and commander in chief of India.

"I am a candidate for no office. My whole life has been spent in the navy, and from this service I shall soon retire by operation of law. After that my desire is to live as a private citizen of the repubblic—as an American gentlemen. That is my sole ambition." Rear Admiral Winfield Scott Schley spoke in this manner to Nicholas M. Bell, of St. Louis. The Missourian had come to Washington to learn directly and definitely from the hero of Santiago whether he would accept the Democratic nomination for vice-president with William J. Bryan at the head of the ticket. Senator Gorman assured him that the admiral was a Democrat and his nomination would save Maryland to the party.

The purposes to which some modern inventions may be put is almost limitless. For instance, a police court hearing was recently conducted by telephone in a Kansas town. The defendant, who was charged with assault and battery, evaded arrest when he learned that a warrant had been sworn out for him, but engaged a lawyer. The latter called up the County Attorney at a town thirty miles distance, who in turn called a justice into the conference. Defendant's lawyer entered the appearance of his client over the telephone and pleaded guilty for him, and the Justice imposed a fine of $5 and costs. The lawyer remitted it by draft in the afternoon mail.

Tonight the Common Council will hold a public hearing on the application of the People's Gas Company for a franchise. It can be depended upon that both the old and new corporations will be there to look after their interests. Let the people be there to look after theirs, too.

The political fight in Ohio is growing more bitter every day, and if present conditions are any criterion of what will follow the last two weeks of the campaign will witness one of the greatest mud slinging contests on record.

It has been a good many years since the Democrats turned out so well to the primaries held in Plainfield as was the case last night. It is an indication that unwonted activity is to prevail in local Democratic ranks in the future.

If Assemblyman Squier is renominated we wonder if Editor Runyon will hew to the line he has marked out, letting the chips fall where they may.

It is likely that a number of political somersaults may be performed at the Republican convention in Elizabeth today.

It will be a short but sharp campaign in Union county this fall.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Passaic county is paying about $40,000 a year for the care of its insane. This outlay would suggest to the ordinary business man that the county ought to have an insane asylum of its own. The plan is entirely feasible, too. Why should the county pay out all this money to institutions in other counties? Why not spend it here?—Paterson Guardian.

* * * * *

The report of the absorption of the Central Railroad Company by the Lackawanna is denied. Both are important coal roads, and the lease of one by the other would be a step similar to the attempted lease of the Central by the Reading which made such a stir in the State in 1891. Nor would it be singular, either, to find politicians who denounced the "coal combine" that year actively aiding the Lackawanna and Central coal combine at Trenton next winter.—Newark Advertiser.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The night that Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Greer, of the borough, were married, there were no less than seven couples, all brides and grooms, on the train that carried them to New York. As the train proceeded along its journey it would occasionally pick up a happy couple. It also happened that there was on the train a crowd of college boys who had been playing football in Philadelphia that day, and having won they felt jubilant and were just in the mood to give the various couples a good reception. They were provided with tin horns, and when the train reached Jersey City the matrimonial gathering proceeded through to the ferry-boat with the college fellows marching on behind tooting the horns and cheering lustily. The event was one longed to be remembered by all on the train.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Oct. 26—Large iron pipes were distributed yesterday along the streets. The Street Commissioner is to construct a storm sewer at the corner of Front and Washington streets, near the postoffice.

Mrs. Charles Dodwell visited Trenton yesterday as a delegate to Great Degree, of Pocohontas.

New flagging is being laid in front of the Borough Hall by Wm. Farrier, who has the contract.

New flagstone sidewalks are soon to be laid along the railroad property on Prospect avenue.

Conductor M. L. Rarick has recently bought a handsome young horse.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Oct. 26.—A very quiet marriage took place at the Baptist parsonage last evening when Kate A., daughter of Mrs. Susan J. Buckley, became the bride of Wm. S. Terry, of Netherwood. Only a few of the near relatives of the young people were informed of the date of the event as they desired the ceremony as qu et as possible although no secret was made of the engagement. The announcement will be no surprise to their many friends who have been wondering when they would be able to offer congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Guest, of Netherwood, sister and brother-in-law of groom, stood up with the happy couple, while Rev. G. M. Shott spoke the few words that made them husband and wife. Mr. and Mrs. Terry will take up their residence with the groom's parents for the present but expect to start housekeeping in the spring. After the young couple left Scotch Plains and went to the home of the groom's parents in Netherwood they were treated to a surprise themselves. There they found themselves the honored guests of a reception, at which refreshments were served and a jolly good time enjoyed.

The sidewalk on the east side of Front street is being extended from the Coles place to Terrell Road. A heavy covering of ashes is being put down and when well packed will make a good serviceable walk.

The Sacred Literature Society of the Baptist Young People's Union held their regular weekly meeting in the parlors of the church last evening. "Israel's Hope" was the subject discussed at the meeting.

A large delegation from the Methodist church attended service in the Westfield Methodist church last evening to hear Bishop Bowman preach.

Dr. J. Ackerman Coles is having a number of improvements made about the Italian Mission building. Joseph Eller is doing the carpenter work.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gynett and family, of Plainfield, have taken possession of the John G. Cook property on Mountain avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ford spent yesterday in Brooklyn, attending the funeral of Mr. Ford's uncle.

Mrs. Malone, of Stout avenue, has returned from a visit of several days with friends in Brooklyn.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Oct. 26—Dr. Appleton Morgan, president of the New Jersey Society of the War of 1812, took dinner with Captain Reed, of Mt. Holly, on the United States Training Ship, Richmond, at the League Island Navy Yard yesterday. Captain Reed is registrar of the society. This officer was in command of the Olympia before the war with Spain and was given shore duty, Admiral Dewey taking his command, or he might have been the worshipped hero to day instead of Admiral Dewey.

THE AMUSEMENT WORLD

Local Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World.

The critics of Hoyt are continually worrying themselves and the public by trying to find out the secret of his success. When theatrical business is bad all over the country Hoyt's shows, one and all, continue to roll up large profits; when other managers are retrenching Hoyt is enlarging; when other playwrights are waiting for the royalties that never come Hoyt is counting enormous receipts from his ridiculous skits, with a regularity that makes his rivals green with envy. The solution of this problem is that Mr. Hoyt values the dollar in one city or town, just as highly as the coin of New York city, and gives the same competent cast and stage accessories in this city, as he does in his own theatre in New York. He keeps faith with the provinces, as they are called, and anything that is good enough for the theatre-goers of New York is equally good for the smaller cities. That is the reason Hoyt counts his profits year in and year out. "A Contented Woman," Mr. Hoyt's greatest success and most laughable comedy, will be presented in this city, at Music Hall Saturday night with all the scenery, stage accessories and mechanical effects, precisely the same as given at Hoyt's Theatre, New York. The cast is headed by beautiful Belle Archer.

At Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre, week of October 30th, the biggest novelty of the season will be given in the first appearance in New York of the "Los Belles Zouaves," a company of 16 pretty girls, who do a military act similar to that of the famous "Streator Zouaves." They are expert in the art of drilling, executing many difficult movements not known to the military manual. The climax of the act is an exhibition of wall-scaling that arouses enthusiasm and incidentally combats the popular idea that women can't climb a fence. At the Pleasure Palace, week of October 30th, will be seen that old New York favorite, Edward Harrrigan, who will present a new "Harrigan" sketch; Lizzie Evans and Harry Mills, Jess Dandy and a score more. The latest of the moving photograph machines, the Kalagraph, is creating quire a sensation at both the Proctor houses, and the views of the Dewey parades and yacht races are run off with round after round of applause.

James A. Herne has been highly praised for his artistic staging of the Zangwill play, "Children of the Ghetto." Mr. Zangwill aided him in producing it and the results show that they are kindred spirits in matters of dramatic art. It was stated before this piece was presented that Mr Herne had entirely re-written it. When called before the curtain at the first night in Washington, Mr. Herne took occasion to deny this story and to state explicitly that the piece had been staged as Mr. Zangwill had originally written it, and that not 100 words had been changed during the entire six weeks of rehearsals. He desired it clearly understood that the play was entirely the work of Mr. Zangwill. As the stage producer he had only endeavored to "harmonize the whole."

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Straßburg. Im Hotel „Victoria" erschoß sich der Stud. med. Scheele, Sohn eines Justizraths aus Leipzig. Das Motiv soll eine Liebesaffäre sein.—Unter den Mannschaften des hier garnisonirenden 132. Infanterie-Regiments ist der Typhus ausgebrochen.

In einem Handkoffer befanden sich Gipsformen, Britanniametall, Gips, Gießlöffel, falsches Geld sowie verschiedenartig lautende Ausweispapiere. Zweifellos gehört der Entsprungene zu der weitverzweigten Falschmünzerbande, die eben Lothringen heimsucht.

Wien. Die Wienerberger Ziegelfabrikgesellschaft beabsichtigt, im Sinne des Vorschlages des eben aus Amerika zurückgekehrten Generaldirektors, die bisherige Betriebsform allmälig derart zu ändern, daß die gesammte Ziegelerzeugung durch amerikanische Maschinen vorgenommen wird, während bisher ein Theil der Produktion durch Handarbeit besorgt wurde. Die Ziegelarbeiter würden demnach größtentheils überflüssig.—Nach den Ausweisen der altkatholischen Pfarrämter sind in Oesterreich vom 1. Januar bis 31. August 1194 Personen der altkatholischen Kirche neu beigetreten.—Der Universitätsprofessor für Geschichte der Medizin, Dr. Theodor Puschmann, und der ehemalige Minister für Galizien, Dr. Eduard Rittner sind gestorben.—Im Gemeinderathe hielt der Bürgermeister Dr. Lueger eine boeren-freundliche Rede.

Görz. Dieser Tage rückte das hier garnisonirende Infanterie-Regiment Nr. 47 von den Manövern aus Kärnthen ein. An seiner Spitze marschirte die Kapelle ohne Instrumente. In ihrem Quartier bei Klagenfurt war durch das Umstürzen einer Petroleumlampe Feuer entstanden, das so rasch um sich griff, daß sämmtliche Instrumente und Musikalien der Regimentskapelle verbrannten.

WINTER FASHIONS.

New Jackets For Cold Weather—A Handsome Reception Gown.

For cold weather traveling there are long, half fitting jackets of plaid golf cloth. They are edged all around with a scant circular ruffle, over which falls plaid worsted fringe.

Fancy wools, diagonals, serges and fine checks will be worn, but, above all, cloth and cashmere. Gray blues, violets and greens, with neutral and undecided tints, are the favorite colors, but some brilliant and attractive reds are shown which will be well represented among winter costumes.

Blue and purple and blue and green with black and white are fashionable combinations. The two combined colors must be of just the right quality, or the effect is disastrous. If any combination of tints appears hard, it may always be softened by the addition of white adjuncts.

The reception gown illustrated is of silk damask having a pompadour design. It is in the form of a long redingote, the skirt being bordered with two scant circular flounces edged with bands of orange silk. The loose front of white lace falls over orange silk, and the plaited collar is of orange silk. The half length sleeves have triple caps edged with orange and terminate in a lace frill headed by an orange band and bow. The immense cravat is of orange tulle.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

TAILOR MADE STYLES.

Finish and Trimmings of Early Winter Costumes.

Tailor made gowns are in great favor and are made in the same general style, varying only in detail. Light cloth or serge is the usual material. The skirt is clinging. The bodice is a jacket of greater or less length or a bolero, the latter being preferred as having a smarter look. The finish is as careful as that of a riding habit, while the decoration may be of simple stitching or of straps and applications of cloth of the same or a different shade. Lines of silk stitching of a contrasting color are now often used, white stitching on dark cloth being most frequently employed.

VISITING GOWN.

Revers of velvet, white or colored, covered with heavy lines of silk stitching, are a novelty and are sometimes made to harmonize with the gown, sometimes to contrast with it. Orange velvet revers appear on a black and white checkered costume, white or pale blue revers upon dark blue.

The illustration shows a gown of red cloth. The skirt, which is bordered with a stitched bias fold of white silk, opens at the side over a panel covered with three flounces of red plaid silk edged with a white silk fold. The tight red cloth bodice, bordered with white silk, fastens at the right side with dull gold buttons. The collar and revers are of plaid silk bordered with white, and in front is a plastron of guipure over white silk. The sleeves of red cloth have deep plaid cuffs. The hat is of red silk, which forms a large bow in front, fastened with a gold buckle. From this bow springs a curved black feather mottled with white.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

His Improvement.

A colonel in the French army who had a great eye for neatness but not much of an ear for music took occasion one day to compliment his bandmaster on the appearance of his men.

"Their uniforms are neat," said the colonel, "and their instruments are nicely polished and kept in order, but there is one improvement I must insist upon."

"What is it, colonel?"

"You must train your men, when they perform, to lift their fingers all at exactly the same time and at regular intervals on their instruments, so—one, two! one, two!"

THE COMING STYLES

A SURVEY OF THE LATEST NEW YORK FASHIONS.

Some High Priced Gowns—Dress for a Bride—A Pretty Evening Gown That May Be Made at Home—Hats and Lace—The Fashion in Furs.

(New York Fashion Letter.)

I have just come from a tour of the shops, filled at present with a bewildering array of colors and textures.

It is a matter for the psychologist to explain why it is that the most gorgeous creations have always an admiring group of plainly dressed women lingering about them. Not one woman in a hundred could wear the conspicuous frock were a kind fairy godmother to appear on the scene with a needful roll of bills. Is it because each one of us has hidden under the conventional veneer a remnant of our barbaric ancestors? Whatever the reason, the suitable tailor-made gowns are tucked away in a corner and are only sought when shiny seams and frayed bindings force us to replace our old standby with a new one.

The gown which sent me off philosophizing was a resplendant black robe of net so completely covered with glittering spangles that the modest sum of $225 seemed inadequate for splendor flashy enough to suit a Choctaw maiden.

Quite unnoticed near was a truly artistic gown of broadcloth. The skirt was in tunic form and trimmed with an applique of white silk edged with silver. Three scant shaped ruffles finished the bottom of the skirt which was, of course, long and clinging. The waist was very simple, the vest of spangled chiffon being outlined with the same applique.

Apropos of broadcloth, I wish you could have seen the charming gown a bride will wear at a morning wedding. Over a foundation skirt of white taffetas is hung one of white broadcloth, cut out in a most beautiful design and appliqued to silk net of the same shade by a row of stitching. The beauty of the whole is in the design which starts in straight lines from the waist and loses itself in curves and scrolls and scallops, giving the effect of a rare and heavy lace.

But for the sake of a girl who can not secure the services of a high-priced modiste, I will tell you of a pretty evening dress any clever needlewoman can make herself with the aid of a home dressmaker.

Have first a perfectly hanging skirt of taffeta. Over this hang one of net of exactly the same shade and shape. Trim the skirt with three ruffles of the net, each edged with a tiny ruche of chiffon. The drapery consists of a long pointed apron overskirt with a sash tied in a simple bow in the back. The apron is edged with satin ribbon two inches wide, then three rows of very narrow ribbon, then a wide row, so alternating to the waist. The bodice is a mass of fluffy ruffles, each finished with the ruche of chiffon.

Whether the empire gown will follow close in the track of the poke bonnet, remains to be seen, but these capacious specimens of headgear with bewitching strings of tulle are seen everywhere in the shops.

Hats of fur will be very fashionable as soon a the weather permits, and a favorite trimming is tulle. A round hat of chinchilla had as its sole trimming a cleverly simulated breast made of white tulle. Another of sable had a rosette of tulle of the same shade.

Lace is worn everywhere on everything. Whole gowns are made of it; it trims hats blouses and wraps.

It is a good plan to arrange for fur garments now, for just as soon as the winter months are here the buyer will be obliged to take just what is offered and at high prices. No garment is more becoming to a young face, nor more youth-giving to one growing old, than that which has for its principal trimming the soft, pretty fur of those little animals that furnish us with our choicest and most expensive covering To buy cheap furs is like throwing money into the steet. To buy good furs requires a fortune, so that a woman who owns beautiful furs is, indeed, to be envied. There is just as much change in the fashioning of furs as in any other garment, though one would hardly imagine such would be the case.

Furs, like all other garments, ripple and flare this winter. The long cloaks have full jabots of fur down the front, and the capes though tight fitting, around the neck below the shoulders they display the same disposition to ripple in flare as the skirts do.

Victorines of chinchilla are enlivened by miroir velvet bows in any color to suit the buyer's fancy. These victorines are short shoulder capes, with high, flaring collars and long narrow stole ends.

Persian lamb jackets are shorter and much more expensive this year than last. One style is finished around the bottom with the deep scallops which are so much in favor at present, and has a very high flaring collar and large revers of chinchilla.

For boas, victorines and muffs the the favorite furs this coming winter will be silver fox, Russian sable, Hudson Bay sable, and chinchilla. In coats moire Persian lamb and seal. The short coats are very short, not more than twenty-one to twenty-six inches, and the long coats are fifty-three inches. There will therefore be no three-quarter lengths in fur garments. Mink is also a very favorite fur, taking second rank in the fur market.

In fox furs the rarest and costliest is that of the silver fox, and, although it is found on two continents, on an average only about two thousand skins are annually secured. The fur is soft and silky, and is principally used for muffs and trimmings. The darkest skins are most valuable. The cross fox ranks next in the commercial scale. The darkest skins are hardly to be distinguished from those of the lighter silver fox. AGNES OLCOTT.

A woman of perfect figure should weigh 128 pounds and be five feet five inches tall. She should measure five feet five inches from the tip of one middle finger to the tip of the other when the arms are extended. The length of the hand ought to be just one-tenth of this, and one-seventh should be the length of the foot.

TEMPERANCE ITEMS

Moderation in Drink.

Moderation! No! Who talks of moderation in the coils of a boa constrictor? We have temporized too long. It is time we talk and act like men. A murderer, cold, heartless cruel, is among us. Not the assassin of one, or of a family. His victims count by millions. His butcheries are progressing daily and nightly in sight of our dwellings. The screams of his victims, if we should but listen, would chase away sleep from our eyes. He knows the fact; we know it. His sole and only business, for which he lives and by which he lives, is first to debauch youth and innocence, and then to hurry the dishonored hulk away into a drunkard's grave and pamper himself and his family upon the price of his villainies.

The teocalli of the Aztec war god, upon which the quivering hearts of thousands were laid, is a shrine of beauty compared with the horrors of this modern demon of destruction—the rum hole. We men stand by and see it and raise not a hand; nay, worse yet, vote for the right and take the assassin of virtue and life by the hand and treat him as our equal. The annals of human history furnish no parallel of stupidity and monstrosity. Moderation! No! No! There is but one way; it is plain and simple.

Treat the criminal as he deserves; let the criminal law do its functions; put him in the culprit's dock, which is the only place to which he is entitled; carry him from the dock, by sentence of law, to the felon's cell or to the gang of striped convicts, who are his only fit associates. Let the process be the most summary possible; let the law take hold of the factor of simple evidence of his business; let the evidence of criminal intent be the presence of the article; put it under the ban of the right of search when its presence is suspected. Deal with it precisely as we deal with theft, murder, abduction and classes of crime that grade with it, but are far below it in atrocity. In a nation whose legislation is controlled by universal suffrage and direct vote, if half the voters have not sunk below the level of men, it cannot be long until we are delivered from this insufferable shame.

The Desire for Drink.

A victim of strong drink said to a reformer: "It is impossible for me to stop; I realize it. If you should tell me I couldn't have a drink until tomorrow night unless I had all my fingers cut off I would say, 'Bring the hatchet and cut them off.'" I had a very dear friend in Philadelphia, whose nephew came to him and was talking about his trouble, and confessed it. He could not stop. My friend said, "You must stop." He said: "I can't stop. If there stood a cannon, and it were loaded, and there was a glass of wine in the mouth of the cannon, and I knew you would fire it off if I approached, I would start to get that glass of wine. I must have it. I can't get away from it." Oh! it is awful for a man to wake up and feel that he is a captive. I hear him soliloquizing, saying: "I might have stopped three months ago, but I can't stop now. Dead, but not buried. I am a walking corpse. I am an apparition of what I once was. I am a caged immortal, and my soul beats against the wires of my cage on this side, and beats against the wires of my cage on the other side, until there is blood on the wires, and blood on the soul, but I can't get out.—Dr. Talmage.

The Experiment Failed.

An experiment recently made in a Missouri town calls for some comment. For some years no saloon was licensed in the community, but the drug stores in due time became notorious as illicit liquor-selling resorts, so that many began to advocate the policy of licensing the sale of alcoholic beverages, making the usual plea that thus the business could be "regulated." This view prevailed and two saloons were established by law a year or two ago. What has been the result? First, the illicit liquor trade of the druggists did not stop; these law breakers kept right on, selling drams on the sly about as they had done, there being none to molest or make them afraid. On the other hand, the saloons from the start have done a thriving trade, no one seeming to care particularly whether they obeyed the law or not. Hence under the new regime there is no better regulation of the traffic than there was under the old policy of "no license," while at the same time the trade in whiskey and beer, lawful and unlawful taken together, is more than doubled. If these facts need any further exposition and application the reader may make them himself.—Central Christian Advocate.

Lemonade or Wine.

A young man, in company with several other gentlemen, called upon a young lady. Her father was present to assist in entertaining the guests, and offered wine, but the young lady asked:

"Did you call upon me or upon papa?"

Gallantry, if nothing else compelled them to answer: "We called upon you."

"Then you will please not drink wine. I have lemonade for my visitors."

The father urged his guests to drink and they were undecided. The young lady added:

"Remember, if you called on me, then you drink lemonade, but if upon papa, why in that case I have nothing to say."

The wine glasses were set down with their contents untasted. After leaving the house, one of the party exclaimed:

"That was the most effectual temperance lecture I ever had!"

A PEAT BATH.

London Society Women Take to a Novel Form of Ablution.

The latest craze among the society women of London is the luxury known as peat baths, and Strathpeffer Spa began to rival Harrowgate in their affection. According to one who knows, one's first bath is a luxury not easily to be forgotten, and its effect on the complexion is magical. First comes the period of immersion in a bathtub filled with warm, soft peat, brought from some distant moor, and pounded and heated and mixed with water in the subterranean regions. A lid with an open space for the bather's head is lowered over the occupant of the bath, and the soft-voiced Highland girl in attendance leaves you to the dreamy reflection induced by the warmth and fragrance of the peat. When 20 minutes are up you are set in a corner to have the first coat of peat sprayed off by a hose. A plunge in a warm tub that is ready alongside the peat trough completes the process, and wrapped in warm towels you are left to recline on a couch while pleasant drowsiness overcomes you. When you have dressed and spent 20 minutes or so in the pleasant little cooling room, you return to your hotel, feeling physically and mentally a giant refreshed, and the compliments on your improved appearance will make you wish thae a peat bath were a less costly luxury. According to tradition the virtues of the peat bath were discovered by accident. A litter of little pigs which wallowed daily in the peat mud on a hillside were noticed to have much more glossy coats than their fellow piglets. The example of the piglets was speedily followed, and the peat bath became fashionable as a cure for skin diseases. —Philadelphia Record.

Naples, Present and Past.

The donkeys which carry vegetables to Naples are equipped with the "bissaccium" which comes from the ancient Roman times; the two-wheeled Roman carriage, the "cisium" is perpetuated in the popular "corricolo," which we see standing by the hundred in the very place where rose the ancient gate of Naples, and where such carriages have had their stands for centuries. Ancient statues of horses show the forlock tied up neatly, a custom which may be observed in thousands of instances in the Campagna.

The numerous money changers under the open sky, the cook shops on the street, and the kettle of boiled lentils, the door knockers in the older quarters, the fondness for garlic, the number of hairdressers, the custom that the men make the daily purchases for the house, all features of Neapolitan daily life, are derived from Greek life. Even these intestine vendors mentioned by Aristophanes are still to be found in Naples, offering their unappetizing wares to-day in this once Hellenic city as formerly they did on the street of Athens. Pits as receptacles for oil, such as are found to-day in Apulia, for instance, were known to the Hellenes; the modern shepherds in the Sila forest with their sawms remind us of the shephers of Theocritus; and as of old in the cities of Greece rhapsodes recited publicly the tales of Homer's heroes, so Naples preserves her "cantastorie," i. e., her story tedllers, who entertain the listening crowd with the heroes of Tasso and Ariosto. In the popular theatre certain figures of the ancient theatre are painted on the door posts just as one may see them to-day preserved in one case in Pompeii.—Open Court.

The Passing of Statutes.

A pathetic reminder of how soon we are forgotten is afforded by the removal in New Orleans of a statue of Henry Clay, which has for 43 years occupied a prominent position in the widest and most attractive avenue of that city. It was found to be in the way of the street-car companies, and so is technically "removed," but no destination has yet been found for it, and the public does not seem to care. In 1856 popular enthusiam there for the "great commoner" was not less than that for Dewey to-day. The erection of an out-of-door statue does not necessarily insure permanent fame. So long as it is not in the way a statue will be allowed to remain, even if its object has been quite forgotton, as will doubtless be the case a century hence with a considerable portion of the statues of our national capital and other cities of the land. Artistic tastes, moreover, are changing and making some old statues seem grotesque. Charleston a few years ago took down its statue of John C. Calhoun in Marion Square, and erected a new one more in accord with the present day tastes. There is room for many such improvements, even if sentimental considerations are somewhat disturbed by the change.—Boston Transcript.

Unique Location.

La Crosse, Wis., is proud of its location on the Mississippi River. It lies in a cup, surrounded by magnificent bluffs, and La Crosse men, after traveling all over the world in search of beautiful scenery, have invariably come home disappointed at what they have seen. East of the city lies a range of hills, the highest of which is known as "Grand Daddy." From the top of this bluff three states and five different counties lie stretched out under the eye. The location of La Crosse makes it perfectly secure from the attack of cyclones or tornadoes. The bluffs which surround it act as fenders, and many severe storms, which did great damage elsewhere, have passed over the city. Five miles north of the city lies Rice Lake, and here hundreds of the citizens of La Crosse make their home in the summer time.

Natural gas found at Heathfield, Sussex, is being used to light the railroad station there. This is said to be the first practical use to which natural gas has been put in Europe.

Strange as it seems, the United States Government has not taken a complete accounting of the actual total weights of the mail matter carried by it for over twenty years.

In 1883 the average price of a horse was $74.64; in 1897, $31.51. In the thirtenn years from 1884 to 1897, while the number of horses in the United States had increased by more than 3,000,000, their total value was decreased nearly $400,0000,000.

HAWAII ANNEXED.

Its Remarkable Advance in Activity and Prosperity.

It is almost incredible to see what a substantial and rapid progress has been made throughout Hawaii since annexation to this country. Before annexation there was complete prostration of every kind. Now all is changed.

Much of the old poetic, picturesque life remains. The stalwart "Hawaiianess" goes her stately way clad in the flaming holoka which so becomes her, wreathed and crowned with leis; the street laborer and the train driver pursue their vocations also decorated with flowers. The sound of the paro patch fiddle still sounds through the groves of shadowy algaroba, and the strains of "Hawaii Ponoi" yet delight the heart. But with the old there is a new and virile Hawaii, the natural and inevitable successor of that which has served its time. Honolulu itself has changed astonishingly. Fine business blocks have already supplanted the old buildings and the others are in process of construction; the stores are crowded with the latest fashions in millinery and dry goods; in the fine, well-appointed book stores "David Harum," "The Rough Riders" and "Prisoners of Hope" are placed conspicuously on sale, while the windows are filled with wonderful photographs illustrating the recent overflow of Mauna Loa. In one street gangs of men are laying the track for a new rapid transit line to be operated by electricity; in others the new sewer is being constructed which, when completed, will make Honolulu one of the most sanitary cities in the world.

Real estate that was a drug on the market a year ago can hardly be bought now at any price. In the whole city and its environs there are hardly a dozen lots advertised for sale. Hundreds of houses have been built, many of them spacious and costly villas that are perched upon the lower slopes of the mountains, but still within the corporate limits of Honolulu. With these more ambitious dwellings are hundreds of cottages, not one of which is vacant, while those not yet completed have been bespoken for months. A new suburb, Pacific Heights, on the lower slope of Round Top, commanding a magnificent view of the city, the harbor and the ocean beyond, has been surveyed and plotted, and the streets are being rapidly opened. It will not be three years until this will be completely built up, with electric car lines, an abundant supply of water, and all the modern improvements of any metropolitan suburb. The electric light plant for the city itself has been greatly enlarged, so that even the large grounds and driveways, as well as the residences themselves, are brilliantly lighted.

Of course, the leading industry of the islands, sugar planting, has had an enormous stimulus, and people of moderate means have grown rich within the past year buying and selling stocks. New plantations are being opened up, with capitalizations running up into the millions. On those where irrigation is used the most costly and perfect machinery is employed—pumps that force a stream of water to the incredible height of six hundred feet—a thing hitherto believed to be impossible. This has redeemed the highlands which have been supposed to be unclaimable, and has added to the arable lands throughout the islands.

The yield has been almost doubled in the irrigated lands where cane culture is carried on in the most scientific manner.

Indeed, the sugar industry is hardly past its infancy, and the future of these great Hawaiian plantations can hardly be forecast. It has rather cast coffee growing in the shade, which is rather a pity, since no coffee in the world, not even that which passes for Mocha, can be compared in strength or flavor to the Kona coffee, indigenous to the islands. This, however, will improve, and no doubt, when the same energy and knowledge are brought to bear, coffee plantations will rival the cane fields. One difficulty has been that at least three years must elapse before capital invested in coffee yields any returns.

Furthermore, while the appropriations made by the Hawaiian legislatures two years ago will carry on the Government until January, 1900, should Congress have made no provision as to finances after that date the country will be placed in a very difficult position, for the United States will then be the legal custodian of public moneys and nothing can be paid without its sanction. And Congress should bear in mind when the cause of Hawaii comes up for consideration, that this is not a new possession acquired by the force of arms, but that it is territory that voluntarily sought annexation to the United States; that it voluntarily became a part of the Union, and that it cannot be ranked in the same category with the Philippines, Cuba or Porto Rico. It cause should have precedence over all the others, and there should be no delay in completing annexation, which exists, at present, only in the name, and makes itself felt, chiefly, through its custom house officials.

At present, there is no place for unskilled labor or for men without capital. There have been pitiable cases and many of them, of men without means or trade who have come out to the islands to become a public charge; who have spent their small savings and who have had to be sent back, destitute and disheartened. Men who have sufficient capital and some calling in wait one or two years, will do well, no doubt, when they finally find their place; but there is little or no chance for any others. It requires no great power of prophecy to forecast the future of this favored land. Within twenty years it will be a paradise, crowded with happy homes, every foot of its fertile soil under cultivation, and here at the convergence of steamship routes from Australia, the Orient, the Nicaraguan Canal and the Pacific coast, will rise a city fair to look upon and great in its extent and in its wealth. All the influences that promise such results have now been set in motion, and the industries from which its wealth is already and will continue to be derived are staple necessary commodities, that supply a demand in the ports, not only of our own country, but of all Christendom.

Gumbo soup is okra soup, the Southerners call okra gumbo.

The Narragansett Indians had a dish called m'sickquatash, which we have borrowed and named succotash.

ON MANY SUBJECTS

A Natural Fog Horn.

At the Farallones the erosive agents have worked with queer caprice. This rock being granite, has been acted upon by the sea at all levels, and throughout the long period when it has been rising out of the water depths. Through a long, narrow hole, slanting and communicating with the ocean, there comes at intervals a terrific stream of air, forced by the spasmodic heaving of the waves against the lower orifice. The government, which uses this island for lighthouse purposes, inclosed the upper end with the nozzle of a fog horn, and every few seconds there was blown an ear-splitting brawl, which was heard far out at sea and above the din of the breaking rollers. It was allowed to roar only in foggy weather, but it was eccentric in that it would only sound at high tide. When the tide was low, although the weather might be very thick, the thing was silent. For lack of its warning a ship went ashore upon the island rocks, and then it was that the government abandoned its location on the wind hole and erected a steam siren, or mechanical fog horn, which has since very faithfully performed the necessary service.

The Lucky Maori.

The Maori tribe have a godsend in the way of boiling springs. They can soak themselves all day in warm weather; cook their meat and potatoes by simply hanging them in their nets in a corner of a hot water spring; launder their garments by soaking them in a boiling soda spring and rinsing in the warm, clear water of another bubbling geyser and walk proudly off in clean garments.

But She Cashes It.

"Poor Miss Wellalong! She has had another birthday."

"How do you know?"

"Her usual check on the bank came from her eccentric old uncle. He sends her one every birthday."

"I think she is to be congratulated, instead of pitied."

"Yes, but every check he sends is for as many dollars as she is years old, and she has to go to the bank herself to get the money."

Time Told by Taste.

A strange clock was made during the last century for a French nobleman. The dial was horizontal, and the figures, being hollow, were filled with different sweets or spices. Thus, running his finger along the hand, by tasting, the owner could tell the hour without a light.

China Galore.

The Czar of Russia probably owns a greater quantity of china than any other person in the world. He has the china belonging to all the Russian rulers as far fact as Catherine the Great. It is stored in an immense closet in the winter palace at St. Petersburg.

A Thought Expressed.

Miss Buddlette—What do you think of the new telepathy party?

Miss Longoulete—I never think; you know each thought leaves a wrinkle.

Miss Buddlette (looking at her attentively and sympathetically)—What a pity you didn't quit years ago.

Clock Made of Bread.

Milan has a curiosity in a clock which is made entirely of bread. The maker is a native of India, and he has devoted three years of his time to the construction of this curiosity. The clock is of respectable size and goes well.

To Destroy Weeds.

Weeds can be destroyed in gardens by a new machine having an oil reservoir mounted on wheels and provided with an air-pump to force the oil into a series of burners, which transform it into gas and discharges it against the weeds.

All Hands Around.

One Thomaston, Me., family means to take no chances with diphtheria. Every member thereof wears a tarred rope around the neck, and this precaution is extended even to the cat, dog and pig.

About the Caterpillar.

A French scientist says a caterpillar cannot see more than two-fifths of an inch ahead. The hairs on the body are said to be of as much use as its eyes in letting it know what is going on around.

Great Britain's Expenses.

The expenses of Great Britain are about $500,000,000 yearly, or nearly $1,000 per minute, but every tick of the clock represents an inflow of a little over $10 into the treasury, thus leaving an annual surplus of about $20,000,000.

Poor Eyesight.

Out of the many thousands of candidates declined for the British army each year by far the largest number are rejected on account of being unable to pass the authorized test for eyesight.

An Arctic Tree.

A curiosity recently exhibited at Stockholm was a section four feet in diameter from a pine tree which grew sixty to seventy miles north of the Arctic Circle.

Missionaries Scarce Here.

In one province of India, containing 24,000,000 people, there are only six missionaries of any church or society.

Mudie's Library.

Mudie's circulating library in London has 3,000,000 books constantly in circulation, and employs 178 people.

Pumice Stone Boat.

A lifeboat made of pumice stone has been tested. It continued to float with a load even when full of water.

SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The Westfield football teams won a game and lost a game last Saturday. The game between the Westfield team and the Bedford Athletic Club team was a swashing one, and but little removed from actual warfare. The Brooklyn team was heavier than the Westfielders and they played as though they were going to win the game if they killed every man on the Westfield team. There was not a man on the Westfield team but that received some injury. Joseph Vought and Edward Vought were injured about the head and had to be carried off the field, and Henry Ayers was injured about the breast to such an extent that he will never play football again. None of the members of the Brooklyn team was injured so as to be unfit to play out the game. The score was 6 to 0 in favor of Brooklyn The Westfield High School team won the game at South Orange with the Prospect A. C. team, with a score of 5 to 0.

The biggest surprise the Rutgers College boys, who came over last Saturday afternoon with the scrub team, have had for a long time was the reception they received from the Alis eleven, of this city. The college players expected to run up against a team that they would have no difficulty in handling. Instead they proved an easy mark for the local eleven. It is too bad that the Alis boys cannot have a chance to meet the 'varsity eleven of the college at New Brunswick. The college teams are not at all inclined these days to meet any of the athletic club elevens, preferring to play other college teams. With the athletic clubs, with few exceptions, the college teams have nothing to gain and everything to lose. Rutgers has its schedule completed and a contest is therefore not possible. A meeting would, however, be very interesting.

GOLF

Next Saturday morning the caddies at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club grounds will hold a tournament.

There will be several interesting private golf matches at the Hillside course Saturday, and no doubt there will be a large attendance.

Lately a number of golf enthusiasts from this city and borough have been playing on the links at Finderne, and they pronounce the course as very fine.

There are only two more opportunities for the various contestants for the McCutchen Cup on the links of the Park Golf Club to score points for that trophy. That means that no one player can possibly score more than six points more and such a double victory is hardly likely to happen. Under those circumstances, the only possible winners are W. de la R. Anderson, Gifford W. Cooley, Meredith Dryden, Charles E. Faber, William J. R. Thiers and Charles A. Reed. Anderson has 13 points for the cup and Senator Reed has 7. A double victory for the Senator would tie him for the cup, provided Anderson failed to score. Anderson is probably the most likely to win the cup owing to the fact that he leads for it at present. Meredith Dryden, who is third, has returned from his wedding journey and will be on hand the two remaining Saturdays to play. He is somewhat out of practice and that may count against him.

ROD AND GUN.

J. S. Mundy, of Newark, has leased for ten years the exclusive hunting and fishing privileges from the owners of the extensive tract of semi-waste land in the northern part of Warren county known as the Great Meadows. Mr. Mundy intends to convert this land into a great lake, and will stock it with choice fish of various kinds.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Mr. Hunt, of Washington avenue, recently secured a fine bred horse which is the admiration of all who have seen him. He is a lively stepper and very stylish in harness.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

DEMOCRATS TURNED OUT IN GOOD SHAPE.

WESTFIELD.

The Democratic primary at the township rooms last evening lasted just ten minutes. C. W. Harden presided as chairman and Fred S. Taggart was secretary. John Utzinger, C. W. Harden, Charles Burtis, Fred S. Taggart and John M. C. Marsh were elected as delegates to the county convention and Irving I. Ross was appointed a member of the county Democratic executive committee. The delegates were not instructed, but will vote for Mulford M. Scudder for Senator.

RICHARDSON WILL CONTEST.

Heirs of Wealthy Roselle Man Oppose His Bequests to a Favorite Daughter.

In the Union County Court at Elizabeth yesterday a contest was begun against the will of the late David Richardson, of Roselle, formerly the senior member of the Richardson Lamp Company, of Newark.

The hearing was opened before Surrogate Parrot, who was appointed by the Orphans' Court to take testimony. As there are two wills, and the several heirs are represented by as many lawyers, a long struggle is expected.

Mr. Richardson at his death left a large amount of real estate and considerable personal property, his wealth being estimated at about $100,000. His last will, made in December, 1888, left the bulk of his estate to a favorite daughter, and this aroused the opposition of the other heirs. They at once began proceeding to contest the will on the ground that the testator was not in possession of his full mental faculties when he devised it. In the other will the contestants are much better provided for.

Martin Reynolds was the only witness to the will who was examined Tuesday. He testified that Mr. Richardson apprently fully realized what he was doing when he devised the documents. The remaining witness, Mr. Noyes, will be examined next Monday. General Fay, the third witness to the will, is dead.

MIRTH AND MUSIC.

Star of Plainfield Lodge Provided a Delightful Entertainment for Their Friends Last Evening.

The social entertainment given last evening at Grand Army Hall by Star of Plainfield Lodge, Shepherds of Bethlehem, proved to be a pleasant affair. Although the attendance was not large those present enjoyed a pleasant evening. Justice Nash filled the important post of master of ceremonies to the satisfaction of all.

The entertainment began with a cornet solo by Mrs. J. D. Anderson, with piano accompaniment by Miss Maggie Sheppard. Then Miss Viola Leivers gave a recitation in good voice, followed by a solo by Miss Retta Nash. Next came a dialogue in which the characters were represented by B. W. Hand, Stanley Vardon, Miss Dora Bennett, Mrs. David Bush and Mrs. E. K. Cox.

After selections by Messrs. Rudolph and son on the violin and accordeon, Miss Leivers gave a recitation and Mrs. J. D. Anderson again entertained the audience with another cornet solo. Following this was a dialogue in which the Misses Mamie and Jennie Devine and Miss Amelia Howard took part. Before refreshments were served Miss Ada Nash played a selection on the piano:

The credit for the success of the affair should be given to the following: Mesdames Levier, Nash, Devine, Mattis, Ford, Cox and Howard, and Messrs. Larmour, Leivers, Devine, Nash and Fairbanks.

LIQUID AIR.

Expected to Solve Many Problems in Surgery.

Liquid air, although still possessing many mysterious properties, is becoming so well understood as an agent in the medical and surgical science that it is now being used with successful results, says the New York Tribune. Dr. A. Campbell White shows that liquid air possesses remarkable anaesthetic and specific powers, and by a series of experiments he proves that its advent in medicine and surgery will solve many problems of long standing. Speaking of the subject, he said:

"I am confirmed in my belief that liquid air is a specific for neuralgia, sciatica and such neurotic lesions, by experiments in which I have used the fluid and tested its results. In one case of sciatica the patient was suffering intense pain the whole length of the leg. The physician, who had been using the ordinary cauterizing treatment to no effect, permitted the application of liquid air. This was done by dipping a swab in the fluid and touching the nerve at its spinal extremity. Instantly the pain left the leg. Other applications were made along the nerve to insure relief, and although a month has elapsed since the operation there has been no recurrence of any trouble."

Dr. White showed a culture tube in which a colony of the bacteria, of diphtheria had been planted in blood serum. He then told of an experiment in which these bacilli had been put in capoillary tubes with sealed ends and subjected to liquid air for an hour. At the end of the time the germs appeared lifeless, but on being placed in an incubator and brought back to a normal temperature they were as lively as ever.

"It is impossible to kill germs by freezing," he went on to say, "but this experiment reveals a use of liquid air which I believe will prove effectual in many cases of bacterial diseases."

The doctor then showed a photograph taken of a child upon whose neck a large blood tumor had attained the size of a dollar. Lower on the body was another tumor even more ugly in its appearance. In telling of the case the doctor said:

"Liquid air was applied to the tumor on the child's back and the flesh healed rapidly. The other excrescence was treated by ordinary methods and has even grown larger. In consequence of these results I have great hopes for liquid air in the treatment of lesions and such inflammations of the skin."

When asked in regard to the use of liquid air as an anaesthetic, Dr. White told of an experiment in which it was employed.

"A boy had received a blank cartridge wound in the hand and in order to perform the operation the part was frozen by a spray of liquid air. Too much was applied, and at first the surgeon was no more able to cut the flesh than if it had been so much stone. After a moment's waiting the knife cut in easily, inflicting no pain, the foreign particles were removed, and the wound carefully dressed. A few days later the boy returned. The hand had healed nicely and was soon entirely well.

"There is no pain in the application," he continued, "except a slight tingling at the very beginning. If the part frozen is surrounded by healthy tissue it returns to its normal condition as soon as the cold is removed."

Wortham Meets His Ideal.

The Honorable William Wortham is now about as well known in a certain jewelry store in New York as he is in Texas, where he has long served as state treasurer. It came about in this way: Mr. Wortham was in this store one day, buying a present for a member of his family, when he noticed a show case filled with splendid jeweled revolvers with silver and gold grips and chased barrels, having precious stones set into the butts.

"Lemme see one of those guns," he said to the clerk.

"Which one, sir?"

"The gold one with the big ruby in the handle."

The clerk took it from the case. It was a beautiful piece of workmanship. It was marked $300, and it looked to be worth even more. The Texan took it tenderly in both hands and held it admiringly up to the light. Then drawing himself up to his full height, which was six feet and a half, he rested the revolver barrel upon his left elbow, crooked for the purpose, and looked over the sights down the long store. Those persons who saw him involuntarily dodged, and one woman screamed.

"Say," said Mr. Wortham, with quiet but intense enthusiasm as he returned the weapon, "if I was to wear that gun down in my state the people would be falling down on their knees begging to be killed with it."—Phil. Post.

Keeping Race Horses.

Well, after a quarter of a century of fruitless expectation I won the Derby. But what was the result? I at that time held high office, as Lord Wenlock has also reminded you, under the Crown. I was immediately attacked from quarters of an almost inspired character for owning race horses at all. With very little knowledge of the facts, and with much less of that charity that "thinketh no evil," I was attacked with the greatest violence for owning a race horse at all. I then made the discovery which came to me too late in life, that what was venial and innocent in the other officers of the government—in a Secretary of State or a President of the Council, for example—was criminal in the First Lord of the Treasury. I do not even know if I ought not to have learned another lesson—that, although without guilt and offense, I might perpetually run seconds and thirds, or even run last, it became a matter of torture to many consciences if I won. —Address by Lord Rosebery.

SOME WILD HORSES

TWO STALLIONS FIGHT A DUEL, AND SOME HERDS HAVE PITCH BATTLES.

Some of Them Show Characteristics That Are Almost Human—They Have Leaders, and in Their Battles Show Fine Military Tactics.

William Jameson Reid, who spent several years in exploring China and Thibet, gives the following account of the wild horses of Thibet in his book "Through Unexplored Asia," which is to be issued shortly:

"Wild horses, called by the Sifanese Dserlikadu, are very numerous in the country to the eastward of Sukulat at the base of the mountain ranges. They are generally in large herds, very shy, and when frightened continue their flight for days. They are never hunted, owing to the difficulties of the chase, but are captured by strong nooses attached to sunken stakes, distributed in the districts which they are known to frequent, in this manner insuring their capture without injury. These horses usually roam over the country in groups of fifty to a hundred. Each lot of mares is led by a stallion, the size of whose family depends on his age, strength and courage, his individual qualities keeping his herd together. Over this he maintains the most strict watchfulness, for if he descries intruders from other herds in his ranks he rushes to the encounter and tries in every way by biting and kicking to drive them off. During the breeding season the males are exceptionally aggressive, and encounters among themselves, and even attacks on human beings, are of frequent occurrence.

We rode for some hours, until we had reached a spot whence we could overlook the plain where we were informed the astonishing wonders of which we had been told might be performed. Suddenly upon the night air resounded a blood-curdling neigh, as clear as a bugle call; and immediately the herd stopped feeding, and stood with heads erect, as a mighty army at the call of its leader. Another prolonged neigh, pitched in a somewhat higher key, and like a whirlwind, the whole herd bolted up the valley, as orderly and regularly as the finest disciplined army, with the three or four who seemed to be the leaders symmetrically arranged ahead of the main body, and flanking and rear detachments posted with studious exactness.

"On reaching the head of the plain once more they came to a halt and grazing was resumed. Our attention had been so drawn in following the action of this herd that we had not noticed that another fully as large had come from far down the valley and had installed themselves on the feeding grounds just vacated. The scene in front was now all-engaging; cold and fatigue were alike forgotten in the enthralling interest of the moment. For half an hour both herds cropped the short grass in silence, when a shrill neigh from the group nearest to us attracted our attention in their direction. They had all stopped feeding, and stood restless and fearful as if detecting the approach of some terrible enemy. Suddenly from out the compactly gathered mass sprang a gigantic stallion, who, after pawing the earth and meanwhile neighing fiercely, proceeded at a gallop a full half mile up the valley, stopping every few hundred feet to repeat his bellicose neighing. Following his movements we now saw that another animal was galloping down in a similar manner from the other herd, doubtless to accept the challenge. The newcomer was a magnificent snow-white, and, with the clear light of the moon shining upon him, he presented a gigantic appearance when contrasted with his smaller antagonist. When within a quarter of a mile of each other the two beasts came to another halt and stood facing their respective herds, pawing the ground and neighing fiercely, bending their shapely necks much in the manner of two actors in sword combat making the preliminary flourish previous to deadly action.

"This overture lasted for fully fifteen minutes, when with startling suddenness both animals leaped around and rushed at each other with the velocity of well-aimed projectiles. Nearer and nearer they came in their mad, onward career, and we were waiting the moment when the two grand beasts must come together with tremendous force. But, no! for when within twenty feet of each other they came back on their haunches, and eyed each other cautiously for a moment, as if awaiting the necessary opening. And then, with one last defiant neigh at each other they leaped to the encounter.

"To describe the events of the next ten minutes would require pages of hyperbole to give in any measure a faint idea of the supreme grandeur and weirdness of this herculean struggle between two giants. They rushed at each other time and time again like immense catapults; they fought with tooth and hoof. The two beasts could be seen rearing in the air, locked together like two wrestlers, their teeth tearing each other and their great hoofs relentlessly kicking in all directions with the force of pile-drivers. Both animals were tiring perceptibly, when in an instant all was over. A sharp rally and then the ghostly form of the big white stallion rose alone, and on the ground lay the prostrate body of his antagonist. The victor contented himself with giving utterance to short, exultant neighs, and ever and anon kicking the body of his defeated foe."

Negroes Large Cotton Industry.

What is probably the largest commercial enterprise organized and owned by American negroes has just been established by prominent colored men of Mississippi. They have obtained a charter, incorporating the Mississippi Cotton Manufacturing Company, with a capital stock of $200,000 and privilege of increasing. A site for the company's mill has been chosen at Jackson, and the work of erecting it will begin as soon as proper plans are adopted. The officers of the company are: President, James Hill, Register of the State Land Office in Jackson; vice-president, E. W. Lampton; treasurer, Smith Robinson, and secretary, S. D. Redmond.

FIGHT FOR A DEAD BODY

TWO WIDOWS CLAIM REMAINS OF HERMAN VOGEL, SUICIDE.

Divorced Wife Had Them Buried in New Brunswick, But Woman Who He Tried to Kill Wants to Get Them.

When Herman Vogel, proprietor of Fisher's Hotel in Bound Brook, attempted to murder his second wife and her stepmother at the corner of George and Albany streets in New Brunswick a week ago, and then committed suicide himself, his dead body was turned over to his divorced wife, who claimed it immediately. She had the remains interred in New Brunswick, but ever since then the wife with whom he had been living with for the past year, and whom he tried to kill, has been making efforts to secure control of the remains and have them disposed of according to her wishes.

She has engaged Former Congressman Alvah A. Clark, of Somerville, to represent her and it is understood that an action will be brought in the courts to have the remains of the attempted murderer and suicide replevined to her. If the action is successful she will have them disinterred, put in another casket in another suit of clothes and re-interred in Bound Brook.

Wife No. 1 will oppose any such efforts, and though definite steps have been taken it is anticipated that there will be a bitter contest between the two widows over who shall finally obtain control of the remains of the husband who had played both false.

AN ACTIVE CHURCH WORKER A BRIDE.

Miss Emma Frances Gillem Wedded to Leonard S. Smith.

MARRIED IN BRIDE'S HOME

THE HOUSE BEAUTIFULLY DECORATED FOR NUPTIAL EVENT.

Ceremony Performed in the Midst of Beautiful Floral Decorations by Rev. Cornelius Schenck—Those in the Wedding Party—Pleasant Reception Followed—To Reside on Duer Street.

A pretty autumnal wedding was that of last evening when Miss Emma Frances Gillem, daughter of Mrs. Anna M. Gillem, of 113 Duer street, became the wife of Leonard Scott Smith, of 109 Duer street. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the relatives and near friends of the bride and groom. The event took place at the home of bride's mother at 7:30 o'clock.

The home was very tastefully decorated with hardy ivy, palms and pinks. In the double parlors the arrangement was especially attractive. In one corner of the front parlor there was an improvised altar, behind which there was a bank of palms. It was here that the ceremony was performed. The ivy was used with pleasing effect encircling the rooms, and, arranged with here and there a bunch of pinks. It made a pretty combination. In the hallway along the balustrade the ivy and pinks were entwined from one end to the other. The dining room and table decorations were arranged in an artistic manner, while throughout the house palms were used with good effect.

At the hour appoined for the ceremony the Loehengrin wedding march was rendered on the piano by Harold Smalley, of this city, and at the same time the bridal party made its appearance and entering the parlor formed about the altar, where Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, performed the ceremony that made the happy couple one. The ceremony was that of the Reformed church and was performed with a ring.

The bride's gown was a beautiful creation of white mousseline de soie over white satin, with a spangled net, and was indeed very becoming to the wearer. She carried a bouquet of bridal roses. The maid-of-honor, Miss Ida M. Mills, of Elizabeth, a cousin of the bride, was gowned in white organdie with lace trimmings over white with pink ribbons. She carried pink roses. The best man was Paul H. Loizeaux, of the borough.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom received the hearty congratulations of those present, all of whom wished them a happy life and a successful one as they journey together. Following congratulations a wedding supper was served, and later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Smith left the city to enjoy a short honeymoon. When they return they will take up their residence at 113 Duer street.

The bride is one of the borough's most estimable young women. She is a member of Trinity Reformed church, a teacher in the Sunday-school and an active member of all the organizations of the church. The groom is a valued employe of Henry W Peabody & Co., exporters, of New York, and the firm remembered him handsomely by presenting him with a check. He is also well-known in this city, where he has a host of friends.

The valuable token of esteem received by the bride and groom gave evidence of the esteem in which they are held. The gifts included those that are useful and ornamental. The groom's gift to the bride was a check for $100.

In making their departure from the house Mr. and Mrs. Smith were given a good send-off. There were showers of rice and they carried with them all the good signs which a popular bride and groom are entitled to.

The capital fund was reported by the treasurer to amount to $3,568.94. The invested fund consists of $16,366.50 of stock of the Newark Library Association. The disbursements for the year were $2,150.11, leaving a balance in cash of $1,011,383. Papers were read by members.

READY FOR ACTIVE WORK

DEMOCRATIC EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE ORGANIZED.

Members Met Last Night and Were Much Enthused Over the Situation—Officers Elected for the First Year.

The second definite step taken by the Democrats to put their party on a organized basis in this city was taken last night, when there was a meeting of members elected from the various districts in the ward primaries Wednesday evening. The members of the committee met in the Ulrich building on East Second street, which has been secured as headquarters for the campaign.

With the exception of two members of the committee, who were unavoidably detained, all the members were present and evinced much interest in the work to be undertaken. It was the unanimous opinion of those present that the efforts to reorganize the party in this city was something that had been delayed too long, but that now that it had been undertaken in a business-like way, it should be followed out thoroughly and energetically at once. It was determined that the executive committee should get into working order by the first of next week, so that the present campaign in its closing days could be prosecuted by organized force.

In organizing the executive committee the following officers were chosen to serve for one year: Chairman, Michael R. Flynn; secretary, H. W. Marshall; treasurer, Vincent L. Frazee.

A special sub-committee was appointed to provide by-laws for the government of the committee, and to report at the next meeting of the committee, at which time the complete machinery of the body will be put in running shape.

LOST PENSION CHECK.

CONTEMPTIBLE CONDUCT OF A MAN WHO FOUND IT.

It is Said He Had it Cashed and Used the Proceeds for His Own Benefit—Secret Service Man Investigating.

Rufus L. Robinson, of Cranford, a veteran of the Civil War, is the victim of one of the most miserable tricks ever played on an old man, and as a consequence for nearly two months past he has lamented the loss of his pension check for $90, which he receives every three months.

Robinson lost his check August 31st, and had he not received another check from Uncle Sam for $50, which amount he receives each year for the loss of his arm, he and his family would have been in want. The check, it is said, was found by a Cranford man, who had it cashed and enjoyed the use of the money, notwithstanding he knew the old veteran had lost it.

Robinson receives $30 a month from the Government. His pension reaches this place every three months. He received his last pension Aug. 31st. Robinson indorsed his check, intending to send it to Elizabeth to a bank at that place to have it cashed. He came to the village to make a few purchases and visited several of the stores. While in one of this stores he dropped the check. The old man did not discover his loss till the next day. Then he went to Justice of the Peace Mendell, who signs his pension papers for him and told about the loss. Judge Mendell told Robinson how to have payment on the check stopped at Elizabeth and in New York. Robinson followed the justice's advice.

On the afternoon of August 31st, and within a few hours after Robinson had left, one of the Cranford stores, his check was presented in payment of a bill by the Cranford man in New York, and the check was accepted. Another indorsement had been added to the check, it is said, since Robinson lost it. The New York merchant presented Robinson's check and it went through the bank and the clearing house, but was held up in the subtreasury. The check went back through the clearing house and the bank made the amount good. The bank then in turn held the New York merchant responsible for his indorsement, and the Cranford man got mixed into the muss, and and as a consequence government detectives went on the case and visited Cranford. They located the man, but nothing was done with him on account of Veteran Robinson refusing to make a complaint against the culprit. In the meantime the Cranford man has been hustling to make the $90 good to the New York firm, who had to stand for the check.

UNITY WAS NOT THERE.

Plainfield Delegation Was Badly Split.

AT COUNTY CONVENTION.

PLAINFIELD RECEIVED AN ASSEMBLY NOMINATION.

Lively Times At Union County Republican Convention At Elizabeth Yesterday—Cross—Houston—Howard Slate Was Victorious—Plainfield Divided Against Itself.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Elizabeth, October 27.—So great was the uncertainty among even the leaders, that there was more than the usual delay in assembling the Union county convention of the Republicans in the Lyceum Theatre on Broad street yesterday afternoon. Nobody knew exactly what was going to happen and there was any amount of hustling in the attempt to bring order out of the chaos that apparently reigned. After the delegates were in their seats, there was further delay until the chairman of the county committee could be corralled. As it was the convention was called to order at 3:35 o'clock.

The Plainfield delegates, which included several alternates, were as follows:

Second ward—John B. Dumont, S. A. Ginna, Thos. A. Cuming, J. E. Keely, Chas. Davis, J. VanHerwerden, Chas. S. Foote, W. N. Runyon, J. A Robinson.

Fourth ward—Andrew McCardell, Neal Head, Daniel Galbraith, A. Leivers, Jacob Kriney, Howard Woolston, George Fielding, James Morrison, William A. Westphal, William Abbott, B. Harvey, W. Jenkins.

The lack of unity in the Plainfield delegation was noticeable at the very start. The Second and Third ward delegations were early in their seats well down in front on the right side. The First and Fourth ward delegations did not leave the headquarters of the Halsey adherents until most of the others were seated. The First ward occupied the front row of seats, while the Fourth ward was compelled to occupy a row in the back of the theatre. There was a large delegation of Plainfielders, aside from the delegations, who occupied the boxes or were seated among the other visitors in the rear of the hall. A few Democrats were scattered among them.

The convention was called to order by Charles N. Codding, of Westfield, chairman of the county committee. He nominated Charles H. Denman, of Westfield, as secretary, and S. Rusling Byno, of Rahway, as assistant secretary, and they were elected. John B. Dumont, of Plainfield, was then made chairman and escorted to the platform by John E. Barr, of Elizabethport, and George Peak, of Westfield. While he was on the way Mr. Codding announced as the county committee's choice of committees, the following:

Rules—George H. VanVoorhis, of Elizabeth; Frank S. Smith, of Westfield; George Kyte, of Fanwood.

Resolutions—Palmer H. Charlock, of Elizabeth; Chas. A. Day, of Summit; H. B. Rollinson, of Rahway.

Credentials—James W. Hope, of Roselle; W. A. Morrell, of Elizabeth; A. V. Hart, of Cranford.

A recess of five minutes gave the committees a chance to prepare their reports. The committee on credentials reported that the delegations were all full and that there were no contests. The resolutions presented indorsed the national and state administrations and platforms and the policy in the state devoting the income from corporations in advancing public institutions. They closed with an invitation to the Democrats who did not favor Bryan and free silver to unite with them.

The rules of the convention were practically the same as the year previous.

Then came the call for nominations for senator. Palmer H. Charlock, of Elizabeth, nominated Hon. Joseph Cross and Rahway seconded the nomination. A motion by John D. Barr, of Elizabeth, that the secretary cast a ballot for Senator Cross, was carried.

Nominations for sheriff were next in order and John D. Barr, chairman of the delegation from the First ward of Elizabeth, named Robert G. Houston in a short speech. Charles W. Runyon, chairman of the First ward delegation of Plainfield, presented the name of B. Frank Coriell. Assemblyman Roger F. Murray, who was chairman of the Third ward delegation of the same city, immediately declared that Coriell was not a candidate as he felt that he should do nothing to hurt the candidacy of Clerk William Howard and so Murray seconded Houston's nomination. After that, there was no love lost between Runyon and Murray. C N. Codding presented Westfield's choice, John F. Dorvall.

The voting showed the expected division in the Elizabeth ranks, Sixth, Eighth, Tenth, Eleventh and Twelfth wards supporting Coriell. There was tremendous applause from the Howard-Houston men when the Second, Thirth and Fourth wards of Plainfield cast their votes for Houston. Rahway was solid for Houston as was the remainder of the county except Cranford, which cast six votes for Coriell and Mountainside borough's solitary vote for Dorvall. Westfield abandoned Dorvall when the vote showed that Houston already had enough votes to nominate him.

The vote was announced Houston, 129; Coriell, 54; Dorvall, 1. When a motion was made that the vote be made unanimous, objection was made by the First ward of Plainfield.

The First ward of Elizabeth waived its right to name a candidate for the county clerk nomination in favor of Rahway. Leslie Lupton, of Rahway, then presented the name of the present incumbent, William Howard, of Rahway. Ira B. Wheeler, of the Eleventh ward, Elizabeth, named Charles H. K. Halsey. Summit put up a favorite son, John A. Hicks.

Elizabeth's vote remained the same but the First ward delegation from Plainfield and one delegate from the Second ward gave their support to Halsey. Summit cast nine votes for Hicks while Union split and gave two to Halsey and six to Howard. The vote from Mountainside borough went to Halsey.

The result showed that Howard was nominated on the first ballot with 105 votes. Halsey received 70 and Hicks nine. There were 184 delegates in the convention and 93 were necessary for a choice

The motion to make the nomination unanimous was again defeated through the opposition of Charles W. Runyon and the rest of the Plainfield First ward delegation.

There was the greatest amount of uncertainty regarding the Assembly nominations. Nine names were presented from which were to be chosen three candidates to the State Assembly. Those named were George A. Squier, Frederick Miller Isaac M. Littell, Ellis R. Meeker, and Charles N. Trimbull of Elizabeth, Charles S. Foote and William Newcorn, of Plainfield, George Kyte, of Fanwood, and Chester M. Smith, of Westfield. Foote was nominated by Stephen A. Ginna, chairman of the Second ward delegation and Newcorn by Andrew McCardell, chairman of the Fourth ward delegation.

There hadn't been any combinations agreed upon and the various delegations were at a loss who to support. An attempt to hold a recess was defeated. Then they tried to vote, the convention deciding to elect the Assembly candidates one after another. The result was a ballot that only added to the confusion, Meeker being the highest with only 46 votes. Then it was decided to reconsider the last preceedings and elect the three Assembly candidates in a bunch. This time the chairman said that the secretaries would not be ready for a few moments and suggested a recess. The recess was held and there was the greatest lot of button-holing and interviewing. Roger F. Murray and John E. Keely, of Plainfield, were particularly active in favor of Foote while McCardell was prominent in the interest of Newcorn.

When the recess was over and the delegates resumed their seats, the vote was taken. Rahway went solidly for Meeker, Foote and Smith while most of the other delegations were very generally divided. The Second and Third wards and two delegates from the First ward of Plainfield supported Foote, while the Fourth ward solidly and the rest of the First stood by Newcorn. The 'Port seemed to favor Foote and the uptown Elizabeth wards Newcorn. Rahway was solid for Foote. Summit gave Foote five and Newcorn four. Union turned eight votes to Foote while Westfield divided its ten delegates between the two.

DRUNKARDS OF UNION COUNTY.

The Grand Jury Suggests Legislation for Their Control.

A CUMULATIVE PENALTY.

MRS WILLIAMSON BRINGS MATTER TO GRAND JURY'S ATTENTION.

She Respectfully Asked to Have the Ever-Recurring Commitment of the "Rounders" to the County Jail Looked Into—She Instanced Some of the Cases for the Grand Jury's Benefit.

The Grand Jury of Union County brought in a presentment against itself, the county and the State at large before Judge Vail yesterday morning. The presentment was, in substance:

"We find that certain persons are almost habitually in the county jail on the one charge of 'drunk and disorderly,' and in most cases are scarcely ever at liberty more than twenty-four hours when they are recommitted for a similar offense. We are of the opinion that, if there was a law enacted that would put such cases under a habitual criminal act, or what is known as a cumulative penalty, while it would not relieve the Commonwealth of the expense of keeping the particular offenders, we do believe that it would, act as a deterrent by causing others to halt in their downward career. We recommend that the representatives of this county be urged to secure some such legislation in the interest of humanity and the taxpayers."

The Grand Jury took up the matter, it is understood, at the instance of Mrs. Emily Williamson, secretary of the State Charities' Aid Association, and on receipt of a communication from Herbert Pierson.

The records of the police court and county jail show that one Anne Ford, aged 64 years and the mother of thirteen children, has been committed to the county jail sixty-seven times, with an average sentence of seventy days, and always for being drunk and disorderly. The full time which she has served, for she never gets in the good behavior class, is 4,690 days, or just fifty days less than thirty years. It has cost the county $1,278.20 to keep her and $199 50 to arrest and commit her. Next to her comes Julia Lea, aged 44, committed fifty-seven times; Andrew Boyle, forty nine times; Mary Sullivan, forty-one times; Thomas Flannery, aged 39, committed thirty-nine times. Besides these there are thirty-three others who have been committed from twelve to thirty-five times each.

"The matter has freqently cropped out before, but it has never been given such serious attention as now," Prosecutor English said. "I will do all in my power to have the matter brought before the Legislature." As for that there is scarcely a voter in the county who would not vote for such a measure as the Grand Jury advocated, and an organized step will be taken this winter to have the matter properly brought to the attention of the Legislature.

ENDEAVORERS ENTERTAINED.

Successful Sociable Held By Society of Crescent Avenue Church.

A sociable of more than the usual interest was held in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church last evening under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of that church. Frederic Spencer, a violinist of remarkable skill, was the principal entertainer. He was ably assisted by E. C. Martin, baritone, and C. Maynard Evans, whistler.

For two hours the large audience was delightfully entertained. Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, chairman of the social committee, introduced the participants with a very clever speech. After the programme the guests adjourned to the parlors, where refreshments were served.

Beautiful Miss Archer.

Perhaps it may not be remembered by theatre-goers generally that Miss Belle Archer, who is to appear in the leading role of Hoyt's play, "A Contented Woman," at Music Hall tomorrow night, was for several years the leading lady of many of the Frohman attractions. She is said to be a most versatile actress, a really beautiful woman and one of the "dressiest" performers of the present day. She is a great society favorite, but is unassuming in all her doings and universally esteemed by the entire profession.

What Does This Mean?

The following was given to a Daily Press reporter by a prominent Plainfield Republican: "The First and Fourth ward teams did not have a jolly time yesterday. Their captains saw the wrong man when they visited Elizabeth Monday night."

HEARING WAS NOT HELD

LITTLE INTEREST MANIFESTED IN NEW GAS FRANCHISE.

Council Decided to Adjourn the Hearing Till a Time When More People Would be on Hand to be Heard.

A special meeting of the Common Council was called for last night for the purpose of giving a public hearing regarding the franchise asked for by the People's Gas Company to establish a gas plant and locate mains through the streets. There were present Councilmen Andrews, Barrows, Coriell, Homan, VanHerwerden, Buckle and Leifke, while in the lobby there were James E. Martine, William A. Coddington and W. E. Hendrickson, from the People's Gas Company.

Mr. Barrows was of the opinion that inasmuch as there were so few people present it would be well to postpone the hearing until the next regular meeting of the Council, Monday evening, November 6th. He did not believe that with so few in attendance that a hearing would be satisfactory, and what the Council needs a free expression of opinion, could not be secured. His remarks were concurred in by the other members of the Council, and a motion offered by Mr. Barrows to the effect that the hearing be postponed was adopted.

Some dissatisfaction was expressed by those interested in the meeting over the fact that the Council met at 8 o'clock, the time set, and adjourned so soon afterward, scarcely giving anyone time to get to the meeting and an opportunity to say anything.

SCHOOL BOYS WILL DRILL.

Decided in Favor of High School Battalion Under Direct School Auspices.

The boys of the Plainfield High School have definitely decided at last in favor of a cadet corps which is to form part of the regular work of the school. Yesterday afternoon Superintendent H. M. Maxson spoke to the school and explained the situation. The idea of a cadet battalion for the Plainfield High School, he said, came to him after watching the great success that met such an organization at Yonkers. A. B. Meredith, science instructor, then explained that the plan was to form a battalion of three companies from the ninety boys in the High School with officers of their own choice.

The question was put to a vote, and the boys decided by a vote of 66 to 19 that they wanted a company. The Board of Education will now have the drill form part of the school work and every boy will take part. It will be left to the individuals to decide whether or not they care to purchase uniforms.

SKULL BROUGHT INTO COURT.

But It Did Not Disconcert the Two Men Charged With Murder.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, October 27.—On the charge of killing Patrick Cronin, whose decomposed body was found near Jamesburg several months ago, George Day, colored, and Reuben Strickland were Wednesday placed on trial in the Middlesex County Court. Prosecutor Voorhees produced the skull of the murdered man, but it did not seem to disconcert the prisoners.

The Prosecutor claimed that both of the accused men had confessed to having committed the crime.

An Aged Farmer Dead.

Jacob Shotwell Hetfield, aged 70 years, a farmer living on the Cooper road, near Two Bridges, Fanwood township, died Wednesday night about 12 o'clock. He had been complaining for a long time and finally died in convulsions. He was a brother to ex-Tax Collector Wm. Hetfield, of Fanwood Township, who lives near by. Mr. Hetfield is survived by two sons. The funeral services will be held from the Scotch Plains Baptist church next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in the cemetery adjoining the church.

Junior Endeavorers Ready for Work

The Junior Endeavor Society of the Congregational church has reorganized for the fall and winter season and holds its regular meetings Friday afternoons at 3:45 o'clock. The new officers of the society recently chosen are: President, Ethel Weseman; vice-president, Harold Millar; secretary, Marion Winants; treasurer, Ethel Lorton; chairman of lookout committee, Emily Winants; prayer meeting committee, Ethel VanZandt; social committee, Myra Emmons; birthday committee, Jeanie Millar.

IMPERIALISM AN ISSUE IN DEBATE.

Rev. J. B. Cleaver and S. S. Swackhamer Argued Question.

AFFIRMATIVE SIDE WON.

A LARGE AUDIENCE LISTENED TO DEBATE IN REFORM HALL.

The Question Was, "Resolved, That a Policy of Imperialism Should be Pursued by the United States"—Mr. Swackhamer Argued Against It, But the Judges Decided in the Affirmative.

Those who had the good fortune to listen to the joint debate at Reform Hall last evening between Rev. J. B. Cleaver, of Bound Brook, and Councilman S. S. Swackhamer, of the borough, were as highly interested as they were amused.

A feature of the entertainment was the singing of Mlle. Mira Marisona, who captivated the audience by rendering in a strong but not particularly sweet voice several selections, including an Italian song and the "Suawanee River," "My Old Kentucky Home," etc.

M. Markley was called upon to introduce the speakers and announce the subject to be debated, which was: "Resolved, That a Policy of Imperialism Should be Pursued by the United States." Rev. Mr. Cleaver was the first speaker. He had the affirmative side and spoke from notes, which he kept his eye upon constantly.

He said that since the birth of freedom the policy of the United States had been one of expansion, and history had shown that such a policy was in the nature of events to which this great country was destined to pursue. He referred to the achievements of Dewey and the great prosperity that was sure to follow the great expansion which had been made possible since the acquirement of Alaska and the West Indies.

In a vein of satire he paid his respects to the Hon. Burke Cochran, Carl Schurz and others, whom he characterized as foes to the welfare of the nation's advancement, and concluded by quoting from the words of ex-Gov. Hogg, of Texas, a Democrat, who had given the opinion that the only solution of the Philippine question would be "to shoot hell out of those savages and settle the question of supremacy at once and forever." At this point, amidst prolonged applause, Mr. Markley informed the speaker that he had already occupied thirty-five minutes and that his time was up, but that he would be given fifteen minutes to sum up at the close of his opponent's speech.

Mr. Swackhamer, who had the negative side, was then introduced.

He said that the gentleman who preceded him had interjected the word still into the question for debate. The question was "should imperialism be pursued in the United States." By doing so he had begged the question. He had not brought forward a single question to prove his argument that the policy of imperialism should be pursued, Mr. Swackhamer referred to the policy pursued by Lincoln and Thomas Jefferson, the latter in his opinion being the greatest political philosopher that ever lived. Expansion he thought might eventually be in the line of events but the country was not ready yet for such a rapid development as the present administration is attempting to force upon the people. In this connection Mr. Swackhamer said: "We all need developing. I perhaps need it more than my learned friend does, but I do not believe in expansion at the expense of others."

This witticism caught the audience which applauded vociferously as they appreciated the difference in the physical make up of the speakers. Mr. Cleaver is a heavy weight, while Mr. Swackhamer is tall, angular and thin.

After the audience had been regaled again by M'lle Marisona who had much difficulty in satisfying the demands of the appreciative audience, which insisted in calling her out, Mr. Cleaver began to close his argument, which he did in a flowery speech, and at times he grew eloquent. His passages of oratory were sparkling with satire and witticisms. In closing he stated that he believed the "anti-imperialist would pass into the catalogue of oblivion and go down into history unlettered, unheard of and unsung."

Mr. Swackhamer with good natured satire followed and kept his hearers in a good humor by clever refutation of some of the statements made by his opponent. He admitted that he had hastily prepared himself for the debate and had not anticipated that the affirmative would be armed with notes from which to advocate his po-

BATTLE AT RHODES' DRIFT

The British Forces in Rhodesia Fight a Hard Engagement With the Boers.

MANY BOERS CAPTURED.

Northern Frontier of the Transvaal is the Scene of Another Stubbornly Fought Battle.

The Eighteenth Captured Hussars are Taken to Pretoria—Boers Again Bombard Mafeking and Almost Destroy The Town—Churches, Dwellings And Other Buildings in Ruins.

London, Oct. 27.—General White's combined forces in Ladysmith have been reinforced strongly from Pietermaritzburg.

Fresh troops have arrived by transport at Durban and Cape Town. Five thousand additional also have been ordered to sail from England.

Free State Boers and Transvaalers, under Joubert, are closing in on Ladysmith, and a big battle is imminent.

Advices received from Pretoria, the Transvaal capital, minimize the losses in the various fights with the British. Still they admit a loss of 100 in killed and wounded and 300 missing at Elandslaagte.

Cape Town, Oct. 27.—Col. Plumer, commanding the British forces in Rhosdesia, has engaged the Boers at Rhodes' Drift, on the northern frontier of the Transvaal. The Boer casualties in the fight were six killed. Four of them were taken prisoners.

Bombardment Was Renewed.

London, Oct. 27.—A dispatch from Pretoria, dated Oct. 24, says: "Gen. Cronje has begun bombarding Mafeking.

The women and children were allowed ample time to leave town." A second dispatch, dated Oct. 26, says that bombardment was renewed, setting fire to the town. The missing Eighteenth Hussars were captured by the Boers and have arrived in Pretoria. One hundred killed and wounded is the official estimate of the Boers of their losses in the battle of Elandslaagte. Three hundred were captured.

General White has reported the safe arrival of General Yule in Ladysmith. His men were fagged out, but they got through without a battle. It is announced that General Joubert considerately telegraphed to General White the fact of General Symon's death. General White has cabled the War Office that General Yule left his wounded in Dundee, deeming them safer there than on a hard forced march.

Five thousand additional troops have been ordered to sail for South Africa between Nov. 4 and Nov. 18.

Mafeking Shelled Again.

Pretoria, Oct. 27.—The second day's bombardment of Mafeking has been worse than the first. The whole town seems to be in flames. The Surrey Hotel, which was shattered by a shell on Tuesday, has been struck again and burned to the ground.

The steeples of three churches are pillars of flame. The English Club is destroyed and the warehouses are in ruins. The barracks of the Bechuanaland border police are also gone, and much of the residence quarter is blazing. The old stone fort has been knocked to pieces.

The English women and non-combatants who had elected to remain in town moved out when the place began to burn. They were not molested.

Between the Boers and the ruins of the town Colonel Baden-Powell's 600 Colonial troops and 1,400 irregulars hold their trenches and the artillery fire has not, apparently, made any serious impression on them. It would seem to be General Cronje's plan to make Mafeking not worth holding, rather than attempt to drive the English out.

White Against Big Odds.

Ladysmith, Natal, Oct. 27.—Scouts have reported that Joubert with his Boer army has united with the Free State troops near Waschbank. This gives a force of 25,000 men against White and Yule's 10,000.

Yule at Ladysmith

London, Oct. 27.—The War Office has received the following despatch from Gen. White at Ladysmith: Gen. Yule's column has just marched on here after a very hard march during a night of exceptionally heavy rain. The men, though done up, are in good spirits, and only want a rest. The enemy did not molest them.

Details of the fighting at Rietfontein are coming in slowly. A special despatch from Ladysmith says: "On discovery that the Boers were massed to the westward of the main road to Dundee an attempt was made by a train to recover the body of Col. Scott-Chisolm killed at Elandslaagte. The train was fired upon and obliged to retire and Gen. White moved out to attack the Boers believed to be Free Staters who should have joined the Transvaalers at Elandslaagte. Gen. White commanded personally. The Fifth Lanciers were placed on either flank. They first came in touch with the Boers below Modderspruit where 1,500 burghers occupied a strong ridge, whence they opened fire at 1,200 yards, hitting several of the British. In the meantime the Hussars and Natal Carbineers advanced unscathed through an opening in the ridge, under the fire of a Boer gun, while the Imperial Light Horse took part of the crest of the ridge, the Boers retiring.

Gen. Symons Dead.

London, Oct. 27.—The death of Gen. Sir William Penn Symons, the British comander at Glencoe, who was shot in the stomach in the battle with the Boers there Oct. 20 has been officially announced in the House of Commons.

Bolivia's New President.

Washington, Oct. 27.—United States Minister Bridgman, at La Paz, reports that Pando has been elected president of Bolivia.

WAS CUT OFF WITH $1,500,000.

Young Cornelius Vanderbilt Does Not Share Equally With the Rest.

New York, Oct. 27.—The will of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt which has just been filed shows that Alfred G. Vanderbilt is the head of the Vanderbilt family and the heir to the fortune of his father.

The eldest son, Cornelius, is thus cut off with a million and a half dollars. Of this amount $500,000 is given to him outright and the remainder held in trust, only the income to be paid to him. He has accepted the terms of the will, and his brother, Alfred Gwynne, has given to him from his own inheritance a sum that will make the "disobedient son's" share equal to that of the other three children—Reginald, Gladys and Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney.

Alfred thus gives to his elder brother about $6,000,000. With the exception of Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney, who receives an additional $1,000,000, the inheritances of the other children are estimated at $7,300,000 each. In addition to the $7,500,000 in the funds created by the will, Alfred is the residuary legatee, and the Vanderbilt fortune is held intact. It will make his wealth probably about $56,000,000. Mrs. Vanderbilt gets the personal property, home and an annual income of $250,000. A number of charitable bequests are made and friends and relatives of the dead millionaire are remembered to the extent of several millions of dollars.

FIERCE BATTLE WITH TRAMPS.

Two Husky Brothers Throw Their Assailants Off a Flat Car.

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 27.—John and Robert Brewer, brothers, living in Allentown, have informed the New Brunswick police of a desperate fight they had on a moving freight train with tramps. Their cut faces bruised heads and torn clothing bore testimony to an exciting experience.

The brothers, who are waiters out of work, started for New York on a Pennsylvania flat car. Two tramps with revolvers demanded their money. The brothers, who are powerful men, grappled with the tramps. The train was going at high speed and each endeavored to force his antagonist from the car. John Brewer soon got the better of his man and threw him off. Then he drew a revolver and went to the assistance of Robert. The other tramp jumped from the train and fired a shot after him.

The brothers were found bleeding by the train hands. Dr. H. G. Cooke dressed their wounds. Track walkers are searching for the tramps, who were probably severely injured.

To Change Immigration Laws.

Washington, Oct. 27.—The annual report of Commissioner-Gen. Powderly of the Bureau of Immigration, which has been submitted to the Secretary of the Treasury, besides presenting the usual information as to immigrants who arrived in this country during the fiscal year ending June 30 last, makes recommendations for legislation of a comprehensive scope intended to protect the country from the evils of increasing immigration of an indiscriminate character as to physicial condition, mental and moral traits, and industrial capability. The official figures, as has been stated before, show an increase in immigration for the present year of 36 per cent. over the year ending June 30, 1898.

Case Will be Heard Soon.

Columbus, Oct. 27.—The Supreme Court has sustained a motion for advancing for hearing the case of Harry C. Mason et al. vs. the Tippecanoe Republican Club, of Cleveland, and ordered the case placed on the assignment for oral argument. This is the case brought by Speaker Mason, Representative M. F. Bramley and other anti-Hanna Republicans of Cleveland to prevent the club, which was controlled by Senator Hanna's friends, from expelling them for their bolt of the nomination of Hanna for United States Senator.

To Oppose Opening Drainage Canal.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—President Isaac Taylor of the special commission appointed by Governor Tanner to pass on the capacity and condition of the Chicago drainage canal says that the commission will report against the opening of the canal, and he adds that the Chicago River is inadequate to supply the required amount of water with the velocity of current fixed by the drainage board.

Tammany Ratifies.

New York, Oct. 27.—The Tammany ratification meeting last night was a big success, and Tammany Hall on Fourteenth street was packed to the doors with an enthusiastic crowd of Democrats. Among those who delivered addresses were Randolph Guggenheimer, Hon. William Sulzer, and Bartow S. Weeks, all of whom were generously applauded.

Society Girl Under Arrest.

Jamestown, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Miss Marjorie Vinton has arrived here from San Francisco, under arrest as the accomplice of Alba M. Kent, Jr., with whom she eloped to Japan last May after he had obtained $200,000 by forging his uncle's name. She was prominent in society here. Kent is under arrest in Japan.

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 27.—Only five cases of fever have been reported here in the past twenty-four hours. The Governor has ordered the prisoners to be removed from the penitentiary in view of the infection there, but it has not been decided where to send them.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Sir Thomas Lipton has sent a telegram to the Fellowship Club saying that he can not come West at this time owing to pressing business engagements. He says he will return to England as soon as the engagements will permit.

You ought to see what we can do for you before doing anything for yourself. Painting depends upon the paint and the painter. Better preparations than ours were never put on by a brush. FILIPINOS APPEAL TO POPE.

A Commission Composed of Native Priests Appointed to Go to Rome.

ARE AGAINST THE FRIARS

The Bishop of Manila is Accused by Aguinaldo of Aiding the Cause of Filipino "Enemies".

Leader of The Natives in The Philippines Makes a Speech at Tarlac—Tells What Compassed The Downfall of Spain—Can Have No Consideration For The Friars.

Manila, Oct. 27.—The Filipino congress has selected a commission of native priests to proceed to Rome and explain to the Pope the abuses and iniquities of the friars and to ask for correcting intervention.

Aquinaldo, in a recent speech at Tarlac, characterized the friars as intriguers and abusers of honor, law and morality, and declared they compassed Spain's downfall in the Philippines. He added:

"We can have no consideration for the friars, whose iniquities and abuses are doubtless unknown at the Vatican, where only misleading reports of the friars are received. If the commission has not yet left Manila, the fact is due to the machinations and intrigue of Bishop Nozaleda of Manila, who is most efficaciously aiding our enemies."

The Thirty-fourth Infantry has proceeded to San Isidro, Col. Kennon commanding.

For Committee on Colonies.

Washington, Oct. 27.—The next House of Representatives will be confronted early with a proposition to create a new committee to be known as the committee on colonies. Representative Tawney of Minnesota is the principal advocate of such a departure. He is prompted by the prospect of a renewal of the controversy as to whether the committee on territories, the committee on ways and means or the committee on foreign affairs shall have control of bills and resolutions relating to the insular possessions of the United States. A controversy over the reference of the Hawaiian bill occurred last winter. Speaker Reed ended it summarily by referring the bill, which Chairman Hitt of the foreign affairs committee had assisted in preparing to the committee on territories. By that act he took the whole Hawaiian question out of the hands of the one man in the House who, as a member of the Hawaiian commission, had given most attention to it.

Mr. Tawney's proposition is to be opposed by the men who expect to be on the committee on foreign affairs and the committee on territories, and also from those who are opposed to treating the islands acquired from Spain as colonies.

The more conservative members of the Senate and House are inclined to the opinion that the wisest course is to leave the islands under the war power of the President for a year or two until the people have a better understanding of the problems before the government and are better able to decide as to the merits of the various propositions for the government of insular possessions. A prominent member of the Senate Judiciary committee, after conference with the President has expressed the opinion that the whole situation would be better if congress could be induced to leave the subject of government for the Philippines and Porto Rico alone for a year.

The Gunboat Arayat Raised.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Admiral Watson at Manila has informed the Navy Department that the Spanish gunboat Arayat, sunk in May, 1898, in the Pasig River, has been raised. Her hull, boiler and machinery are in fair condition and she will be repaired.

President Bishop Testifies.

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 27.—The Mercer County grand jury has continued its investigation into the conduct of affairs of the State Industrial School for Girls. Thursday President Bishop of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, spent two hours before the grand jury.

Killed The Prowler.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 27.—John M. Kuespert, a saloon keeper here, killed a Pole named Magenski. Kuespert's icehouse was burned on Saturday night. He found Magenski prowling around the place again Thursday, and thinking him the firebug shot and killed him.

Hearing is Postponed.

Washington, Oct. 27.—The interstate commerce commission has postponed the hearing in the matter of the complaint of the jobbers of Chicago and St. Louis against the transcontinental railroads from Oct. 30 to Nov. 13.

A LITERARY SHAKEUP.

Reported Changes in the Harper Publishing House.

New York, Oct. 27.—There has been a general shakeup in the old publishing house of Harper & Brothers since Doubleday & McClure secured an interest in the management. The Round Table publication has been discontinued for good, and many changes have been made in the editorial and business staffs.

It is said that J. Pierpont Morgan is back of Messrs. Doubleday & McClure, and the banker is credited with having invested from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 in the concern. Mr. Morgan's nephew, Mr. McIlrain, has been made vice-president of the London branch. Mrs. Margaret E. Sangster, editor of Harper's Bazar, has, it is said, definitely relinquished her position, and Lawrence Hutton has resigned from the editorial staff of the magazine.

John Harper, second vice-president, and Franklin Harper, subscription manager of the old corporation, have retired from the concern. They are the sons of Joseph Abner Harper.

Two experts, said to have been employed by J. Pierpont Morgan, have been at work on the books of the concern for nearly a year, and there has been many a change in the interior management. Many of the old clerical force are said to be uncertain as to their future. There have been radical changes in the system of bookkeeping, suggested by the experts.

BOTH FIGHTERS CONFIDENT.

But Jeffries and Sharkey Do Not Want to Boast.

New York, Oct. 27.—Here is what Jim Jeffries says of the big fight Nov. 3: "If Sharkey offers a close fight the contest will be a bitter but not an extended one. We are both heavy men and likely to go a hot pace. For this reason if Sharkey puts up an aggressive fight I do not believe the battle will last as long as the Fitzsimmons fight. Whether or not I will knock Sharkey out in one two or six rounds, or Sharkey will knock me out in any given number of rounds, is merely a matter of conjecture. It is idle to speculate on the length of the fight. The knockout blow may come at any time."

Here are a few of Sharkey's remarks on the subject: "Jeffries is a nice young fellow. He is a big man and he is a clever man. Well, I have met big men and I have met clever men. They all looked alike to me. I have met them all. I've met him, and he's the only man who ever gained a decision over me. I know him and I think I'll more than square accounts when we get into the same ring. Mind you, I'm not boasting. I just think I'll win, and that's all there is to it.

Left $5,000 on The Train.

Lima, O., Oct. 27.—While A. T. Hanmer, general manager of an organ company of Cincinnati, was en route to this city from Cincinnati, he left his wallet, containing over $5,000, on the parlor car of north-bound Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Train No. 4, in the washroom. This was about an hour before the train arrived here, where he changed cars for Fostoria, Ohio. He did not miss his wealth until about an hour after the train had left, and reported it to Dispatcher E. Packard. He telegraphed Conductor Kelly, who located the book and returned it to Mr. Hanmer. Only about $23 of the money was missing, but Mr. Hanmer was satisfied.

For a New Electric Line.

Toledo, O., Oct. 27.—An electric line that will give Ohio resort cities a continuous service from Tiffin to Toledo by way of Sandusky is being projected. The eastern syndicate that controls the company intends that the line shall tap Lakeside, Putin-Bay and Catawba passenger and fall fruit business. It is also proposed to obtain control of the Lakeside and Marblehead road, and to change its motive power from steam to electricity. The right of way for the new line is being obtained.

They Can't Marry Again.

Plymouth, Ind., Oct. 27.—Rebecca J. Apple, living near this city, had been divorced from her husband, Thomas J. Apple, the second time. In dividing their property Thursday a quarrel resulted. He drew a revolver and killed her and then killed himself. The couple were married in 1860 and reared a family of nine children. They were divorced about five years ago, but remarried six months later. A number of persons witnessed the shooting, but could not interfere in time to save either.

Marie Burroughs to Marry.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 27.—The engagement of Dr. Albert E. Sterne, of this city, to Miss Marie Burroughs, leading lady of Stuart Robson's company, is announced, the marriage to take place in New York City December 6. Miss Burroughs has resigned her position and will retire from the stage. Dr. Sterne is a prominent neurologist, prominent in society and the owner of "The Norways," one of the most beautiful places in Indianapolis.

Three Alleged Robbers Caught.

Circleville, O., Oct. 27.—Frank Rider, of Jackson, was held up and robbed here, and the police have arrested John Joseph, Henry Weigams, William Chatman and Harry Race, who were identified by Rider as his assailants. They claim to be from Portsmouth.

MAN. What does A. N. spell?
BOY. That spells Ann too.
MAN. Then Ans might spell Anns, might it not?
BOY. Sure!
MAN. What does R. I. P. spell?
BOY. Rip! Of course.
MAN. Then R. I. P. A. N. S. spells Ripans with the accent on the Rip not rye-pans.
BOY. But what does it mean?
MAN. Do you know the word C. A. B. A. L.?
BOY. Yes, my teacher told me about it yesterday. In the time of Charles I. the first King's Council consisted of five men whose names were Clifford, Arlington, Buckingham, Ashley and Lauderdale and people called them the Cabal, making the word from the initials of their name.
MAN. Well, R-I-P-A-N-S is a word created in a similar way. It is composed of the initial letters of six substances much used in medicine, Rhubarb, Ipecac, Peppermint, Aloes, Nuxvomica and Soda, and your mother says that for profound depression and exhaustion and for that die-away sensation a Ripans Tabule is a specific. Ripans Tabules are a remedy for stomach troubles and stomach troubles are the basis of nearly all sickness. One gives relief.

BODY MAY BE IDENTIFIED.

New York's Murder Mystery Likely To be Cleared Up.

New York, Oct. 27.—Detective Sergeants Price and McCafferty called at the Morgue, accompanied by a tall, handsome woman, dressed in black and about thirty-five years old. They asked to be shown the dismembered portions of the murdered woman's body.

They were taken into the autopsy room and remained there for thirty-five minutes. When they emerged the woman was weeping and she held a handkerchief to her eyes.

In going away the detectives said to Morgue Keeper Fayne: "You will not be troubled by us again. We are much obliged for your courtesy. The undertaker might as well bury the parts now."

This was taken as significant that there had been some identification. The detectives refused to make any statement and the woman would answer no questions.

WAS A SHORTAGE OF VESSELS.

Western Grain Shipments Benefited The Railroads.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Lake carriers have this year received the smallest proportion of the grain carrying trade between Chicago and the seaboard that they have had in the past five years. The chief cause has been the high freight rates and the small number of grain vessels available on account of competition among the ore shippers. The rate wars begun between the Chicago and St. Louis lines during the season have forced railroad freights to the lowest points known in years and have resulted in the absorption by the roads of practically all the oats shipping trade. Thus far this year the lake lines have only carried 13,000,000 bushels of oats, while the railroads have carried over 57,000,000 bushels. Last year the lake lines carried 50,000,000 bushels of oats.

Corn shipments to date by the lakes are about 42,000,000 bushels less than they were last season, while the railroads have carried so far this year 11,000,000 bushels more than they did during the whole year of 1898. The total of all kinds of grain carried by the lakes from Chicago in 1898 was 158,263,526 bushels and by eastern railroads 103,505,468 bushels. To date this year the total by the lakes is 75,240,468 bushels as compared with 107,827,706 by rail.

Buried The Infant Alive.

Herkimer, N. Y., Oct. 27.—James E. Wheeler, a noted character, is incarcerated in the Herkimer County Jail, charged with murder in the first degree. It is charged that in May, 1897, Wheeler took the life of the infant child of his stepdaughter by burying it alive soon after birth. The information was given by Wheeler's wife, the mother of the unfortunate girl. Wheeler has been separated from his wife for some time. The remains of the child were found buried under a barn near the house.

Trainmen Hurt in Collision.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 27.—The Butler accommodation train, on the Pittsburg and Western Railroad, ran into a freight train at Undercliff, Pa. The passengers escaped with a severe shaking up, but the following-named trainmen were seriously injured: W. E. McChristian, baggage master; William Schriver, engineer; William W. French, conductor, and S. M. Mitchell, fireman. Both engines were damaged, and a number of freight cars were destroyed. The accident was due to the heavy fog and a misunderstanding of signals.

Aluminum to Displace Copper.

Chicago, Oct. 27.—Aluminum is to have its first important trial as a commercial conductor of electricity on the Northwestern elevated road. Twenty miles of inch and a half cables are to be strung along the steel trestle to distribute the motive power to the trolley rails of the new road. Aluminum displaces its copper rival on the new road because of its cheapness. Copper has almost doubled in price within a twelvemonth, while the lighter metal has declined.

Death Caused by Carelessness.

Connellsville, Pa., Oct. 27.—Charles P. Kerr, of Company D, Tenth Regiment, while playing with a revolver, shot himself dead here. He is the fifth member of the regiment to die a violent death since the return of the regiment from the Philippines. Kerr was calling on a neighbor. He handled the weapon carelessly, and though warned, snapped it thrice, when it exploded and the bullet pierced his heart. He died instantly.

Sister Stanislaus Laid to Rest.

HAD AN UNHAPPY VOYAGE

Sailors Make Some Serious Charges Against Capt. W. J. Lermond.

WERE CRUELLY TREATED

After a Trip of Three Years Some of the Seamen Receive Nothing For Their Services.

Claimed That Some Are Made to Appear Indebted to The Ship—Forced To Sail in An Unseaworthy Vessel—Defective Rigging Causes The Instant Death of One of The Crew.

New York, Oct. 27.—Two sailors, who give their names as Ernest Frank and Karl Gautier have appeared at the district attorney's office to make a complaint against Capt. William J. Lermond of the merchant vessel Joseph B. Thmoas. The story the sailors tell is an unusual one. They say that after a voyage of three years most of the crew were discharged at this port without receiving a cent of pay. One of them, according to the ship's books, is to receive just $1.50; while another, instead of receiving pay, is charged with a debt of $35 to the ship. The sailors' statement follows:

Three years ago the Joseph B. Thomas, an American merchant vessel, left this port for a voyage around the world, with the necessary papers properly drawn out and a full crew. But it did not take the sailors long to find out that, though the ship was properly certified, she was in far from seaworthy condition. Her rigging, according to their story, was rotten throughout. They complained, but received only abuse in return. At Newcastle, Australia, the ship was again passed by the proper authorities, and proceeded to Honolulu. That was early last May. They had scarcely left Newcastle when one of the sailors, who was aloft, fell fifty feet to the deck and was instantly killed. Clasped tight in the dead man's hand, say the sailors, was a fragment of the rotten rigging. It had broken in two places with his weight. This incriminating bit of rope was taken from the corpse's grasp by the mate, a son of Capt. Lermond, and thrown overboard. There was nothing the crew could do except mutiny or endure their condition for the rest of the voyage. They did nothing until they arrived at the port of Honolulu late in May, and then, instead of appealing to the consul there, with a sailor's characteristic lack of foresight they all ran away. Of course, most of them were caught, and for ten days they were imprisoned on the island until the ship was ready to sail. From that point the course lay around the Cape and up the South American coast to New York. Last week the ship arrived, consigned to W. R. Grace as agent. Four days ago the crew were paid off, and from each man's wages was subtracted the alleged cost of police and detention work in Hawaii—$66 a man. Here again they showed the characteristic helplessness of the sailor. Instead of keeping together and presenting their claim in a body, they scattered, and only a few realized the other day that redress might be obtained, and accordingly have appealed to the district attorney. Clark H. Abbott, counsel for the Legal Aid Society, has their case in hand, but it is doubtful whether anything can be done, owing to the lack of witnesses.

Capt. Lermond insists that the entire story is a fabrication on the part of the crew, due to their anger at being charged with the costs of their desertion. He says that the ship's rigging was in good condition, and that Schwartz, as was reported at Honolulu, "died at sea." He says further that far from having unjustly docked the crew's wages, he was instrumental in getting one of them released form jail.

On the other hand, the complaining sailors have been consistent in their charges, which they have made in the presence of Joseph M. Dickey, the United States shipping commissioner of this port, and also before the United States district attorney. Capt. Lermond will be allowed to state his side of the case to W. R. Grace, the agent, who has requested a full account.

Republicans in a Sorry Plight.

For the first time in many years, a Republican Union county convention yesterday beheld the spectacle of a Plainfield delegation at bitter war within itself and watched it defeat its own chances of securing one of the coveted nominations on the ticket through the lack of unison among the delegates. Yesterday's convention was a memorable one. Until within almost an hour of the time of calling the convention to order, it was impossible to tell what was going to happen. Even the leaders themselves did not know while the rank and file of the party were completely in the dark as to the situation.

Plainfield went down with several favorite sons in mind and returned with the Assembly honor for one comparatively unknown and with a heap of bitterness in the ranks of the delegation. For Elizabethport and Rahway, it was a great day and a great victory but Plainfield, through her lack of harmony, missed an opportunity.

When the delegation began to gather yesterday morning, there was every appearance that the Cross-Houston-Howard combination would nominate its slate. The announcement that B. Frank Coriell made that he had withdrawn from the race so as not to interfere with Howard's candidacy strengthened that view. It was there that the trouble in the Plainfield ranks began to make itself apparent. The Second and Third wards were willing to accept Coriell's statement and fall in line for Howard and Houston. The First and Fourth ward delegations had united with the advocates of Charles H. K. Halsey as the only possible chance of landing anything for Plainfield. Neither of the two factions thus developed in the ranks of the Plainfield delegation would admit that there course was not the proper one. The feeling was intensified when each faction presented a rival candidate for the Assembly nomination. Altogether it was a sorry spectacle to witness for the Republicans from Plainfield who watched the proceedings from outside the delegation.

The Essex county Democrats made a serious blunder in making up their Assembly ticket at the convention Wednesday night. Among the men nominated for the Assembly was Washington Irving, commander of the New Jersey Naval Reserves. Yesterday Commander Irving sent the Democratic leaders a very brief but interesting card, the substance of which was contained in the closing words "I am supporting the Republican ticket." Washington Irving's name though it is a celebrated and honored one, and the gentleman himself is a patriot who responded to his country's call in time of war, will be forthwith hauled down from the banner of the unterrified. Such a proceeding will cause profound disappointment to the campaign orators, as the Commander's war record was to be great material for eulogy on the stump.

If by losing a nomination for Councilman at the hands of the Republicans in the Second ward at the last city election he gains a seat in the Assembly, Charles S. Foote can consider himself quite lucky in politics.

The Democrats hold their county convention this afternoon, but it will probably not be quite as exciting as that of their friends, the enemy, yesterday.

Billy Newcorn is unfortunate in his political aspirations. He gets just near enough to a nomination to make his defeat seem more keen.

Editor Runyon smiles a very broad, satisfied smile today whenever the name of Squier is mentioned.

The Republicans evidently intend to give the Democrats the hot Foote.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A well-known Plainfielder who is a familiar figure on the streets, and whose politics are of a doubtful complexion, was heard to remark yesterday that at the Republican primary last Monday evening in the First ward, he was offered $1 for his vote. He says that he snubbed the insult, and refused to vote. On Friday evening the same man attended the Democratic primary in the same ward and took a lively part. No doubt he will be on hand election day, but whether he has made up his mind as to how he will vote is still an open question.

FOREMAN CHARGED WITH THEFT.

Accused of Stealing Copper Wire From the Bine-Riker Syndicate.

The Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company has for sometime been missing copper wire in such quantities that the loss has amounted to considerable. Tuesday night Edgar Serrell made a complaint against John Roach, a foreman in charge of a gang on overhead work, charging him with stealing and selling copper wire.

Roach was given a hearing before Justice Collins, when it developed that a bag of copper wire scraps were sold last Thursday to a junkman, who paid eighty cents for them. The money was expended for beer, which was drank by the gang. Roach was held in $150 bonds to appear at the next term of court.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, Oct. 27—The Republicans of this town feel very much elated over the fact that Chester M. Smith received the nomination for the Assembly, although there a good many who think that John H. Dorvall was badly treated, and for that reason will "cut" the ticket at the coming election. Mr. Dorvall, himself, feels very sore and will, without a doubt, do everything in his power to defeat the ticket.

The "stork" has visited Westfield, and as a result Charles Urban, of Addison street, is bragging about a pair of twins, and Edward C. Winters, of First street, struts proudly about and tells of the little fellow who is at home learning to call him papa.

It is reported that several of the men thought to have been drowned on the ship Lady Grey, which was sunk on her way to the Klondike gold fields last winter, have shown up at Dawson City. John Stutzman was on board at the time and is supposed to have been drowned.

Local Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World.

What promises to be the banner attraction of the season will be the engagement of Hoyt's "A Contented Woman" at Music Hall tomorrow night. "A Contented Woman," like all of Mr. Hoyt's plays, satirizes something, and the something this time is the much-talked-of "New Woman," who thinks in politics she is able to cope successfully with the sterner sex. How she goes to work, and the success of her attempt, is brought out with all the keen wit and native humor which distinguishes all the work of America's greatest writer of farce-comedy. No detail, however slight though it might be, was neglected to make this the most perfect production of musical comedy the metropolis had ever seen. The Hoyt Theatre production will be put on the boards of our theatre in identically the same manner as in New York city. The cast, Mr. Hoyt claims, is the best possible, and is headed by that beautiful woman, Belle Archer, and a host of pretty girls, including the famous beauty trio, late with "Jack and the Beanstalk." As above stated, "A Contented Woman" is looked upon as being the banner attraction of the season, and this fact seems to be fully appreciated by amusement seekers, for the already heavy demand for seats indicates the largest and most fashionable audience that has turned out for a long time to welcome a theatrical performance. The plot of the piece is as follows: The scene is laid in Denver, where women are allowed to vote. "Benton Holmes" has been nominated as the Reform party's candidate for Mayor. He has been recently married and is very much in love with his wife, "Grace." "Aunt 'Jim'" a relative of "Mrs. Holmes," is a woman's right advocate. "Grace" is feeling badly at the fancied cooling of her husband's love. "Aunt 'Jim'" offers her the woman's candidacy for Mayor. With her acceptance, the first act ends. The second act shows the interior of the house, with the headquarters of the two opposing candidates on opposite sides. The ward heelers of both parties congregate to talk over the chances for the election of their respective candidates. The third and fourth act takes place on the day of the election. In the third act "Grace" goes to the polls to cast her first vote; she returns in tatters and rags and covered with mud. Her husband wants to know where the American man is who could so treat a woman; "Grace" replies that it was not the American men, but the American women. In the last act the bulletins show that the vote is going to "Grace." It is then she decides that she does not want to be Mayor, and when she finds she is really elected, she shows the real women by saying that she will not be elected.

Provinz Brandenburg.

Berlin. Die Berliner Akademie der Wissenschaften, die im Juni 1900 die Jubelfeier ihres 200jährigen Bestehens zu feiern beabsichtigte, wird neueren Beschlüssen zufolge das Fest bereits im März 1900 begehen.—Eine hier wohnende Amerikanerin aus Philadelphia, Namens Caldwell, wurde von einem Einbrecher in ihrer Wohnung überfallen und mit den Fäusten zu Boden geschlagen. Dann raubte der Kerl ihr Geld und Werthsachen und entkam.—Bei der hiesigen Getreide- und Bankfirma A. Ascher hat ein Angestellter Namens Zerkowski Unterschlagungen in der Höhe von circa 40,000 Mark verübt. Der Defraudant ist flüchtig.—Einen ganzen Wald prächtiger Bäume besitzt die Stadtgemeinde Berlin in ihren Schmuckanlagen und den städtischen Parks in und bei Berlin. Rechnet man die Baumschulen am Schlesischen Busch, im Humboldthain und Friedrichshain hinzu, so ergibt sich ein Baumbestand von nahezu 2,000,000 Stück.

Charlottenburg. Bei der Hundertjahrfeier der Technischen Hochschule ermächtigte der Kaiser die technischen Hochschulen, fortan den Titel eines Doktor-Ingenieurs zu ertheilen. Dem Rektor der Berliner technischen Hochschule verlieh der Kaiser das Prädikat „Magnifizenz."

Züllichau. Auf dem hiesigen Bahnhof verunglückte beim Kohlenfahren der Ulan Reimann von der 5. Eskadron des hier garnisonirenden Ulanen-Regiments. Von den plötzlich scheu gewordenen durchgehenden Pferden seines Geschirrs wurde er erst gegen eine Eisenbahnlowry und dann unter den schwer beladenen Wagen geschleudert, worauf die Hinterräder des letzteren über die Brust des Unglücklichen gingen. Nach einstündigen schrecklichen Qualen gab er seinen Geist auf.

Provinz Hannover.

Emden. Das neu zu errichtende deutsch-amerikanische Kabel wird wahrscheinlich am 1. April 1900 eröffnet. Mit diesem Zeitpunkt wird auf den Azoren die neue Kabelstation in Fayal in Betrieb genommen, als deren Vorsteher der Telegraphensekretär Ruhmkorf, seit langen Jahren am Emdener überseeischen Telegraphenamt thätig, ernannt worden ist. Außerdem werden noch sechs bis acht Rekorderbeamte aus Emden dortselbst beschäftigt werden, welche sich vorläufig für drei Jahre verpflichten müssen. Das Reichspostamt hat die Beamten für diese Zeit beurlaubt.

Osnabrück. Senator Hammersen, ein bekannter Großindustrieller, ist, 85 Jahre alt, gestorben.—Das Verfahren gegen den nationalsozialen Agitator v. Gerlach, das von dem hiesigen Staatsanwalt wegen Aufreizung zum Klassenhaß eingeleitet war, ist eingestellt worden.

Fischhausen. Ein großer Erdrutsch fand kürzlich in dem Palmnickener Bernsteinbergwerk statt. Die Arbeiter der Nachtschicht hörten das ihnen bekannte Sausen und Brausen. Sofort wurden die nöthigen Maßregeln getroffen und es gelang, die Gefahr für Menschenleben abzuwenden. Wäre der Schacht am Tage eingestürzt, so wären wahrscheinlich die Leute, welche mit Kartoffelgraben an der Bruchstelle beschäftigt waren, in große Lebensgefahr gekommen. Ein Stück Kartoffelland von mehr als dreiviertel Morgen ist eingestürzt. Außerdem droht der Einsturz eines Maschinenhauses, so daß es abgebrochen werden muß.

FASHION NOTES.

Items of News Concerning the Fashionable Wardrobe.

Short, tight coats and boleros are worn open over fronts of silk or satin.

New trimmings consist of applications of cloth upon satin and of silk upon cloth. The silk applications are often stitched in lozenges, which puff up in the middle as if they were wadded. The applications are often outlined with a cord which sometimes shows an intertwisted metallic thread.

GIRL'S COSTUME.

Gowns intended for ceremonious wear have the bodice matching the skirt. The bodice differing from the skirt is still well worn, but is comparatively informal.

Traveling gowns are usually in the tailor made style. They are of wool goods of substantial quality, never of silk. Absolute neatness, correctness and harmony are the requisites of the traveling costume, which should have the same character throughout. Plumes, spangles, lace and furbelows of all kinds are quite out of place and are to be avoided.

Boleros of cloaking, velvet and fur will be worn this winter.

The girl's costume illustrated is of beige wool with brown spots. The skirt is closed at the side and bordered with brown stitched bands. The bodice has a blouse front, and the collar and plastron are of turquoise velvet. The fichu, tied in front, is also of turquoise velvet, as is the belt, which forms long loops and ends at the back. The hat of beige felt is trimmed with bows of turquoise velvet, edged with little ruches, and has also two brown quills. JUDIC CHOLLET.

OUT OF DOOR COSTUMES.

Jackets and Gowns For Cold Weather Wear.

Straight sacks are much used for little girls. There are also short capes, falling no farther than the elbows. They are made without any fullness at all and are sometimes triple. Stitching is the usual finish for them.

The newest finish for jackets is the shawl collar, cut in scallops around the edge and covered with lines of stitching.

There are some very attractive costumes of Scotch plaid among the winter models. They are decorated with their own fringe, the shawl points often forming a tunic.

BOLERO.

Tailor made costumes of velveteen, both plain and fancy, are seen in all colors, from very light to very dark.

Cloth is perhaps the most favored material and applications of itself or cloth of a different shade the preferred decoration for it. Light and dark are often combined, light gray with dark gray, white with beige, pale blue with deep blue.

Revers and plastrons of white cloth are immensely used with boleros.

The cut shows a bolero of dull blue cloth. It is even with the waist line at the back, but in front is elongated in two points, and the edges and seams are followed by a double line of black cording. The collar and revers are of black velvet, with applications of stitched blue cloth bands, and the revers are bordered with a little black velvet ruffle. The sleeves are trimmed with black cording and have velvet cuffs matching the collar. The cravat is of black satin bordered with lace. The hat of brown felt has a band and chou of black velvet, two black ostrich plumes and a garland of blue flowers. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FOR LASTING BEAUTY.

Rules for Women Who Would Remain Youthful.

She has passed thirty-five. She realizes an unpleasant truth, says a woman writer in the Philadelphia Inquirer. A skin once as soft as a piece of fine-grained satin has grown coarse. There are incipient signs of wrinkles. Eyes are heavy-lidded and dark circles are settling beneath them. Tiny rolls of flesh show above the throat. Something must be done. First a clean bill of health. This means early hours, light diet, plenty of exercise, and clothing neither too tight nor too weighty. Walk she must, and walk she does. First a tramp of a mile. Each day the distance lengthens until a five-mile sprint is a parody on exercise. Hot and cold baths and physical culture. Massage, too, over the face and under the chin, massage that counts for something. The habit of worrying is dropped. Starchy foods are carefully avoided. Sweets tabooed. Ten hours' sleep are rarely missed. Hot water by the gallon. Cold shower baths by the dozens.

In twelve short weeks behold a change, and such a change. The flabby skin grows firmer. The sallow skin grows whiter. Languid lids no longer sleepily droop over the eyes that are dull. Delicate curves are revealed. The complexion grows clearer, finer grained and tinged with a delicate flush. Well groomed is a verdict by all brought in contact with this woman who has discovered in the nick of time the secret of perpetual good looks.

Ladies' Golf Cape.

The golf-cape is one of the most comfortable garments worn and if made of modest material and trimmed with taste, it will answer for more dressy occasions. The garment shown is made with revers which may be thrown back as indicated. The illustration will give one an idea of the general effect—the collar, the flare and the length. Material and trimming may be left to the taste of the wearer.

Gargling Is Quite Useless.

One of the most cherished tenets of the household school of medicine is that gargling with a mixture of vinegar and water is good for a sore throat. Now come physicians with their cold science to say not only that the vinegar and water is useless, but that the whole idea of gargling is ineffective and ridiculous.

In brief, they say that gargling is of no utility because not a drop of the liquid used ever gets further than the middle of the tongue. They appear to be able to prove this statement to be true.

The whole therapeutic value of gargling depends upon whether the fluid used reaches the mucous membrane of the pharynx and tonsils or not. The scientists who have been testing the matter declare that a liquid cannot reach the tonsils or back of the throat because the air expelled by the lungs in the effort of gargling, as well as the shape assumed by the velum, throws the liquid away from the very parts it is supposed to reach.

Care of the Eyes.

Learn to wash the eyes as carefully as you wash the face.

A bath of warm water is soothing to tired eyes.

Cold weather is very trying when eyes are inclined to be weak.

If exposed to a strong wind wear a veil.

Never abuse the eyes by reading at twilight.

Close the lids for a few minutes many times a day, that the eyes may be given a rest.

More headaches are the result of defective eyesight than one ever dreamed of.

Dark glasses are not becoming, but this has not deterred the sensible woman from caring for her precious sight.

Grandma's old-time remedy of camphor water for inflamed and weary eyes has been adopted by an authority on toilet matters. The preparations are: Camphor water—not spirits of camphor—two ounces; borax, two grains.

Shuts the Eyes to Sin.

For the last three years Miss Sarah Cunningham, of Vancouver, B. C., has blindfolded her eyes whenever she stepped outside the door of the little cottage in which she lives alone. Miss Cunningham is a woman about forty years old. For years her conscience was troubled by the sights of sin and immorality everywhere visible as she walked the streets of Vancouver. Finally she decided that she could stand it no longer. If she could not put a stop to the wickedness which oppressed her she could at least shut her eyes to the outside world. Consequently she bandaged her eyes. Since that day in 1896 her eyes have never looked upon the earth. As a result Miss Cunningham reports that she is becoming cheerful. The bright side of life now occupies her mind, and though she is aware of the fact that there is still sin in the world it does not trouble her as it formerly did.

Angel Cake.

Use one cup of the white of eggs, three-fourths cup sugar, one-fourth cup corn starch, one-third cup flour, one-half teaspoon vanilla. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and dry, add sugar gradually and continue beating, then add flavoring. Cut and fold in corn starch, flour, salt and cream tartar, mixed and sifted. Bake 45 to 50 minutes in an unbuttered angel cake pan in a moderate oven.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 29—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Giving, a measure of love.—Mark xii, 41-44. (A meeting to consider systematic and proportionate giving.)

This incident took place in the temple. It is the familiar story of the widow's mites. Jesus was watching the people put their money in the treasury which consisted of brazen trumpet shaped chests into which voluntary offerings for the sacrifice fund were placed. Many out of their abundance gave liberally. A poor widow gave two mites, but it was all her living for that day. Men would have condemned her act as one lacking judgment, but Christ commended the poor widow and declared that she had given more than all the rest.

Undoubtedly that which led Christ to commend the widow's gift was the fact that it was the offering of a humble heart, full of love to God. It was an expression of her gratitude to God. It was the measure of her love, and in giving all she proved that she loved God with all her being. Love should be the prompter of our gifts and the measure of them, but, alas, it is not always so, or, if it is, the love of many must be very small indeed. This gift of love sets forth the characteristics of true giving to God.

1. It was prompted by the proper motive—love to God. Love to God and for His cause in the world should inspire all our giving.

2. The purpose for which the gift was made was a good one. It was for the benefit of the sacrifice fund of God's temple—a most worthy purpose to which to give. Money given to win the applause of men to attain social or political position is not approved of God or commended by Christ. But if given for some noble and lofty purpose, the carrying forward of God's work in the world, the relief of the distressed and needy or the uplifting of mankind, God is sure to approve the gift and to bless and reward the giver.

3. It was a self sacrificing gift. It was a gift that cost something. It was the widow's all and perhaps necessitated want and hunger for that day at least. The value of a gift in the sight of God is not its literal worth, but the worth of the one who gave it. What it will appear in the sight of God will depend not upon how much we give, but upon how much we have left. God regards not so much what we give as what we keep. The greatness of the gift depends upon what it costs to make it. The rich gave more than the widow, but they had more left than she. Hence the superior character of her gift.

This poor widow's gift should inspire us to a more liberal and cheerful consecration of our money to Christ. If Christ thought it was right for her to give so liberally, He must think the same of us, and if He was willing to commend her He will be willing to commend and bless us.

Bible Readings.—Gen. xxviii, 19-22; Lev. xxvii, 30-34; Deut. x, 17; Hag. ii, 8; Math. v, 23, 24; x, 8; Mark x, 17-22; Luke vi, 38; John xii, 1-8; Acts xx, 35; Rom. xii, 8; II Cor. viii, 1-12; ix, 1-15; Phil. iv, 15-17.

Christ's Servant.

How sweet the service! How full of blessing to the servant, bringing him into closest relations with the Master he loves! For it is his privilege to follow Jesus and enjoy all the bliss of His company. In serving Christ we are not, as is the case with earthly servants, to discharge our duty at a distance or out of the sight of our Master; that we are ever to follow in the steps of Jesus, knowing His acts and with all our deeds known to Him.

Blissful indeed is the present life of Christ's servant, superlatively blissful the prospect of his future, brought nearer by the passing hours of each day. Alas, that so many are determined that they will not have this Man to rule over them!—Episcopal Recorder.

The Christian Man's Life.

A Christian man's life is laid in the loom of time to a pattern which he does not see, but God does, and his heart is a shuttle. On one side of the loom is sorrow, and on the other is joy, and the shuttle, struck alternately by each, flies back and forth, carrying the thread, which is white or black as the pattern needs. And in the end, when God shall lift up the finished garment and all its changing hues shall glance out, it will then appear that the deep and dark colors were as needful to beauty as the bright and high colors.—Henry Ward Beecher.

Education.

Education is not mere learning or the acquisition of knowledge—the acquisition of a treasure to be laid up in the mind and to remain there without living energy. Education is the cultivation and development of thinking power, and a man who has not secured for himself this has so far wasted the years of his education.—From "Thoughts of and For the Inner Life," a Volume of Sermons by Ex-President Dwight of Yale, Just Published.

Too Complicated.

Life is so complicated a game that the devices of skill are liable to be defeated at every turn by air blown chances, incalculable as the descent of thistle down.—George Eliot.

God Is Love.

When, courting slumber,
The hours I number,
And sad care cumber
My wearied mind,
This thought shall cheer me,
That Thou art near me,
Whose ear to hear me
Is still inclined.

My soul Thou keepest,
Who never sleepest;
Mid gloom the deepest
Thine eyes behold me,
Thine arms enfold me,
Thy words have told me
That God is love.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 29, "Giving a Measure of Love." Text, Mark xii, 41-44.

"She threw in two mites."

The widow's gift has become historic. The duty to give in proportion to one's possessions is becoming more clear to many Christians. Some are giving one-tenth of their income. Others are finding that they are able to live on less than nine-tenths of their income and are gladly using a larger proportion for the direct work of God in the world. There are many who have found themselves greatly prospered in material as well as spiritual lines since they adopted a course of systematic and proportionate giving. It is certain that the Scriptures commend and in many places command this practice.

The chief obstacles to the adoption of the practice by all the people of the League and church lie in the dislike of binding oneself down to rules and general carelessness in regard to methods and means of grace.

A still more serious difficulty lies in the taste for luxuries and dislike of sharp self denial. Many young people and workingmen with large families find the expenses of living and the small wages received make it very hard work to lay up any surplus. To give away cash when there are so many things they want themselves is asking too much. So the collection box passes unnoticed. These are the people who will always feel uncomfortable when subscriptions are asked for. Some will resent it as "continual begging."

But the widow who gave the two mites belonged to the class of the poor workers. She found her soul hunger for God's service more imperative than the need for food. Her tribe has never become extinct. There are multitudes of the poor, some very poor, whose hands are always open to the needy and who will give to others even if their giving means the halving of their last loaf. Covetousness is no more a matter of quantity than is generosity. Stinginess is not a matter of dollars and cents, but of inner spirit. We need to cultivate generous feeling toward others and to let our sympathy get into our purses.

A Modern Missionary.

Distance is needed to see many objects in due proportion and proper setting. So of men. Too near to them, we often miss some essential features and miscalculate their worth as too great or too little. After a century has solidified and settled the work he did John Wesley looms up in history, grander in proportion and finer in mold than ever before. The Spectator of London, one of the most ably conducted and influential publications of the world, recently had a long article on Wesley and his work, in which higher estimate is placed upon his character and influence than has been usual in the highest literary circles of Britain. Shakespeare and Wesley are named as the greatest of Englishmen. As the labors of the latter were religious mainly and the former is known only in his literary work, the Methodist of Epworth and Oxford must ever rank superior to even the bard of Stratford-on-Avon.

WESLEY CENTENARY STATUE.

It is not too much to say that but for the Wesleys and their associates in the last century there is little doubt that England must have suffered from a revolution more bloody and brutal than that which deluged France with blood in the mad struggle of the masses with the privileged classes. The Methodist revival worked an almost complete reformation of manners and morals and led to a political revolution but little less radical and complete than that across the channel, only it was accomplished by parliamentary methods and without bloodshed and violence.

The centennial statue of John Wesley stands in London in front of his chapel in City road.

"The Leakage and How to Stop It."

Such is the title of a small pamphlet by Rev. Thomas F. Rawlins published by the Wesleyan Book Room, London. It is a prize essay and deals with a problem similar to the one which has been agitating the Methodist Episcopal church for some months past. All denominations have awakened to the fact that additions to their membership have decreased rapidly and alarmingly. Search has been made diligently for the cause. Many defects have been pointed out, and the fault has been variously ascribed and many remedies suggested.

The growth of Young People's societies has been rapid and their work prominent at the time of this difficulty in the church. This writer gives the causes of decline as—

1. Premature reckoning of persons as full members.
2. Absence of public recognition of new members.
3. Dissatisfaction with class meeting.
4. Neglect of leaders to visit absentee members.
5. Lack of assurance of acceptance with God.
6. Removals without letters.

In his remedies he suggests no new methods, but a working of the present machinery, a return to earnest working of Methodistic rules. He declares from happy experience that it is entirely adequate. The tract would do our Leaguers good.

All rights and privileges under this ordinance conferred upon said company shall cease and expire on the first day of January, A. D. 1999, and thereupon, on demand, said company will forthwith remove all of its said tracks from the streets, lanes and alleys of said city. A detailed plan of construction shall be filed with the City Clerk by said company and be approved by said Common Council before any work is done under the permission herein granted.

Section 2. That said Company shall construct, maintain and operate a single track railway for said extension, to be laid in the center of said streets or highways, except in Park avenue, where the center line of the track shall be eleven and one-half feet east of the center line of Park avenue, and in Arlington avenue, from a point one hundred twenty-five feet southeast of the center of West Fourth street to a point fifty feet northwest of the center of West Fifth street, where the center line of the track shall be two and one-half feet northeast of the center line of Arlington avenue, said portion of the track to be connected with the present track in West Fourth street and with the proposed track in Arlington avenue by reverse curves, and as shown on map, and shall construct the track, switches, turnouts and poles in the manner and at the points and places indicated for the same on said map; the poles shall be constructed and set and the wires strung thereon in the same manner as the poles are constructed and set in the ground and wires strung on poles on the line of street railway now operated in the City of Plainfield by the said Plainfield Street Railway Company.

Sec. 3. That the rights and privileges intended to be given by this ordinance to said Company are subject to all limitations, provisions, terms and conditions set forth and contained in sections 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 13, 14, 17 and 18 of the ordinance of the city entitled, "An Ordinance locating the tracks of the Plainfield Street Railway Company and regulating the construction and operation of the same, and granting permission for said company to use electricity as the propelling power of its cars, and prescribing the terms and conditions upon which the said location of the tracks and permission are granted," approved December 29, 1898, to the same extent and with the same effect as if said sections were re-enacted in full as part of this ordinance, excepting that in section 10 of the latter ordinance the period of fifty years referred to, shall as to the present ordinance begin on January 1, 1900, instead of on January 1, 1899.

Sec. 4. The said company shall build or construct the extension hereby authorized, with turnouts and switches, in the manner aforesaid, and put the same into complete operation for the transportation of passengers on or before July 1, 1900, and upon failure so to do or upon failure or neglect to operate the same as aforesaid, all the rights, powers and privileges, and every one of them, of the said company, their successors and assigns, under and by virtue of this supplemental ordinance, shall thereupon cease and determine, and this ordinance shall be null and void so far as the grant of any such rights, power and privilege to said company is concerned, and in either of such cases the Common Council expressly reserve the right to cause the said railroad, or any part or parts thereof, so constructed, to be removed from said street or streets or any of them, and to sell and dispose of the material thereof by public auction, and, after paying all the expenses of such removal and sale, and of repairing the said street or streets, and of restoring the same, as nearly as possible, to its or their original condition, to pay the balance of the proceeds of such sale to the said company, or its successors or assigns, provided, that no notice of such sale shall be required to be given, other than an advertisement, signed by the City Clerk, and published in any one or more newspapers printed and published in said city.

The time during which the said company shall be delayed in the prosecution of its work, or in the operation of its road, or in any section thereof, by injunction or other legal proceedings in the courts of New Jersey, or the Federal courts, shall not be included within the period within which the said extension is to be constructed and put into complete operation.

Sec. 5. That the said company upon the final adoption of this ordinance, and before exercising any of the rights and privileges granted hereby, shall, as a condition precedent, execute on its part, and file with the City Clerk of the City of Plainfield, a bond to the city in the sum of twenty thousand dollars, to be approved as to form by the Common Council and Corporation Counsel of said city, conditioned for the full and faithful keeping, observance and performance of the terms and conditions of this ordinance contained. And in case the condition or terms upon which said company is granted permission to locate its tracks and maintain and operate its road are violated, the city reserves the right to revoke the permission herein granted, to remove the tracks of the said company and all the constructions made in the streets of the city by said company, its successors or assigns.

Sec. 6. That the cars of said company shall be run on a headway of not more than thirty minutes in each direction over the extension herein authorized, from the time in the morning when the cars begin running on the other lines of said company in the City of Plainfield until eleven o'clock p. m.

When the gross earnings upon the extension herein authorized shall amount to fifteen dollars per car per day, the cars shall be run upon the same schedule as that in operation upon the other lines in said city.

Sec. 7. The said company shall within thirty days next after the passage of this ordinance, file with the City Clerk its acceptance of said ordinance, including all the agreements, terms, provisions, restrictions, and regulations and every one thereof in said ordinance contained, which said acceptance shall be under the corporate seal of said company, and shall be signed by the President of said company; and in default of filing of such acceptance within the time limited aforesaid it shall be understood and held that said company declines to accept the same, and thereupon all rights, powers and privileges to them granted thereby shall forever cease and be at at end in the same manner and with the same effect as if this ordinance had never been passed.

Sec. 8. That the said company shall not run its cars at a greater speed than four miles per hour, during the hours between 8 o'clock a. m. and 5 o'clock p. m., on days in which school is in session on Arlington avenue between West Fourth and West Fifth streets.

PHOONGYEE BYAN

IN THE COUNTRY OF BURMAH THIS CORRESPONDS TO AN IRISH WAKE.

They Spend the Time Howling, and Indulging in Obscene Jests, Bestowing at Intervals Expressions of Sorrow on the Dear Departed.

A "phoongyee byan" corresponds to an Irish wake. The gilded coffin containing the body of the deceased phoongyee (priest) in layers of pulverized charcoal is placed with a great deal of pomp and much circumstance on a platform twenty-five feet above the ground in the centre of a large rectangle in some open space near the village. In Sinbyugyun the bed of the brook, west of the village, serves this purpose excellently. Later on the people drink the water of the brook. This platform is occupied as long as the show lasts by young men in different states of intoxication and with faces fantastically parti-colored. They spend their time howling, dancing, beating drums, clashing cymbals and indulging in obscene jests, bestowing at intervals most extravagant expressions of sorrow on the dear and sacred departed, all with no more apparent object than to raise a laugh a mile around.

At one corner of the rectangle is a huge pyre of bamboo, shaped like nothing in particular and pasted over with the guadiest of gaudy wall papers. On this the corpse is eventually cremated, the ashed being collected in an urn for deposit in the kyoung to which the phoongyee belonged, or, if his rank was sufficiently high, as the foundation for an umbrella-topped pagoda. Ranged on the four sides of the rectangle are sheds occupied by phoongyees from the neighboring villages. The pupils of each of these phoongyees bring a "pyathat," a towering structure of the ever-useful bamboo, with a sort of shelf on the top to hold a coffin, presumably to do honor to the deceased. As almost every village here has its kyoung the higher the degree of the deceased priest the larger the number of "pyathats."

The taboots are of different shapes, some like elephants, others like Chinamen, says the Times of Burmah. One enterprising village furnished a Burmanized version of an English lady, not forgetting the sunshade. Another village's exhibit—for that is what they resolve themselves into—was a chin, all made with a little shelf to hold the coffin. The myook, in some cases a sadow, high priest, I suppose, occupies a shed on the side of the rectangle opposite the pyre. At a given signal, the beat of a deep-toned gong, the taboots are brought one by one from their places to the shed of the phoongyee byan president, having taken on its way the coffin from the platform (the coffin being more or less securely fastened to the "pyathats"

New Jersey Junior O. U. A. M. in Full Revolt.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, Oct. 28.—The New Jersey State Council of the Junior Order United American Mechanics closed its session here Wednesday night. The council with only five negative votes passed a resolution refusing to pay the National per capita tax or to recognize the National body until there is a repeal of the regulation under which the States with large memberships have had their representation in the National Council reduced to the same as the States with comparatively no members.

These State officers were installed Wednesday night:

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. AUCTION REALIZES $11,443.

Sale of Property of Late Judge McCormick Brings but One-Third of Its Value.

The estate of the late Judge McCormick, of the Union County Court, who committed suicide in September, 1898, was sold at public auction yesterday afternoon in the Union County Courthouse, Elizabeth. The sale realized only $11,443, which was less than one-third of its estimated value. The auctioneer, President Ryan, of the Elizabeth City Council, was a personal friend of the Judge.

Much laughter was caused by the offering for sale of two shares of stock in the Democratic League of Trenton that originally cost $20 a share. Mr. Schleimer, a Democrat, of New Brunswick, finally offered 30 cents a share, but Alexander Kerr, an Elizabeth Republican, outbid him and purchased the stock for $1. The McCormick family homestead, which cost $17,000, and on which there are incumbrances of $7,500, was knocked down for $1,400 to Captain Bernard McLain, who is employed in the transportation business in New York Harbor. Judge McCormick's widow will get her right of one-third from the proceeds of the sales.

GIFTS FOR THE MAYOR.

As Foreman of Grand Jury He Received Presents From Jurors.

After the Union County Grand Jurors concluded their labors at Elizabeth yesterday, the members arranged to give the foreman a good time. This genial personage is Mayor George W. Rockfellow, and a burlesque bill of indictment was found and presented against him. Then followed two presentations. One was an elegant diamond stick pin, and the other was a wooden gun, fully equipped with bayonet, etc. The presentation speeches were made and a jolly good time was had by all.

Arcanumites Entertained.

UNITY WAS NOT THERE.

The result showed Foote and Smith elected on the first ballot as follows: Smith, 119; Foote, 103; Meeker, 91; Newcorn, 84; Miller, 83; Kyte, 33; Squier, 26; Littell, 7; Trimbull, 6.

According to the record kept at the press table, Meeker had 97 instead of 91, giving him the required 93 votes while Trimbull only had one instead of six. The secretaries decided otherwise and another ballot was taken which resulted in the nomination of Ellis R. Meeker, of Elizabeth, by a vote of 97, Miller 83; Squier 3; Trimbull, 1.

It was then nearly 6 o'clock and the remainder of the business was rushed through. Dr. J. W. Gray, of Summit, was nominated for coroner by a unanimous vote. The chairman of the county executive committee and four others chosen by himself were empowered to fill all vacancies in the ticket. A committee composed of C. N. Codding, Roger F. Murray and John D. Barr was appointed to escort the candidates to the stage.

Many of the out of town delegates left and departed for the station while the others remained to hear the brief speeches that were made by the different candidates. The contention then adjourned.

IMPERIALISM AN ISSUE IN DEBATE.

While the judges, General Negley and Col. Mason W. Tyler, were considering the debate, President Smith made a few remarks regarding the Reform Club and the work it was doing in the cause of temperance. He then suggested that as the audience had been well entertained that those present might be willing to chip in if the baskets were passed among them and a collection taken, which was done.

Then M'lle Marisona sang by request "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight." After a vote of thanks had been extended to the speakers and the singer, Col. Tyler briefly announced that the judges had decided that the gentleman representating the affirmative was entitled to the credit of presenting the best argument, although Mr. Swackhamer had advanced many sound and logical statements in support of his convictions.

THANKS HIS FRIENDS.

William Newcorn Feels Gratified at the Support They Gave Him.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Will you kindly allow me, through the medium of your paper, to publicly thank the delegates of the First and Fourth wards of our city, and those other delegates from our county, who, voluntarily and spontaneously, without any deals, dickers, or arbitrary instructions, supported my candidacy before the convention yesterday. I was never a candidate in the sense of fighting for the nomination, and hence feel gratified at the result shown.

I regret that I did not possess the essentials necessary to secure the support of the rest of the delegates from the city; one of which is the faculty of doing nothing, and gobbling up the spoils. As this is entirely foreign to my nature, I will have to content myself by surviving it, and will be found at the old stand, smiling and serene as ever. William Newcorn.

Quiet G. O. P. Conference.

There was a quiet meeting last evening in the borough of local G. O. P. men to outline a policy for the campaign. It was decided that hard work would have to be done to elect the ticket, but no one present had any doubts as to the success of the ticket. Of course, the meeting was on the quiet, and only those invited know where it was held.

BETTER VENTILATION NEEDED.

Officers and Teachers of First Baptist Sunday-school Consider Improvements.

A special meeting of the officers and teachers of the First Baptist Sunday-school was held last evening for the purpose of forming plans for the winter work and considering other interests of the school. It was the opinion of those present that some effort should be made to secure better ventilation in the school room, and for this purpose a committee, consisting of L. H. Biglow, Jr., Harold Serrell and Mrs. Powlison, was appointed. Frank Jones, Mrs. B. J. Shreves and George F. Brown were appointed a committtee to look after teachers and supplies. The secretary, W. O. Chapman, was instructed to arrange for the date of the excursion next summer.

Many Enjoyed Themselves.

Miss Molloy, of Glenside Park, entertained about eighty of her friends last evening from this city, Scotch Plains and Summit. Dancing was the feature and at midnight a supper was served. Everyone had a good time, and it was early in the morning when the guests arrived home.

Skipped But Finally Caught.

John Jeroloman, of Fourth street, was arrested yesterday in the borough by Chief Campbell for abusing his horse. The man was released on his own recognizance, but took advantage of this and skipped. Later in the day Chief Campbell came to this city and had a warrant endorsed by Justice Nash, after which he went to Jeroloman's home where he found the man he was looking for. He was promptly arrested, and arraigned before Recorder Long, who fined him $3.65.

DEMOCRATS NOMINATE

County Convention Held In Elizabeth Yesterday.

NO LACK OF HARMONY.

PLAINFIELDER ON THE TICKET FOR SENATOR.

More Offices to Fill Than There Were Candidates For Them—Oliver and Glaser Named For County Clerk and Sheriff—The Assembly Ticket.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 28—The Democratic county convention held in Turn Hall in this city yesterday afternoon was one of the largest and most harmonious that has assembled in recent years. Differing from the Republican convention of the day before, there were no factions at odds with each other and there was a plentitude of offices to be nominated for and a remarkable scarcity of men who were available and would accept the honors to be distributed. Outside of the County Clerkship and the Shrievalty nominations all the others went begging for candidates. But notwithstanding this fact, the party leaders insist that the ticket is a strong and formidable one, and that with earnest work by the Democrats to make the most of the disaffection in the Republican party, several, if not all, of the candidates should be elected at the election, ten days away.

The nominations made at the convention were as follows:

State Senator, John Henry Hillman, of Plainfield; County Clerk, William Murray Oliver, of Elizabeth; Sheriff, Jacob Glaser, of Union; Assemblymen, John J. Gardner, of Elizabeth; Wm. H. Swain, of Summit, and Geo. J. Reiss, of Roselle; Coroner, Dr. Walter E. Cladek, of Rahway.

Previous to the convention every one seemed to be at sea as to who the nominees would be outside of the County Clerkship and the Shrievalty—it being generally accepted that Oliver and Glaser would be the team harnessed to those nominations. The friends of Bernard J. Higgins, a young Elizabeth Democrat, however, were energetic in hustling for support for him as a candidate for County Clerk. But as Mr. Higgins is only a few years out of his teens and is unknown except in certain wards in Elizabeth, his candidacy was not taken seriously by the majority of delegates. Up to the time that the convention was called there was not an avowed candidate for the Senate or the Assembly in the field, and the leaders seemed to be at a lost as to who could be named.

The Plainfield delegates held a caucus just previous to the convention being called to order. John H. Hillman was chosen chairman of the delegation. It was decided to support Oliver and Glaser at the outset. Then the subject of securing the nomination of a Plainfielder for either Senator or Assembly was brought up. It was understood that Plainfield could have the Senator and one of the Assemblymen, but after many names had been considered and several had been consulted and urged to allow the use of their names for the Assembly it was found impossible to find a willing and available candidate who could be advocated as a favorite of the Plainfield delegates.

The convention was called to order at 2:30 o'clock by John Crowell, of Rahway, chairman of the county committee. Former Mayor Peter Bonnett, of Elizabeth, was made chairman. Among the vice-president named was James E. Martine, of Plainfield. In the appointment of committees W. W. St. John was named to serve on the committee on resolutions and rules.

The constitution formulated by a special committee of the State committee was presented by Peter Egenolf. It was adopted with a slight amendment. The substance of the proposed constitution has already been printed in The Press. It increases the membership of the county committee from one to two representatives from each ward and township, and provides for a thorough reorganization of the party.

The convention then took a recess of a half hour to allow the committees to perform their duties. When the convention reconvened the platform was presented by City Attorney Connoly, chairman of the committee. It avoided touching on National matters with the exception of renewing the pledges of the party to the principles enunciated by Jefferson in the Declaration of Independence. It demanded that taxation between the people and corporations should be more equalized, urged a thorough investigation into all State institutions, condemned the Republican state administration and pledged to the people of Union county an honest and careful administration of their affairs.

Peter Egenolf then offered a resolution in reference to the death of Dr. Thomas Jefferson Jackson, recording the appreciation of the delegates of his memory as a citizen and true Democrat, and expressing intense sorrow because of his demise.

The resolution was adopted by a rising vote.

James E. Martine, of Plainfield, then stepped forward and paid an eloquent tribute to the memory of Dr. Jackson. He also submitted an additional resolution, which he had penned, and which was adopted by Plainfield delegates. It described Jackson as a Democract and noble character, worthy of emulation.

These sentiments were also approved by a standing vote.

Mr. Martine then offered a resolution appealing to the Legislature of New Jersey to take some action for preservation of the Palisades of the Hudson. These resolutions were adopted.

The convention then proceeded to the nomination of a Senator. A Rahway delegate jumped up and nominated James E. Martine, of Plainfield. The "Farmer Orator," who occupied a seat in the rear of the chairman on the platform jumped up and waved his hands in pantomime for the delegate to curb his exuberant spirits in favor of him for the Senatorial nomination. The nomination was not regular anyway, and the calling of the wards and townships was commenced. Not a delegate got up to name a Senatorial candidate. The Rahway man was on his feet in a second and again proclaimed the name of the "Farmer Orator." The name was greeted with a round of applause and cries of "Martine" in various parts of the hall. Mr. Martine stepped forward and in a neat and passionate little speech said that he appreciated the honor of having his name mentioned, but he could not and would not accept the nomination. He said that he was wiling to do anything he could to aid the Democracy, but he thought he knew his weakness better than many of the delegates and he could not be a candidate. He said that it was not the fear of defeat that made him timid, because he had graduated in political defeat, but it was in the interests of the Democracy that he declined.

The nomination of a Senator was then laid on the table and the County Clerkship taken up. Bernards J. Higgins, William M. Oliver and Jacob Sheppard, all of Elizabeth, were named for the nomination. The majority of the delegates were for Oliver, and Higgins, who received thirty-one votes, and Sheppard withdrew. Mr. Oliver was then made the unanimous choice of the convention.

Jacob Glaser, of Elizabeth, was the unanimous choice of the delegates for Sheriff, there being no other candidates.

The nominations for Assembly were then called for.

Jeremiah D. Leary, of the First ward, Elizabeth, nominated John J. Gardner, and City Attorney Connolly, of the Third ward, seconded the nomination in a eulogistic speech.

Major Collins nominated Freeholder Swain, of Summit, and seconded the nomination of Mr. Gardner.

The Rahway delegates, who had been so enthusiastic for Mr. Martine, nominated Bernard J. Higgins for the Assembly.

There was an apparent scarcity of candidates, and it was not until Union township was reached that another name was mentioned. The nomination was George J. Reiss.

The secretary cast the ballot for John J. Gardner, of Elizabeth, Wm. H. Swain, of Summit, and George J. Reiss, of Union.

Dr. W. E. Cladek, of Rahway, was nominated for coroner.

A recess was then taken to hunt up a candidate for Senator. Plainfield was appealed to for a candidate, but as the local delegates had canvassed the situation thoroughly before going into the convention they were unable to offer an available man. In the caucus of the delegates, however, the name of Mr. Hillman had been suggested for an Assembly nomination, but he had absolutely declined to consider the idea. He was corraled by several Elizabeth politicians with persuasive tongues during the recess and after some talk finally consented to accept the nomination in order to complete the ticket, although his personal feelings were contrary to

DEATH OF DR JACKSON

PASSED AWAY UNEXPECTEDLY AT HIS SPRINGFIELD HOME.

Had Been Seriously Ill, but was Thought to Have Recovered—A Prominent Democrat and a Member of the Masons.

Dr. Thomas Jefferson Jackson, of Morris avenue, Springfield, died at his home Thursday night after an illness of three days. Death was due to neuralgia of the heart, superinduced by pneumonia. He was 50 years old.

Last winter Dr. Jackson had a severe attack of pneumonia, and since then he has been susceptible to colds. Monday he complained of feeling ill, but the next morning he started out to attend some patients. He was compelled to return before he made his rounds, and Dr. Cooper, of Westfield, was summoned. Thursday morning a change for the worse took place, and the patient sank rapidly until 6:30 o'clock the same evening, when he died.

Dr. Jackson was born in Baltimore county, Md. Ten years ago he went to Springfield. He was well known throughout Union county in political and medical circles. He was a Democrat and served a term as a member of the Springfield Board of Education.

Dr. Jackson was a Free Mason, and was a Knight Templar in the order. He belonged to the Baltimore Commandery, of Baltimore, and was associated with Trinity Commandery of Plainfield. He was a member of the Union County Medical Society, the Colombo Council, No. 1492, Royal Arcanum, of Springfield, and the Fraternal Union of Summit. He is survived by his widow, two sons and one daughter, the latter being Mrs. O. H. Leber, of Springfield. No funeral arrangements have as yet been made.

Dr. Jackson was recently elected a delegate to the Democratic convention at Elizabeth yesterday. The news of his death cast something of a gloom over the delegates, some of whom were in favor of giving him a place on the Assembly ticket.

A COMPLETE SURPRISE.

Second Marriage Anniversery of the Marriage of Mr. and Mrs. VanMiddlesworth.

A complete and enjoyable surprise was tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Charles VanMiddlesworth, of Somerset street, last evening, the occasion being the second anniversary of their marriage. They were wholly unaware of an intended visit from their friends. There were about thirty relatives and friends present and everyone had a fine time. During the evening several recitations were given by some children. A feature was singing by Miss Mears, a well-known soloist. About midnight supper was served, after which the guests departed leaving their best best wishes for continued happiness and success.

THROWN FROM A BICYCLE.

Miss Cheer Was Passing Between Two Carriages When She Ran Into One.

Miss Cheer, of Canada, who is a guest at the home of John H. Delaney, of Second place, met with an accident early last evening while wheeling on Park avenue near Eighth street. She was passing between two carriages and turned her front wheel into the wheels of one of the passing carriages. She was thrown from her bicycle. The coachman held the horse and prevented more serious results. She was taken to the home of Mr. Delaney and Dr. Hedges was summoned. She sustained no serious injury aside from the shock.

NO PATERNAL AFFECTION.

Son Had Father Arraigned in the City Police Court.

James Tracy an elderly cobbler, who lives in the little row on Watchung avenue, near the Green brook bridge, has not the paternal affection for his son, Barney, that might be expected. This morning Barney had his father in city court for using profane and indecent language. Father and son laid the blame on each other. The Judge finally suspended sentence, with the suggestion that Tracy go easy on the beer. He promised.

TOWNSEND MASON IS MAJOR COMMANDING

Chosen as Highest Officer of High School Battalion

OTHERS TO BE ELECTED.

PLANS FOR MILITARY ORGANIZATION AT PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL.

There Will Be Ninety Boys to Be Divided in Three Companies—Drill Every Friday—How Officers Will Be Chosen—Arms Furnished By the State—Special Attention to "Setting Up" Drill.

Townsend Mason was chosen yesterday afternoon by the boys of the Plainfield High School to be major of the school battalion that is to be organized at once. Plainfield will then be the first city in New Jersey to have a battalion of three companies connected with its High School. The battalion is to be organized on the same plan as those which have been in existence for a number of years in the Massachusetts schools.

There are now ninety boys in the High School and High School preparatory grades which occupy the Stillman building. They will be organized in three companies of thirty each. Once a week, probably Fridays, from 12 to 1 o'clock, the companies will march to one of the local halls and spend an hour in military evolutions under the direction of Albert B. Meredith, science instructor of the High School. Mr. Meredith is perfectly competent to act as military instructor, having been prominently connected with the school cadet regiments in Massachusetts, and having served at the New York Military Academy at Sing Sing. He will take the rank of major, given him by the organizations of Lowell, Mass.

At the start, it is necessary to select all the officers, commissioned and non-commissioned, from the ranks, but hereafter it is intended that each year shall see the regular promotions from the lower ranks to the higher. Mason has already been elected major. In a few days three captains and three lieutenants will be chosen. It is intended that these commissioned officers shall be chosen from the two upper classes of the High School.

Mason is a Junior and the other six officers will be taken from the Senior and Junior classes. Owing to the fact that there are but three boys in the Senior class this year, most of the officers will naturally have to be chosen from among the Juniors.

The captain of each company will have the appointment of four sergeants and two corporals from among members of the two lower classes of the High School. These appointments will, of course, be subject to the approval of the faculty. After the battalion is fairly under way, it is intended that promotions shall be made according to efficiency in military tactics, length of service and high standing in studies. The latter will be a minor consideration but the highest honors in the battalion will naturally not fall to those who are noticeably behind in their regular school work.

The major will have the appointment of his own staff, adjutant and quartermaster, who will rank as first lieutenants. He will also appoint his own non-commissioned staff of quartermaster-sergeant and a sergeant-major.

The officers will hold their position until they leave school, are promoted or are reduced to the ranks for some specific offence. After the battalion is a regular feature of the school the major will probably be elected from the Senior class and thus will be able to hold office for only one year.

The major is to command the battalion, while Mr. Meredith will act as instructor. Special attention will be paid to the "setting up" drill, a very important part of proper military training.

Drill will be compulsory among the boys of the High School but the purchase of a uniform will be left to their own choice. It is probable that the boys will all get uniforms. They can be had very cheaply and many of the boys have, in the past, found them preferable for regular wear. Many will purchase the uniform caps and coats and then wear white duck trousers for the exhibition and competitive drill in the spring.

This exhibition and competitive drill will be made a specially important feature. The companies will drill for a prize or banner and then there will be an individual competive drill in the manual of arms and the school of the soldier. It will be held shortly before the commencement season.

THE WORK OF RUFFIANS

CREATED DISORDER IN WAITING ROOM AT TROLLEY TERMINUS.

Believed to Be a Gang of Tramps—One Woman Who Went There Last Night Was Very Badly Frightened.

A gang of ruffians last night took possession of the new waiting room at the terminus of the trolley line at Dunellen. This morning the place presented anything but an inviting appearance. It was disgustingly filthy, giving evidence that it had been occupied by a disorderly set. Two or three whiskey bottles were lying about, one containing some of the liquor. In front of the waiting room were two hats were found—a derby and an alpine. It is believed that the place was occupied by some of the tramps seen about the borough yesterday afternoon.

One woman who had occasion to take a car at that point at about 10 o'clock was so badly frightened by the carousing of the gang that she was afraid to go near the place. It is said that threats have been heard that an attempt would be made to burn down the building.

The trolley lines ought to see that the place is kept free of these disorderly characters. Messrs. Woodhull & Martin, of this city, having displayed sufficient enterprise to provide the public with a suitable place that will at least protect passengers from the elements, should be given some assistance from the trolley companies in keeping the place respectable. A watchman might be employed to look after the place.

HOME FROM PHILLIPINES

BILLY EGBERT WOULDN'T STAY IN THE ARMY ANY LONGER.

Disgusted With the Tactics of General Otis, Whom He Calls an "Old Woman"—Egbert Now in California.

A Plainfielder has just received a letter from William H. Egbert, formerly of Plainfield, and lately one of Uncle Sam's men fighting in the Phillipines. Mr. Egbert is now in California, having left the army and given up fighting. He was in the Phillipines almost a year, and expresses the greatest pleasure in being once more, as he says, "In God's country." He was sick for three weeks on the return journey, but is now feeling better. He will soon return to Spokane, Wash., for the winter.

He says: "I could not see my way clear to remain there in the present unsettled state of affairs unless I had re-enlisted in the regular army, but that I would not do, though I could have had a commission with the 11th U. S. Vol. Cavalry. Things will never be right there until they fire that Old Woman—Otis. If they would turn Lawton and Wheeler loose they would soon settle things. The volunteers had it done once, but he (Otis) would never let us follow up an advantage."

Luncheon in Honor of a Guest.

A luncheon was given by Mrs. Geo. Wharton Edwards, of Franklin place, yesterday in honor of Miss Sherlock, of Cincinnati, O. A number of Plainfield's charming young women were present. The table was prettily decorated with roses, carnations, and violets. The favors were reproductions of famous old miniatures.

Death of Mrs. Motley.

The death of Mrs. Ellen Motley, aged 64 years, occurred last night after a long illness. The funeral services will be held Monday morning from the residence of her son, John Motley, 511 Plainfield avenue, at 8:30 o'clock and from St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock. Interment in St. Mary's cemetery.

Cylinder Head Blew Out.

The passenger train due in this city at 8:37 o'clock in the morning, going east, met with an accident this morning at Bound Brook, when the cylinder head of the engine blew out. A delay of nearly half an hour resulted, and in the meantime there were many disgruntled commuters at the station.

Still Confined at the Hospital.

Patrick Hanrihan, who lost his arm a short time ago at the Crescent Embossing Works, is still confined to the hospital. An attempt will be made in the near future to graft flesh on that part of the arm that remains. It is believed that the operation can be done successfully

The North Plainfield Cemetery Company has had men at work during the week clearing up the grounds and burning the leaves and rubbish, for which the lot owners are very grateful.

TWELVE OUT OF A JOB

DISCHARGED MEN SAY THAT POLITICS IS THE CAUSE.

A Dozen Colored Workmen Under "Andy" McCardell Get Their "Walking Papers" Today in the Pond Works.

Twelve of the fourteen colored men employed as helpers in the foundry department of the Pond Machine Tool Company's shops in this city were discharged today. William Pryor and a man of the name of Alexander were the only two of the colored force in that department who did not receive their "walking papers."

The colored men claim that politics is back of their losing their jobs. Andrew McCardell, foreman of the foundry department, who has the authority to employ and discharge men in his department, is the Republican boss of the Fourth ward. McCardell, it is said, was much agitated over the attempt to overthrow the political machine, in which he is one of the big cogs, in the recent Republican primaries, and the fact that a good many colored voters affiliated with the anti-machine faction is claimed by the interested colored men to be responsible for the loss of their jobs today.

A Press reporter was unable to see McCardell or any other employe in charge at Ponds this afternoon, and their explanation of the wholesale lay off of the colored laborers cannot be secured. It is to be presumed, however, that they will have a different story to tell than the discharged men are circulating. They will doubtless insist that the services of the colored men were dispensed with for business reasons.

The following are the men discharged:—William Connett, William Fisher, Samuel R. Webley, Andrew Jones, William Burley, Matthew Wallace, D. W. Brown, Reuben Jones, Zeb Freeman, Stephen Donald, Zeb Dunham and David Pattis.

The notice of discharge was served last night by night foreman Leonard Buun.

NO CITY LAW FOR THEM.

Men Arrested for Crap Shooting Discharged in Police Court.

Patrolman McCue wandered down Cutters' Alley from West Front street yesterday noon and found two colored men and a white man busy on a back porch "shooting crap."

This morning they appeared before City Judge Runyon, giving their names as Louis Peterson, Thomas Thompson and Gustave Sutterlin. The Judge explained that there was nothing in the city ordinances to hold them for gambling and so dismissed the complaint. He warned them, however, that the state law was very strong on the subject and that a Justice of the Peace would have jurisdiction over their cases.

A Birthday Party.

A birthday party was given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Luckey, of West Second street, in honor of their son, Sydney Luckey, aged one year. It was in every particular an enjoyable affair. During the festivities there was music, games and supper was served. Those present were Minnie Dobbs, Ethel Day, Clara Geier, Ethel Kennedy, Pansy Luckey, Madeline Geier, Alice Day, Gertrude Geier, Herbert Dobbs, William Luckey, Richard Day, Walter Kennedy, Geo. Dobbs.

Fog Delayed Trains.

Several of the passenger trains on the Central Railroad were delayed a trifle this morning owing to the heavy fog. A freight train became stalled near Dunellen early, and the train due in this city at 6:59, was half an hour late in consequence. The passenger train had to assist the freight and push it out of the way.

A New Physician.

J. Herbert Keenan, M. D., of Elizabeth, a bright young physician, has established an office in this city corner of East Seventh street and Crescent avenue, in the Demarest house. He is a specialist in the treatment of chronic diseases, and uses extensively and with good success Robert's Lymph.

Failed to Get the Prize.

The members of Crypress Commandery, K. T., returned yesterday from Camden, where they took part Thursday evening in a prize drill at a reception given for them. They failed to capture the prize, but all agree that they had a good time.

General Superintendent Here.

General Superintendent J. H. Olhausen, of the Jersey Central, stopped in this city yesterday for a short time. He had nothing to say as to when the proposed new station is to be erected on the opposite side of the track.

Miss Lydia Ackerman, of West Seventh street, and Miss Munger, of Washington avenue, returned Thursday after spending the summer months in Europe.

A LOCAL DEMOCRAT HEADS THE TICKET.

John H. Hillman a Party Worker Of Much Experience.

DID NOT EXPECT THE HONOR

WILL ENTHUSE THE YOUNG DEMOCRATS OF THIS CITY.

He is No Novice In Politics, Having Been a Prominent Worker in Brooklyn's Famous Tenth Ward—President of The Catholic Club and a Cultured, Bright and Genial Gentleman.

The Democratic ticket nominated in the county convention at Elizabeth yesterday possesses particular interest to the members of the party in this city owing to the fact that for the first time since James E. Martine ran against Governor Voorhees for Senator six years ago a Plainfielder is on the county ticket. It will probably tend to inspire greater efforts on the part of the local Democracy for the success of the standard bearers in this campaign, and especially since aggressive steps have been taken for a through reorganization of the party in the city.

As the candidate for Senator, John Henry Hillman was prevailed upon to accept the honor without forethought as to such a course. It is a great personal sacrifice for Mr. Hillman to enter the canvass under any circumstances, as his business relations are responsible and pressing at all times, and to a large extent he will have to place the fate of his candidacy in the hands of his friends. But those who prevailed upon him to enter the race against Senator Cross have promised to do all that they can to secure his election, and an aggressive, active canvass will be prosecuted to take advantage of every bit of strength that is at the command of the Democrats in not only Plainfield, but throughout Union county.

But Mr. Hillman is no novice in the game of politics. As a matter of fact there is probably not a man in Union county who has had more practical experience in politics than has the Democratic candidate for Senator. For many years Mr. Hillman was a resident of Brooklyn, and a voter in what was known as the "Fighting Tenth Ward." There he was prominently identified with Democratic politics, and was one of the leaders who participated in the big political battle in that city several years ago.

He has been a resident of Plainfield for four years, living at present on West Seventh street, below Plainfield avenue, in the Third ward. In the efforts to reorganize the party last fall Mr. Hillman's services were called upon and he consented to become the president of the Democratic Association, and again in the present reorganization plans Mr. Hillman's advice and work has been of great benefit to the party. He has been president of the Catholic Club for two years. His business associations are with the great drygoods house of Claflin & Company of New York where he has charge of of several hundred men.

Personally, Mr. Hillman is a bright, cultured gentleman who adds strength to the ticket which he heads. He is about forty years of age.

Arrested On a Serious Charge.

Manila, Oct. 28.—Ruperto Santiago, one of the wealthiest Visayans, who had taken the oath of allegiance to the United States and who posed as a friend of Americans, has been arrested in Iloilo, while other Visayans are being watched. The prisoner is charged with organizing a revolutionary junta. Santiago owns sugar estates throughout the Island of Negros.

It is asserted that a council of ten and the manager of the junta met daily at Santiago's office for the purpose of engineering an extensive scheme of collections for an insurrection. One of Santiago's steamers was captured carrying supplies to the natives. His arrest caused rumors of an outbreak of the natives at Iloilo, and precautions have been taken to prevent trouble.

News From General Otis.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Gen. Otis has cabled the War Department that Gen. Lawton's advance column under Gen. Young proceeded north from San Isidro and is now near Cabanatuan. Gen. Otis's despatch is as follows:

"Lawton's advance under Young, North San Isidro, near Cabanatuan, San Isidro. Established permanent station, three months' [supplies] being forwarded by San Juan River route. Lawton meets little resistance. Twenty-sixth Volunteers and battalion 19th Infantry sent to Iloilo. OTIS"

Gen. Otis reports the arrival of the transports Sheridan and Tacoma, the former with the 33d Volunteers and recruits and the latter with seven companies of the 27th Volunteers.

Gen. Otis has also cabled the following:

"Insurgent Government submitted application to send five commissioners to Manila to arrange difficulties attending release of Spanish sick prisoners and discuss peace conditions. Declined. No negotiations necessary, as we would gladly receive all Spanish prisoners at our lines, welcome them from their cruel captivity and labor for their welfare. Correspondence by mail. OTIS."

They Urge Brown's Appointment.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Gov. Stone and Representative Graham of Pennsylvania called on the President and urged the appointment of J. Linwood Brown of Allegheny City to a vacancy on the interstate commerce commission, caused by the retirement of Commissioner Calhoun. Later Governor Stone called on Admiral Schley and invited him to come to Allegheny City upon the occasion of the reception and placing of a Spanish cannon captured at Santiago.

Commissioners Meet President.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Col. Denby and Prof. Worcester of the Philippine commission were again at the State Department Friday afternoon and spent almost two hours in conference with Assistant Secretary Hill. Mr. Schurman, the president of the commission, has been heard from in New York and it is expected that he will be in Washington in time for the first meeting of the body at the State Department, to take place Monday or Tuesday next.

Discussed Philippine Matters.

Washington, Oct. 28.—The Cabinet meeting Friday lasted two hours and a half, an hour longer than usual. After the adjournment the members were unusually reticent. One member said that the President had cautioned them against making any statement about the meeting. It can be stated, however, that the discussion related to the Philippines and there is reason to believe that it was in reference to military and navy plans which are to be placed in operation soon.

Was Not An Act of Charity.

New York, Oct. 28.—In an interview young Cornelius Vanderbilt said last night that he did not want the people to think that the $6,000,000 turned over to him by his brother Alfred Gwynn Vanderbilt, was in the nature of a gift. He describes the matter as not being an act of charity but an act of justice, and a plain business transaction in the settling up of his deceased father's estate in a manner satisfactory to all concerned.

FIGHTING GUY HENRY.

Death of a Brave General and Gallant Indian War Hero.

New York, Oct. 28.—Brigadier-Gen. Guy V. Henry, of the United States Army, has just died at his home, 139 Madison avenue, of pneumonia. His hard work as Military Governor of Porto Rico so sapped his strength and vitality that he could not fight the disease.

Gen. Henry was sixty years old and leaves a wife, a daughter, Mrs. Benton, and two sons, one of them, Capt. Guy V. Henry, Jr., being now in the Philippines. The other son, Seton, with the mother and daughter, was at the death-bed. Gen. Henry was ill for several weeks.

"Fighting Guy Henry," slender and straight as an arrow, with his face seamed and scarred from battles and Indian skirmishes, with his hand crippled from a mid-winter chase of hostiles, was one of the best-loved men in the United States Army. A rigid disciplinarian and severe in punishment, he did the one thing that makes an officer popular. It was thus summed up once by an old sergeant of his: "It's 'come on, boys,' he says, not 'Go in, my brave lads!'"

Gen. Henry was the son of a United States officer, and was born at Fort

(Gen. Guy V. Henry.)

Smith, Ark., March 9, 1839. He was graduated from West Point in 1861. At the close of the civil war, through which he served with distinction, he held the brevet rank of Colonel of Regulars and Brigadier-General of Volunteers. After the war he served at the fighting posts on the frontier, from the Yellowstone to the Rio Grande. Until the spirit of the Indians was finally broken there was never a year in which he was not engaged in some campaign, and nearly every one of them left him a souvenir in the form of some wound on his body.

Must Serve Out Full Time.

J., Oct. 28.—William, alias "Buck," Spear, the convict who with William Holden, escaped from the State prison here and was recently captured at Susquehanna, Pa., has been sentenced to two years at hard labor in addition to the two years which he has yet to serve on his old sentence. It is not believed that Spear will serve out his sentence, as he is a physical wreck from exposure during his flight. Holden is still at large. Both were imprisoned for ten years for burglary.

Husband Locked Up Her Clothes.

A Specific for Cancer.

"THE MISSISQUOI SPRING WATER has in some cases seemed to be of great benefit in arresting the progress of the disease. In a few instances, one of cancer of the breast and four of uterine cancer, the apparent effect has been more striking than any results I have seen from any other agent."

Fordyce Barker, M. D.

"I can fully endorse all that my friend Dr. Barker has said about the MISSISQUOI SPRING WATER. I have prescribed it with benefit in a few cases of cancer. I also consider it a great remedy in all scrofulous diseases, and in syphilitic affections. In these diseases its true value has not yet been fully recognized by the profession. It is also an admirable remedy in affections of the digestive organs, and in some diseases of the kidneys."

SURROUNDED THE BOERS.

The British Said to Have Succeeded in Capturing 240 More of Them.

THE FIGHT AT GLENCOE

What Are Believed to be Official Reports From the Front, Declare That Boers Lost Heavily.

General Cronje Makes a Demand For Reinforcements—Rhodes Sees The Battle at Kimberley—Boer Army Making an Effort to Close in On Ladysmith.

Capetown, Oct. 28.—The two Boer armies, consisting of the Transvaal troops under command of General Joubert, and the Orange Free State forces, moving down from the northwest, are closing in upon Ladysmith, where the British troops, thanks to the last reinforcements, are now 12,000 strong.

General Joubert is moving rapidly from Glencoe. His van has now reached beyond Wessel's Nek, midway between Ladysmith and the scene of the battle in which he was engaged a week ago. The Free State troops have passed Walker's Hoch station, this side of Bester's, on the Harrismith branch line. They are now within a few miles of Ladysmith. A general engagement is expected to take place. Scouts report that General Joubert is unexpectedly strong in artillery.

The Boers have looted Beith, ten miles from Dundee.

Reports Are Confirmed.

London, Oct. 28.—Cable advices just received from Cape Town confirm the report of a successful sortie from Kimberley. Five hundred British troops with two armored trains made a sudden and sharp attack and routed a detachment of Boers which was threatening the place a little more closely than usual. The Boers were driven in panic from a hill overlooking the town. The Boer commandant, Botha, was killed. The British loss was three killed and twenty-one wounded.

The Queen, in proroguing Parliament, congratulated the troops upon their bravery and expressed her profound sorrow that so many officers and men had been killed. The War Office adds eight more to the list of those killed at Elandslaagte.

Dispatches from Tuli Fort, in Rhodesia, now say that Colonel Plumer's forces killed seven Boers in his fight near the Limpopo River.

A statement has been issued in France denying the rumors of an intended Franco-Russian intervention in the war.

The first election in England since war broke out resulted in an overwhelming victory for the Government. The Liberal candidate based his campaign on attacks of the war policy and was snowed under.

Rhodes Sees The Battle.

London, Oct. 28.—Cecil Rhodes, upon whose head the Boers have placed a price of $25,000, was a spectator of the engagement at Kimberley. He watched the 500 British troopers, who, under command of Col. Scott-Turner and aided by two Maxim guns and two armored trains, made a successful sortie, dislodging the Boers from a hill where they had entrenched themselves overlooking the town.

Must Have Reinforcements.

Pretoria, via Lorenzo Marques, Oct. 28.—General Cronje, commanding the attack upon Kimberley, has sent a protest here against the weakening of his forces. He declares the seige will be indefinitely prolonged unless reinforcements are sent to his aid.

Boers Admit Losses.

Pretoria, via Delagoa Bay, Oct. 28.—The Boer Government admits the loss of 243, taken prisoners by the British in the battle of Glencoe. The captured men belonged to the Utrecht and Vryheid commandos.

It Was a Sharp Fight.

Cape Town, Oct. 28—Official reports from Kimberley, dated Oct. 24, tell of a sharp fight there in which the Boers were worsted.

Col. Scott-Tower, with 270 men, proceeded northward on the day to MacFarlane's Farm, where they unsaddled their horses. At 9 o'clock a party of Boers was seen on the right flank and was quickly scattered. Col. Scott-Turner opening fire on them and several of the enemy being seen to fall. The enemy moved to a sand heap and opened fire on the British, which was returned. Col. Scott-Turner attempted to prevent the Boers from advancing against Col. Murray, but was met with a heavy fire from a dam wall 600 feet to the left.

At 11 o'clock Col. Murray ordered 150 men from the Lancashire Regiment to proceed to the north. An armored train was already supporting Col. Scott-Turner. At mid-day Col. Murray started also with two field guns and two Maxims and seventy mounted men. One of the two British guns opened suddenly upon the Boers, who were in an unfavorable position. The Boer artillery fire was brisk. Another armored train was held in readiness. At 2 o'clock the second train was sent forward with additional ammunition. The Lancashires behaved splendidly and Col. Scott-Turner highly commended them. Commandant Botha and many Boers were killed. The British loss was three killed and twenty-one wounded. The engagement was a brilliant success for the British forces.

Train Smashes Crowded Trolley.

Surgeons Remove a Chisel From a Man's Head at Baltimore.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 28.—One of the most difficult and peculiar surgical operations ever attempted in this city has been successfully performed at St. Joseph's Hospital. Prof. Louis E. McLane Tiffany, assisted by Dr. Carey Gamble and other surgeons of the hospital, has removed from the head of Charles C. Barker a steel chisel four and one half inches long, one inch wide and one quarter of an inch thick. The operation lasted only a little over half an hour, and there are good chances of the man's recovery.

Mr. Barker is employed by the Geiver Manufacturing Company of Waynesboro, Penn., and was attending a woodworking machine which contains two steel chisels that make 1,200 revolutions a minute. He was leaning over the machine when the chisels were driven out by a tremendous centrifugal force. He was wounded over the bridge of the nose, and the wound, which was a cut an inch wide, was dressed as an ordinary wound. One of the chisels was found, but the other was not.

A few days later Mr. Barker suffered partial paralysis, and was brought to this city and taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. There Prof. Tiffany examined him and suspected the chisel was in his head. The X-rays were resorted to and showed his surmise to be correct. The sharp tool, hurled with the force of a bullet, had entered where the wound was over the nose and taken a downward course.

Big Strike On in Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 28.—No brick laying has been done in Kansas City, either in Missouri or Kansas for several days. The refusal of the masons and bricklayers employed in the erection of the big Cudahy packing houses on the Kansas side to recognize the Hod Carriers' Union, which is composed largely of negroes, but which affiliates with the building trades council, provoked all the union hod carriers to quit work, thus compelling the bricklayers to suspend operations. That action was taken to force the bricklayers' union to affiliate with the building trades council.

Texas Wife Murderer Hanged.

Dallas, Tex., Oct. 28.—G. E. Morrison, formerly a clergyman, has been hanged at Vernon, Tex., for wife murder. On the scaffold he said: "I am innocent. Circumstances over which I had no control have placed me in this position. I have taken my trouble in private to my God. I admit that I have acted indiscreetly. I have done no worse, however, than hundreds of men who stand high in the religious, social, business and official circles of your state. I have done nothing to confess. I am in the hands of my Maker. He knows I am innocent."

Mr. Long For Merchant Marine.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 28.—Secretary of the Navy Long, in a letter to a local paper, says he is heartily in favor of the upbuilding of the merchant marine, and presents three reasons for his position: First—By reason of the financial return which would follow from carrying our constantly increasing exports. Second—From the increased business it would give our shipyards; and, Third—Because it would furnish a reserve of seamen from which the navy could draw in case of war.

Have Been Left a Fortune.

Tipton, Ind., Oct. 28.—A communication from a firm at Heber, Arkansas, says: George, Aaron and Lavina Hudson, thought to be living in this county, are heirs to $180,000 of the estate of Solomon Hudson, who recently died in England. George and Lavina Hudson were residents of this county until the death of the latter, and the removal of the former a few months ago. The woman's children reside here, however. The money is said to be ready for them.

Boston Wool Market Active.

Boston, Oct. 28.—The demand for wool in the local market is almost unprecedented and the sales that are being made show an enormous aggregate. This week one sale of 1,250,000 pounds was made to the American Woollen Company and one of 800,000 pounds to another large concern. One dealer estimates that the total sales for the week are to amount to 15,000,000 pounds.

A gentleman of New York City who had found Ripans Tabules an excellent thing for dyspepsia, observed after using about fifty tabules that they were in his case a great kidney and bladder washer "About two hours after taking one said he, "I urinate so copiously that I at one time almost became alarmed Once it seemed as though something thick like mucus was passing also and a slight pain or stoppage was noticed" On consulting a physician this man learned that the fact that he passed an increased amount of urine while taking the tabules was in no way detrimental but rather beneficial and that the momentary stoppage was caused by a collection of the mucus washed out of the bladder by the unusual flow of urine and was a desirable thing to have brought about

A new style package containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at [illegible] drug stores FOR FIVE CENTS. This low-priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical [illegible] of the dearer sort (TEN TABULES) can be had by mail on sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY No 10 Spruce Street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents.

BOTH LEGS CRUSHED OFF.

An Unfortunate Brakeman Stops a Train With Torpedoes.

Monon, Ind., Oct. 28.—Kid Birch, a brakeman on a Monon freight train, was killed five miles south of here, by falling between two cars, both legs being crushed off.

His crew did not miss him till the train reached Delphi, when they notified the fast passenger train crew to watch out for him between there and Monon. After he was hurt he crawled to the track and placed some torpedoes on the track to notify the first train where he was. The in-coming train heard the report of the torpedoes and stopped and found him still alive.

He was brought into the Monon Depot, where he died in a few moments, only saying to one of his fellow railroaders that he was dying. His home was at Crawfordsville.

Serious Fight At a Mine.

Decatur, Ill., Oct. 28.—The first serious fight of the coal miners' strike which was declared seven weeks ago, has occurred here. Two union miners were shot, one probably fatally, in a clash between union and non-union men. The latter were supported by twelve policemen and six deputy sheriffs. The fight occurred at a mine entrance when four non-union miners attempted to go to work. Fred Dongowshi, a striker, was wounded probably fatally. Charles Maurits, another striker, received a bullet in the arm. Several arrests were made.

Will Not Recognize Castro.

Caracas, Venezuela, Oct. 28.—The foreign Ministers met at the American Legation and decided not to recognize the Castro Government without instructions from their respective governments. President Andrade has cabled from Barbados, where he arrived recently, to the commander at Puerto-Cabello to defend that city against Gen. Castro to the last extremity. Coro and Maracaibo have surrendered to Gen. Castro. Order now reigns here.

Received Salvador's Minister.

City of Mexico, Oct. 28.—The new minister from Salvador, Don Rafael Davar, has been officially received by President Diaz in the hall of ambassadors at the national palace. Don Rafael, in speaking of the condition of Salvador, said: "Of course, the fall in the price of coffee has hit the country rather hard, but I believe this year's crop is going to be very abundant, which will compensate largely for the lowness of the price."

Eastman, a Presbyterian divine, who has a wife and family just outside of Chicago, and President of the United States Child Saving Association organized here some time ago, has been arrested on a warrant charging him with betraying Ella Paschall, aged 14, while an inmate of his home. The warrant against Eastman was secured by Rev. J. D. Morrison, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church.

River Traffic Blocked by Fog.

Nyack, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Dense fog greatly interferes with navigation along the lower Hudson. The steamboat Chrystenah, running between Peekskill and New York and intermediate landings, is unable to make her trips, and neither the Chrystenah nor the ferryboat Rockland, which plies between Nyack and Tarrytown, is able to run. The same condition prevails at other points along the river.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Oct. 28.—Generally higher quotations prevailed at the opening of the stock market to-day. The trading was active and heavy. Sugar began nearly a point to the good, but fell off a half-point almost immediately. Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Manhattan began with gains as did also Tobacco, Atchison preferred, Louisville, North Pacific and New Jersey Central, the last named moving up a point. Later the markets settled down to fractions lower in some cases.

THINKS ANDREE IS ALIVE.

Reasons For This Belief Are Given By a Brother of the Polar Aeronaut.

HE MAY STILL BE SAFE.

Would Have Required Nearly Three Years' Time to Communicate With Civilization.

Buoys Picked up And The Pigeon Message Give Explorer's Friends New Hope—Where He May Have Landed—A Letter From Captain Ernst Andree.

Mobile, Ala., Oct. 28.—Evelyn B. Baldwin, the arctic explorer and observer in the United States Weather Bureau, who has been assigned to duty at this station, has arrived here from Washington. He has just received a letter from Capt. Ernst Andree of Sweden, brother of the Polar aeronaut, and has given the following extract from the letter:

"My opinion is that if my brother had landed anywhere between 86 and 88 degrees north and 70 or 80 degrees west and 180 degrees west (Greenwich meridian) we would have heard from him. But, not having heard directly from him as to his having landed, I think he must have come down to the west of 180 degrees and between 83 and 87 degrees north. From 85 degrees north and 180 degrees it is about 750 miles to the nearest known land, to New Siberia, Taymur, Franz Josef Land, Greenland and the Parry Islands. At the same daily progress made by Nansen, of three miles, it would take him two years to reach the coast of the Parry Islands and another year before he could communicate with civilization.

"My brother several times expressed his wish to examine the ocean north of the Parry Islands. The last one of my brother's buoys was found on the north coast of Iceland. Lately, however, another has been found on the north coast of King Charles Land, east of Spitzbergen. He had with him twelve buoys, eleven small ones and a large one, the latter to be thrown out when the balloon was as far north as the expedition expected to reach.

"If the expedition reached 84 or 85 degrees north and 90 or 100 degrees east and then got northerly winds, it is most likely they would have thrown the buoy, not expecting to go any more to the north. But the wind might have changed in a few hours again to the south or southwest, and thus have carried the balloon to 84 or 86 degrees north and 90 degrees west or 180 degrees.

"There they may have landed in an unexplored region. Previous to reaching land they may have sailed backward and forward several times. Remember that the balloon sailed fifteen or sixteen miles an hour during the first three hours.

"I do not put the least faith in any of the many reports, with the exception, of course, of the pigeon message and the two buoys. I do not expect to hear anything more this year, but expect to hear all the more next summer."

Failed To Rob The Safe.

Hazardville, Conn., Oct. 28.—An unsuccessful attempt was made to rob the private bank of Robert E. Spencer of this place. The large safe in the bank was covered with wet blankets and buffalo robes, and the door was blown off with powder. The explosion was dull and not widely heard. The robbers, however, were evidently frightened, for they did not take time to reach the inner or money drawer. Several dollars worth of revenue stamps were taken.

Long Service Rewarded.

St. Paul, Oct. 28.—As a reward for long and faithful service the Rev. Anatole Oster, vice-rector and spiritual director of the St. Paul's Seminary, has been invested with the title and purple robes of a monsignor of the Catholic Church. He thus becomes one of the prelates of the pope's household. The ceremony of the investment took place in the chapel of St. Paul's Seminary, and was an impressive affair.

Woman Aged Ninety Sentenced.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 28.—The Federal Court here has sentenced Rosetta Horton, alias Jackson, to hard labor in the penitentiary for one year. She claimed to have been the wife of a soldier who died in the service and managed to defraud the Government out of over $3,000. She was charged with perjury, and threw herself upon the Court's mercy, which act, together with extreme age, 90 years, inclined the Judge to leniency.

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 28.—Elzie E. Helberson, charged with the murder of Richard Pennington at Huntingburg last August, has died in the jail at Jasper. Before he expired he told the Jailer that Pennington was killed by a well-known resident. Pennington was shot down without provocation. Helberson came near being mobbed at the time.

Advance in Military Drill.

The Plainfield High School will soon be able to claim the distinction of having the first cadet battallion of any High School in the State. The organization of a cadet company in connection with the school is no new thing in Jersey but to have a batallion of three companies to which every boy in the High School belongs will be an advance in the training of the American boys in military tactics. There has been a cadet company connected with the local High School for several years but it has been left to the boys themselves to say whether or not they were to take part in the drill. The new organization has been brought into intimate connection with the school and every boy will be expected to spend one hour a week with his comrades in drill.

The rigid military discipline of the battalion will make it an advantageous feature in the school life in addition to the knowledge of military tactics that will be gained.

The wonderful success with which similiar organizations have been carried on in the High Schools of Massachusetts is noteworthy. Whole regiments of the High School cadets exist in the neighborhood of Boston and their annual exhibition and competive drill are witnessed with great interest by all the people of that section. An enthusiastic school spirit has been developed among the boys who form these regiments which would be well introduced in the local ranks.

The Assembly Candidate.

Plainfield has a representation on the Republican county ticket this year by one candidate for the Assembly, Charles S. Foote. The nomination of Mr. Foote at the convention Thursday was a general surprise to Mr. Foote and the local Republican party. The nomination was by no means sought and was only suggested

GENERAL SCHWAN AND HIS FIELD OF OPERATIONS.
General Schwan's campaign south of Manila opened auspiciously with the capture of San Francisco de Malabon. The insurgents fled without fighting. General Schwan was born in Germany. He entered the United States army in 1857 and has risen to his present position by meritorious service. He is not a West Pointer.

the day of the convention. Mr. Foote is comparatively unknown even in the city. He lives quietly at his home, 1211 Putnam avenue, with his family and has taken little or no part in the past campaigns. He is a lawyer with an office in New York. He came to Plainfield eight years ago, moving here from New York State where he took a small part in politics.

Since he lived in the city of Plainfield, Mr. Foote has regularly attended the Republican primaries and has been a delegate to both county and city conventions. Last fall he was mentioned for the Councilmanic nomination from the Second ward, but withdrew in favor of Geo. P. Mellick who was nominated and elected. Mr. Foote is a man of well-known integrity and an accomplished public speaker.

The nomination of Charles S. Foote for the Assembly by the Republicans removes a possible rival from the path of Councilman VanHerwerden for the nomination as Republican Councilman from the Second ward at the charter election in December.

Another evidence of the growth of golf in public favor is the general interest taken in the results of the intercollegiate golf championship which ends today.

Elizabethport has secured the long wished for "plum" for its favored son, Robert G. Houston.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Here is an example of "rapid transit" newspaper mail. We find, just arrived, on our desk a copy of the Plainfield Daily Press of Wednesday, April 12, 1899—and Plainfield only nine miles away. Doubtless the Press, which was properly wrapped and directed, has been quietly reposing in a corner of some distributing office.—Rahway Democrat.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A few days ago David C. Smalley, of North avenue, the owner of "Ned Davis," received a letter from the former owner of the valuable horse requesting that she be allowed the privilege of taking the animal back. She desired to purchase him, having heard of his recent experience, and feeling deeply the abuse he had been subjected to. Mr. Smalley, however, refused to sell, as he prizes the horse very much and desires to keep him for his own personal use.

Chief George W. Grant has secured a bulletin board which he placed on the wall in his office on Park avenue. On the board there is displayed a number of letters and photographs received from all parts of the country from various heads of police departments making inquiries for certain criminals who are wanted. Some of the rewards offered for the capture of these men reach $1,500, while for some of the criminals no reward is offered. The list is an interesting one to study, and it is likely that some trace of the criminals may be secured in this way by giving publicity to the matter.

* * * * *

An interesting story which shows how criminals are sometimes caught, has just come to light. Many months ago a celebrated physician residing near Albany, N. Y., was implicated in the abduction of a child at that place. The papers all over the country were filled with accounts of the terrible deed, and the whole country was stirred to its depths over the case. The best detective service possible was secured and a vigorous search was made for the absent physician. One day two detectives came from Albany to Plainfield and inquired of the police concerning this man. They felt sure they could locate him in this city and when asked why they thought so, explained by saying that a short time before a letter was received by a certain party at Albany, and it was dated Plainfield. They felt sure the letter was from the physician. Their theory turned out to be correct, as investigation proved, for one day the criminal passed through Plainfield going west on a train. When the train stopped in this city he secured a person to mail the letter at the box at the North Avenue station. The physician then continued his journey south, and not a great while afterward was located at a certain place in the south, and examination showed that the man mailed the letter as stated.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, October 28—The tramp nuisance is again appealing to the citizens. The borough is literally overrun with these nomads, who devote their time between daylight and dark to begging and in the night to robbing the homes of the citizens. Yesterday two or three of these fellows were about begging. The authorities should take some means to rid the vicinity of these chaps. The fact that they are about begging makes them vagrants under the law. They can be arrested and sent to jail. Some of the citizens are opposed to sending the tramps to jail because then they will have to be supported in idleness. Some means ought to be devised to compel them to work. In New Brunswick tramps are made to work in chain gangs. As a result of this edict they shun the place. Why not adopt a similer method here in the borough ?

THE AMUSEMENT WORLD

Local Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World.

Charles Hoyt's most successful, as well as his most amusing comedy, "A Contented Woman," will be the attraction at Music Hall tonight and from present indications the engagement will be a great success. Mr. Hoyt's plays have always done well in this city, and the promise of one of his jolly comedies is always eagerly anticipated. One strong reason for this is that he always brings something new and novel in the art of play-writing with each piece, and "A Contented Woman" since the many changes and improvements he has made, is said to be ahead of all its predecessors in this respect. The piece satirizes the "new woman" but from an entirely different aspect than other plays dealing with this much abused subject, because the scenes and incidents which it introduces are founded upon possibilities, and the satire is true to life. The laws existing in some of the Western states granting to woman the voters franchise, and giving her the right to hold office, are used as a basis on which has been constructed one of the wittiest and merriest comedies this talented playwrignt has yet offered to the public.

One of the latest New York successes is the dramatic play, "A Young Wife," which will be seen here at Music Hall next Wednesday night, Nov. 1st. It has recently played a seven weeks' engagement at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, New York, and will be presented here with the New York cast, including the Misses Selma Herman, Margaret Dale Owen, Charlotte Crane, and Messrs. Emmett C. King, Malcolm Williams, John L. Wooderson, Neil Florence, Claude Gillingwater, Frank Sheridan, James J. DeBarre. The production, which is very elaborate, will also be given here complete and intact, making it one of the strongest attractions that has been seen here.

DEMOCRATS NOMINATE.

such a proceeding. Then the recess was declared off, and Major Collins, of Elizabeth, nomin ted him in a neat little speech, which was supplemented by another speech by Councilman Hetfield, of Plainfield, in behalf of the Plainfield delegates. Mr. Hillman was thereupon made the unanimous choice of the convention for the Senatorial nomination.

In the meantime Peter Egenoff and W. W. St. John had been appointed a committee to find the candidates and escort them to the hall. This duty was performed by the time the Senatorial nomination was made, and then the candidates were introduced to the delegates. Each one made brief remarks.

Cries of "Martine" were heard and the "Farmer Orator" appeared on the platform and delivered one of his characteristically Democratic speeches, in which he paid tribute to the candidates in a pleasant way. His reference to the death of the late James Gerber, whom Mr. Oliver succeeded as County Clerk by appointment of Governor Abbett, was woven into a touching and pathetic eulogy of the present candidate's kind and liberal action towards the widow of his predecessor, and made a deep impression on the convention.

Gen. Lee and His Fruitful Hen.

It was General Lee's custom to leave his tent door open in the morning for a sprightly hen that had gone into the egg business promptly and thus had saved her head. When she stepped in, General Lee would put aside his work and walk post deferentially upon the outside until her cackle announced the mysteries of egg-laying at an end. She roosted and rode in his wagon, was an eyewitness of the battles of Chancellorsville and Gettysburg, and was finally sacrificed upon the altar of hospitality at Orange Court-House, in 1864.—November Ladies' Home Journal.

NEW YORK HOTELS

They Will Accommodate All Who Attend the Dewey Reception.

There is about sixty-two prominent hotels in what is commonly called the "hotel district" of New York, extending say from the Astor House at Broadway and Barclay street, to the Majestic, Seventy-second street and Central Park West. There are several large and very excellent new hotels that are outside of the limit mentioned, but the list given comprises the New York hotels best known to visitors in the habit of going there.

All the hotels mentioned have a resident population, that is patrons who live in them all the year round. The total number of person who live in this way cannot be even approximately stated, but it is very large and is increasing from year to year. The figures given indicate the capacity of these hotels for transient patrons, irrespective of the permanent. It is estimated by railroad people that fully 100,000 strangers take at least one meal in New York each week day. The majority of these have departed by nightfall, but the daily population looking for accommodations at the hotels is at least many thousands. Here are the best-known hotels and their capacity for transients:

Albemarle 200, Albert, 150, Ashland 200, Astor 300, Bartholdi 150, Brevoort 150, Broadway Central 600, Buckingham 40, Cambridge 200, Cadillac 150, Continental 200, Cosmopolitan 250, Everett 150, Fifth Ave. 600 Gilsey, 300, Grenoble 100, Grand 250, Grand Union 500, Hoffman 350, Holland 300, Imperial 400, Majestic 600, Sinclair 300, Marie Antoinette 250, Manhattan 300, Marlborough 300, Metropole 200, Metropolitan 150, Murray Hill, 600, Morton House, 100, Netherland 500, New Amsterdam 150, Normandie 150, Park Avenue 500, Plaza 300, St. Cloud 200, St. Dennis 250, Savoy 300, Sturtevant 200, Union Square 150, Waldorf-Astoria 1,800, Westminster 200.

Assuming that each hotel mentioned takes only its normal number of transients, room is found only for 14,350 persons. In the case of the Waldorf and a few others, patronized by persons with whom money is no object, parlor suits will not be broken up into bedrooms and two or more patrons will not be put into one room. But with most of the hotels in the list there will be a great deal of doubling up. Lucky indeed will be the man who gets a room to himself.

New York hotel-keepers have always boasted, and justly, that no matter how great the rush they have never raised the rates. They declare that they will not do so during the Dewey celebration. This is the reverse of the policy pursued by Western cities on similar occasions. But the New York hotel-keepers but must get even somehow, so they take it out in "doubling up," though never, they say, going to the extent of uncomfortably overcrowding.

Assuming, therefore, that on an average each hotel mentioned will double its capacity for the three Dewey days, 28,700 persons are provided for. Then there are at least one hundred smaller hotels scattered in various parts of the city capable of accomodating anywhere from one hundred to two hundred patrons each.

Story About Ingersoll.

Here is an entirely new story about the late Colonel Ingersoll, which is quite as good and fully as genuine as the usual run of them.

When Ingersoll was a young man he went into a short order restaurant in Peoria and called for an egg.

"You are an agnostic, I think?" said the waiter, who was a college student in the winter and had just associated himself with the restaurant business.

"Your habit of thinking has not betrayed you this time I am," replied Ingersoll.

"Then you do not have faith in the integrity of this egg?" quoth the waiter.

"I have no faith in its int-egg-rity," replied Bob. I have no faith in anything. I believe only in what I see or in what is proved to me."

"I have faith in the egg," said the student, and he regarded the colonel with sad eyes. "My faith tells me that it contains a yolk."

"My doubt admits nothing of the kind," said the agnostic.

So the student broke the egg, and lo, it contained a chicken.

But the fact is that the agnostic took an unfair advantage of the student.

He had eaten at that restaurant before.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Gracie's Sticker.

It is really not a father's fault that that his little daughter supposes him to know everything. Children are born to have faith. But one parent should have expected trouble when his child began:

"Papa you went through the scientific course at school, didn't you?"

"Yes, dear; I spent two years on science."

"When you look in a mirror, the left side of your face appears to be on the right side, and the right side seems to be the left. The looking glass reverses it, doesn't it?"

"Yes."

"Then, why doesn't it reverse the top and bottom of your face the same way?"

"Why-er-ah."—Pearson's Weekly.

The Illinois Central is constructing a freight car yard at New Orleans which will have twenty-eight miles of track and will hold 3,600 cars. The railroad coal mines in the Pittsburg district are being operated to their fullest capacity. Operators in some parts of the field are complaining of a scarcity of cars and also a lack of men. The shipments last season amounted to about 4,500,000.

NEW MILLINERY.

Jeweled and Metallic Effects For Hats and Bonnets.

The glittering effects so much desired for costumes are carried into millinery. A great many hats and bonnets of black spangles are seen, and gold and silver more sparingly. As for ornaments, they are of like character. Imitation wings, made of gauze, spangles and jewels, are in great demand, and newer yet are the immense butterflies of similar materials, with velvet or chenille bodice and slender antennae. One of these butterflies is almost enough for an ordinary bonnet.

Velvet and silk flowers, more particularly roses, are to be very much worn during the winter. On some of the most attractive millinery models they are largely massed, not necessarily of the natural colors. Often they are arranged to fall next the hair and appear in combinations with fur, which is also a fashionable millinery trimming. Entire hat shapes are covered with short pile fur and are elaborately trimmed for dress wear.

BUTTERFLY HAT.

The hat illustrated today is of heliotrope felt. The round brim is bent sharply down at the right and is edged with a cord of violet velvet. Coques and ends of violet velvet, lined with yellow velvet, form the trimming, in the midst of which is set a huge butterfly of black feathers, the inside of the wings being of white feathers. At the left side are placed three calla lilies, one white, one black and one yellow. JUDIC CHOLLET.

BELTS AND BUCKLES.

Waistbands Newest In Style and Their Clasps.

Much has been said concerning the disappearance of the round waist, but the strongest evidence in favor of its continued use is found in the innumerable belts and clasps and buckles which are produced in expensive qualities for winter wear. The belts are all rather narrow. Some of the newest are of black silk elastic and have two clasps just alike, one at the back and one in front. These clasps are broad and suggest a corselet effect. They are of wrought metal or are jeweled and are often made over fine leather or kid, although not appearing on a kid belt. There are also velvet belts with cut steel buckles, and belts of the soft, wrinkled variety, which on a pretty figure are perhaps the most pleasing style. Patent leather belts with leather covered tongued buckle are smart looking and accompany plain tailor made gowns or a flannel shirt waist very appropriately. Belts entirely of metal are becoming out of date.

HEAVY CAPE.

A picture is given of a cape of gray golf cloaking. It is edged with rows of red stitching, and set some distance above the edge is a line of mixed plaid fringe. A wide collar and revers are of plaid edged with fringe, and the strap and high, flaring collar are also of fringe. Pearl buttons ornament the upper part of the cape. JUDIC CHOLLET.

Her Proper Place.

"Foolishest play I ever saw!" exclaimed Mr. Meekton with the air of a man who knows he is going to make a hit. "The heroine walks up stately and emphatic and exclaims, 'Where should a wife be except by her husband's side!'"

"Well, what of it?"

"Why, that's the wrong view of the case."

"Don't you think a wife ought to be by her husband's side?"

"Certainly not, Henrietta, certainly not. She ought to be away in front, leading the procession, Henrietta."—Washington Star.

Not Dealing In Futures.

"What do you charge for a bath?" asked a seedy individual as he entered the barber shop.

"Twenty-five cents," replied the tonsorial artist, "but you can have five tickets for $1."

"No; I don't want five," said the s. i. "I might not live that many years."—Chicago News.

REDUCED LILLIAN RUSSELL.

How the Well-Known Actress Lost Thirty Pounds in Eight Weeks.

Lillian Russell is fast becoming sylph-like in form. For the last two months she has been in training. She has lost twenty-five pounds and now has the figure of a girl of eighteen. She has accomplished this remarkable reduction in weight in an absolutely scientific and hygienic fashion. She hasn't gone in for any of the injurious banting systems. She hasn't changed her diet. She hasn't consulted a doctor. She hasn't injured the texture of her skin and she doesn't look weary and wan with the struggle, either. Instead, she has tried a little system all her own. She has improved her health ten per cent. She has banished her doube chin, her abundant embonpoint, and has reduced the too generous fulness of her hips. Naturally, every stout woman in the country will be anxious to understand what treatment she has employed. And here it is, word for word, just as Miss Russell gave it to a New York reporter.

"Hot water, massage and systematic exercising have brought me to this," she laughing said as she glanced down at her shapely—almost slender—figure.

"I have been devoted to the whole three for the last two months and they certainly have repaid me for my faithfulness. You know a woman really can do anything she makes up her mind to, if she will only keep at it—and half the secret of getting thin is just the keeping at it. The trouble is that most women who try any reducing system get tired and stop before they have given the remedy half a chance. From the start I was a very discouraging subject. I worked regularly, following my own reducing plan for three long weeks, and yet I couldn't see at the end of that time that I had lost so much as a little quarter of a pound of flesh, but I kept at it just the same. Last week I bought a twenty inch corset instead of my usual size, twenty-five. There's reward for unflinching work for you, isn't it? The first of September I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds. Now I tip the scales at just thirty pounds less—one hundred and fifty-six. And this is only the beginning of the good work. My bust measurement was forty-two. In two months I have reduced it to thirty-eight. My waist when I started in training was twenty-seven inches. Now, happy me! It's but twenty-two. Yes; the combination of the hot water, massage and exercise is my own original idea, and certainly I am a living illustration of what they will accomplish working together. Now let me tell you about the hot water. You mustn't take it warm, and you must not take it one day and forget it the next. You must take it just as hot as you can possibly swallow it, and you must drink two cupfuls before each meal—that's taking into your system six cups of hot water a day. The massage treatment must be an everyday occurrence, too. Get a masseuse who isn't afraid to hurt you, and don't object to a thorough pounding and kneading. Stand a little pain for the sake of the result. No mild massage will answer the purpose. I have actually suffered during some of my treatments. The massage should be given with systematic regularity every day, and the treatment should last an hour. But the hot water and the massage are only the little half of my reducing system. I have the greatest possible faith in the exercises I have been practising. There are four of them, and I go through each one twenty-five times every day. Of course, you mustn't practice them with your corsets on. You must have your body perfectly free. I wear a pair of silk bloomers and a loose-fitting silk blouse. Here is the exercise I use for reducing the hips and abdomen. Stand erect, with your heels together. Expand your chest; raise your arms high above your head, as straight as possible. Then bring them down without bending your knees until the tips of your fingers touch your toes."

Morning Jacket.

The cut is suggestive only. It allows of a wide range of material, color and trimming, and is both neat, stylish and comfortable.

The Turkey.

Around Thanksgiving time one begins to think of a turkey's possibilities and perhaps nothing is nicer than the different aspects of this national bird of ours. Here is one of the best:

Draw and singe a young turkey and prepare for stuffing. Make a forcemeat of one-half a pound of veal chopped very fine mixed with an equal amount of suet of leaf lard, chopped into meal. Season with salt, pepper, thyme, and sage, a small onion, and the cooked liver minced.

This for scalloped turkey:—Cut what turkey you have left over into small pieces. Add whatever gravy is left, first heating it. If there is none, make a cupful of white sauce. Season with pepper and salt and add two eggs well beaten. Cover the bottom of a baking dish with fine crumbs, put in the turkey, etc., cover with crumbs, dot with butter, and bake slowly half an hour. A little chopped salt pork is a very good addition.

The Face—Just think! Not a single man at the hotel.

The Fairy—Well I rather prefer married men myself.—Kansas City Independent.

A MOTHER'S OFFER.

Ten Thousand Dollars to Doctors Try-to Save Her Child's Life.

With a distracted mother urging them to their best efforts with the offer of a reward of $10,000, five Brooklyn doctors labored in vain to save her child from death by strangulation.

The mother is Mrs. Vincent Geralde, of 272 State street, Brooklyn, N. Y., and the child was her two-year-old daughter Annie. The physicians who strove vainly to save the child's life were doctors of the neighborhood, summoned one after the other.

The child was fretful, and Mrs. Geralde gave her a button bag to amuse herself with. When Mrs. Geralde went into another room for a few minutes the child opened the bag and took from it a big bone button. She placed it in her mouth and it slipped down her throat, lodging in the windpipe. Mrs. Geralde heard the child gasping for breath and hurried into the room. The mother frantically tried to dislodge the button. Finding her efforts unavailing she sent for a physician. The doctor came at once but tried in vain to get the button from the child's throat. Mrs. Geralde almost beside herself with fear, hurriedly summoned two other physicians of the neighborhood. The continued efforts of the three physicians, however, failed to dislodge the button, and they dispaired of saving the child's life. Mrs. Geralde would not give up hope, and thinking they might know of some method of dislodging the button which the physicians in attendance had not tried, she called in two more doctors. The five doctors, too, agreed that it was hopeless to try to save the child's life. They told Mrs. Geralde that they had employed every method known to them to get the button out, but that it could not be dislodged.

"Oh, do not let her die," she cried. "I will give $1,000 if you save her."

The doctors shook their heads, but continued working on the child. Little Annie was slowly dying, and the physicians told the mother that her daughter could live but a few minutes.

"I would give my own life for hers," said the mother pitifully. "Save her and I will give you $5,000."

The physicians looked at each other helplessly and shook their heads again.

"I will give you $10,000. I can pay you; only save her!"

"It is useless," said one of the doctors, turning away from the little girl. "The child is dead."—N. Y. Times.

LITTLE-KNOWN FACTS.

They Show What We Know of Each Other and of Our Country.

But eighteen per cent. of all the families in America employ domestic help, leaving eighty-two per cent. without even one servant.

If all the dressmakers known to exist in America worked twenty-four hours of each day for a whole year, without stopping for sleep or meals, they would still be able to make only one dress apiece for less than seven-eighths of the women of America.

Not six per cent. of all the women in America spend as much money as fifty dollars per year on their clothes.

Out of twelve million American families the income of four million of these families is less than $400 each per year, and the incomes of nearly eighty per cent. of the entire number are less than $1,000 each per year.

There are scores of places in this country where only one mail comes every fourteen days.

Ask the average person where the central point of area is in the United States and he will fix it somewhere in Illinois. Tell him it is nearer San Francisco and he will be incredulous until he remembers that Alaska is within the boundaries of Uncle Sam.—Edward Bok in the November Ladies' Home Journal.

Our Population is 75,000,000.

In June of next year the people of the United States will be counted for the twelfth time since the establishment of our government. "It will require about fifty thousand enumerators," writes Clifford Howard in the November Ladies' Home Journal, "to take the census, and their work must be finished in one month's time, or by the first week of July, 1900. That means that about seventy-five million people must be recorded in thirty days, or at the rate of two and a half million a day. The rate will be even greater than this, however, for in towns and cities of eight thousand inhabitants the enumeration must be completed within two weeks. The enumerators will not be permitted to have any assistance in the work; it must be done by them in person, except in such sections of the country as contain a great many foreigners where the employment of interpreters will be allowed, as otherwise it would be next to impossible to secure the necessary data. The enumerators will be paid for their services in accordance with the amount of work they are called upon to do."

English collectors complain that prices of rare books on musical top are going up rapidly, largely on a count of the increasing demand for the libraries of rich Americans.

AN EXTRA STOMACH.

Removed From a Man by a Delicate Surgical Operation.

The facts in a peculiar case of surgery, in which a former Chicago baseball player figures, has been made public at Battle Creek, Mich. The patient is Seth Stratton. His peculiarity is that he had two stomachs, and yet he was starving.

Ever since childhood Stratton has been troubled with his stomach, suffering excruciating pain at times. Some of the best physicians in the land have treated him. He finally submitted to an operation at the hospital at Battle Creek. An examination on the operating table proved that he had two stomachs, but was approaching starvation through inability to assimilate food. The object of the surgeons was to remove the second and superfluous stomach and do away with the contraction of the esophagus that prevented his getting food into either stomach. This was finally accomplished. Stratton's trouble had increased to such an extent that food had to be forced into his stomach. He grew thin, weak and pale, and the operation was all that saved his life after his case had been pronounced incurable.

Recently Stratton had an X-ray photograph taken of his abdominal region, and it showed a formation on the esophagus, just above the diaphragm. It was found that since boyhood he had been the victim of the contraction of the esophagus, which grew worse and worse, until nothing could pass through it. The retention of food above this place caused a distention of the esophagus, until the tubes proved its identity with the major digestive organ by itself becoming a stomach. Every feature of the primary pouch was reproduced with the exception of the muscles. Stratton is inspector for a Chicago gas company. He believes now he is in a fair way to recover.

MUSTACHES.

What They Indicate To a Close Observer of Character.

Much has been said of late about telling character by the mouth. This is all right so far as it goes—that is, with the women, or with men who always wear a smooth face, but most men wear a mustache. The shape and size of the mustache may tell as much as the shape and size of the mouth.

A man rarely hides a fine mouth. If he wears a mustache he does so because his first experiment proved to his own satisfaction that his mustache was worthy of preservation, but he trains it carefully so that it will not entirely hide any marks of beauty or strength. Women do not have all the vanity.

There is a man who wears a heavy mustache to hide an ugly mouth or teeth, or to disguise his feelings. He is in the habit of hiding a sarcastic smile behind the drooping mustache.

No dandy would be guilty of such a monstrous affair. His mustache must be fine and delicate, at least graceful, and readily trained into graceful little curls at the ends. If he is really fine in his nature the quality of the hair is silky and soft, easily curling, and perhaps even naturally wavy. An even-tempered disposition is indicated by the soft and well curved lips, showing beneath this mustache.

The fierce, bristling mustache which hides nothing, but stands straight up, like stubble in a wheat field, shows an extremely harsh nature, bad temper and general uncouthness. A man with a mustache constantly on the defensive, as it were, like sentinels, is to be avoided.

This is quite different from the long military mustache, with waxed ends, which is supposed to be quite fierce, but which is not so in fact. The military is quite distinctive from the French fashion, which is also a waxed mustache, and is arranged with as much care as any other part of the toilet.

As to colors, the same rule follows as in the color of the hair. Black is the most intense in nature, blonde the least so, while the varying shades belong to as varied characteristics. The mixture of colors, such as a red mustache with dark brown hair, softens the disposition. An absolutely colorless hair often goes with a thin-lipped mouth, which denotes obstinacy and lack of sympathy or feeling.

Automatic Salt Works.

About a hundred miles north of Lima, near the town of Huacho, is one of the great curiosities of nature—a salt factory on an automatic plan. When the tide comes in it fills a lot of shallow basins, and the water is prevented from flowing back into the sea by closing the gates. The atmosphere is so dry that the water evaporates rapidly and leaves a sediment of salt in an almost pure state, which is scraped up, put into sacks and shipped to market. Within the coast a little further the percolation of sea water through the porous rocks into pits and hollows has caused immense deposits of salt to accumulate. The salt is taken out in blocks six or eight inches square and sold in that form. As soon as the salt is excavated the water comes in again and in a year or two has solidified and is ready for the market. Wells driven into the sand disclose strongly impregnated water at a depth of twenty-five feet, which seems to be a great deal heavier than the sea water, and is drawn off into vats for evaporation.—Chicago Record.

Dog Hair-Dressing.

The French poodle has again come into vogue as a woman's pet, and the dog barber is the natural result. Of course, every woman who owns a pet dog accepts invitations to dog parties, and when the pampered canines go out into society they must be looking their best. That is where the dog barber comes in. The poodle is a great boon to him, for he charges $2.50 for each operation. The muzzle must be kept smooth shaven, as must the lower half of the body. A topknot is a necessary adjunct to the dog's toilet, and fringes of hair around the feet re- sembling little shoes and stockings quite the proper thing. Styles dif- however, and sometimes a blanket wool is left as a natural covering the body. The up-to-date dog bar- exhibits paper patterns, showing the different styles of tonsorial beauty, from which the dog's mistress may take her choice.—Philadelphia Record

A NOTED CHARACTER

HE WAS A DOCTOR, WHO MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARED IN 1898.

Dr. J. C. Leonard After Many Years of Travel and Adventure in the Far West Has Gone, no One Knows Where.

Dr. J. C. Leonard is missing. Some say that he has left his bleaching bones on the mountain-side, as he himself predicted; some say, "Doc Leonard? Not much! Can't kill him so easily." All agree that Dr. Leonard is the strangest combination of dentist, tramp, paleontologist and queer character that ever befriended a great university.

Dr. Leonard first made himself known to the University of Michigan by inquiring casually of Harrison Soule, its treasurer, through a letter, whether the college had any use for relics and specimens in its museums. Now, the University of Michigan is a great and valuable institution of learning—one of the greatest in the country, but it has not millions of endowment, like Yale and Harvard. Major Soule has no money to waste on specimens he hasn't seen, and he so replied, in more diplomatic phrase, of course. The university has no fund, he said, to pay for such articles. Next Major Soule received a postal card couched in rather less diplomatic phrase than his own, thus:

"So you can't pay the expense, eh? Then go to the devil! I'll pay it myself. My rope is nearly run, and some day I'll turn up missing, and a few years later a few bleached bones will be found among the crags up in the mountains. I want to be remembered somewhere on God's green earth, so kindly accept my gifts, and some day, old cub, perhaps we'll meet. J. C. Leonard."

Pretty soon Major Soule began to receive things, expenses paid, a huge 900-pound cinnamon bear, stuffed, the largest ever killed; an antelope, and rare mining specimens. The collection grew constantly. It now fills two cases in the museum and is considered very valuable. There are Indian relics, shields, axes, bows and arrows, blankets, tepees and minerals of every sort known in the West.

Most pathetic of all is a lockless gun—an old Mississippi rifle with a hammered barrel four feet long—a relic of the saddest tragedy of the plains, the massacre of Lamoile Creek. It was the gun belonging to the young fellow who was butchered by the Indians. His sweetheart had stabbed herself to the heart under a wagon not far away, and he, wounded fatally, had himself to die in the bushes, first wrenching off the locks and sights of his rifle that the Indians might not use it, says the Chicago Times-Herald. The gun was found many years later by Dr. Leonard and sent to the museum.

Dr. Leonard and Treasurer Soule have never met, but they have struck up quite a friendship by correspondence. Sometimes Dr. Leonard does a trip as a dentist, presumably to replenish his funds. On one such trip he wrote to Major Soule:

"I travel along with two mules, a cart, my dog, a gun, and my tooth pullers, all alone. I manage to stay in each town long enough to pull a couple of barrels of teeth and dicker for some new specimens for the collection, and then move on."

At another time he wrote to Major Soule for his portrait. On receiving it he returned his own, with a letter as follows: "You look about the same kind of a sardine as I am. I send a picture of my friend." The last time Dr. Leonard was heard from was in the fall of 1898. He was starting upon an expedition through the desert regions of Arizona to investigate the remains of cliff dwellers there and in old Mexico. He has never been heard from since.

The "Aunt" Was Mythical.

"Good morning, madam. My aunt, Mrs. ——— sent me over to borrow a dollar. She wants to pay her egg man, but is unable to make the change. She buys eggs of a farmer, you know. They are so much fresher than store eggs, even if you do have to pay a little more.

"My aunt sent me here because, as she says, you are so generous about doing small favors. I told her you would not know me, and I hated to come, for I am seldom in town, but she said it would be all right—just to mention her name. You are such a good, kind friend and always willing to oblige.

"Yes, thank you, a dollar was what she wanted. She will return it at once, and you are so kind."

This prettily worded speech has been going the rounds in Evanston, says the Chicago Chronicle. Nearly every woman in town has played the aunt and as many again in the kind neighbor lady. The nephew has in every case been the same dapper young man of twenty-two years, who paid pretty compliments in a soft, rich voice, and looked altogether trustworthy. So, too, he might have been had he not immediately forgotten his aunty and the good kind lady with the dollar jingling in his pocket. And no one would have been the wiser had not the neighbor, in a moment of wondering, as to why the aunt made change in dollars with her egg man, asked casually if the aunt bought eggs by the gross.

Australia's Population Increasing.

All the people in all the Australasian colonies of Great Britian totaled up 4,476, 995 in 1898—considerably less than the population of New York state. New South Wales is credited with 1,346.240 inhabitants; Victoria, 1,175,490; Queensland, 498,533; South Australia, 367,800; Western Australia, 168.129; Tasmania, 177,340; New Zealand, 743,463. The total increase since the last census, taken in 1891, is 667,100. Western Australia shows the greatest increase, having gained 23,773 inhabitants, thanks to the excitement incident to the development of the gold mines.

SPORTING.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

There will be no game on Martine common this afternoon. The Alls football eleven will go to Newark to meet the team from the Orient Field Club. The Orient boys outweigh the local eleven but the Alls team hope for a victory through superior team play.

Manger Charles Woolston, who has looked after the securing of schedule for the Alls team while Captain Roy T. Phillips has looked after the other end, announces the completion of the schedule for the team for the remainder of the season. It is as follow: Saturday, Oct. 28, Orient Field Club, at Newark; Saturday, Nov. 4, Vikings, of Bayonne, at Plainfield; Tuesday, Nov. 7, Marion A. C., of Jersey City, at Plainfield; Saturday, Nov. 11, Arlington A. C., at Plainfield; Saturday, Nov. 18, South End Field Club, at Newark. The following Saturday and Thanksgiving Day are still open. These dates will be filled with the strongest teams from the preceding schedule or with neighboring teams like Somerville, Dunellen or Westfield.

The young men of Somerville were surprised last week when the team from Dunellen went to the Somerset county seat to play football. The Somerville team averaged 165 pounds, while the Dunellen boys weighed 20 pounds lighter to the man. On the way to the grounds the Somervillians spent their time in explaining how badly they were going to defeat the Dunellenites until the latter came near believing it. The game resulted in a victory for Dunellen 6 to 0. Peters got around the end once and ran 70 yards for a touchdown. Going home the Somerville boys tried to explain how it was. The team play on both sides was weak. The Somerville eleven had plenty of weight but didn't seem to know how to use it. This is the first time that place has had an eleven in several years and it doesn't seem to be a howling success now. They are going to play again soon and see if they can't win a game somehow, for the material and weight is there only needing development.

A Night of Terror.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all Throat, Chest and Lung Diseases. Only 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Don't Be Foolish.

It is an old and true saying that "pride goes before a fall," as that person will be sure to learn, who, influenced by the foolish idea that the wearing of glasses is an indication of old age, continues to offend nature by straining the sight. Such people will pay dearly for their pride, unless by a timely call at Collier's, 103 Park avenue, they avert the consequences of their folly.

SWEAR-OFF STORIES

MANY DO THE SWEARING BUT FEW STICK TO THEIR RESOLUTIONS.

How Two Friends Made a Bet and Neither Won Because Both Broke the Pledge—A Clubman Swears Off Smoking By Logic.

"I once swore off smoking," said the clubman. "That was when I was young and did not know myself. I swore off with a friend, and the penalty was a suit of clothes to cost $80. The condition was that we were not to smoke in town. When traveling or hunting or fishing—out of town, in fact—we would be allowed to smoke. The scheme worked well for some time; then I began to want to smoke. I battled with desire for several weeks, each day of the period becoming a harder trial than the preceding. At last, when the longing became too great I went to see my partner in misery to tell him that we had better call the contract off, as I could not stand it. He was not at home. He had gone out of town a week before and would be absent another week. Then I broke down. The thought of the party of the second part smoking himself blue in the face while I suffered was unbearable. So, with the fine of $80 staring me in the face, I bought a cigar and smoked it. It was worth $80, I thought. But I did not die for a lamb only; I smoked a vast quantity of cigars before he came home. Then I went to him and told him to go order the suit; that I had broken the contract. He smiled quietly, as if to himself, and then said: 'All right, old fellow; but do not be disturbed about the suit. I kept the contract just three days.'"

Another man said: "There were two men in this town who swore off, the breaker of the contract to pay the other for a ten-dollar hat. Finally one of them weakened, saying to himself he did not mind giving $10 for a smoke. While he meditated over the matter, however, he thought out a scheme to save himself on the hat. He went to the hatter's and bought a ten-dollar hat and had it charged to the other fellow. Then he called on the other fellow, and pointing to the hat, said: 'See that hat, old boy? It is one I have just had charged to you on that swear-off contract.' The other fellow cried out: 'How in the dickens did you find out I had been smoking?' 'Never mind,' said the other. 'A little bird told me.'"

"Well, I swore off," said another clubman, "and to make the matter memorable I handed a dozen fine Havana cigars to a friend, telling him to smoke them, as I had sworn off. I was like the man who found the first day pretty bad, the second horrible, and the third no trouble at all, because he began again to smoke. About the third day my resolution died out, and then I thought of the fine Havanas. I met my friend. 'Where are those twelve cigars I loaned you,' I asked. 'Here,' he said; 'I knew you would want them again.' And he took one for deposit charges. I smoked the rest."

"I swore off once," said another clubman, "and it was just as easy as anything you ever heard of. I did it by logic. I found I was smoking one cigar after another and never getting enough, so I said to myself that if I had to deprive myself at some time I might as well begin with the first as with the steenth cigar. Thus I convinced myself I would have no greater difficulty than in refusing the steenth cigar, and such proved to be the case. I had not the slightest longing for tobacco after I had made up my mind that I had quit. I kept a box of cigars on the mantel, for I said I might want to smoke, and I did not intend to treat myself as one in whom I had no confidence.

"Now mark what happened. About a month after I had stopped smoking I began to have periodical indigestion, followed by cramps, which came on at a certain hour of the evening of each day and grew worse and worse until they were quite serious. I tried all kinds of diet, and even starved myself, but without relief. At last, on the night of a strikers' ball, I was actually unable to go out, although I had made a great effort and succeeded in dressing for the entertainment. I lay in bed and groaned for several hours. The next day was New Year's and of course there was a holiday dinner at my house. Said I: 'I have dieted and starved myself and it is doing no good. I will eat one good square meal and then die.' So I sat at the table and ate everything in sight—made a regular feast of it. Then, as I was booked for the grave, or thought I was, I said I would make a complete job of it and smoke a cigar. I did not feel the want of a cigar. The taste had not plagued me in the slightest all that time. But I smoked now just to go out of the world in decent style, like a good diner should. Then I smoked another cigar. Having done my duty I patiently awaited for the pains to begin. They did not do so, nor have they at any time since done so. I have not had trouble from that day to this."

ANDERSON IS STILL IN LEAD FOR CUP.

Only One More Week of Play For McCutchen Tropny.

W R. FABER WON SATURDAY.

W. J. R. THIERS WAS SECOND AND STILL HAS A CHANCE.

The Park Golf Club Championship Now Lies Between Anderson, Cooley, Dryden and Thiers—Next Saturday Will Decide It —Good Attendance On Park Club Course Saturday — Weather Was Excellent.

The end is only a week off and still the result of the competition for the McCutchen cup on the links of the Park Golf Club remains in doubt. The play of Saturday afternoon only served to make the probable result all the more uncertain. None of the three leaders scored a point while W. J. R. Thiers continued his advance, stepping into fourth place with just a possibility of tieing W. de la R Anderson for the trophy.

The promised rain for Saturday afternoon didn't come and the day proved a delightful one for the sport. A temperate breeze came out of the south but it wasn't strong enough to make much trouble. There was a good attendance at the course, the ladies being represented by a few. In the club house the informal teas that have proved such a successful part of the social life of the club, were continued, Mrs. W. J. R. Thiers and Miss "Teddy" Scrymser presiding at the table.

There were a score of entries in the competition for the McCutchen Cup, but only eight cards were handed in. Many started too late to complete the necessary two rounds. Much interest was manifested in the result, as it was known that the winner of the cup might be decided by the afternoon's play. Anderson and Fred P. Taylor were both out on the course during the afternoon, and the comparative scores were watched with interest. Neither was at his best, however, and both failed to make the even hundred.

William R Faber, who was second last week, made low score Saturday. His gross score of 118, minus his handicap of 26, left him a net score of 92, which will result in a lowering of his handicap hereafter.

W.J.R. Thiers was the last to finish, but he played good golf despite the darkness and completed the eighteen holes in 109. J. H. Howell captured third honor, making his rounds in company with Samuel Townsend and Morgan T. Townsend. The last was way off his usual good game.

The scores handed in during the afternoon were as follows:

	Gross.	Handicap.	Net.
W. R. Faber	118	26	92
W. J. R. Thiers	109	12	97
J. H. Howell	121	18	103
W.de la R. Anderson	109	0	109
Gifford W. Cooley	119	9	110
Fred P Taylor	112	0	112
Samuel Townsend	137	24	113
M. T. Townsend	126	5	121

The official standing of the candidates for the cup follows:

W. de la R. Anderson	13
Gifford W. Cooley	11
Meredith Dryden	10½
W. J. R. Thiers	10
Charles E. Faber	8½
W. R. Faber	7½
Charles A. Reed	7
Geo. T. Rogers	7
George C. Worth	6½
G. W. Faber	6
Samuel Townsend	4½
Morgan T. Townsend	4
J. H. Howell	4
Wm. A. Townsend	3½
E. T. Douglass	3½
H. D. Hibbard	3½
Arthur Peck	3
Fred P. Taylor	2½
A. S. Squires	2½
A. B. Laing	2
Volney F. Green	2
Fred S. Overton	1½
Clarence S. Boome	1½
Augustus VanDeventer	1
C. W. McCutchen	1

Anderson, it will be seen, still leads, with Gifford W. Cooley second, and Meredith Dryden third. Thiers has stepped up from fifth to a close fourth and has a possible chance of tieing Anderson for the cup, if the former finishes first next Saturday, and the latter fails to score. Cooley and Dryden also have a chance of winning, but the other competitors are out of the race as far as the cup is concerned.

It seems likely that Anderson will win the cup. He was fourth Saturday and showed a slight improvement over the week before, although yet far from his usual game. Faber's victory advanced him from tenth place to sixth, where he is only a half a point behind his brother.

There was no play for the Buttfield Cup Saturday, and is not likely to be any more this season. Miss Daisy Elsberg has practically won it already as her lead is too great for any of her opponents to catch up with her. Miss Elsberg has been the only one who has turned out regularly during the summer to compete for the cup.

ALL THE CANDIDATES.

LAST CERTIFICATE FILED SATURDAY WITH COUNTY CLERK.

Five Tickets in the Field for Voters to Make Their Choice From—One of the Parties is Without any Name.

All certificates and petitions naming candidates to be voted for by all voters had to be filed with the county clerk, and at noon Saturday the certificates with the acceptances of the candidates of all parties were in the possession of County Clerk Howard.

There will be five tickets for voters to make their selections from—Republican, Democratic, Prohibition and two Socialistic-Labor tickets. The nominees who have signed their acceptances are as follows:

Republican—Senator, Joseph Cross, Elizabeth; sheriff, Robert G. Houston, Elizabeth; county clerk, Wm. Howard, Rahway; assembly, Ellis R. Meeker, Elizabeth; Chester M. Smith, Westfield; Charles S. Foote, Plainfield; coroner, Dr. J. W. Gray, Summit.

Democratic—Senator, John H. Hillman, Plainfield; sheriff, Jacob Glaser, Union; county clerk, Wm. M. Oliver, Elizabeth; assemblymen, John J. Gardner, Elizabeth; William H. Swain, Summit; George J. Reiss, Roselle.

Prohibition—Senator, Edward L. Massett, Westfield; sheriff, Neil McLeod, Elizabeth; county clerk, Walter M. Irving, Cranford; assembly, Joseph G. VanCise, Summit; Spencer C Blake, Cranford; Lewis C. Long, Elizabeth; coroner, Edward Hall.

There are two Socialistic-Labor certificates filed, the result of a factional fight. The first was filed very early in the campaign, and when the second petition was presented it was accompanied by a protest against the first action using the name, Socialistic-Labor party. County Clerk Howard has filed his determination and has given to the party which presented the first petition the right to use the name Socialistic-Labor. The protesting faction were notified, but they have made no response. It will therefore be Mr. Howard's duty to give to them an official name for their party, and which will be printed on the ballots.

The nominees of the regular Socialistic-Labor party, under this decision, are as follows:

Senator, Charles Burns, Plainfield; sheriff, A. Koerner, Elizabeth; county clerk, Frank Cullen, Plainfield; assembly, John Miles, Plainfield; Joseph Wagoner and Michael McGarry, Elizabeth; coroner, Charles R. Wallander, Plainfield.

The party without a name has placed in nomination only part of a county ticket, as follows:

County Clerk, Charles Bobertz; assembly, Paul Koch, William Oehme, Oscar Roland; coroner, B. Herstien.

All the candidates are residents of Elizabeth, but there is no disaffection reported in the townships in consequence.

WHIPPED THE HORSES.

Thereby Frightened Them Still More and Caused Them to Plunge With Disastrous Result.

An accident occurred on West Front street yesterday afternoon about 1 o'clock in front of the Babcock building, when a team of horses attached to a wagonette, owned by D. S. Roberts, became frightened at a trolley car. The driver, Wm. McCready, applied the whip vigorously to the horses and excited them still more In consequence he was unable to hold them. They made a circle in the street, ran up on the sidewalk and collided with a trolley pole and a fire hydrant at the corner of Madison avenue and Front street, where the top of the hydrant was broken off. The wagon was damaged to the extent of $25. Those who saw the accident thought it miraculous that the driver was not injured.

With the assistance of several Knights Templar who were going to use the rig to go to Springfield to attend the funeral of their late brother, Dr. Jackson, the horses were caught and quieted and further damage thus averted. The horses were taken back to the stables, where Mr. Roberts paid the driver his money and discharged him.

DEMOCRATS SLOW TO ACT

STATE COMMITTEE CRITICISED FOR NOT PUTTING LIFE IN CAMPAIGN.

Might Win in Four Counties—Chairman Gourley Talks With Robert Davis, Who Offers His Services as a Leader.

Many complaints have been made by Democrats throughout the State about the inactivity of the State committee. Not since the campaign opened has there been a meeting. There are eight Senatorial contests and the friends of the Democratic candidates feel that it is the duty of the State committee to lend its aid in helping them to achieve success.

Robert Davis, of Jersey City, has been appealed to, and he has endeavored to infuse some life into the campaign. From information received by Mr. Davis he is confident that with a little effort on the part of the State committee the counties of Salem, Gloucester, Somerset and Monmouth could be carried for the Democrats.

State Chairman Gourley was in Jersey City recently. He had a long talk with Mr. Davis, who urged the necessity of the State committee getting together. Chairman Gourley went back to Paterson with a fund of information which it is thought he will put to practical use.

JERSEY RAILROAD QUARREL

Central Railroad of New Jersey and Rockaway Valley Line at Odds Over an Accident.

There is a clash between the authorities of the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey and the Rockaway Valley Railroad, which joins the latter at Whitehouse. This road extends across to Morristown and Mendham, and its only outlet has been over the Central. It carries a large amount of freight, 200,000 baskets of peaches having been shipped over its line this season.

The trouble arose over an accident which recently happened at Whitehouse. The Rockaway Valley passenger trains are backed upon the Central tracks to await the connecting train. Through some carelessness this train was backed up in front of a fast Central express, and several cars were wrecked and one or two persons injured. The Central now refuses to allow the Rockaway to use its tracks, and Superintendent Pidcock, of the Rockaway road, threatens to form a junction with the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western at Peapack and send his freight and passengers over that route.

CRANFORD CARRIERS.

Twenty candidates will try the second civil service examinations for letter carriers for Cranford which will be held Monday, November 6th. Applications have been received from Perth Amboy, Rahway, Elizabeth and Lyons Farms, as well as from citizens of that place.

It was expected the free delivery system would begin at this place October 1st, but owing to the failure of of the applicants to pass the necessary examination, delay was the result. It is now said the system will begin about December 1st provided the applicants pass examinations.

REFEREE WAS NOT FOR ALIS ELEVEN.

His Decisions Robbed Plainfielders Of Game.

FINALLY CALLED IT A TIE.

SORRY EXPERIENCE OF ALIS TEAM AGAINST ORIENTS OF NEWARK.

Newark Boys Were Heavier But the Plainfielders Outplayed Them—Green Pushed Over the Line For a Touchdown—Newark Scored Its So-called Touchdown In the Dark While Alis Boys Talked to Referee

The Alis football team played a game in Newark Saturday afternoon but the result of that game still remains rather uncertain. A dispute between the two teams delayed play until it was too dark to see and while the Alis team was talking to the officials, the eleven of the Orient Field Club carried the ball down the field and made a touchdown. The Alis boys had already made one which was disputed.

The Orient team was a strong one and had not been defeated this season. Although heavier than the visiting eleven, the Orients lacked the excellent team work. The first half was very exciting but neither side scored. The ball was in the home club's territory most of the time, however.

The ball was gradually forced down the field in the second half and finally a few minutes before time was up, Green was sent over the line for touchdown. After shouting "down," he left the ball on the ground and walked away whereupon a Newark player dropped on it, declaring that Green had failed to make a touchdown. The referee apparently didn't know what to do so he declared it a safety, scoring two for the Alis team.

The Plainfield contingent objected to such ruling and called it robbery. It grew dark very rapidly as the question was argued. Finally Captain Roy Phillips requested the referee to call the game as it was no longer possible to see the players any distance. Then the Newark men got together, kicked off without any opposition from the Alis team and carried the ball down the field for an alleged touchdown. The referee called it a touchdown.

The Plainfielders again objected to the ruling and the trouble ended by both teams going home, the Plainfielders claiming the game by a score of 5 to 0, while the Orient team declared it 5 to 2, or 5 to 5.

The following is the lineup:

OUT TO SEE THE WORLD.

Precocious Philadelphia Youngsters Left Home With 25 Cents for Traveling Expenses.

Two Philadelphia lads determined Saturday morning to see something of the world. Their cash capital was limited to the sum of 25 cents so they decided to forego the pleasures of Pullman cars and utilize the freight trains for transportation.

The lads were Ernest Shie, fifteen years old, of 3201 Ridge street, and Charles Scott, seventeen years old, of 2.09 Thirtieth street, Philadelphia. Their parents are well-to-do. The boys have been acquainted for just three days, but their spirits were of a congenial nature and they got on rapidly together. They left a freight train here Saturday afternoonn and wandered about town until 1 o'clock Sunday morning. Sergeant Kiely and Patrolman Mattox found them waiting for a freight train to carry them back home.

The boys were locked up over night and their parents notified. Last evening Mr. Scott came to Plainfield and took the boys home. He thanked the police for capturing the runaways, but the boys are likely to remember the affair before their parents are done with them.

There was a large attendance at the funeral of Dr. Thomas Jefferson Jackson, which was held at Springfield yesterday afternoon. The services were conducted at the late home of the deceased. There were so many present to pay their respects to the deceased that the house was not of sufficient size to accommodate all and hundreds stood about on the outside.

SERIOUS KIND OF PLAY.

BAD BOYS STAND THE CHANCE OF SPENDING A NIGHT IN LOCKUP.

They Are Up to Mean Pranks in the Neighborhood of Westervelt Avenue—Residents are Completely Exasperated.

There are several boys living on Westervelt and Sandford avenues who stand a good chance of sleeping in the lock-up tonight, as a strict watch is being kept on their movements. For several weeks they have been a nuisance with neighbors and have become finally so obnoxious that complaint to the police has been found necessary.

They have thrown young girls from their wheels by inserting sticks through their spokes, have raced along the sidewalks on their own wheels, have been caught red handed throwing heavy rocks into front halls and numerous other acts of petty annoyance. But the latest outrages have been committed with an air-gun, powerful enough to kill a child, with which windows have been smashed, and from the bullets of which there have been several narrow escapes. It self-protection the neighbors have found it expedient to stop the business of annoyance, and stop it quick and for good.

TROLLEY TO CROSS B. & O. ON VIADUCT.

Obstruction at South Cranford to Be Overcome.

IS A DANGEROUS CROSSING.

DURING THE WINTER PASSENGERS WILL BE TRANSFERRED.

B. & O. Officials Opposed the Trolley Going Across Their Tracks on Account of the Danger From Switching Cars—Lehigh Valley Crossing at Aldene to be Gone Over by Trolley at Grade.

After being held up in their work of completing their trolley line between this city and Elizabeth by the opposition of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company at the latter's crossing at South Cranford, the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company have come to an agreement with the company and arrangements have been made for a satisfactory settlement of the contention. The opposition of the B & O was based on the fact that it was proposed to have the trolley road cross their tracks on a grade. At that point the traffic is very heavy, as cars are being switched back and forth constantly. The railroad officials were fearful of accidents when the trolley was put in operation, and were opposed to the grade crossing.

In the negotiations between the officials of the two companies that have taken place recently this view of of the matter has been impressed upon the trolley men, with the suggestion that the crossing should be made on a viaduct. This arrangement was not only advocated for the safety of the passengers using the trolley cars, but as well for quick service, as it was shown that at times the crossing is blocked for several minutes with passing trains, and that at such periods the trolley cars would lose materially on their schedule time. A few days ago H. C. VanEmburgh, civil engineer for the trolley company, drove to the B. and O. crossing with a horse and carriage and it took him twenty minutes to get to the other side of the tracks on account of switching cars.

The trolley officials have therefore decided to accept the suggestion of the B. & O. officials and a viaduct will be built over the crossing for the use of the trolley cars. But it is found that this work cannot be done till winter, and as the trolley line will be in operation before snow flies it has been determined that during the winter that trolley cars approaching from each direction will stop at either edge of the crossing and the passengers will be compelled to walk across the tracks in order to transfer from one car to another. It is realized that this arrangement will cause dissatisfaction, but as the B. & O. is resolute in their attitude of not allowing the cars to run directly over their tracks, the trolley officials say that the transfer arrangement is the only way out of the difficulty.

The trouble which the trolley company encountered with the Lehigh Valley crossing at Aldene has also been adjusted and the cars will be allowed to cross at a grade, as the Lehigh switch is not used very much.

The Needle Work Guild.

All contributors to the Needle Work Guild, who have not already sent in their contributions to the directors, are asked to do so promptly, as the first of November is almost here and the work will be much facilitated if the collection can be made by that date. They were able to be of much service last winter by not only supplying our charitable organizations with new garments for the poor, but helping so many individual cases in great need of warm clothing, that they hope for an increase this year in our number of garments. The directors' meeting will be held Nov. 7th at 3 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. J. Parker Mason, 504 Stelle avenue.

VICTORIES NOT YET WON

But Democrats and Republicans Are Sure of Success in Several States.

THE CONTEST IS ACTIVE

Senator Hanna Declares Himself as Being Positive That Ohio Will Elect Nash Governor.

W. J. Bryan Predicts That Nebraska Will be Carried By The Fusionists by a Good Majority—Foraker Scored By Jones—Sherman Opposed to Enforced Annexation.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 30.—In regard to the coming election, William J. Bryan says: "We shall certainly carry Nebraska. I feel confident of it. I see the Republicans claim this State, but they should make all their boasts before the election. The Fusionist party is united here and is carrying on a most active campaign. We have tried to believe the issue close, and I believe that the new question as to weather this shall remain a republic or became a belligerent empire has aroused them greatly.

"I cannot say as to the approximate majority in Nebraska, but I think it will be substantial. Poynter, the present Governor, carried the State last year by only 3,700 and I believe that we shall make good increase over that. Sullivan for Supreme Justice carried it by 7,060 in 1897, and my own majority in the Presidential race of 1896 was 13,000.

"The imperialistic issue will gain votes for the Democrats everywhere. So far as my observation has extended at my own meetings in Ohio, Iowa and Kentucky, the people are very earnest and attentive, and I believe that they are studying with the greatest seriousness the important subjects now at issue."

Orlando Teft, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, said:

"The Republican party is in position to win this year, and I am confident of success. We are relying on the good times to carry us to victory."

Hanna Sure of Ohio.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 30.—Senator Hanna, in discussing the political outlook in the Buckeye State says: "In many respects the forthcoming election will be most important. The outcome of this year's contest in the President's own State will be regarded as a forerunner to the big campaign of 1900, and for this reason alone I believe the voters, a great majority of whom are in hearty accord with President McKinley's Administration, will not vote to discredit it."

"You ask about the probable majority. I cannot say anything on this, because it would be in the nature of a guess.

"I know this, however, or at least I believe I know, that Judge Nash and the Republican ticket will be triumphantly elected."

Hot Fight in Maryland.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 30.—The final week of the campaign promises to be a most lively one. In the city both parties are working hard for the independent vote. The publication of the address of the Committee of Forty of the Gold Democracy declaring for the Republican State ticket was a bombshell for the Democrats, but they have succeeded in securing the names of nearly every one of the presidents of local trust companies, and have published favorable letters from a number of influential independent Democrats, including the President of the Reform League.

Chairman Shryock, of the Republican Committee, said:

"Our party is in first-class shape in the city and county. There were differences and some splits in a number of cases, but these have now all been adjusted, and the party machinery is working smoothly. In the city we shall poll practically the entire independent vote. This will elect Mr. Lowndes in November, as it did four years ago."

Mr. John Walter Smith, the Democratic nominee, says:

"I see no reason to change my opinion that I will be elected. On the contrary I expect a larger majority than I at first hoped for."

Mayor Jones Tackles Foraker.

Toledo, Oct. 30.—Mayor Jones has given out an interview, replying to Senator Joseph B. Foraker, who recently said in a Columbus speech that Jones represented nobody but himself. Said Mayor Jones, in reply:

"It is evident that Senator Foraker's conception of government is that it should be a government of bosses. I wonder how the people who signed my petition will like his ill-tempered slur that I represent only myself. If I am elected Governor I will be absolutely free of promises, of any kind, and will make appointments on the merit system without regard to party affiliations.

"Senator Foraker knows that before a candidate can secure a nomination from any of the parties he is owned soul and body by the party bosses. He knows that the special privileges of Cincinnati are farmed out as a reward for party service. I have by every honorable means tried to get Messrs. Nash and McLean to debate these issues and have failed, but I would be pleased to have Senator Foraker take the place of either of them. I will divide my time with him from now until election."

Sherman on Philippines.

Columbus, Oct. 30.—In response to an inquiry as to his views on the Philippines question addressed to ex-Secretary of State John Sherman, he says:

"I am strongly opposed to enforced annexation of the Philippine Islands. We co-operated with the Filipinos in driving the Spanish out, and should now help them to form a Republican government of their own.

"The seizure of any part of the Philippines against their will is a gross violation of the law of nations."

FITZSIMMONS WON EASILY.

It Took Him One Minute to Put The Englishman To Sleep.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Jeff Thorne of England was knocked out by Bob Fitzsimmons in one minute of fighting at Tattersall's Saturday night. Thorne evidently was afraid of Fitzsimmons. He did not land a single blow, and only made one slight attempt to lead with his left, the blow falling short by several inches.

The blow delivered by Fitzsimmons was a short left jolt which did not pass through six inches of space before landing on Thorne's jaw. After Thorne was counted out Fitzsimmons picked him up bodily and carried him to his corner, placing him on a chair which Sam Fitzpatrick had placed on the platform.

Thorne, after being carried to his corner, was surrounded by a group of friends, who labored anxiously to bring him to. He was drenched with cold water, Fitzsimmons doing what he could for the vanquished man. Thorne was held in his chair by Sam Fitzpatrick and Joe Sullivan, and although able to move slightly was as dead to the world as when he lay on the ring floor.

He was in his corner twelve minutes and then was carried from the ring by his seconds, unable to walk.

Fitzsimmons fought with all his old-time fire, and was as spry and shifty on his feet as he ever had been.

Betting Is Rather Light.

New York, Oct. 30.—Although only five days intervene between now and the date of one of the greatest heavyweight battles ever fought in the prize ring, betting on the result is singularly light. Interest in the battle between Jim Jeffries and Tom Sharkey for the championship of the world is keen enough, but the supporters of both men seem loath to wager their money on the result.

In a sense this is a tribute to the mill itself and a certain indication of the fact that a majority of sporting men believe that the two big pugilists are evenly matched. It will not take much to turn the tide of battle either way—one good blow in a vulnerable spot and the receiver of the punch probably will be through fighting for the night.

Jeffries's admirers outnumber the friends of Sharkey, but what the latter lack in numbers they make up in stanchness and in a degree of confidence which is excelled only by that which Sharkey has in himself. Those who intend to back the champion have an idea that the odds will shorten before the day of the mill and that they will get as good as even money.

Woman In Man's Attire.

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 30.—A letter received here by the wife of Bandmaster Coe, of the Twenty-ninth infantry, United States volunteers, says that when the transport carrying the regiment to Manila arrived at Honolulu one of the employes of the ship became very ill, but refused to take medicine or have the attendance of a physician. Colonel Hardin ordered a surgeon to attend the case, and it was discovered that the patient was a woman in man's attire, going to the Philippines to report for an American newspaper. She refused to disclose her name or of the paper by which she was employed.

Made it Warm For The "Healer."

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 30.—John A. Dowie, the "divine healer," was mobbed here while attempting to deliver an address. He was chased down the street by a yelling crowd, and managed to catch a trolley car just ahead of his pursuers. The crowd made desperate efforts to reach Dowie, and showers of stones were hurled at the car, smashing every window in it. Dowie and his companions escaped with a few bruises.

Died for Some One.

New York, Oct. 30.—A man supposed to be John Graham, forty years old, found unconscious at Eighty-fourth street and West End avenue, and taken to the Presbyterian Hospital, died by poison, self-administered it is thought. In one of the pockets of his coat was a letter addressing simply: "Mrs. John Graham: You would die for me, so I will now die for you. John." Coroner's Physician Weston was notified, and he will investigate the case.

Business Man Dies of Rabies.

Laporte, Ind., Oct. 30.—Joseph Gere, of Albion, this State, died Sunday of hydrophobia. Gere was a wealthy business man. The peculiar feature of his case was the development of the rabies after a lapse of twenty-one years. When Gere was bitten the wound was cauterized and it gave him no trouble. Two days ago he began to froth at the mouth and the violent symptoms of rabies developed, a condition resulting from the bite of the dog twenty-one years ago.

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 30.—J. J. Hill has contracted in England for the construction of two immense steel steamships for the trans-Pacific trade between Seattle and Japan. It is stated a Clyde firm has the contract, and that the ships will be forty-six feet longer that the new Oceanic. Each will be 750 feet long and 20,000 tons burden.

Kingston, Jamaica Inundated.

Kingston, Jamaica, Oct. 30.—Jamaica is flooded as the result of three days of continuous rainstorms, and this city is covered with water to the depth of eight inches. Business has been suspended practically and railway traffic is blocked on both sections.

Collum to Command Soldiers' Home.

Philadelphia, Oct. 30.—Capt. Richard S. Collum of this city has been appointed Commander of the Sailors' and Soldiers' Home at Erie, Pa., to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Major W. W. Tyson, who resigned because of ill health.

SMALL TERRITORY IS HELD

Much Work Yet to Be Accomplished By Americans in the Philippines.

FILIPINOS INDEPENDENT.

They Boldly Announce That There is But One Proposition They Will Give Consideration.

A Chicago Newspaper Correspondent At Manila Sums Up The Situation —Says Americans Hold Only 117 Square Miles Out of 42,000 in The Island of Luzon.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 30.—The Tribune prints a summary of the situation in the Philippine Islands from its special correspondent, sent by mail under date of Manila, September 14, in which he says:

"Here are some figures, made seven months and a half after our campaign against the Filipinos began. Say it is five miles to Angeles—we hold possession of the railroad up to that point. We can fairly claim possession of the land a half mile on each side of the track.

"We have possession of the wagon road, and, let us say, a half mile on each side from San Fernando, through Bacolor to Santa Rita, eight miles, with four miles to Guaga. We have a road from Malolos to Baliuag, eleven miles northeast. We can claim eleven square miles here.

"We have Manila, out as far as the waterworks, five miles away. That gives us, say, twenty-five miles around the city. Then we have the road and a half mile each side down eighteen miles to Imus. Then we have Calamba and some other points on the lake that General Lawton captured before he was ordered back. These towns are not approached by road, but by boat across the Laguna de Bay, and only control the land they stand on.

Territory Actually Held.

"Adding up our total possessions, we find we have 117 square miles. The island of Luzon contains 42,000 square miles.

"Outside of Luzon the insurrection seems to be growing. The Filipinos hold ports in Mindanao, the next largest island to Luzon in the Philippines, said to be incalculably rich in gold and silver mines, iron and copper ores and other minerals, besides possessing wonderful forests of hard wood. No Americans have dared venture there as yet, as General Otis has sent no troops to the island.

"From what can be learned from the Filipinos they are well satisfied with the present condition of affairs. Their Congress has just returned a communication to the American Peace Commission declaring that while they would have accepted autonomy from our government if they had been properly dealt with at first, they will now consider no proposition except independence.

"With almost 42,000 miles of territory from which to draw supplies, and with boats coming in without any opposition from Hong Kong, Japan, and from Central and South America and Australia, the natives probably are doing well, as far as supplies are concerned."

They Routed The Filipinos.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The War Department has received the following dispatch from General Otis:

"Young struck natives at Santa Rosa, north of San Isidro, yesterday, driving them; captured some of their property. Casualties, two killed, one wounded. Evans, of Sixth infantry, struck robber band, Negros, 27th inst.; killed ten, wounding many, capturing twenty prisoners. Simons, Sixth infantry, struck a small band; dispersed them; killed three. No casualties."

The Forty-seventh volunteer infantry, now in Camp Meade, Pa., has been ordered to New York City on November 4, to embark for the Philippine Islands on the transport Thomas.

Cromwell to Take Schley's Place.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Rear Admiral Cromwell, who has had command of the naval station at Havana since its establishment in January, has been detached from that duty and ordered to Washington with a view to his assignment to duty as president of the Naval Retiring Board, an office just vacated by Rear Admiral W. S. Schley, the new Commander-in-Chief of the South Atlantic station.

Young Lee Made a Lieutenant.

Washington, Oct. 30.—George M. Lee, son of Brigadier General Fitzhugh Lee, has been appointed first lieutenant in the Thirty-ninth infantry, and ordered to accompany the Forty-seventh infantry from New York to the Philippines. Young Lee was at one time a cadet at the Military Academy, but failed to graduate.

To Reopen Part of D. & H. Canal.

Middletown, N. Y., Oct. 30.—The superintendent, Mr. Rose of the Cornell Steamboat Company, announces that the Delaware and Hudson Canal, recently abandoned, will be reopened in the spring, between Cuddebackville and Rondout.

Deal For 100,000 Tons of Pig Iron.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 30.—The National Steel Company has closed a deal for 100,000 tons of Bessemer pig iron at $23 a ton The order is distributed among several blast furnace companies and must be filled within eight months.

They Held Up The Constable.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Constable Martin Howe was held up by highwaymen at Fifth avenue and Van Buren street. The robbers secured a gold watch, revolver and $10 from the officer.

Yellow Fever in Jackson, Miss.

Jackson, Oct. 30.—Two more cases of yellow fever have been reported here. One of these is Mrs. Sims, wife of the Superintendent of the State Institute for the Blind.

YAQUI INDIANS CAPTURED.

A Squad of Mexican Cavalry Brings in Thirty Prisoners.

Austin, Tex., Oct. 30.—A despatch from Oritz, State of Sonora, Mexico, says that a squad of Mexican cavalry has arrived there having in charge a party of about thirty Yaqui Indian prisoners, who were captured near Sahuaripa a few days ago. These prisoners are being taken to Guaymas where they will be confined. The fact that these prisoners are alive proves the untruth of the report that has been current that all Indian prisoners captured up to this time had been shot. It is known, however, that a number of prisoners have met their death at the hands of the soldiers, but it is said that they were attempting to escape when shot.

It is learned from these recent arrivals from the Indian country that the expected general engagement between the troops and Indians has not yet taken place. The Yaquis have moved their camp to the mountains some distance northeast of Sahuaripa.

DIVORCE BROKE HER HEART.

Toledo Woman Dies of Despair After Being Deserted.

Toledo, O., Oct. 30.—Mrs. Catherine Baackes, the former wife of Frank E. Baackes, general manager of the American Wire and Steel Company, is dead at the home of her mother in this city. She died from a broken heart and despair, brought about by her separation from her husband, who is now traveling in Europe, and from whom she obtained a divorce on Oct. 6 on the ground of desertion.

Baackes draws an enormous salary and is wealthy. When the divorce was granted some stock was settled upon her. Soon after the divorce she began to fail, and finally a friend went into court and asked that a guardian be appointed upon the ground that she was becoming an imbicile. She leaves one son.

Baackes first organized the Salem Wire Nail Company. In a few years the concern absorbed the nail company of Newcastle, Pa., the factory at Findlay, and then at Cleveland, which were all classed as the Salem Wire Nail Company. Operations were carried on under this name until the recent trust was formed, Baackes being made general manager, with offices in Chicago.

Shoplifters in Trouble.

South Norwalk, Conn., Oct. 30.—The police have in custody two women and a man, believed to be expert shoplifters from New York. A fourth member of the party, a man, escaped. The two women said they were May Cohen and Fannie Schael of No. 105 Allen street, New York, and the man says he is Abe Jackson of No. 171 Allen street. The two women and a man acted suspiciously in a local clothing store and when they left the place they were followed. They were seen to go behind a building on Monroe street, where ten coats and six pairs of trousers subsequently were found. The women were arrested shortly after, but the man could not be found. Later at the railroad station a man giving the name of Jackson was arrested while in the act of shipping a number of bundles containing clothing to New York.

Natural Gas Company Purchased.

East Liverpool, Ohio, Oct. 30.—The Fort Pitt Natural Gas Company of Pittsburg has bought out the Bridgewater Gas Company, which has been for years supplying East Liverpool, Wellsville, Rochester, Monaca, Bridgewater, Beaver Falls and New Brighton with gas for fuel and lighting. The consideration has not been made public, but is said to be about $1,000,000.

To Reform Church of Mexico.

Torreon, Mexico, Oct. 30.—Archbishop Alarcon, who represented the Catholic Church of Mexico at the recent conference in Rome, has arrived here on his way to the City of Mexico. It is reliably reported that he has received instructions from the Pope to immediately inaugurate some far-reaching reforms in the Church of Mexico.

Finest Transport in The World.

New York, Oct. 30.—Elihu Root, Secretary of War, and a distinguished party, including several representatives of foreign governments, has made a careful inspection of the United States transport Thomas, at the Pacific street pier, Brooklyn. All acknowledge that she is probably the finest transport in the world.

Negro's Victim is Dead.

Jeffersonville, Ga., Oct. 30.—J. T. Robertson, a young man of Dalzell, about ten miles from here, who was stabbed by the negro Goolsby whom he had taken out of jail, is dead. Goolsby is the negro who was taken from his father's home Friday and hanged and shot to death by a mob of white men.

TEETH.

If you have any to be extracted remember you will not be hurt in the slightest. My local anesthetic is the best that can be obtained and is not known to the other dentists in this city. Gas strictly fresh administered by an expert if you want that. If you need artificial teeth you may rest assured that the greatest care will be exercised in selecting shape and color to harmonize with the face, also to restore the features to their natural expression and fullness. This is most important.

THE GROCER.

Park Avenue and Fourth Street.

My age is forty-two, and I am a housekeeper for a family. Ripans Tabules were first taken by me for dyspepsia, headache and bad heartburn. They were given by a friend, and they helped me so that I bought a box, and I would not now do without them. They are the best thing I ever tried. I tried different things, but none which did me as much good as Ripans Tabules have. I still take them in the morning. I would eat my breakfast, then would throw it up, and would be so sick and have the headache so that I would have to go to bed; my heartburn would come on and I would be in misery all the rest of the day until I took a Ripans Tabule. Now I feel like another woman, and don't throw my meals up. I am in earnest and thankful that there is such a good medicine to help any one.

A new style packet containing TEN RIPANS TABULES in a paper carton (without glass) is now for sale at some drug stores—FOR FIVE CENTS. This low priced sort is intended for the poor and the economical. One dozen of the five-cent cartons (120 tabules) can be had by mail by sending forty-eight cents to the RIPANS CHEMICAL COMPANY, No. 10 Spruce street, New York—or a single carton (TEN TABULES) will be sent for five cents. RIPANS TABULES may also be had of grocers, general storekeepers, news agents and at liquor stores and barber shops.

WILL HAVE THEM PUNISHED.

Berkley's Father Swears Vengeance On Cornell Students.

St. Louis, Oct. 30.—"I believe my son was murdered, and so long as God gives me breath I will not cease my efforts to bring his murderers to justice." So spoke Edward J. Berkley at the Union station just prior to taking a train for the East, where he had been summoned by telegraphic announcement of the tragic death of his son, a Cornell Student at Geneva, N. Y.

"Yes, he was murdered," continued the father, murdered for fun—for the amusement of members of that secret society he was to be initiated into. The despatches say he was ordered to carry a note across a canal, and when his body was found the note was found in his hand.

"I intend to see that the man who ordered him to carry that note, and every one else connected with the affair, is punished as fully as they deserve. I have wired the authorities at Cornell University, and also the Sheriff and the Coroner, to arrest all parties implicated in my son's death. I am going on there at once and will make a thorough investigation of the whole affair. My son's death will not go unavenged, as long as I have life left to avenge it."

Mr. Berkley left on the noon train for Geneva. He wired his wife, who is visiting in Brooklyn, to meet him on his arrival. The dead boy was 17 years of age and an only child. This was his first year at college.

Made a Successful Voyage.

Langtry, Tex., Oct. 30.—Prof. Robert T. Hill, of the United States Geological Survey, and four companions have arrived here from their perilous voyage through the canyons of the Rio Grande, their trip being the second successful one down the treacherous river ever attempted. The party left Presidio, Tex., over two weeks ago, and completed the 500 miles of the torturous course of the river without seeing a sign of human habitation until they arrived here. The trip was full of adventure, and it is a wonder that the three boats were not capsized and all members of the party drowned while passing through the rapids which are found at frequent intervals in the deep and gloomy canyons. At some places the perpendicular walls rise to a height of several hundred feet, and the narrow channel through which the river flows affords no landing or resting for many miles. At one place in the canyon there is a waterfall of 180 feet depth. It was with the greatest difficulty that the boats were lifted out of the canyon and carried around this fall.

Prof. Hill and the other members of the party are enthusiastic over the results obtained by the trip.

Soldiers Honor Dead General.

New York, Oct. 30.—Military honors, splendid and impressive, were paid to Guy V. Henry, the dead brigadier general, Sunday, when the largest military funeral parade seen in this city for many years took place. The body of the General was taken from his former home at No. 139 Madison avenue, to the Twenty-third street ferry, preparatory to removing it to Washington, where a plot in celebrated Arlington Cemetery had been waiting since 1891.

Reached Crozier Channel.

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 30.—Captain Newth, of the whaling steamer Jeanette, who has arrived from the Arctic, reports that he reached Crozier Channel, latitude 71.3, longitude 120 west. No other American vessel has ever made Crozier Channel, but fifty years ago, Captain Newth says, three English vessels wintered at Mercy Bay, Banksland. The channel closed up, however, and the Englishmen were forced to abandon their vessels.

Treasurer Made Good the Loss.

Marion, Ind., Oct. 30.—The report that a sum of money is missing from the treasurer's office at the Soldiers' Home here has caused much excitement among the officials of that institution. On each pension day at the Home about $75,000 is paid among the veterans. The amount stolen, $1,710, was taken from Treasurer Heichert's safe on the last pension day, about a month ago. He is held responsible for all the money and has already made good the loss.

Couldn't Take Oath of Fidelity.

Havana, Oct. 30.—General Lacret, the former Cuban Commander, has had offered to him the post of Inspector of Prisons and Police by Senor Capote, head of the Department of Government, at a salary of $200 a month. Lacret replied that he was grateful for the offer, but that he could not accept a position in which he would have to take the oath of fidelity, in spite of the fact that he badly needed the money.

Magician Dies of His Wound.

New York, Oct. 30.—Magician Hatal, who was shot accidentally during a performance here Saturday night, has died of his wound. Hatal was doing Herman's trick of catching a bullet between his teeth. The gun was fired with a genuine bullet in it which entered his breast just above the heart, costing him his life.

Yale Professor a "Peeper."

New Haven, Oct. 30.—Professor F. H. Chase, instructor of English in Yale, was brought before the City Court Saturday charged with "peeping" at the homes of prominent residents of New Haven. He was caught by Detective Dunn in the yard of Edward Goebel. He was released on bond.

Millionaire Perkins Dead.

Boston, Oct. 30.—Commodore George H. Perkins, U. S. N. (retired), and father of Mrs. Larz Anderson, died from heart failure in his home on Commonwealth avenue. He was many times a millionaire and prominent in railroad circles.

Minister Pinochet Dead.

Valparaiso, Chili, via Galveston, Texas, Oct. 30.—Senor Greregorio E. Pinochet, Minister of Industry and Public Works, died here from pneumonia. The government will take charge of the funeral.

THE BOERS PLANNED WELL

Had Arranged Their Campaign Long Before Hostilities Were Declared.

TO FIGHT OR RETREAT.

This Seems to Be About the Present Alternative That is Confronting General White.

The Boers Again Assume An Aggressive Attitude—A Feeling of Uneasiness Exists in London for The Safety of British Troops—A Patrol of Mounted Infantry Shelled by Boers.

London, Oct. 30.—The Daily Mail publishes the following dispatch from Pietermaritzburg, dated on Sunday:

"Patrols from Ladysmith report that there are four Boer camps within a radius of ten miles, extending in a semi-circle northeast of the town. Evidently the enemy is concentrating all his forces. Commandant General Joubert is in supreme command. One Boer laager has a Red Cross tent carefully posted in a conspicuous position.

"The British had several skirmishes with the enemy to-day. Railway communication with Ladysmith still is intact. At Colenso a couple of Basutos were detected putting bowlders on the railway. They confessed that they had done this by order of the Transvaal authorities.

"A war balloon, very small and so light that two men can hold and haul it down easily with a wire strand, and which can ascend 3,000 feet, is now in use, and the full position of the Boer guns has been ascertained."

Planned Campaign in Advance.

London, Oct. 30.—All eyes in England are turned toward Northern Natal, where General White's force and the united armies of Free State and Transvaal Boers may already have fought a great battle.

Until Saturday evening not a word had come from Ladysmith since Wednesday, when it was reported that the Boers were showing signs of resuming the aggressive. The silence, which to many seemed ominous, was broken by this despatch from Cape Town:

"Scouts from Modder Spruit having reported the Boers in force on the Helpmakaar road, General White at once ordered out a strong force of artillery, mounted infantry and cavalry. A small patrol of mounted infantry was shelled by the Boers nine miles from Ladysmith, and the Boer position was finally located three miles beyond Modder Spruit. The British force is now four miles from the Boers."

The despatch does not give the date of this reconnoissance, but if the Boer advance from Dundee southward and from Besters Station eastward proceeded steadily the engagement foreshadowed by the despatch may already have been fought.

Alternative Is Fight or Retreat.

In the view of military men, General White is in scarcely a more reassuring position now than he was at the outbreak of the war. While he has shown his ability to outwit the Boers' strategy, he has apparently reached the limit of this game of war, by which he was able to prevent the massing of the Boer columns, and must now give fight or retreat.

Many persons think he should rest content with the successes so far attained and fall back on Colenso, since he appears to be able to move his forces quickly and without loss. It is believed, however, that he will not follow this course, but will prefer to hold Ladysmith, even against much superior numbers, until reinforced. The feeling that he intends to do this creates some uneasiness, for victories over Boer units are not believed to indicate that the same result can be achieved over the Boers when massed.

Boer Plans Well Matured.

The rapidity of the Boer advance and the tenacity of the endeavors of their columns to concentrate on General White have proved that the Boers' plans were matured long before hostilities displaced negotiations, and, though they may be unable to stand before the brilliant charges of the British troops or serve their artillery with the skill of their opponents, they are a mobile force and operate harmoniously under a carefully prepared plan of campaign.

By November 4 the last troop ship should have sailed, but the army corps will scarcely take the field until the end of December. There is a lull in the departure of the troops forming the army corps, owing, the Admiralty officials say, to the troops not being ready.

Only Two Officers May Go.

Washington, Oct. 30.—The War Department has been obliged to reconsider its determination to send four army officers to observe the military operations in South Africa, as the British authorities have made known that it would be impossible to give adequate facilities to such a number. Other foreign governments have made application to send officers with the British forces, and if four were accommodated from each government it would make an unusually large contingent.

Acting on this suggestion, the War Department has determined that Captain Slocum and perhaps Captain Gibson will constitute the United States representation, although it may be found necessary to restrict the representation to Captain Slocum, who is on his way to the Cape.

Teamster Killed by His Horses.

New Rochelle, N. Y., Oct. 30.—E. H. Dower, a teamster, 27 years old, employed by J. A. Mahlstedt & Co., lumber merchants, was taking a load of shingles along Beechwood avenue when several bundles fell from the wagon. The noise frightened the horses and they dashed down hill. Dower was thrown from his seat directly under their feet. Their hoofs crushed his skull in and he died almost instantly

COMING EVENTS.

October 30—S. T. Ford, humorist and impersonator, and J. J. Fisher, baritone, at Y. M. C. A. Star Course.

Governor Roosevelt made twenty speeches during his two days trip through Maryland. In his eleven days of stumping in Nebraska ColonelBryan is scheduled for eighty set speeches—seventeen on one day. These eighty speeches are expected to he followed by twenty others not actually on the programme. To make these hundred talks Colonel Bryan will travel over three thousand miles in his adopted State by special and ordinary trains and by wagon. These statistics leads the Philadelphia Record to comment: "Many interesting inventions and developments are characteristic of the century so soon to come to a close, and by no means the least among these is the up-to-date, Roosevelt-and-Bryan style campaign orator — a talking machine which well nigh outspeeds electricity itself. If the capacity for speechmaking of these campaign orators of today shall increase in the twentieth century at the rate developed in the nineteenth, what matter of stump orator will he be who shall attempt to politically evangelize our grandchildren, say, three generations hence?"

Despite the fact that the Common Council has placed the police department out of political influence by giving the members life tenure, there is not the satisfaction under the new order of things that was to be expected. There is still a feeling of jealousy displayed among the men which is not conducive to the best service to which the citizens of Plainfield are entitled. It has been said by city officials that they do not know the politics of the men on the force. But the police themselves know the politics of the city officials and they have mixed up with some of them in an embarrassing manner.

Princeton shut out by Cornell; Yale shut out by Columbia; Pennsylvania tied by Chicago, and Harvard scored on twice by the Indians, made Saturday a day of football surprises. Here is a setback for every member of the "big four," and two of them disgraced just as Pennsylvania was disgraced a week before by Lafayette. It begins to look as though the days of big fours or big fives, or any other number of bigs, is a thing of the past in football.

Though Silas Dewey Drake, the famous land boomer, edits a newspaper of his town, in which he appeals to a special constituency, he realizes that The Daily Press reaches a clientage that his paper does not, and therefore he has displayed his good judgment by contracting for a big "ad" in The Daily Press for one year. The above picture shows Mr. Drake ensconced in his own elegantly-appointed office on North avenue, from whence eminates some of the original ideas that have made Drake famous throughout the land.

Thomas Jefferson Jackson, who died at his home in Springfield last Thursday night, was a noble and magnificent type of manhood. In physique and manner he possessed all the sturdy and pleasant characteristics that we delight to associate with gentlemen. He was genial, courteous and dignified in all his actions—in fact, the personification of all the qualities that are admirable in men. He was well known in this city and his death is a cause for profound sorrow and regret in the circle of his acquaintances.

The San Francisco Call referring to alluring pictures of ungathered wealth in the Philippines, says: "Neither the labor laws, customs nor wages in the Philippines will be on an equality with those at home. Vast fortunes may be made there by a few of our countrymen, as the Dutch have made them in Java and the English in Ceylon, but the masses of our people will not participate in them, but will plod along in the place and way fixed by nature."

There is just one week remaining for campaigning. It will be a hustling seven days for the politicians.

Union was the last county in the State to complete party nominations.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest to Plainfield.

The Plainfield newspapers, which emphatically declared that Plainfield Republicans would come to the county convention united upon one man and demanding recognition, are now scratching their heads trying to explain how it was that the Plainfield delegation was divided and hopelessly split up on every nomination made from that city.—Elizabeth Journal.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The sudden death of Dr. Thomas Jefferson Jackson, of Springfield, brings to mind that this is the third sudden death of physicians residing at his late home. Dr. Nicholas Jobs was found dead in his chair; his successor, his son, Dr. Nicholas, Jobs, Jr., shot himself accidentally, and now the sad and sudden death of Dr. Jackson.

All over the country there is this fall a wonderful abundance of nuts. There are garrets in the farming districts in which one could wade up to the knees in chestnuts, walnuts and butternuts. Chestnuts particularly are plentiful, and this winter the farmer and the farmer's wife may be as lavish with their delicious chestnut flour as though it were the common wheaten sort.

There were a number of distinguished out-of-town guests at the performance of "A Contented Woman" Saturday evening. In the largest of the lower tier of boxes on the right of the stage was a party composed of Mr. and Mrs. J. Richard Tennant, of London, and several friends. Mrs. Tennant is a sister of Miss Belle Archer, who played in the title role. Her husband is an intimate friend of Sir Thomas Lipton, and came over to witness the yacht races. He and his wife were guests on Lipton's steam yacht Erin. J. L. Mingle, father of Miss Belle Archer, whose summer home at Bayonne, was also in the party. Richard Harlow, who made such a hit as "Isabella", in "1492," came out from New York with a party of friends to witness the performance They were seated in the orchestra circle. Plainfield society was largely represented at the play which was one of the best that has been seen in this city for a long time.

"It doesn't appear to be generally known," said the paying teller of a bank, "that when a man draws a check to his own order he needn't put a two cent stamp on it. If you, for instance, want to get out some money from your own account, all you need do is to change your check so that it reads like a receipt. Write 'received of' in front of the bank's name, cross out the words 'pay to the order of' and then fill in the spaces with the amount of money required and sign as usual, and you have there a check that is legal without a stamp. The Government decided that this could be done last August, but, like the canny Government it is, it gave no great publicity to its decision, and probably not one private person or business house in ten has ever heard of the matter. I have laughed a good deal at the innumerable skinflints who have come in here to draw money and have affixed the unneeded stamp to their checks with deep grumbles. It has delighted me to think that they have been wasting two cents in each case, and that I could, if I would, (but I wouldn't), save them a neat little sum by telling them the law. I withhold the information because I am a true patriot."

THE PEOPLES' FORUM.

Van Herwerden as a Republican.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Replying to "Netherwood Democrat's" letter in Wednesday's issue, I wish to ask if being placed upon a Citizens' ticket makes a man a Democrat? At election votes are urged for the Citizens' ticket because it is 'non-partisan" and is composed of both Democrats and Republicans. Mr. Van Herwerden has always considered himself a Republican even while on the Citizens' ticket. If the Republican party nominates him for the Common Council it will be because they recognize that he has both faithfully and creditably filled the office for the past terms and if Mr. Van Herwerden is nominated the people of the Second ward will vote for him for they value sincerity and faithfulness in a representative as a first consideration.

after you have concluded that you ought not to drink coffee. It is not a medicine but doctors order it, because it is health-ut, invigorating and appetizing. PLAINS AND FA[illegible]

(Special Correspondence of The Press.)

Scotch Plains, Oct. 30.—A disgraceful fight occurred Saturday night upon one of the early evening trolley cars from Plainfield. A number of the Italian colony and a young man from Plainfield got into an altercation. Blows were struck and the Italian pulled a revolver and flourished it about threatening to put holes through some one. He was disarmed and the car continued upon its trip to the Plains leaving the Italian to follow the ties into town. No arrests were made.

The local football eleven met and defeated the eleven from the North Plainfield High School Saturday morning by the score of 17 to 0. The local team showed up well considering the little practice they have had. While the North Plainfield team was beaten quite badly it is more than likely that the two elevens will meet again on the gridiron shortly, when North Plainfield promises to redeem itself.

The only American Indian actress in the world, Go-Won Go Mohawk, will be the attraction at Music Hall, Monday, November 6th. Go-Won-Go-Mohawk is a young Indian actress who is worth going some distance to see. The play is called "Wep-Ton-No-Mah" or "The Indian Mail Carrier," and has been written by the young lady herself.

"Blue Jeans," Joseph Arthur's famous comedy-drama of Indiana country life, manners and customs, will be seen at Music Hall Friday night. It is a strikingly realistic picture of the section of the country where the story is laid, and no small portion of its great success is due to its naturalness. There is no straining for effect even in its most thrilling scenes; and that makes the story and its stirring incidents all the more effective.

* * * * * *

The scenery of "A Young Wife," which will be presented at Music Hall Wednesday night, is said to be very elaborate. The first act set, which is the library of the Douglass county residence near New York city, was fashioned after the real residence of a famous New York banker. All the scenery effects, properties and draperies, that were used during the long rung run at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, New York, will also be seen here. Malcom Williams, one of the leading actors of "A Young Wife" company, is a song writer of considerable reputation, having written "My Ann Elizer" and several other very popular ballads. He has written a song especially for the "A Young Wife" company which is introduced in the second act and sung by the comedian of the play, Mr. Gillingwater, entitled "Everything is Lovely on the Bowery." It has a very catchy, swinging air, and will doubtless be very much whistled on the streets after the company appears here.

An Indian Bridal Pair.

"Once I saw a pretty thing, a young bride of the Kickapoos, on a sort of wedding trip. She was tall and slight and—so closely do the members of a tribe resemble one another—she looked like the twin sister of her young husband. At first they were accompanied by a stout old chief, but he left after circus day. It is odd to see an Indian chief patronize the peanut and lemonade stands, and sit unmoved at the performance, and yet stand enthralled before the cages of animals unknown on his native prairies. The bride and bridegroom spent three or four days in the town, wandering about as unconsciously as Adam and Eve in the Garden. The man was already masterful and protecting, the girl shy and subservient. Day after day they walked hand in hand, looking at everything, people, shops, cattle, but never speaking to any one, never even to each other, yet deeply content in the consciousness of companionship. They were a living example of the happiness of simplicity, and, while they stayed in the hustling town, made many a civilized man and woman think of how far their own conduct as wives and husbands fell short of the standard of this unconscious Indian pair.—Ainslee's Magazine.

New Ideas For Winter Hats and Bonnets.

A novelty brought out for winter wear is the felt hat adorned all over or simply upon the brim with lines of stitching. These are appropriate for wear with stitched tailor made gowns.

Very large hats with high crowns have the brim covered with stitched velvet bands.

All sorts of headdresses, of all epochs, are called upon to satisfy the present fashion. There are antique bandeaux, mediaeval coronets and diadems for the ballroom, Spanish mantillas for evening use in the carriage, directory felt hats for the street and all sorts of capricious shapes for various occasions.

Felt, velvet, crape, lace, ostrich and other feathers and flowers, especially of silk and velvet, are the chief millinery materials, with the addition of jet, metal and jeweled effects of all kinds.

The shapes of hats this winter are very odd and striking, especially as regards the crown, which is sometimes small and flat, sometimes immensely tall and narrow, sometimes bell shaped. A felt brim frequently has a velvet crown, or vice versa.

A picture is given which shows the newest riding habit. It is of black cloth and has a comparatively short skirt. The tight coat has short coattails and a man's coat collar and revers and is cut away in front to show a plain vest of white pique closed by small pearl buttons. Linen cuffs and a linen collar, with turned down corners, are worn and a plastron cravat of white grosgrain. A silk riding hat accompanies the habit.

MILLINERY NOTES.

Winter Hats and Bonnets and Their Trimmings.

Velvet is strongly to the fore in winter millinery. A novel decoration for a hat is composed of coques of velvet, arranged like the petals of a flower in an enormous chou. In the middle is a jeweled ornament which represents the pistil.

Bigness characterizes most of the objects intended for hat trimmings. Mention has several times been made of the gigantic butterflies, composed of feathers or lace and spangles, which are so fashionable. Immense flowers are also in favor, great roses of velvet or immense poppies, one or two of which are sufficient for the trimming of a hat.

Tulle and mousseline, so universally used as summer millinery decoration, are now associating themselves with felt and velvet shapes for winter.

White lace veils with application designs remain in the van of fashion.

The picture shows a princess gown of steel gray cloth. It is crossed and draped at the waist under a gold buckle. The curved front of the skirt is edged by a ruffle of black mousseline de soie, and around the foot of the skirt are lines of black braiding. The bodice has a wide plastron with horizontal groups of plaits, and bretelles composed of ruffles of black mousseline de soie frame it and pass around the back, forming a bertha. The tight sleeves have groups of circular plaits. The hat, which is of black velvet, is trimmed with black ostrich feathers and a bow of pale pink velvet secured by a gold and jeweled buckle.

WOMEN WHO YACHT.

BY ETHEL DE VERE.

Yachtswomen are taking their place naturally and gracefully alongside yachtsmen as patrons and promoters of yachting, both steam and sail. Year by year this fascinating diversion is growing in popularity among women, and the number of those who own and sail their own yachts is ever increasing.

While there are hundreds of women who are good sailors and know as well as their husbands or brothers or anybody else's brother how to manage steam yachts in all sorts of sea weather, there are yet comparatively few who have fully qualified as expert skippers of sailing yachts, but the number is constantly being augmented.

During the past season the sailing of small craft was quite the fad among the women at some of the seaside resorts, particularly at Newport, and the sport developed a number of excellent sailors, among them being Mrs. William Butler Duncan of New York, who helped to sail the Esperanza through heavy sea and terrific gale to victory in a cup race off Newport.

Mrs. C. Oliver Iselin, wife of the managing owner of the Columbia, possesses remarkable skill in yacht sailing and has usually accompanied her husband on the trial trips of the Defender and the Columbia. Her knowledge of yachting is said to be more extensive and accurate than that of any other yachtswoman who sails the salt sea and sufficient to enable her to navigate a boat alone were she so inclined.

One of the most notable of women navigators is Miss Susan De Forest Day, who might exclaim with Heine, "I love the sea as my own soul!" A very considerable portion of her time is spent aboard her magnificent steam yacht, the Scythian, in ocean voyages. The yacht was once a tramp steamer. Reconstructed under her personal direction, it is now a veritable floating palace.

Miss Day is one of the pioneer yachtswomen of America and has cruised more widely than any other American woman, having sailed in most of the navigable waters on both hemispheres, being on all these trips the master of her ship and directing its course. She recently returned from an extended cruise along the coast of Labrador.

"Captain" Day, as she is called aboard the Scythian, is a splendid sailor and as trim a little skipper as ever walked a deck or called out orders to a crew of rugged sailor boys. She has a quaintly authoritative manner, coupled with a frank and pleasing smile that sends all the Scythian crew to the execution of her orders without waste of time. Aboard ship she is brave. The roughest sea has no terrors for her, for she knows neither timidity nor seasickness.

On shore Miss Day is quite another being. When the anchor drops, the bravado drops. "Captain" Day is a matter of fact master of men and machinery, rigging and charts. "Miss" Day is a modest, timid young woman. She shrinks from the public gaze and grows pale at sight of a reporter.

Miss Day is a native of New York. Her father was Henry Day of the legal firm of Lord, Day & Lord, and her mother was a sister of Daniel Lord of the same firm, both families being prominent in the society of the eastern metropolis and possessed of abundant wealth. Miss Day's first ocean cruise was made upon the advice of her physician as a relief from nervous prostration resulting from the death of her mother and a serious accident to her brother which occurred about the same time. The sea restored her health and afforded for her such a fascination that now, after nearly five years, much of the time spent on shipboard, she declares: "I have a lovely home on the water. Somehow I do not like to live on land any more."

Shortly after her return from her first ocean voyage Miss Day bought, at a comparatively small figure, the stanch tramp ship Scythia, which she remodeled and beautified to suit her taste and fancy, making of it one of the largest and most beautiful yachts afloat. It is likewise one of the coziest and most comfortable homes that can be imagined. The feminine tact for convenience and order is everywhere apparent in the ship, whose stability has been tested in many rough waters. Whether adding an unnumbered house to a Venetian street or anchored off the Yildiz kiosk, this craft is always home. It is built of thick steel and can ride in the worst storm that ever blew.

Mrs. George Gould is among the most prominent of American yachtswomen. She always accompanies her husband on his trips on their steam yacht, the Atalanta. She looks her handsomest in a snug fitting yachting costume and is an excellent sailor. The Goulds' yacht is beautifully furnished and well adapted for entertaining.

In England, where the Goulds have been on their yacht several times and where they were, with the Vigilant, once contestants for international cups, almost all the yachting notables have entertained or been entertained by them, not excepting the Prince of Wales, who has expressed his admiration for the smartness with which Mrs. Gould is always gowned.

Mrs. Howard Gould, who, with her husband, has been on their yacht, the Niagara, cruising in foreign waters, where they have entertained emperors and princes, is also a fine yachtswoman. During their voyage the emperor of Germany, himself an enthusiastic yachtsman, paid them a visit from the Hohenzollern, his own vessel, and greatly admired the beauty of the Niagara, which was built in accordance with many suggestions of Mrs. Gould when she was still Miss Katherine Clemmons.

One of the first American women to own and sail her own yacht was Mrs. Lucy Carnegie, widow of Thomas Carnegie, brother of Andrew Carnegie. When he died, about ten years ago, Mr. Thomas Carnegie left his widow about $10,000,000. The family lives during a part of the year in a handsome residence in the suburbs of Pittsburg, but the greater part of the time is spent at Dungeness, the Carnegies' country place on Cumberland island, in Fernandina bay, off the coast of Florida. Here her yacht always lies ready for use while the family is in the south. Sometimes for months Mrs. Carnegie cruises about American or foreign waters, her only companions being her daughters, the two younger of whom are unmarried and quite as fond of yachting as their mother.

The ladies of Commodore Gerry's family and those of Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan's enjoy the time that the heads of the family elect shall be spent on board their yachts. Mr. Morgan is president of the New York Yacht club. His yacht is the Corsair. His daughter, Miss Louise Morgan, is particularly interested in yachting.

Mrs. John Jacob Astor is skilled in all sorts of fashionable sport, and her acquirements as a yachtswoman are quite equal to any. The Astors' yacht, the Nourmahal, is one of the most palatial of pleasure craft, and Mrs. Astor knows just how it should be managed.

But the list might be extended almost indefinitely. These, however, sufficiently indicate the interest being taken in this fascinating sport by American women who can afford to possess yachts propelled either by steam or moved by ocean breezes.

English women have long been enthusiastic yachtswomen, their love of the sea being a national trait. Among those whose names appear most prominently are Lady Fitzgerald, the beautiful wife of the knight of Kerry, whose yacht Satanita has won many races in English and Mediterranean waters; Miss Irene Hobert, who takes great interest in yacht racing in the Solent and who usually has a boat in the Castle and Hythe Yacht club regattas, and Mrs. Wyllie, wife of the celebrated painter, who, with her husband, spends much time on his floating studio, the Four Brothers, and who is regarded as one of the most expert yachtswomen in England in handling light sailing craft.

A new trimming for yokes, revers, panels, etc., is diamond velours. It is so arranged or made as to have raised diamond shaped figures, and in some way the cunning manufacturer has been able to give it a dozen shades, while it is really all one. It is very striking and rich.

ABOUT SALADS ONLY

FOR THEY ARE FAR BETTER THAN SO MUCH PASTRY.

They Are Cheap, Appetizing and Save Doctor's Bills—How to Make and Serve Them—Potato and Tomato Salads Cost Little.

Why is it that in the rural localities, where salads can be secured easily and at little expense, they are so seldom used?

Banish the pastry and fried cakes and substitute stewed fruits with bread and salads, and doctors' bills may be cut in half or abolished and the family be far healthier, happier and richer. To prepare a salad for dinner should be quite as much a matter of course as to prepare the dinner itself, but too often it is entirely left out of the menu, or served only on rare occasions as luxury. This frequently arises from the mistaken idea that the preparation of this delicious dish involves a certain amount of trouble, and when time is valuable one is apt to dispense with everything except absolute necessities. From force of habit and ideas imbibed from the good old days of our grandmothers, the majority of us look upon pastry as a necessity, though it is the cause of much of our American dyspepsia.

The oil, sweet cream or butter used in the salad dressing is particularly wholesome and nourishing. Pure olive oil is to be preferred to either butter or cream, but it must be of the very best, with a sweet, nutty taste that gives not suspicion of an oily flavor. Peanut butter and lemon juice, however, form the principal components in the ideal salad dressing, giving a delicate, rich, nutty flavor found in no other combination, and being in a dietetic sense almost, if not quite, perfection. Lemon juice may be substituted for vinegar.

All ingredients and utensils used in making salads must be very cold, and when made the salad must be kept in a cool place. Vegetable salads should never be prepared long before serving, but the dressing is better to be made some hours before it is to be used, except when prepared at the table, as it is frequently done nowadays. By the way, this may be made a very charming duty by a graceful woman, but it is one the uninitiated or nervous should shrink from performing before strangers.

Fruit and vegetable salads are appetizing, nourishing, cooling to the blood, and satisfy the craving for sub-acid foods. The housewife who has to practice economy will find few dishes so inexpensive and convenient, which afford such wonderful assistance in giving a delightful and wholesome variety.

As a rule, the salad is served as a separate course, but, for busy people this is not always convenient. It is perfectly correct to serve it with the meat course when preferred. It is well where there are children to serve it as a course by itself occasionally, that they may become accustomed to a more ceremonious form, and not feel awkward or ill at ease when they find themselves at a formally served table. Fish and meat salads should never be served at a dinner of ceremony, but for a light dinner, luncheon or supper heavy salads are always suitable. These are better if made with the dressing and made cold for half an hour before serving. All the ingredients will then be delicately blended.

Lettuce is an excellent foundation for a salad, and readily incorporates its mild flavor with fish, fowl or vegetables. As a garnish it is unexcelled. Water cress is superb and may be had for the getting in many running brooks. In cities and towns one may have it all the year around, but where it is obtainable cabbage and celery make very acceptable substitutes. Nothing should be used to garnish salads which cannot be eaten with them. Lettuce should never be cut; when the leaves are too large they should be gently torn apart, but this must not be done at the table. With the assistance of a piece of bread the leaf may skillfully be wrapped around the end of your fork into a small ball, so that it may be daintily eaten. An especially pretty garnish for a salad is the radish. Celery can be cut into many forms and trimmed with its own leaves. Hard-boiled eggs are also useful in garnishing. They may be sliced rather thin, or the whites may be chopped and the yolks powdered. With dinner a green salad is best, and the dressing most suitable for this is a simple one of oil, vinegar and salt. The following recipes may be most conveniently prepared in autumn and winter:

Make in the proportion of three tablespoonfuls of oil to one of vinegar, and one saltspoonful of salt for plain dressing. Add half the vinegar to the salt, mixing it in a large spoon, then fill the spoon with the oil, stirring constantly and allowing the oil to overflow the spoon and fall upon the salad; add alternately the remaining oil and vinegar, beating thoroughly all the time. Turn the salad lightly with a fork until it is all moistened with the dressing.

For nut butter salad dressing, rub two rounded tablespoonfuls of nut butter smooth with two-thirds of cold water, add a half teaspoonful of salt, cook over the fire a minute, then add two tablespoonfuls of vinegar and let get very cold before using.

For potato salad, chop one quart of boiled potatoes into dice, and while still warm pour over a dressing made as follows: One-fourth of a teaspoonful of dry mustard, a dash of cayenne and four tablespoonfuls of sharp vinegar; add one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, two heaping teaspoonful of butter, or as much olive oil, and one teaspoonful of onion juice. One pint of celery cut into one-inch pieces, or a little chopped parsley, may be added to the potatoes.

A tomato salad may be made by peeling the tomatoes, cut into halves crosswise and arrange each on a bed of crisp lettuce leaves. Serve with a dressing made as follows: Whip four tablespoonfuls of sweet cream to a stiff froth and add to it a tablespoonful of sharp vinegar, a dash of cayenne and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt. Put a teaspoonful of this on each tomato. Tomatoes may be served on lettuce, parsley or celery tops. Some of the pulp may be taken out, leaving them cup shaped, and the hollows filled with chopped celery, cucumbers or tender cabbage and served with a spoon.

TERRIBLE DRIVER ANTS

West African Insects That Drive Families From Their Homes.

In West Africa all travelers keep a sharp watch for the awful driver ant. These are sometimes called visiting ants, from their habit of calling in quantities at inconvenient hours. They are fond of marching at night and usually drop in upon a household after the inmates have retired for the night. In her book on "Africa" Miss Kingsley gives some vivid pictures of the troubles caused by these insects.

"One minute there will be peace in the simple African home, the heavy-scented hot night air broken only by the rhythmic snores and automatic side slaps of the family, accompanied outside by a chorus of cicadas and bull-frogs," writes Miss Kingsley. "Enter the driver—the next moment that night is thick with hurrying black forms, little and big, for the family, accompanied by rats, cockroaches, snakes, scorpions, centipedes and huge spiders, animated by one desire to get out of the visitors' way, fall helter-skelter into the street, where they are joined by the rest of the inhabitants of the village for the ants, when they once start on a village, usually make a regular house-to-house visitation.

"I mixed myself up once in a delightful knockabout farce near Kabinda and possibly made the biggest fool of myself I ever did. I was in a little village, and out of a hut came the owner and his family and all the household parasites pellmell, leaving the drivers in possession; but the mother and father of the family, when they had recovered from this unwonted burst of activity, showed such a lively concern and such unmistakable signs of anguish at having left something behind them in the hut, that I thought it must be the baby. Although not a family man myself, the idea of that innocent infant perishing in such an appalling manner roused me to action and I joined in the frenzied group, crying: "Where him live?" "In nim far corner for floor," shrieked the distracted parents, and into the hut I charged. Too true! There in the corner lay the poor little thing, a mere inert black mass, with hundreds of cruel drivers already swarming upon it. To seize it and give to the distracted mother was, as the reporter would say, "the work of an instant." She gave a cry of joy and dropped it into a water barrel, where her husband held it down with a hoe, chuckling contentedly. Shiver not, my friend, at the callousness of the Ethiopian; that there thing was not an infant—it was a ham!"

Miss Kingsley tells one grewsome experience. There was a white gentleman at one village and there had been a birthday party in the evening. He stumbled on his way home and went to sleep by the pathside and in the morning there was only a white gentleman's skeleton and clothes. The driver ants had passed that way.

"Cash K," of Omaha.

Who is "Cash K," of Omaha? This is a question that for ten years has excited the curiosity of the people of the west and has engaged as much research as did, years ago, the inquiry as to the identity of the man who struck "Billy" Patterson in another section of the country.

"Cash K" may be either a man or a woman, for anything the public knows. "Cash K" is a philanthropist who believes in doing good and hiding itself modestly away from the thanks of those it has benefited. As the sex of "Cash K" is unknown, the individual must necessarily in being referred to be classed as neuter gender.

"Cash K" only communicates with the public through the columns of one paper, and all its contributions, which amount to thousands of dollars, have been made through the editor of this paper, who presumably knows who the philanthropist is, but guards the secret religiously.

Ten years ago the editor of this paper announced that he had received $1,000 from "Cash K" to apply on a subscription being circulated for some charity work in Chicago. The next fall he announced the receipt of another $1,000 to be applied to the benefit of the poor of Omaha, especially those not accustomed to receive regular charity from the city and county. The next winter he had occasion to make two $1,000 announcements, "Cash K" saying that as the winter was an unusually severe one there was need of greater effort to prevent suffering. Regularly every year since has this unknown donor been in evidence, the last winter bringing $1,000 three times. In addition to this, says the Chicago Inter-Ocean, "Cash K" in all these years has been a liberal contributor to every charitable or relief scheme that has been broached in Chicago, and has invited those in sudden and pressing financial need to apply to "Cash K" through the papers, and from this source hundreds have obtained relief, when worthy.

But Omaha is yet in ignorance of who it is that cloaks so many charitable actions under the impersonal mark of "Cash K."

Passing the Goat Along.

"Will you oblige me by holding this ram while I open this gate? It is fastened on the inside, and I find that I must climb over."

Such was the remark of a man standing at a gate in a lonely road, and it was addressed to a stalwart sailor who had just come up. The only other object visible on the long, straight road was a large ram, whose massive, crooked horns were being held by the man as the two stood quite still in front of the gate.

"Why, sartingly, shipmate," said the obliging tar, as he seized the big horns. "I thank you," the first holder said when he got to the other side. "You will no doubt be surprised to hear that I never saw that ram until today. The vicious brute attacked me about half an hour ago, and we have been tussling together ever since. As long as you stand before him holding his horns firmly, he can't hurt you. Goodby. I hope you will be as lucky getting away from him as I have been."

The sailor's answer has not yet been recorded.

Angy New—Yes, I quarrelled with the leading man, and as all the others in the company sided with him, I resigned.

Sue Brette—But didn't any one take your part?

Angy New—Only my understudy.—Stray Stories.

ODD IDEA OF EXERCISE

Ameer of Afghanistan Follows His Doctor's Orders Complacently.

The Ameer of Afghanistan has been ordered by his doctors to take exercise, and he has probably discovered the easiest way of taking it that was ever thought of it. The Ameer is getting fat, and has been suffering from indigestion, and that is why he has got to take exercise.

He has ordered from a famous carriage-making firm of Oxford street a peculiar vehicle, for exercising purposes. The carriage has a light body, and is propelled by an arrangement of bicycle wheels from the rear. Two stalwart Afghans sit on saddles over these wheels and pedal with all their might to drive the fat king over the terrible roads of Afghanistan. When the Ameer feels inclined to take exercise a little more violent than merely sitting down in the carriage, he does so by pushing two pedals, arranged in front of him. In this way he can add about half a small boy's power to the efforts of the stalwart Afghans pedaling away behind him. The carriage is a handsome one, and the body is patterned like an old English Georgian phaeton. It is fitted with silk cushions, rather luxuriously.

Besides the carriage for his personal use, the Ameer has had another built for the use of members of his harem. The carriages have cost $1,000 each, and are capable of maintaining a speed of twelve miles an hour.

It will be a relief to everybody at Cabul, the capital of Afghanistan, if the Ameer's health should improve. In his present state of ill-temper he is very apt to cut off people's heads. He was a great soldier in his day, and is a very capable monarch, but his temper has lately been very uncertain. Some time ago he had a bad toothache, and the English dentist who accepted an invitation to go to Cabul and pull it out felt very nervous until he had secured the tooth and got out of the country.

Vanilla Bean Growing.

The attention now paid by Americans to the agricultural possibilities of Mexico has brought into prominence many sub-tropical cultivations. Among these is the culture of the vanilla bean. The vanilla plant is an orchid. Until recent years it was cultivated only by the Mexican Indians in the valleys of Mazantla and Papantla. The blossoms at night give out an exquisite perfume, dropping a honey-like moisture, which is found on the leaves in the morning. From each of the blossoms spring small pods, sometimes twenty or thirty in number. As the plant matures many of these pods drop off, and those remaining grow to be long beans, containing the seeds, and are about the size of the long yellow banana seen in the markets.

The vanilla is strictly a pollen blossom, and the male and female flowers grow on different plants. In former times the Indians gave themselves little anxiety about pollination, depending on the winds of heaven to interchange the pollen and fertilize the female blossoms. In recent years the Italians and French, who have largely displaced the Indians, are growing vanilla in a more scientific manner. The plants are set nearer together, so that both insects and stray breezes can be more instrumental in interchanging the pollen, and the growers themselves take a hand in the pollination.

The two busy seasons of the year are during the pollantion months, March, April, and May, and the gathering months, November, December and part of January. The Spanish method of curing is slow and laborious. The secret is to evaporate the water while retaining the oil, prevent the bean from moulding and retain the flavor uninjured. Twenty beans to a vine is a good average. A green bean is worth from 8 to 14 cents in the American market. In some years it will bring as high as 18 cents.

One interesting peculiarity of the vine is that after three or four years the stem will rot off at the roots and continue to rot three or four feet up the vine, says the Chicago Record, while the top looks green and flourishing. In the meantime from above the part that is soon to decay shoot out fine thread-like rootlets, which grow downward to the earth. So delicate are these threads running along the trunk of the tree that the vine seems to be living unsupported in air.

Played Burglar.

Down in Fountain County, Ind., there was an earthquake shock and Mrs. John Welch of Covington thought it was a burglar.

She had just started from the parlor into her darkened bedroom when she heard a glass and silver perfumery flask on her dresser jingle as if it had been hit, and almost tipped over. At the instant her feet were tangled in the rug at the threshold, but she fled, frightened and dizzy, and called for help.

When her husband came he turned on the light in the bedroom and then felt the second shock. He plainly saw the perfumery flask rocking on the marble, and having traveled in Spanish America knew what was wrong. From the heights of his superior information he thought he would have a little fun at his wife's expense. So he quickly flung a scarf about his head, by way of disguise, and ran—stooping low—from the room.

And his helpmeet, scared to blindness and half dead with nausea, rallied and hurled a spirit lamp at the fleeing figure.

When Mr. Welch had finished playing the joke and his neighbors had put out the fire, says the Chicago Chronicle, he bathed his burns with vaseline and told the spectators they needn't laugh so hard. He didn't make a fool of himself except on the recurrence of earthquakes—which are rare in Indiana.

But the insurance adjusters refused to allow his claims either for fire or accident lossses.

"Doesn't it annoy you to see yourself ridiculed so frequently in the papers?"

"Not a bit," answered Farmer Corntossel. "The more they picter me as a guileless hayseed that anybody kin gold-brick, the better I like it. It makes summer boarders more onsuspicious."—Washington Star.

HEATING IN URUGUAY.

The American Style of Stove, About the Only One Used.

Uruguay's inhabitants are not bothered by steam heating. They are not even vexed by big coal bills. They do not believe in heating dwelling houses at all. According to United States Consul Swaim, "it is very safe to say that 95 per cent. of the houses have no heating arrangements whatever specially designed for the purpose. It is claimed by many of the inhabitants that heat is at no time required in the houses; that heat in the house is not healthy, but conduces to maladies of throat and lungs. Yet, during the winter season, from April to October, the dampness in the houses is far more unpleasant than crisp and snappy cold. With the frequent and heavy rains, the walls become very damp, and clothing or books must not touch them or a mold will form. Such a condition has for one of its results an enlarged percentage of pulmonary troubles, and a death rate out of all proportion to the general salubrity of the climate. There are no chimneys for either fireplaces or stoves. A $14,000 residence, built this season, has for its only chimney a stovepipe let through the kitchen roof for the cook stove.

"The American style of heating stove is about the only one seen in the market, the smaller and simpler forms being used. They are popular with those who have their homes reasonably heated, but the demand is small, and only one house in Montevideo keeps a stock. The American oil stove has found a good market here, and the sole competitor is one of Belgian make, with first class blue flame combustion. The Belgian stove sells at about one-half the price asked for the American, on account of the fact that the United States article is usually a combination of lamp and stove, and so comes under a different and higher customs classification.

"The native cooking stove is a very substantial affair of heavy wrought iron, made in local factories from imported plates. The stoves are good cookers and roasters, but do not bake so well. They are made with or without water reservoirs, and are very durable—something like the wrought iron range. About 50 per cent. more fuel is used by these than by American stoves of the same capacity. They cost from $20 to $70, according to style of finish and completeness of the water outfit.

"Cook stoves have been imported for some years from the United States, and are gradually winning their way, especially in the European households. The fact that they save fuel tells in their favor, as coal costs from $10 to $14 per ton. The coal is all imported from Wales or the United States. Wood is even higher in price than coal, considering results.

"The duty is a serious drawback to trade in this line. It amounts to eight cents per kilogram (2,2046 pounds), including the package. As the stoves must be well packed, the additional weight adds heavily to the cost, and a heating stove that could be bought at from $7 to $8 retail in any city in the United States must sell here for at least three times that amount, and then leaves only a fair margin for profit to the dealer. The United States cook stove sells at about the same rate as the one made in Uruguay, but the wrought-iron article, with its power to withstand hard usage, has been so widely employed that only when the better methods, greater economy and generally superior character of the United States stove become known will our manufacturers win the market to any extent."

A Lesson By Kaiser Frederick.

The memoir of Kaiser Frederick, just published in Berlin, gives many interesting anecdotes about the kindly monarch whose reign was cut off in such untimely fashion. Among them is one in which Jenny Lind figures.

Jenny Lind was at a small inn, waiting for the post chaise that was to carry her to Coblenz, and, inspired by the beauty of the landscape and the quiet of the moonlit night, was singing a ballad for her own amusement, when mine host appeared to beg her to repeat the last verse for the benefit of some Bonn students, newly arrived.

The songstress, who was sitting in a vine-clad arbor, responded, and when she had finished a broad-shouldered, tall young man entered, exclaiming: "Only Jenny Lind can sing so beautifully." With that he pressed a bouquet of wild roses into her hand and led her out into the garden. Yes, that was the face; those were the blond locks of Jenny Lind! The singer smilingly accepted the student's thanks, and said: "You are a student; sing us one of your own songs."

Bowing gracefully, the blond giant sat down at the piano on the veranda, and sang Arndt's great battle hymn. "Was Blasen die Trompeten! Hussaren, Heraus!" ("The Bugles Are Sounding! Hussars, Ride Fast!")

"The beautiful melody; I would like to know it," said Jenny Lind, when the student, whom his comrades called "Fritz," had ended.

"The Swedish nightingale wishes to learn a German war song? Ah, that is superb!" cried Fritz. "If you will permit me I will repeat the words for your benefit until you know them by heart. The melody, I dare say, you have mastered already." And for a full hour Fritz and Jenny sat side by side at the old piano, singing together, repeating verse after verse, once, thrice, ten times, until the great songstress was letter perfect. Then she sang it once more as only she could sing it, quite unconscious of the fact that in the meantime her audience had increased by a venerable old man whom the students regarded with the greatest respect.

Now the soft notes of the postillon's horn sounded from afar, and a little later the chaise drew up at the gate. Jenny Lind rose hastily. "I must away," she said, "and may never see you again, for in a few weeks I will cross the Atlantic to sing in America. I shall not forget this evening, though, and as I have introduced my self, I beg to know your names, gentlemen, especially that of the student who taught me the German hymn."

Then the old man spoke up: "I thank you in the name of my pupils for your kind words," he said. "This, madame, is his Royal Highness, Crown Prince Frederick, and I am Ernst Moritz Arndt, author of the song you learned from him."

SQUIRRELS

Tricks of Some Friendly Fellows That Lived in the Country.

Ours is a beautiful quiet country home at the crossing of four roads. The house is in a large yard, filled with trees and flowers, so many trees that we have named it "The Evergreens." A few rods away is a piece of woods, first a maple sugar bush and below that an evergreen swamp. Here the red squirrel live in freedom. They come from the depths of this swamp to the house, often running over the roof, jump on one of the tall pines on balsam, from them to a maple outside of the yard, whose limbs interlock over the road, on to an apple tree in the orchard without touching the ground.

Down one of the walks are some walnut and butternut trees. These the little "bright eyes" claim as their own. They not only carry away many, but drop quantities from the stem before they are ripe, says Our Dumb Animals. We gather these for their winter store. One year we raised sunflowers for the hens, stored them in a shop that is between the nut trees and a spruce that is near more maples. We noticed how sleek and glossy our pets were and that we had more than usual. Thinking Biddie would like a dessert of sunflower seeds, we sent for them, but—Presto! They were gone. Master squirrel looked wise, but told no tales.

Near our kitchen door is a mammoth pine. One bright October day we heard an unusual squirrel concert. Going to the window we saw one sitting on a projecting bit of bark, fiddling with his feet, keeping time to his music; sometimes he would rest his hands and use one of his feet. Ours being a childless home, we make pets of everything. Nearly every day we put a quantity of nuts by the roots of a pine, and a squirrel comes over the trees and fence looking for them. If we have neglected to put them there, he will hunt over and under the leaves everywhere, so disappointed. When he finds some he takes one in his hands, turning it over and over, to pick off the outer bark, in order to hold it securely in his teeth. Away he scampers with it, sometimes up in the trees, where he tucks it in some crotch, pushing it down with all his tiny strength, and sometimes across the road under the barn, to hide it in the barn bridge, or in the stone wall, or the board fence, and some he buries in the snow, covering them with his little feet. Once he took one across the road up an elm and out on a limb, dropping it into a bird's nest. The "gude man of the house," says "he doesn't put all his eggs into one basket." The last nut he carries home, but never are two put in the same place. After a little time he comes and carries them all home.

A Remarkable Speller.

"I think the luckiest man I ever heard of was examined here along last spring," said an old clerk in the Civil Service Commission in a group of official reformers at the Civil Service building in Washington. "He was from one of the big towns in central Illinois, and had worked for several years in a rolling mill. He was a big, brawny, handsome fellow, and I liked his looks from the first. When I am working around these examinations I always pick out my favorites and keep track of them to see if they are winners.

"Somehow this fellow had been stuffed up by his friends at home to think he could get a good, juicy place if he crammed up on a lot of old questions he had got hold of somewhere, and he put himself down for a $1,200 place. When we came to read the papers for the examination my Illinois friend's papers came to me, and I tell you it was a picnic. Answer after answer was all wrong. He bounded Illinois on the north by Michigan City, and put the battle of Bunker Hill at Yorktown, and in arithmetic he said 'interest was the share a pardner got of the profits,' and that the cube root of 729 was that number multiplied by itself several times. But it was in spelling he surpassed even himself. We had twenty words. They were given out for all to write down and the applicants were permitted to rewrite them as they thought was correct. I saw my fellow sweating and working like a beaver to keep up and get them all down, and when I got his spelling paper I had to copy his list and carry the copy in my pocket book. Here it is:

"'Speling Exircice.

Exillirate	Emansippation
Purambullate	Booy (Buoy)
Orgunnize	Doseve (Deceive)
Febry	Hidrawlic
Purfurate	Anthrysite
Salution	Prelimonery
Nesesry	Backterea
Publicasion	Suntesedent
Sellebrate	Fulmenate
Ventalation	Redemsion

"The young fellow had missed twenty-two words out of twenty, and he worked harder over it than anybody else there that day. It was genuine work, too. Of course, his hopes were dashed to the ground and he had a good deal of rough talk to let off about the Civil Service humbug. I suppose he must have received consolation from his Congressman, for it was not long after the trouble with Spain broke out that I noticed my young fellow was commissioned a lieutenant in an Illinois regiment, and he afterwards went to Manila. From all accounts he made a good officer."

Curious Ear of the Catfish.

The catfish uses his lungs as an organ of hearing, says "Popular Science Monthly." The needless lung becomes a closed sac filled with air, and commonly known as the swim bladder. In the catfish (as in the suckers, chubs and most brook fishes) the air bladder is large, and is connected by a slender tube, the remains of the trachea, to the esophagus. At its front it fits closely to the vertebral column. The anterior vertebrae are much enlarged. Twisted together and through them passes a chain of bones which connect with the hidden cavity of the air. The air bladder therefore assists the ear of the catfish as the tympanum and its bones assist the ear of the higher animals. An ear of this sort can carry little range of variety in sound. It probably gives only the impression of jars or disturbances in the water.

In Good Humor.

Daughter—Papa went off in great good humor this morning.

Mother—My goodness! That reminds me; I forgot to ask him for any money.

IVORY SOAP PASTE.

In fifteen minutes, with only a cake of Ivory Soap and water, you can make a better cleansing paste than you can buy.

Ivory Soap Paste will take spots from clothing; and will clean carpets, rugs, kid gloves, slippers, patent, enamel, russet leather and canvas shoes, leather belts, painted wood-work and furniture. The special value of Ivory Soap in this form arises from the fact that it can be used with a damp sponge or cloth to cleanse many articles that cannot be washed because they will not stand the free application of water.

DIRECTIONS FOR MAKING.—To one pint of boiling water add one and one-half ounces (one-quarter of the small size cake) of Ivory Soap cut into shavings, boil five minutes after the soap is thoroughly dissolved. Remove from the fire and cool in convenient dishes (not tin). It will keep well in an air-tight glass jar.

GOLF

The only event of interest at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club grounds Saturday was the annual tournament for the caddies which took place in the morning. There were thirteen entries. There were three prizes offered. The first prize, a $10 gold piece, was offered by George A. Chapman, for the best gross score. This was won by James Scott, who played from scratch and made a score of 98. The second prize, $5, was offered by Councilman Barrows, and was won by a boy named Lawlor, who made the second best gross score. The third prize was a valuable gun-metal watch, offered by Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, for the best net score. This was won by a young man named Kelly, whose score, with a handicap, was 99. Members of the club acted as scorers.

A Successful Test.

A successful test was made yesterday of the non-refilling bottle which has been invented by Charles Overbaugh. Thomas Winter, an expert from New York, made the test. He was unable to force a particle of water into one of the bottles. Mr. Winter gave Mr. Overbaugh a written statement to that effect. There is a possibility that the company will have the bottles made in this city.

Busy at the Hospital.

There are now a large number of patients at the hospital and the nurses are kept very busy. Friends of this institution are reminded that the usual Thanksgiving affair will be celebrated this year, and donations of any kind will be thankfully received.

—All bills against the city must be in the hands of the city clerk tomorrow evening to insure payment.

—North Plainfield voters should be sure their name is on the registry list. Tomorrow is the last chance to register.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

HORSE'S WILD RUN.

Two Women in the Carriage, But Unhurt—Plate Glass Window Wrecked by the Horse.

A horse owned by Mrs. Richard Stroller, of New York, a guest at the Hotel Hunterston in Netherwood, became frightened this afternoon while standing in front of J. G. Bantle's tailoring shop on Watchung avenue, and started to run away. Mrs. Emily Holbrook and daughter were in the carriage, the former holding the reins. Mrs. Holbrook was unable to control the animal and it ran up in the street at a terrific speed and plunged into the plate glass window in Neuman Brothers grocery store, half of its body being inside of the store when it came to a standstill. The window was filled with preserved fruits, etc., which was sent flying through the store. The horse was badly cut by the glass. The occupants of the carriage clung to the seat in the wild run. Mrs. Holbrook was severely shocked by the experience, but neither she nor her daughter were seriously injured. The damage at Neuman Brothers was considerable.

"UNCLE" DAN SELLS OUT

Has Run One of the Leading Livery Stables in This City for Nearly Thirty Years.

After conducting the livery stable business for nearly thirty years, "Uncle" Dan S. Roberts, of North avenue, will retire tomorrow night, and the business will be continued by E. W. Roberts will remain with the new proprietor until next spring at least.

It is the intention of Mr. Roberts to remain in Plainfield during the winter, but he will live a retired life, and in the spring he will probably take a trip if his health remains good.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even set up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine, the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular size, 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

Pygmy Camels of Persia.

The western part of Persia is inhabited by a species of camel which is the pygmy of its kind. They are now snow white and are on that account almost worshipped by the people. The Shah presented the municipality of Berlin with two of these little wonders. The largest is 27 inches high and weighs 60 pounds. The other is four inches less, but the weight is not given.

A Wonderful Dress.

Princess Czartoryski has had a wonderful dress made in Paris, on which her coat-of-arms is produced in jewels on a white satin ground. For this purpose the stones had to be pierced, and, though their value was deteriorated, the dress as it stands is valued at $75,000.

Having Fun With Temper.

In Paris there lives an eminent painter who is economical and sententious. The other day one of the students broke a pane of glass in the studio window, and replaced it temporarily by pasting a sheet of paper over the aperture.

When the painter came down next morning he thrust his cane through the makeshift with the remark, "He that breaks, pays." None of the class, however, took the hint, and next morning another sheet of paper was pasted across the window. It met with the same fate. And so on the next day, and so on the fourth.

On the fifth day when the artist came down there was the paper as before. Fire flashed from his eyes, and roaring, "He that breaks, pays!" he drove his cane through the paper—and through the pane of glass behind it that had been put in by the students and then carefully pasted over with a sheet of paper.

THE CZAR'S COUNTRY

HOSPITALITY A STRIKING ELEMENT OF THE NATIONAL CHARACTER.

Travelers Welcomed Without Letter of Introduction and Asked No Embarassing Questions—Enjoined By Unwritten Laws.

Hospitality in Russia is heartier, more generous and brighter than elsewhere. In fact, it diverges so much in degree as almost to differ in kind. Rich and poor, says Dr. E. J. Dillon, in the London Telegraph, practice it with the same zest, and it is enjoined by unwritten secular laws and customs which have the force of religious precepts. In those vast regions of the interior where there are no hotels the wealthy landowners receive respectable guests in their spare rooms and disreputable tramps in their kitchens or outhouses—hospitality, like the sun, cheering good and bad alike. The traveler is welcomed without a letter of introduction, seated at the family table, asked no embarrassing questions, and taken at his own estimate. A Russian will cheerfully ruin himself rather than treat a guest to coarse fare or deny help to a hungry man. "Money has not earned us; it is we who have earned the money," says his proverb.

Some months ago two hungry university students in the south of Russia, coming home to their one bare room after a hard day's work for their living, caught a thief running off with their books.

"Are you the fellow that stole other books of ours yesterday?" they asked.

"I am, little fathers, but hunger and want drove me to it. I am starving."

"So are we, brother, or next door to it; and you ought not to have hit upon us as your victims."

"Well, your door is more easily opened; that's how it is," was the answer.

"We want those books for our examinations, brother; so you must get them back for us. But as you are cold and hungry now, come in and join us in our supper. It is not much, but such as it is you are welcome. Here are twenty copecks for the beer; run out and fetch it."

And the three ate and drank together, for hospitality is a religion and charity its foundation.

Like religion, it is often abused, but it never succumbs to the ordeal. One of the greatest and best known of contemporary Russians, whose name is a clarion to his countrymen, kept open house in his mansion in the country. One day a well-spoken gentleman drove up to the door, deposited his luggage and asked for hospitality for a few weeks. Although utterly unknown to the host and hostess his claims were at once allowed and the best spare room was placed at his disposal.

Some days later his wife, a charming lady appeared with her luggage and asked to be accommodated, too. She was duly installed in her husband's apartment, and received a chamber next to it as a sitting room, and everything went smoothly and sweetly as an idyl. But at last trouble came. One morning the hospitable host and hostess were awakened by "ructions" in the guests' quarters. On their going to inquire into the cause they were appealed to by the lady and the gentleman to act as umpires in the dispute.

The pair, it appeared, were not married to each other yet, but were going to be as soon as they could obtain divorces from their legitimate spouses, who were living at home and whom they had left for a spell. The question on which they differed was whether it was worth while paying the extravagant sum needed for a divorce. The gentleman said it was not; the lady stoutly maintained that it was.

The hostess, who was a bit of a Puritan and a stickler for the proprieties, nearly fainted when the problem was put before her. The amorous pair who thus attempted to turn a hospitable mansion into a mere hotel were deposited with bag and baggage at the distant railway station a few hours later. But the generous people thus imposed upon are as hospitable as ever.

Electricity For Seasoning Wood.

In Europe a new process of seasoning wood and timber by electricty has just been discovered. It is known as the Nodon-Bretonneau process, and it must be a commercial success, for it is asserted that the company's shares are at a premium of nearly 600 per cent. The effect of the electrical treatment seems to be to expel the sap and replace it by insoluble matter which will not putrefy, and to increase the tenacity of the wood and its resistance to vertical compression.

This is said to be the first industrial application of the principle of electric osmose, viz.: if the electrodes in an electrolytic solution are separated by a porous partition and a current passes the volume of the liquid in contact with the positive pole diminishes, while that in contact with the negative pole increases. The positive pole of a dynamo is connected with a lead grating, upon which the wood to be treated is placed. A solution, which is kept at the uniform temperature of 100 degrees Fahrenheit by means of a steam pipe underneath the grating, is poured into the vat so as almost to cover the log of wood treated. At a public demonstration the solution used contained 10 per cent. of borax, 5 per cent. of resin, and three-fourths of 1 per cent. of carbonate of soda, the borax being used on account of its antiseptic properties and the carbonate of soda to help dissolve the resin. A porous tray, the bottom of which consists of two sheets of canvas with a sheet of felt between, is placed over the log, and a sheet of lead connected with the negative pole of the dynamo is placed above this.

When the current is turned on, the solution is drawn from the bottom and the sap is driven out, and its place taken by the borax and resin. The time required for a ten-inch log is about seven or eight hours, and then the wood is dried slowly, which in the open air in summer takes several weeks or even months. It was stated that a unit of electrical energy was required for every six cubic feet of timber treated.

G O P IN SOMERSET SURE OF VICTORY.

Republican Leaders Confident That They Will Win.

EXPECT TO ELECT ALL.

DECLARE THAT THOMPSON FACTION IS NOW IN LINE.

There Will Be Some Cutting But Republican Leaders Expect Opposition To Bergen In Democratic Ranks Will More Than Make Up for It—Today Is The Last Opportunity To Registry.

From a Republican point of view, the situation in Somerset county today has greatly improved. Republican leaders throughout the county now declare that there is no doubt whatever but that the regular Republican ticket will be elected in its entirety. Senator Charles A. Reed, of North Plainfield, is now confident of re-election to the higher branch of the State Legislature.

It will be long before all the bitterness in the Republican ranks will be healed but the keen edge of it has worn off since the convention and many of the minor leaders through the county have come out during the last few days in support of the ticket. After consideration, they have decided that a Republican should be elected anyhow and have laid aside their factional differences and gone into the campaign.

In Somerville, where the feeling in the Republican ranks was the strongest against Senator Reed and where Hon. J. J. Bergen lives, the normal Republican majority is not expected to be as large as usual. But, as one prominent Republican worker puts it, the defeat of Senator Reed would reflect the strongest on Mr. Thompson and so the latter and his friends are now supporting the ticket, Reed and all.

"Yes," said Senator Reed, in conversation with a Press reporter yesterday afternoon, "I expect to be elected. I do not see how it can be otherwise. The Republican workers throughout the county are supporting me and I have no fault to find with any of them. There are a few individual cases where certain Republicans feel sore toward me but they do not represent nor control any faction.

"I shall probably be cut somewhat throughout the county but I expect that Mr. Bergen will be cut twice to where I am cut once. I have conversed with Democrats all over the county and many of them feel very strongly against Mr. Bergen for coming out for the gold standard and then renouncing it for Bryan and free silver. He will loose many votes by that."

The Republican campaign is now being conducted with much vigor. It is hardly likely that there will be any public meetings held throughout the county. All the candidates are too well-known to the people at large in the county to need any introduction. Consequently the campaign work will not make much noise, but a great deal of quiet personal work is being done and will continue to be done up to the time of the closing of the polls.

Today is the last opportunity for registry in the county, and it is expected that there will be an unusual number registered all through the county on account of the particular interest in the result of the election.

There is much interest in the probable vote in the borough of North Plainfield. The Republican leaders claim that the borough will stand by its candidate and give him the normal majority. There will undoubtedly be some cutting, but the leaders claim that the number will be more than offset by the Democrats who will refuse to vote for Bergen.

The bride's gown was white brocaded.

FUMBLED TOO MUCH.

WHY DUNELLEN WAS DEFEATED BY BATTIN HIGH SCHOOL.

Exciting Football Game Played at Elizabeth Saturday—Battin High School Won by a Score of 11 to 0.

The Dunellen football team met defeat Saturday afternoon at the hands of the eleven from the Battin High School of Elizabeth. The game was played at Elizabeth, the home team winning by a score of 11 to 0.

The game was well played and furnished a large number of spectators with plenty of excitement. The ball was in Dunellen's territory most of the first half. The Dunellen backs fumbled every time they had a chance to make a gain and so were forced on the defensive most of the time. The Elizabeth backs could make no gains around the ends but they kept hammering the tackles and forced their way down the field with small gains until they were under the shadow of the goal posts. The Dunellenites braced up and carried the ball out of danger only to loose it again. The ball finally returned to Dunellen's five yard line when time was called.

It proved that there was still a minute to play and the Elizabeth boys got into line in a moment. The visitors were scattered about the field and did not get back to their places in time to offer much resistance to the next play that carried the ball over the line for a touchdown for Battin High School. The goal was kicked.

The second half was a repetition of the first. Dunellen made a stubborn defence, but gradually yielding before the constant battering of the tackles. The ball was finally pushed over for a second touchdown. Powlison blocked the kick. Elizabeth was unable to score again.

THE STAR COURSE.

First Entertainment Given by the Y. M. C. A. Was a Success—Humorist and Singer.

Those who were present at the hall of the Y. M. C. A. last evening and had the pleasure of being entertained by Prof. S. T. Ford, the celebrated humorist and impersonator, and J. J. Fisher, the pleasing baritone, are today congratulating themselves. It was the first one of the Star course of entertainments provided by the Young Men's Christian Association. Nearly every seat in the cozy hall was occupied by 8 o'clock and standing room alone was to be had. Henry Maxson, superintendent of the public schools, previous to the appearance of the entertainers, made a few remarks with reference to the course and the position the local Y. M. C. A. occupied regarding it.

Prof. Ford then began his part of the entertainment, which was replete with humor of the drollest and cleverest kind and served to keep the audience in excellent spirits, encouraging all to give spontaneous and repeated evidences of their appreciation of his efforts to please them.

While Prof. Ford was securing a breathing spell between his personations Mr. Fisher rendered several baritone selections in excellent voice, and was particularly generous in responding to repeated encores. He has a pleasing voice of much compass, and sings with an ease that leaves a good impression.

HOSPITAL LOCATION.

Board of Governors Discussed Advisability of Moving the Institution To Another Section.

The board of governors of the Muhlenberg Hospital met last evening and transacted routine business and incidentally discussed the advisability of moving the hospital buildings to some locality more suited to the purpose than the present one. The close proximity of the railroad and machine shops of Potter's Press works were admittedly not advantagous and the governors talked over the prospects of some dozen other possible sites.

While a majority of the Governors fully realize that the present location is not the best, it is hardly likely that any action toward changing the location will be taken for sometime to come.

DEMOCRATS ARRANGE TO HOLD RECEPTION

An Occasion for the Introduction of Candidates.

TO BE HELD FRIDAY NIGHT.

THE CITY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE PERMANENTLY ORGANIZED.

Four Members Appointed From the City at Large, Making Thirteen in All on the Committee—M. E. Flynn Chosen President of the Committee and By-laws Adopted for its Government.

Another meeting of the new Democratic city executive committee was held last night for the purpose of perfecting a permanent organization and the adoption of by-laws for the government of the committee.

A special sub-committee was appointed at the meeting last week to prepare the by-laws, and at the meeting last night the report of this committee was presented. The principal features of the proposed by laws are that the membership of the committee shall consist of one member from each election district in the city, to be chosen at the primaries for the election of delegates to the Assembly convention, and to serve for two years; that the president of the committee shall appoint four members at large, one from each ward, to serve for one year; that stated meetings of the committee shall be held the first Monday in each month, and as much oftener as thought necessary; that the officers shall be a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer; that the several committees incident to political organization shall be appointed and maintained, and that the committee shall be empowered to act for the party at any and all times of the year outside of the primaries regularly called by them.

After the by-laws had been adopted section by section, and then adopted as a whole, the work of electing permanent officers was taken up. The following were unanimously chosen: President, Michael R. Flynn; vice-president, P. J. Reville; secretary, H. W. Marshall; treasurer, Vincent L. Frazee.

President Flynn then appointed the following members at large: First ward, Andrew Nolan; Second ward, Isaac Brown, Jr.; Third ward, Charles L. Moffett; Fourth ward, W. W. St. John.

The appointment of the committees necessary to immediate work in the present campaign was then made by Mr. Flynn, and at a later date the full set of committeemen will be named.

After some informal discussion with reference to party plans and needs in Plainfield, the subject of arranging a meeting where the Union county Democratic candidates might have an opportunity of meeting the voters of Plainfield before election was brought up. As no great State or National issues are involved in this campaign and as political oratory is not essential to the occasion, it was decided that the best plan would be not to hold a public mass-meeting of the usual character, but arrange an informal reception to be held in the Ulrich building, known as the old Crescent League clubhouse, at which the candidates could attend.

It was decided that Friday night would be the best time for holding the reception. A committee was appointed to make all arrangements for the success of the function. The affair will be principally for the introduction of the Democratic candidates to the voters of the city, and members of every party will be welcomed to the headquarters that evening.

All the Democratic candidates in Union county, with possibly the exception of Jacob Glaser, candidate for Sheriff, who is seriously ill at his home in Union township, will be present. It is expected that the Somerset Democratic candidates will also be present. A number of prominent Democrats from Elizabeth, as well as other parts of the county, will probably be there.

There will be a few very brief speeches, but extended speeches will be tabooed for the night.

Burning of Farm Buildings.

The southwestern part of the sky was brightly illuminated during the early part of last evening, which was caused by the burning of a number of barns and outbuildings owned by Peter Quick, who lives between Somerville and North Branch. Many people in this vicinity saw the illumination and believed that that the fire was close to this city.

Netted $925.

CUT DOWN BY BIG STEAMER

Ferry Boat Chicago Sunk In North River.

ONE DEAD; FIVE MISSING.

COLLISION OCCURRED SOON AFTER MIDNIGHT.

Ferry Boat Had Nearly Reached New York Slip When Savanah Liner, City of Augusta, Nearly Cut the Chicago in Half.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New York, October 31.—The ferryboat "Chicago," of the Pennsylvania Railroad line, was cut down and sunk at 12:43 o'clock this morning by the Savannah liner, "City of Augusta." Six lives were lost in the accident.

At 12:35 o'clock, the "Chicago" left her slip on the Jersey City side. Besides the crew of seven men, there were thirty-five passengers on board, four women, thirty men and a boy.

The Chicago had been travelling six minutes when it became evident to the men in the pilot-house that the City of Augusta could not clear the Cortlandt street slip before the Chicago was due.

Accordingly Capt. Dutham sounded his whistle twice, claiming the right of way and indicating that he would cut across the City of Augusta's bow.

The ferry-boat men claim the steamship paid no heed to their signals.

Her speed had not been diminished when the sharp prow of the large steamer crashed half way into the ferryboat.

After the crash, the City of Augusta backed out and assisted in the work of rescue. The Chicago sank at once.

The police reported the following casualties:—

THE DEAD.

BRYSON, JOHN, 433 East Fifteenth street, driver of mail wagon.

THE MISSING.

M'CURDY, CHARLES, 25 Eleventh street, Brooklyn; driver.

UNKNOWN NEGRO.

VROOM, JOHN, firemen of the ferry-boat.

HIGGINS, GEORGE, clerk, of 420 Union street, Jersey City.

COOGAN, MONTE, Newark.

IN THE HOSPITAL.

WENDEBROURNE, A, 197 Union street, Brooklyn.

HEARD THE CRASH.

Plainfielders Close to the Terrible Catastrophy in the New York Bay This Morning.

Among the witnesses of the terrible catastrophy were F. L. C. Martin, of Park avenue, and George M. McIntyre, of Elm place, this city. They had been attending the meeting and banquet of Mecca Temple, Order of the Mystic Shrine, and were returning home, intending to take the Jersey Central train that leaves New York at 1 o'clock.

It was fifteen minutes of the time when the Jersey Central boat was due to leave. They were standing outside the gates that bar the exit from the slip. They saw their boat approaching and then saw the Pennsylvania Railroad ferry-boat "Chicago" coming into the Pennsylvania slip next to the Central. Then the dark outlines of the ocean steamer hove in sight and bore down on the "Chicago." They did not hear any whistles or other signals.

The first sound was of the crash as the sharp bow of the ocean liner struck the ferry-boat squarely in the side. The latter craft heeled over for a moment, then righted itself and then began to sink When the collision came, Mr. Martin and Mr. MacIntyre rushed through the gates which were partly open and ran down to the edge of the slip. So rapidly did the "Chicago" sink that by the time they reached the end of the slip, the ferry-boat had sunk below the waters of the river and only the tops of the stacks and pilot-houses were visible.

They heard the shrieks and shouts for help but it was so dark that they

MARRIAGE OPPOSED BY BRIDE'S PARENTS

Elopement Then Followed by the Smitten Couple.

JOSIE VAN NATTA THE GIRL.

WEDDED TO ARTHUR MOORE IN BOUND BROOK LAST NIGHT.

Groom is a Roman Catholic, and it Was Because of His Religious Faith That the Bride's Parents Opposed the Nuptial Union—Bride Explained to a Press Reporter How She Came to Elope.

"Mama, won't you forgive me?"

These were the words that Miss Josie VanNatta, pretty and vivacious, spoke to her mother this morning, as she returned to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. N. VanNatta, on LaGrande avenue. But with a broken heart and tears in her eyes, the mother could not make up her mind to forgive.

For some time past the daughter had been keeping company with Arthur Moore, of New Brunswick, and as time went on their love grew stronger and stronger, until last Sunday they decided to get married. It was arranged that they should go to Bound Brock last night. They did this and were there married by Rev. Mr. Wilson, paster of the M. E. church. The ceremony was witnessed by Mr. Wilson's family.

Ever since Mr. Moore began paying attention to Miss VanNatta, the parents of the young woman were bitterly opposed to him because he is a Roman Catholic. They did everything possible to persuade their daughter to wait awhile until she was older. To this she would not listen.

Yesterday afternoon she asked her mother if she could go out and spend the evening with some friends. Her mother consented, but as the daughter failed to come home at a reasonable time, the parents began to worry. Mr. VanNatta came home from New York and asked for his daughter, but was informed that she had gone to spend the evening with Miss Cora Scull. The father jumped on his wheel and hastened to Miss Scull's home, only to find that his daughter was not there. He returned in an anxious mood.

About 11 o'clock the parents received a telegram from their daughter to the effect that she and Mr. Moore were married at Bound Brook, and they asked forgiveness. This morning their daughter returned home and again asked forgiveness.

A Daily Press reporter called at the house just as the bride was preparing to leave home to go to her husband's home on Orchard place, where they will board for the present with Richard VanArsdale. She explained the circumstances and said that she asked her mother if she could get married, and when told no she made up her mind to go contrary to the wish of her parents. The daughter appeared resolute and seemed happy in her choice. The mother informed the reporter that the groom is a Roman Catholic, and she was bitterly opposed to the match. As yet the couple have not received forgiveness from the parents of the bride.

PUPILS ROUTED BY FIRE.

Centinary Collegiate Institute at Hackettstown Destroyed by Fire Early This Morning.

The Centinary Collegiate Institute, located on the outskirts of Hackettstown, was destroyed by fire early this morning. The fire spread so rapidly that the pupils boarding in the building narrowly escaped with their lives. The institute is a five story brick structure. The interior was completely burned out. Nothing but a huge pile of stone and brick remains of the famous institute. Among those from this city and vicinity who were pupils at the school were Thomas McDonald, of North Plainfield; Miss G. Burt, of 912 West Seventh street, this city, and Miss Nancy Thomas, of Dunellen. Word was received this morning by Miss Thomas' mother that she was safe but that she had suffered the loss of her personal effects and all of her clothing. Many of Miss Thomas' schoolmates also lost their clothing. No lives are believed to have been lost.

Lincoln, October 31.—Mayor Silas Dewey Drake, of this place, appeared in a new role last night, when he was the recipient of a genuine surprise arranged and given by Miss Gulick and Miss Egel. His Honor had not the slightest inkling of the affair and was resting quietly at his home when an army of forty friends and neighbors called to see his highness.

COSTLY WILL CONTEST.

MORE EVIDENCE TAKEN IN THE RICHARDSON CASE.

The Cost of Taking Testimony and Legal Fees is Said to be $500 a Day—Estate Was $350,000, Now About $50,000.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, Oct. 31—The taking of testimony in the contested will case of the late David Richardson, of Roselle, was resumed yesterday in the Board of Freeholders' room before Surrogate Parrot. The contestants—Joseph M. Richardson and Mrs. Amelia VanTassell and an only child of David H. Richardson, deceased — were represented by William B. Guild, of Newark, and Craig A. Marsh, of Plainfield, while Sarah Amelia Richardson, who is the chief beneficiary of the last will made by Mr. Richardson, in December, 1898, is represented by former Judge Gilhooly, of this city, and Richard V. Lindabury, of Newark.

The first will made by Richardson in 1872 declared that his property at his death should be equally divided between all the heirs, but the last will gives nearly everything to Sarah Amelia. Mr. Noyes, in his testimony yesterday, swore he did not see the will drawn and signed, but that General Fay, who is now dead, brought the document to him and asked him to sign it as an acknowledgment of General Fay's signature, which he did. He denied saying that Richardson was crazy, and swore that to the best of his recollection he never witnessed any will in conjunction with General Fay. Mr. Noyes said that Fay occasionally brought him papers to acknowledge, and this was one of them.

The defenders of the last will have on hand as witnesses former Alderman Reeve, of Elizabeth, and Mr. and Mrs. Stelle F. Randolph, to testify as to Mr. Richardson's mental condition prior to his death.

The cost each day for the taking of this testimony, and including lawyers', the Surrogate's and stenographers' fees, is over $500. It is said now the total value of the estate will not reach $50,000, although at one time it was estimated to be $350,000.

THAT COCK FIGHT.

Tried in Westfield Again Yesterday, But No Decision Arrived at by the Court.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, October 31.—The much-tried case of the State Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals against Sebastin Patric, a Spaniard, complaining witness, came up again yesterday before Justice Peace Collins, with ex-Judge Coddington, of Plainfield, acting as attorney for the prosecution, and Senator Fred C. Marsh, of Elizabeth, looking after the interests of the defendants, Messrs. Fred. Ritter, Fred. Semler and John Semler, Jr.

These men all took the witness stand and testified that they were not at a cock fight on the day or night of February, but Judge Coddington sprung a surprise upon them when he introduced a sworn statement made by a colored man named Vorice Spicer, which stated that a fight had taken place at his home in Linden on that date that the men named were there. The Spaniard substantiated the statement.

A great many witnesses were examined on both sides, but only two of them acknowledged that there was a fight. The Justice reserved his decision until Thureday.

NEW AND NOVEL.

Clever Entertainment to be Given by the Guild of S. Stephen's Church.

The entertainment to be given at the Y. M. C. A. Hall Thursday under the auspices of the Guild of S. Stephen's church will be entirely different from anything that has been given in Plainfield. All the talent is purely professional. G. W. Johnstone, of the quartette bearing his name, will give his "illustrated songs" in Plainfield for the first time, and Prof Norris will exhibit over fifty of his war slides. The well-known and only "Josh Daly" is always good in either monologue or character sketches. Miss Jamison as the soprano; Miss Hasbrouck with her usual fine rendering of piano music; "Yarrick" with his "magic"; B. Russell Throckmorton with dramatic recitals, and Prof. Lindner, who will illustrate how the piano may become any instrument, from an organ to a mandolin, will make up a programme that will be pleasing and unique.

WHERE TO GO ON NIGHT OF ELECTION.

Daily Press Will Display the Latest Bulletins.

WITH AID OF STEREOPTICON.

PLAINFIELDERS MAY LEARN RESULTS OF ALL STATE ELECTIONS.

The Enterprise of the Daily Press Last Year in Giving the Only Opportunity to Learn the Results Was Much Appreciated by the People—Will be Repeated This Year—Special Service Will be Given.

Republicans and Democrats, Prohibitions and "mugwumps," one and all, are interested to hear the results of the elections through the country and at the earliest opportunity. So it was not surprising that the enterprise shown by The Daily Press last year in keeping the people of the city and borough informed of the progress of the vote through the city, county, State and country, was duly appreciated. All the evening of last election day, huge crowds waited in front of The Daily Press office on North avenue and watched the bulletins thrown on a large screen opposite by a powerful stereopticon. It was the only place in the city to learn about the election and there were many who took advantage of it.

This year the Plainfield public will again be able to learn definitely and at an early hour just how the vote is progressing in Jersey and the neighboring States. From the moment that the first bulletin is received up to an early hour in the morning when the result is definitely known, bulletins will be constantly displayed on a screen that will be hung on the building opposite the Daily Press office. Through an elaborate and impartial service the very latest returns from New York and all the other States where elections are being held will be displayed. The results in the State will be told with accuracy and promptness. Special attention will be given to the vote in the county and the progress will be noted. The vote in the city will also be covered by frequent bulletins.

During the intervals between the bulletins, many humorous and interesting views will be shown. The stereopticon will be in charge of members of the Plainfield Camera Club, who so successfully handled the instrument last year.

Everyone in both city and borough is cordially invited to be on hand election night and learn the result from the bulletins that will be displayed under the auspices of the Daily Press.

THE REPUBLICAN VIEW.

They Say That Every Candidate But County Clerk Will be Traded by Democrats for Latter.

The Republican view of the situation in Union county is shown by the following article in the New York Tribune this morning:

Elizabeth, Oct. 30.—The campaign has now fairly begun in Union county. Notwithstanding the boasts of the Democrats that they will capture one or more of the county offices, there is little doubt of a clean Republican sweep.

The Democrats today are without able leadership, while the Republican organization, which was devised and perfected by Charles E. Codding, the clever chairman of the County executive committee, is unexcelled by that of any other county of the State.

Every conservative Democrat concedes the election of Judge Cross, and also the election of the three Republican Assemblymen and the Republican candidate for Sheriff by majorites nearly as large as will be received by Senator Cross. The Democrats are, however, after the County Clerkship, and the indications are that they will trade every candidate on the ticket to secure votes for William M. Oliver. They assert that they have promises of many disgruntled Republicans in Elizabeth and Plainfield in the fight for the Clerkship, which is the most lucrative office in the county.

The young Democrats at Elizabethport are lukewarm toward the ticket nominated last Friday, and when the returns come in from that Democratic stronghold they will surprise the party leaders.

LADYSMITH IS ATTACKED.

The Boers and British Troops Engage in Another Furious Battle.

BOERS' GUNS SILENCED.

Battle Opens With a Vigorous Fire of Artillery on the Camp Occupied By British Troops.

English Troops Push the Enemy Back But Suffer a Loss of About 100 Men —The Boer Loss Thought to Be Considerably Greater Than This— Other War News.

London, Eng., Oct. 31.—General Sir George Stewart White, in command of the British troops in Natal, has sent the following official report to the War Office of the battle with the Boers at Ladysmith:

"Ladysmith, Oct. 30.—I employed all the troops here yesterday except those obligatory as a garrison for the works. I sent No. 10 mountain battery with the Irish Fusileers and the Gloucestershire regiment to take up a position on the hills to clear the left flank. The force moved at eleven last night, and during the night firing of the battery the mules stampeded with some of the guns, which, however, I hope to recover. Two battalions have as yet not returned, but are expected this evening.

"I detailed two brigade divisions of field artillery and five battalions of infantry, aided by cavalry, under command of General French, to attack the position on which the enemy had mounted guns. They found the position evacuated, but our force was attacked with considerable vigor by what I believe to be Commandant General Joubert's troops. They had many guns and showed great numbers.

"Our froops pushed the enemy back several miles, but did not succeed in reaching his laagers. Our losses are estimated at between eighty and one hundred. The enemy's loss must have been much greater, the fire of our guns appearing to be very effective.

After being in action for several hours I withdrew my troops and returned unmolested to the cantonments. The enemy are in great numbers, and their guns range further than our field guns.

"I now have some naval guns which have temporarily silenced, and, I hope, will permanently dominate the enemy's best guns, with which he has been bombarding the town at a range of over 10,000 yards."

British Wounded at Dundee.

London, England, Oct. 31.—It is believed here that the naval brigade which arrived Monday at Ladysmith consists of 100 men from the British cruiser Philomel, with some of the Philomel's 4.7-inch quick-firers, with a range of 10,000 yards, firing a forty-five pound shell.

The battery that was lost probably is one consisting of six 2.5-inch muzzle loaders and thirty-six mules.

A despatch from Cape Town announces the arrival in Table Bay of the Dunottar Castle late on Monday with General Sir Redvers Buller and his staff, who are expected to land soon. They will meet with a tremendous ovation in Cape Town.

It is reported from Pretoria that 200 of the British wounded from Dundee have arrived there and have been furnished accommodation in the State school buildings.

Opened With Artillery.

Durban, Natal, Oct. 31.—The battle of Ladysmith began at 5:30 a. m. The Boers opened with their artillery on the British camp. The British replied vigorously and quickly silenced the Boer guns. A strong force of Boers is now advancing on the British left flank. One report says the Boers' guns were silenced after seven shots had been fired. The battle was opened by the Boers with forty-pounders. It is admitted that Gen. White's artillery is of less range than that of the enemy.

England Will Send More Men.

London, Oct. 31.—The War Office has ordered the mobilization of another division of 10,000 men. They will be held in readiness for immediate dispatch to South Africa if Gen. Sir Redvers Buller upon his arrival in Cape Town, advises the government that reinforcements are needed. Gen. Buller has not yet reported his arrival at Cape Town although some of the Paris papers announce his arrival, adding that he was assassinated as soon as he landed. Twenty-nine more cruisers have been ordered in readiness to sail at a moment's notice.

Rhodes Addresses Troops.

Cape Town, Oct. 31.—Cecil Rhodes addressed the troops at Kimberely, congratulating them on the cheerful prospects of a successful defence. "Personally," he continued, "I feel quite safe."

Twelve Boers Killed.

Kimberley (by messenger to Orange River), Oct. 31.—The Boer losses in the recent skirmish about the town are estimated at twelve killed and forty-five wounded.

Boers Are Withdrawing.

Mafeking, Oct. 25 (delayed in transmission)—Many Boers are withdrawing from Cronje's army in disgust at the slowness of the siege. A large number of mere boys are in the Boer ranks.

FERRYBOAT CUT IN TWO.

Men, Women and Children Struggle in North River.

New York, Oct. 31.—The double-decked ferry-boat Chicago of the Pennsylvania Railroad Cortland street line was run down and sunk near her New York slip in the North River by a steamer supposed to be the City of Augusta of the Savannah Line at 12:35 this morning.

She sank within a few minutes.

There were between thirty and forty passengers aboard, and it is known that one person was lost.

Capt. Durham of the Chicago said that the only one of his crew who is unaccounted for is a fireman named Vroom.

There is no list of the passengers, however, and the loss if any among them is impossible to ascertain.

The scene following the crash was a terrible one.

There was a mad rush for life preservers, and the fact that the boat was not crowded alone averted a horrible calamity.

The passengers leaped from the sinking boat in all directions.

A few of the stronger succeeded in swiming to the New York shore. Tugs, fireboats, and numbers of small boats had responded to the Chicago's whistles and aided in the work of rescue.

The Chicago sank in about thirty feet of water, leaving only a few feet of her deck house and funnel out of water.

There were several teams aboard, and all of these were lost. One wagon, it is said, belonged to the Adams Express Company, and contained about $80,000 worth of silver.

One body has been recovered but it is not definitely known whether any more lives were lost or not.

Many of the men on the wrecked boat distinguished themselves for bravery and in doing so saved the lives of women and children who would have perished only for the timely assistance rendered. Men who could swim helped those who could not, and it is stated by the passengers that the coolness and presence of mind of the boat's crew saved at least a score of lives.

TRUNK THIEF IS CONVICTED.

The Man Who Took Dewey's Valuables Must Go to Prison.

New York, Oct. 31.—Francis J. McKelvey, who said he was a resident of Philadelphia, but who finally admitted he was a former convict, has been convicted of stealing three trunks from the United States cruiser Olympia.

While the Olympia was lying off the foot of 108th street, in the North River, McKelvey went aboard and presented an order for three trunks belonging to Paymaster's Clerk M. W. Creagh and Lieutenant Edward O. Perkins.

He got the trunks, took them ashore and was arrested by a policeman. The officers of the Olympia identified their property, which was valued at $1,190. McKelvey was placed on trial in Judge Newburger's division of the General Sessions Court. Both officers were present and testified.

McKelvey admitted that he was sentenced in May, 1895, to two years and six months' imprisonment for larceny, and that in May, 1898, he was sent to Elmira Reformatory on a similar charge. He was remanded for sentence.

The thieves escaped. Mr. Jennings had been at the Boatman's Bank late in the afternoon and had drawn the money to pay off his men. When on a car to go to the company's office three men pushed him into a corner and took the money. Mr. Jennings was robbed of a large sum of money by highwaymen some years ago. The thieves were arrested and are now serving terms in State Prison.

Newspaper Plant Sold.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 31.—A syndicate of Eastern capitalists, believed to be headed by Senator Hanna, has purchased the Post Intelligencer, the leading paper of the state, for $230,000. It is the intention of the new owners to strengthen the paper and make it the Administration organ of the Pacific Coast. The deal was engineered by S. A. Perkins, former private secretary to Senator Hanna, who just returned from a trip East to interest the capitalists.

Case Will Probably be Settled.

Washington, Oct. 31.—In the United States Supreme Court the petition for a writ of certiorari in the Fayerweather will case has been denied The object of the petition was to bring the case into the Supreme Court. It is believed that the effect of the decision rendered will be to finally settle the matter. The case has been in the courts several times. It involves a large sum of money bequeathed by Mr. Fayerweather to a number of educational institutions.

Admiral Dewey to Wed.

Washington, Oct. 31.—Admiral Dewey is engaged to be married to Mrs. Hazen, daughter of Mrs. Washington McLean and sister of Jonn R McLean of Ohio. A Bold Assertion.

The Assertion Made in the Introduction to This Plainfield Citizen's Statement is Literally True.

There is only one proprietary article on the market which gives local evidence touching its merits; home proof to back up its claims; Plainfield evidence for Plainfield people. Statements from people we know in place of statements from strangers. That preparation is the one endorsed by Mrs. M. A. Hall, of 219 Prescott place, who says: "Doan's Kidney Pills without exception is the best medicine I ever used. My kidneys troubled me for several years with dull, aching pain across my back, and at times extending to my hips. I was compelled to lie in just one position at night, stooping, lifting or bending forward aggravated the pains. I was also subject to severe headaches and was more or less nervous. A kidney weakness which was very distressing and inconvenient also existed and though I used different remedies that were recommended to me I obtained little if any relief. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly endorsed in our daily papers and procured a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. It was not long before I felt great relief and I was surprised how quickly the pain in my back disappeared."

A Specific for Cancer.

"THE MISSISQUOI SPRING WATER has in some cases seemed to be of great benefit in arresting the progress of the disease. In a few instances, one of cancer of the breast and four of uterine cancer, the apparent effect has been more striking than any results I have seen from any other agent."

Fordyce Barker, M. D.

"I can fully endorse all that my friend Dr. Barker has said about the MISSISQUOI SPRING WATER. I have prescribed it with benefit in a few cases of cancer. I also consider it a great remedy in all scrofulous diseases, and in syphilitic affections. In these diseases its true value has not yet been fully recognized by the profession. It is also an admirable remedy in affections of the digestive organs, and in some diseases of the kidneys."

FRIARS WERE DEPORTED.

Those Who Displayed Hostility Toward the Americans in Guam Sent Away.

CAPTAIN LEARY REPORTS

The Naval Governor of the Island is Forced to Adopt Heroic Measures to Insure Peace.

After Exhausting All Other Means Capt. Leary Furnishes the Friars With Free Transportation and Orders Them to Leave—Only One of Them Left on The Island.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The Navy Department has received an interesting report from Capt. Leary, naval governor of the Island of Guam, in the Ladrones. The governor has been obliged to adopt heroic measures to ensure a proper administration of affairs there. Capt. Leary soon learned that his authority was being subverted, and every measure of reform which he proposed was being defeated by the hostile influence of the friars. They resisted every decree, no matter of what character, from a spirit of intense conservatism and a belief that any disturbance of the order of things which had governed the island for so many years would lose them their hold upon the natives.

After exhausting all other means, Capt. Leary reports that he was obliged to notify half a dozen of the friars that they might have free transportation away from Guam and he should expect them to avail themselves of the offer. That left but one friar on the island, and he was a man whose character and reputation was such as to convince Capt. Leary of his fitness to remain.

Representatives Are Returning.

Washington, Oct. 31.—It is noticeable that within the last week or so the various representatives of foreign nations have been returning to Washington, and the diplomatic circle is presenting a larger assemblage than has ever been known before at this time of the year. To be sure, many of the embassies and legations are under the direction of charges d'affaires, but announcements from abroad are that the Ambassadors and Ministers are hastening back to their posts in Washington. It is also said that the changes spoken of in some of the embassies will not take place, and Washington will see next winter the same familiar faces in the ambassadorial ranks as last year. Lord Pauncefote, although raised to the peerage, comes back and takes his place as Dean of the Diplomatic Corps; and Jules Cambon, who has so frequently been spoken of as France's new Ambassador to Switzerland, is making preparations to return to the United States, and is expected here in a few weeks. It is now stated that M. Cambon will remain Ambassador to the United States at least for some months, and should there be any change, he will go as Military Governor to Algeria and not to Switzerland.

The Administration is anxious for the adoption of its plan for the expansion of American trade and influence, especially in China, and it is said that negotiations are in progress and somewhat advanced toward the development of this policy, and that before Congress has been long in session there will be some important announcements in this connection. It is shown that our interests in the way of trade developments coincide at this time with those of Great Britain, and so far as this extends it is designed that there shall be co-operation between the two governments. It is the intention of the Administration to open up the Chinese trade to the ports on the Atlantic coast as well as those on the Pacific. From the above it can be seen how important it is for the members of the Diplomatic Corps to return to Washington.

Passenger Train Wrecked.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 31.—Vestibuled train No. 6, on the Pittsburg and Western Railroad, was wrecked at Carbon, Pa. George Holliday, the fireman; George Cupps, the engineer, and the baggagemaster were slightly hurt. None of the passengers were injured. The train was running over a new siding to pass a freight train, which was standing on the main track, and the heavy engine caused the rails to spread.

Child Wife Gets Alimony.

Springfield, Mo., Oct. 31.—At Forsythe Alexander Kesse, aged 75, who married fifteen-year-old Dora Garrett, has been granted a divorce. The child wife's maiden name was restored, and she was granted $4,000 alimony The couple lived together only about a week. Kesse for years has been the leader in county affairs, and is popularly known as the "King of Taney County," an appellation given him by "carpet baggers."

Swept Overboard From Schooner.

Toledo, O., Oct. 31.—The schooner W. H. Rounds, coal laden, from Buffalo to Toledo, is in port in a badly crippled condition as the result of an encounter with a furious storm fifteen miles south of Point Rondeau. During the battle with the storm James McKenzie, seaman, and James E. A. Crochet, mate, were swept overboard and lost.

"Wayfarers' Rest" Attached.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 31.—D. H. Warbin, to secure a judgment of $500 against the city, attached the "Wayfarers' Rest," an institution for the refuge of tramps. Judge Field dismissed the attachment, holding that a public institution cannot be levied on for money.

Is Too Ill to Sing.

St. Louis, Oct. 31.—Mme. Calve arrived here Monday. She was unable to sing at Kansas City Monday night on account of illness.

THEY TALK OF SECESSION.

French Canadians Protest Against Helping England.

Montreal, P. Q., Oct. 31.—Many of the French-Canadian newspapers are protesting vigorously against Canada sending troops to help England in the Transvaal and declare that Canadians should have nothing to do with the wars of the British empire.

The Tribune, of St. Hyacinthe, the personal organ of M. E. Bernier, member of the Dominion Parliament for that constituency, and a man who is mentioned as a possible member of the Laurier Cabinet, says:

"On the day when there shall be no other alternative but to enter into an imperial federation or to leave the confederation, we will not hesitate to pronounce freely and frankly for separation from the confederation."

The leading French Ultramontaine organ of Quebec, La Verite, is out for the secession of Quebec province from the Dominion. It declares the dispatch of a Canadian contingent for South Africa, on the demand of the Governor General, under threat of dismissing the Cabinet in case of noncompliance, marks the approach of a new struggle for constitutional liberty.

RESCUED FROM CANNIBALS.

The Lives of Americans Are Saved By Belgians.

London, Oct. 31.—Mail advices from the Congo announces that Captain Mohun, formerly United States Consul at Zanzibar, who is commanding the Belgian Tanganyika-Congo telegraph expedition, has reached the Congo Free State and was engaged, at the end of July, in a fierce battle at Sanguil, where the force consisted of only ten Europeans, with Captain Mohun commanding.

Shortly after the attack commenced Baron Dhamis, the Belgian commander, despatched three companies of soldiers to assist Mohun, and the enemy, consisting of cannibals, who horribly torture their wounded, were finally routed.

Captain Mohun did great execution with a repeating rifle. It is estimated that the enemy numbered 1,500 men and lost 300 killed and 600 wounded. The Belgian force lost nine men killed and forty-seven wounded. The enemy fled to Tanganyika.

Cotton Mills Attached.

Woonsocket, R. I., Oct. 31.—The Hamlet cotton mills of this city are under attachment for $100,000 and Deputy Sheriff Caleb Parker of Saylesville is in charge as keeper, with C. E. Austin as assistant. The attachment was placed at the instance of Frank A. Sayles of Pawtucket. It is understood that the proceedings are not to interfere with the operations of the plant. Col. Frank Harris, treasurer of the corporation, has resigned. He says that the stock of the company is owned by himself and Albert C Hoy, the assistant superintendent He also says that as security for loans, etc., Mr. Sayles holds a $100,000 mortgage on the mills, and that after his (Harris's) resignation Mr. Sayles, as a precautionary measure and to protect his own interests pending an adjustment, had the property attached.

To Evangelize Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Next Monday the Methodists of Chicago will begin an experiment of a seven-day church. The services are to be in the nature of missionary work and are to be held in the Wabash Avenue Church, Wabash avenue and Fourteenth street. The plans are not complete, but at present it is intended that the services shall not be altogether of a religious nature, but shall include lectures, concerts and social gatherings in the church. Later a library, reading room and other features are to be added.

To Unite Cracker Interests.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 31.—A consolidation of the craker industry of the Pacific coast has been completed by Providence bankers. Eastern capital is largely interested. It required $4,000,000 to absorb the factories desired, which included also the candy business of the coast. The corporation is to be known as the Pacific Coast Biscuit Company, Consolidated. The president is Charles E Ide of Syracuse; treasurer, John G. Hanrahan of New York.

Military Wedding in Bermuda.

Hamilton, Bermuda, Oct. 31.—The daughter of Lieutenant General G D. Barker, Governor of Bermuda, has been married to Colonel I. C. Dalton, of the Royal Artillery, Assistant Military Secretary at the Horse Guards, London. Colonel and Mrs. Dalton have embarked for New York on their way to England. The wedding was quiet, owing to the recent death of the bride's brother.

Lord Pauncefote's Return.

Liverpool, Oct. 31.—The White Star Line steamship Oceanic, which is to sail from this port Nov. 1 for New York, via Queenstown, will have among her passengers Lord Pauncefote, the British ambassador to the United States, and Lady Pauncefote, Andrew Carnegie and Mrs. Carnegie and A. J. Drexel.

Death of a Wealthy Negro.

Union City, Ind., Oct. 31.—William Shumake, who was probably the richest colored man in Indiana, is dead, aged nearly 80 years. He came here from the South many years ago and went to work as a farm hand. His wealth will be inherited by an only son.

"Ripans Tabules

have proved decidedly beneficial in my family," said a clergyman from Rhode Island For years I was troubled by excessively severe attacks of indigestion. Many times I have been from four to ten days with no evacuation of bowels whatever and the pain and sense of heaviness has been most intense. I saw an ad of Ripans Tabules in a magazine that comes to my study (the Homiletic Review) and secured a supply and began taking them according to directions given I shortly began to have full, regular and painless evacuations; my sleep became sweeter and more resting, appetite increased, and within a few weeks the trouble entirely left me, and no relapse has taken place and none is anticipated I regard myself as having been entirely cured by 'Ripans Tabules.' Since then my mother has been cured of a similar trouble and by the same means and I sincerely hope the time will come when every family in the land will learn the value of Ripans Tabules."

JEFFRIES AND SHARKEY.

The Two Men and Their Action in Boxing.

Asbury Park, N. J., Oct. 31.—The big championship fight between Jim Jeffries and Tom Sharkey will be decided at the Coney Island Sporting Club next Friday. It will take place at night and pictures of it will be taken by a specially constructed machine.

This fight should be one of the greatest battles of ring history. The two men, as they stand to-day, are, perhaps, the best pair that ever fought for the big title. They are evenly matched. It may be argued that as Jeffries is the taller, heavier and has a longer reach, he overmatches Sharkey. In the centre of the ring, with the fight on, they are not in the least unevenly matched. Jeffries doesn't take any chances and is fighting around his opponent like a cooper 'round a barrel. Judging by the quick movement of his arms there is considerable force behind his blows. He continues this style until the battle is over.

Sharkey is more erect than his opponent. He has a business-like style of movement that suggests aggressiveness. He swings hard and misses. The failure to land hasn't worried him. He is after his man again. He swings with his right. He doesn't land properly and he swings with his left. He is the picture of determination. Thus do Jeffries and the Sailor usually fight. The reader has probably been impressed with the idea that Sharkey is a better fighter than Jeffries. He is, and if his ability and willingness to exchange blow for blow were the only essentials in winning championships, Jeffries might now be considered a dethroned champion.

But there are other things necessary. Sharkey and the reader will have to satisfy themselves as to Jeffries's ability to stand aggressive tactics. Will the boilermaker prove strong enough to handle Sharkey in his fierce actions? Will he be able to take one of Sharkey's punches on the jaw? Will he have strength enough to knock Sharkey groggy with a punch? If these questions could be answered in the affirmative at this time, Jeffries would be a sure winner. If negative answers could be given now, Sharkey would certainly be our next champion.

The betting is now 10 to 7 in favor of Jeffries.

MRS. BERKELEY PROSTRATED.

Mother of Dead Cornell Student in a Delirium of Grief.

Brooklyn, Oct. 31.—In a delirium of grief that forms the most affecting protest against college hazing ever presented, Mrs. Edward Fairfax Berkeley, the mother of the Cornell freshman who was killed by hazing, lies at the home of Mrs. T. B. Coles, her sister, No. 909 Union street. She knows that her son lost his life through the folly of his classmates, but no one has yet dared to tell her the truth. She does not know that her son, dripping with perspiration after a long run, was given an order which compelled him, though he could not swim, to jump into Seneca Canal in an effort to reach one of the wooden supports of a railroad trestle spanning the waterway. Afterwards in his clenched hand was found the senseless note, which he had been ordered to pin to the railroad trestle: "Am in. Be ready. Three miles this side of Gillet's.

Mr. Berkeley, the boy's father, is taking the body to St. Louis, his home, for burial. The tragedy is made sadder by the prominence of the Berkeleys and the fact that Edward Fairfax Berkeley, Jr., was an only son. His grandfather, Edward Fairfax Berkeley, was one of the most eminent Episcopal ministers of the middle west. He was Henry Clay's clergyman. Mrs. Cole said to-day:

"It is a shame that a bright, ambitious young man should not be allowed to go to college and through his studies without being subjected to that murderous hazing. The first report from the college said that Edward's death was caused by an accident, but there is no doubt in our minds that his initiation into that secret society was the direct cause of the tragedy. We are determined upon a rigid examination. Edward cannot be brought to life by anything that we may be able to do, but we hope to be the cause of preventing other tragedies of a like nature. The newspapers alone, by drawing widespread attention to this terrible hazing, can put a stop to it."

Berkeley's Death Causes Bad Feeling.

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 31.—A mass-meeting of Cornell's students was held on Monday evening in the University library to pass appropriate resolutions regarding the death of E. Fairfax Berkeley, a student, during the preliminary part of an initiation into the Kappa Alpha Society. The feeling of indignation against the Kappa Alpha Society is very strong, and a resolution recommending the removal of the chapter by the Faculty may be passed. This is the second death that has occurred in the initiation ceremonies of the Cornell chapter since its entrance into the college.

THE MARKETS.

New York, Oct. 31.—Bullish sentiment prevailed upon the stock market to-day. Most of the speculations were in the railroad shares, which were higher. The strength of the London market was naturally followed by a sharp rise in the international stocks. Southern securities, which had recently begun to feel the effect of prosperous conditions in the south, were the real features of the international group. Trading in the Industrial Stock was very ragged. There was a large bear clique, which was making every effort to depress the common issues of the various industrial combinations.

Cash prices for staples are as follows: Wheat, No. 2 red, 73¼; corn, No. 2 mixed, 41⅛; oats, unchanged; flour, Minnesota patents, $4.10; cotton, middling, .07 5-16; coffee, No. 7 Rio, .06 1-6; sugar, granulated, 5.18; molasses, O. K. prime, .35; beef family, 11.50; beef, hams, 23.75; pork, mess 9.25; lard was steady; Western, $5.60; pork was steady at $9@$9.50; meats were quiet; dressed hogs, 6@6⅝c. Butter—Creamery, Western, extras 24c.; State, extras, 23½@24.; Cheese—State, full cream, small, colored or white fancy 12¾c. Eggs—State, Pennsylvania and Western, 20½@20c.

SUPPLIES ARE DELAYED.

General Young Meets With Difficulties in His Forward March.

BRIDGES ARE DESTROYED

The Country in the Vicinity of Cabanatuan Furrowed With Rivers and Deep Ravines.

The Gunboat Laguna de Bay Drives The Filipinos From Their Trenches Near Santa Rosa—Aguinaldo And His Congress at Tarlac—Roads in Bad Condition.

Manila, Oct. 31.—Gen. Young with the infantry, is advancing, under difficulties, on Cabanatuan. The country is furrowed with rivers and deep ravines, the bridges have been destroyed, the mud is deep, rations are short and the transportation of supplies has been delayed by low water and the poor condition of the roads. The stores, however, are sufficient for the brigade. The Filipinos, having lived in the district for a long time, have impoverished it. The American horses are not yet accustomed to the native grass, and a long bullock train has left San Fernando carrying hay for the cavalry.

The Spaniards report that there are no Filipinos at Cabanatuan.

The gunboat Laguna de Bay dispersed a force of natives who were engaged in constructing trenches beyond Santa Rosa. The boat was fired on by a party of Filipinos bearing a white flag. She is now aground

Numbers of Chinese are coming to Angeles from Tarlac, paying the natives for the privilege.

It is reported that Aguinaldo and the Filipino congress are at Tarlac.

About 500 natives are before Angeles. They have been quiet for the last week. Two thousand Filipinos are at Bamban, five miles to the north.

Gen. Bates has been recalled from San Fernando and ordered to sail for the Southern Islands as soon as possible.

Bell's Men Fighting Again

Washington, Oct. 31.—The War Department has received the following from Gen. Otis:

"Manila, Oct. 30.

"Detachment Bell's regiment, Thirty-sixth Volunteers, reconnoitring toward Florida Blanca, west Guagua, struck body of natives in newly constructed trenches. They attacked and drove enemy, who left in hands of detachment four Filipino officers and eight enlisted men killed, three prisoners and nine rifles. Casualties, Capt. French and Lieut. Ferguson wounded, not dangerously. One enlisted man killed; six wounded."

Gen. Wheeler Discusses Friars.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 31.—General Wheeler discusses the friars and natives in the Philippines in a letter just received by his cousin, Van Leer E. Kirkman, of this city.

"The Filipinos have a great antipathy to the priesthood or friars and they have dismantled many of the churches. They are actuated, in a measure, by a spirit of communism, and their most serious objection to the church seems to be the fact that ecclesiastical organizations own so much of the property and one of Aguinaldo's most earnest demands is that the church property be confiscated.

"The friars and priests are charged with all sorts of oppressions and misdemeanors, but it must be remembered that friars and priests are very numerous and in so large a body there will be found every possible phase of character and disposition.

"Some of them are, no doubt, oppressers of the people, exacting in the collection of rentals from the land, indulging themselves in many ways and leading lives very different from what should characterize the life of a priest. But there are very many good men among them."

Navigation is Closed on Yukon.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 31.—One hundred and thirteen passengers, mostly from Dawson, Atlin, Copper River and Lynn Canal ports, have arrived here on the steamship Alki, six days from Skagway. River navigation of the Yukon has ceased, floating ice, particularly in the head waters in the main stream, rendering it unsafe for steamers.

Missionary's Children Killed.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 31.—The reports of the official correspondents were read here at the last session of the Methodist Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. Miss Knowles, a missionary, reported a recent earthquake and landslide in India, which killed the five children of Rev. Mr. Lee, a Methodist missionary.

Berkeley's Body Taken West.

Geneva, N. Y., Oct. 31.—The body of Edward Fairfax Berkeley, the Cornell student who was drowned during his initiation into the Kappa Alpha fraternity, has been taken west. The body was accompanied by several Cornell "Kaps." The entire Hobart and Cornell chapters were at the station.

Dewey Moves Into New Home.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 31.—Admiral Dewey has left his quarters at the Everett and moved into the residence at No. 1747 Rhode Island avenue that was lately presented to him by popular subscription.

Volunteers Sail From Quebec.

Montreal, Oct. 31.—The Canadian volunteers for South Africa have embarked at Quebec. The governor general reviewed them before they went aboard the vessel which is to convey them to England.

Man Lost in The Woods.

Remis, Maine, Oct. 31.—John M. Knight, clerk at the Poland Springs Hotel during last season, is lost in the woods. A Hundred men are searching for him.

Smith and the Elections.

Former Senator James Smith, whose name is frequently heard in politics in New Jersey, but whose presence in party realms has been noted for his absence during the past year, has turned up in gay Paree, where he has submitted to an interview. As a long-distance observation, Mr. Smith is reported as having said:

"I hoped to be back in time to see how things were going politically in my own State, but Carlsbad did not cure me. I don't attach much importance to the fall elections, they will not foreshadow the fortunes of next year. It is an off year.

"With the exception of Ohio the elections will not bring out anything like a full vote. In my own State, New Jersey, for instance, I don't think more than two thirds of the voters will go to the polls.

"As for me, I will stand by the platform of the party no matter what I think personally. The platform is the condensed wisdom of the party and individual opinion should respect it. To the Chicago platform a few more planks will be added."

John T. Dunn on the Stump.

The redoubtable John T. Dunn, former Congressman from this district, has been regaling Hudson county Democrats with some campaign oratory, which was brought out through his desire to say a few words in behalf of his old friend, James F. Clarke, who is running for Register. Said the ex-Congressman:

"Jim Clarke helped to make me Speaker of the Assembly, and if I had not been elected Speaker I would never have become a lawyer. I believe in the law, but if there was any way I could steal a vote, I would drop it in for Jim Clarke."

After telling all about the Dunn bill, the ex-Congressman said:

"Mark Hanna's name is not Marcus. It is Mike. He is as much of a 'Mick' as I am, and he is as Irish as Paddy's pig. Unless the Democrats soon regain control of the National affairs this Republic is going to die.

Sources of Information.

The person who first remarked: "If you don't see what you want, ask for it!" said a wise thing in a witty way. The Philadelphia Record says he could have declared with equal wisdom: "If you don't know where to find the thing you want, the advertisements will tell you just where to get it," and then adds. "The business notices which abound in a first class newspaper are a public necessity. They are no longer mere crude and heavy trade announcements. Through them the advertiser holds chatty converse with his patrons far and near. He entertains and instructs them; he shows them how well equipped he is to supply their wants. But his clever talks in the advertising columns go further—they suggest new needs, and create new desires for useful or ornamental belongings."

Notwithstanding that we are in the midst of a heated county campaign, Plainfielders are looking ahead of the election next Tuesday and wondering what will develop in the municipal campaign that will follow in quick time. City election will be held December 5th, and will be an important one. Seven members of the Common Council will be elected—one from each of the four wards and three from the city-at-large. This will mean a majority in the Council. It is highly improbable that a Citizens' ticket will be in the field this year. Instead, the Democrats will make an aggressive fight against the present Republican administration.

The result of the Republican county convention last week was generally accepted as indicating that United States Senator Kean is the recognized head of the party in Union county, and if there is such a thing as a boss in the county G. O. P. he fills that position. But the Sage of Urinso gently denies the impeachment, and declares that he simply desires to see the supremacy of the ticket nominated at the county convention. The Senator believes that the only office the Democrats hope to win is that of the County Clerk.

The rise and fall of "great" men in this country is remarkable. Cohanda, who posed as the king of a Kaffir tribe in South Africa at the World's Fair, and who says he had then $32,000 worth of diamonds belonging to the royal family, is now a house servant in a hotel at Louisville, Ky. He was robbed of his diamonds soon after the fair closed, he says, and started a saloon in Portland, but failed. He claims that he was educated at Oxford.

Miss Susan B Anthony's announcement of her intention to resign as leader of the woman suffrage movement and as president of the National Association has already brought two candidates into the field as her successor. These are Mrs Lillie Devereaux Blake and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt. Both of them have been prominent for years in advocating woman suffrage, but will never live to see the day when their ideas will be universal.

The argumentative period of the campaign has arrived and from now until next Tuesday the orators will whoop up things on the hustings.

Mark Hanna has taken his place among the famous campaign orators of 1899.

Election is one week from today.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Sedate Plainfield, N. J., may become a sort of Monte Carlo before long. A magistrate there has just decided that there is practically no ordinance forbidding the playing of "craps" in the place.—New York Herald.

* * * * *

Ex-Congressman J. Nelson Pidcock is a bankrupt, and asks the court to declare him insolvent. He admits debts amounting to over $350,000, and assets none at all. Mr. Pidcock was at one time a very wealthy man, owning and running a railroad, and he exercised great political influence in New Jersey. While this influence was ever on the wrong side, and while he was one of the most prominent of what Senator Blodgett characterized as "the same old gang," he has general sympathy. His political ruin was something to be grateful for, but his financial misfortunes, like those of any other enterprising man, are to be deplored.—Elizabeth Journal.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

An example of the reply courteous was given by a young colored lad living with a family in town. He was directed to brush some cobwebs from an area by the lady of the house, who experienced regret at their presence in that place. The boy replied gallantly, "But madam, cobwebs will come in King's palaces."

Tonight is hallow'een. Indoors, an evening of romping, mystic games and pleasing follies, and more or less interesting to unmarried people because hallow'een is always associated with omens of the future. Outdoors, as usual, a night of almost riotous revelry for the boys whose parents have no chains and shackles. Ordinances seem suspended and policemen futile when the hallow'een boys break loose and start out for mischief. Swapping signs and unhinging gates are mild forms of diversion, and swatting unwary pedestrians with paper sacks of flour are regarded as legitimate forms of amusement on the streets. Our wise man recently suggested police supervision and organization of the carnival bands which parade the streets on hallow'een. It was a good suggestion, but it came too late to go into effect this year. He was right in saying that it would form an interesting entertainment and, moreover, it would stimulate efforts to produce artistic and amusing effects besides giving everybody who chose an opportunity to see the display, which is now almost impossible in the manner with which the bands of merrymakers are scattered over the city. It really seems strange that in all the years that have passed nothing has been done to systematize and organize the celebration of this night. Indoors the commemoration has taken the form chiefly of games handed down from ages gone and all having more or less a grotesque character and portentious meaning. These tricks and trials are all imported from abroad, and those who indulge in them should wear garments which they are not afraid of having mussed up.

DOES COFFEE AGREE WITH YOU?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grain. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

DUNELLEN

(Special Correspondence of The Daily Press.)

Dunellen, Oct. 31 — Arrangements are being made by the Sunday-school classes of the Methodist church for an entertainment at the church, Thursday evening, Nov. 2d. A feature of the entertainment will be the appearance of Prof. William Schwalb, wife and son in humorous recitations, songs, etc. The small admission fee of 10 cents will be charged.

Harry Dodwell, the energetic baggagemaster at the Central railroad station, is about to be promoted to a more important position in the company's employ. Harry is a son of Conductor Charles Dodwell, who has a host of friends along the line from Somerville to Jersey City, and is deserving of advancement. His many friends in the borough will be pleased to learn of the promotion.

The Dunellen football team went to Elizabeth Saturday afternoon and had a tussle with the boys of the Battin High School. The result was a complete rout for the Dunellen team by a score of 11 to 0. This is the first time the home team has been defeated in two years. But for the great work of Ernest Peters the Dunellen boys would have been defeated worse than they were.

Roy Carroll, a member of the Dunellen football team, was quite severely injured in Saturday's game at Elizabeth by being kicked in the head. He was rendered unconscious for several minutes. Mr. Carroll lives in North Plainfield. Ernest Peters was also slightly injured, but was plucky enough to continue in the game.

Miss Bessie Milligan, the twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Milligan, will be given a birthday party this evening at the home of her parents on Prospect avenue.

William Piffer, near here at what is called G rmantown, was totaly distroyed by fire early last evening. The fire was discovered by a neighbor in the attic of the Piffer house about 7 o'clock. The fire alarm was at once sounded and the Westfield firemen lost no time in getting to the scene but there being no hydrant near, water had to be pumped from a well nearby, and the firemen were at a disadvantage. However, they saved the surrounding buildings and all of the furniture in the burning house. Mr. Piffer places his loss at about $2,500, and is insured for $2,000.

A line of hose was laid and a stream thrown upon the fire. For fully an hour the firemen were busy. Before the flames were extinguished some of the fence near the laundry building was destroyed. HER TRIBUTE.

A Man With a Large Soul and a Wise Widow.

"Your tribute to your departed friend," said the editor of "The Family Mourne" to the tall woman in black, "is beautiful in many respects, but I thought I would let you explain some parts of it to me before we ran it."

"Yes, sir."

"For instance, take these two lines:

"'We buried him deep in a hummocky hole,
Which was small for his body, but large for his soul.'

"Saying nothing about the peculiar hummocky character of the hole, why do you refer to it as large for his soul?"

"Did you know Mr. Bargins?"

"I did not, madam, have that pleasure, but—"

"Well, if you had known him you would understand why I said the hole was large enough. His soul will never find the sides of it."

"Ah, yes; I see. And take these lines as another illustration:

"'He's gone from us far to the mist-hidden sphere;
We hope there's peace there, but we know there's peace here.'

"The meaning of these lines seemed a little ambiguous to me. They have a beauty which is all their own, but perhaps you would kindly explain their exact intent to me."

"Sir, I am Mr. Bargin's widow, and—"

"Say no more; say no more. I comprehend. And that fact, too, doubtless explains these two lines:

"'I would not the angels should hear my low moan,
For I feel that at present they've grief of their own.'"

His Face.

"Well," asked the attorney for the prosecution, who was cross-examining the defendant, "what did he do then?"

"He took out his handkerchief, for it was a hot day," replied the defendant, "and wiped his face off."

"Wiped it off? Wiped his face off? That was a pretty serious loss for him, wasn't it?"

"Not very. A few minutes afterwards I put a head on him."

Puzzled.

"I can't quite make out that English neighbor of mine," said Uncle Allen Sparks. "He was at church the other Sunday and joined lustily in singing when the preacher gave out 'America,' but I noticed that the words he sung were 'God Save the Queen.' I don't know whether he did it to give the effect of an Anglo-American alliance, or whether it was just a piece of his English bull-headedness."

PHILANTHROPY.

How One Millionaire Paid the Church Debt.

He lives in Columbus, and is known to have thousands. But his reputation by no means would justify his being called a philanthropist.

A week or two ago he went "down in the county to his old home." On his first Sunday there he went to the old church near the mill. Memories of the Sunday mornings of his boyhood days flooded him, days when he sat in the hot church and listened to—the boys shouting while swimming in the old millpond. His heart on this particular Sunday morning was grateful for all things, and especially the privilege of attending the old church again.

At the conclusion of the sermon the minister asked the congregation for a contribution to pay off the church indebtedness. When the "steward" reached the old Columbus miser, whose reputation for stinginess had long been known in the little hamlet, the sanctimonious church official was somewhat startled by being addressed:

"How much is the entire indebtedness on the church?"

Upon being told, the would-be philanthropist, before the eyes of the congregation, took out his checkbook and fountain pen and wrote a check for the full amount. The "steward" waited until the check was safely deposited in the basket before continuing the "collection."

When the church was dismissed the people fairly buzzed with the excitement of discussing the "payment of the church debt by Mr. Blank, the millionaire from Columbus."

And no wonder. The debt was $17.50.

The Confidence of Youth.

"And now that you are through college, what are you going to do?" asked a friend of the youthful graduate.

"I shall study medicine," was the grave reply of the ambitious young man.

"But isn't that profession already overcrowded?" asked the friend.

"Possibly it is," answered the knowing youth, "but I propose to study medicine just the same and those who are already in the profession will have to take their chances."—Chicago News.

He Was a Philosopher.

"She said her heart wasn't hers to give me."

"What did you do?"

"I grabbed my hat and quit."

"You are an idiot. She meant that you already had her heart."

"Do you think it? Well, I guess it's all right, anyway. I never could get along with a girl who can't talk common sense."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"There's the smartest little woman that ever took hold of this servant girl problem," said the old gentleman, pointing with pride to his only daughter.

Poor Consolation.

"When we were first married he called me his little kitten," wailed Mrs. Bickers, "and now he calls me a cat."

"But you must remember," replied the consoling one, "that even little kittens grow up to be cats in a comparatively short space of time."—Detroit Free Press.

Cheerful.

"You'll become used to the motion of the yacht soon, dearest," said the young husband, soothingly. "It's your home, you know, for the next month."

"Then what ails me, I suppose," replied the wan bride, trying to smile, "is homesickness."—Chicago Tribune.

Suburban Sensations.

"The Brown-Jones don't speak to us any more."

"What's the trouble?"

"Well, we locked up and went off to the country Saturday and left their Sunday dinner in our ice-chest."—Detroit Free Press.

Obliging.

"What a very obliging man the professional at your golf club is!" said Wilber.

"Yes, indeed," said Larrabee. "He even offered to change his name to Willie if it would suit us better."—Harper's Bazar.

Poor Boy.

"No, I positively cawn't go wheeling any more," said Cholly.

"Isn't it fashionable?" asked the vulgar person.

"Naw. Just popular."—Indianapolis Journal.

The Empress.

Watts—You are an anti-imperialist, ain't you?"

N. Peck—Yes; but she doesn't seem to care a cent whether I am or not.—Indianapolis Journal.

SHOPPING IN CUBA

How The Independent Merchants Of Matanzas Do Business.

—BY— KATE JORDAN.

This is the hilly end of Ricla street, Matanzas. The bright yellow and sky blue length of low houses twists like a gay striped ribbon to a perspective where an American flag flares in a splash of green.

It is a winter day, hot, dry and breezy, the sun pouring from a dome of marvelous blue. No, not blue; we call the summer sky at home blue, so another word must be coined to express the dazzling glory of this color, which is all things, deep and bright, flaming like a luminous dye, yet soft with infinite depth, drenching the town with its brilliance and only finding a sister color when it looks upon the bay, whose very spray is streaked with blue as it frets the coast line of Matanzas.

A CUBAN MILKMAN.
[From a photograph.]

Ricla street is always busy, but there is no crowd and no hurry. The people amble in single file along the narrow pavements, which scarcely measure more than a yard in width, a chance American officer stepping to the gutter when progress is barred and returning to the sidewalk when he is ahead of the procession.

It is after 9, so all the shops are open and busy. If you are out to buy a book, look closely before entering, or you may find yourself in a butcher's, for they are all alike. There are no windows in which to display goods. There are merely open spaces under the low, pot tiled roofs, each with a big square of canvas flapping before it, blowing in or out, according to the breeze.

In the shadowy interiors there is little dissimilarity. Coming out of the sun, you wink hard to see what is on the uniform lines of shelves and in the glass cases standing at regular distances on the brick or marble floors. It would not surprise you if Latin contrariness to our usage put small divisions of the precious meat under the glass and strung up hats and handkerchiefs to be sold by the pound.

The shopkeepers are all Spaniards who have emigrated to the island at various times, and they, too, are bewilderingly alike, with full, florid faces, a brush of coarse black hair standing up from the forehead, with corpulent bodies clothed in thin linen trousers and blouse, the sleeves rolled to the elbow and the neckband turned in till a decollete effect is gained. They are nonchalant as to whether you buy or go, and if you cannot wait until perhaps the master leisurely finishes his early cafe con leche, why, adios!

"It is the custom of the country," says the patient Cuban who does wait and who smokes while he makes himself comfortable against the shelves.

Shops are not designated by the proprietor's name in Cuba. Each is given a title. As you stroll along you see upon the houses' gay facades signs of every hue, with fancy lettering, which read:

"The Pearl of Cuba," "The Favorite," "The Novelty," "The Grand," "The Best of All," "The Coffee House of the Two Brothers," "The Bookshop of the Two Friends," etc.

The principal retail shops are in this one important thoroughfare, if anything so sleepy deserves the name.

VENDERS OF SHRIMPS.
[From a photograph.]

The Plaza is the hub of the town, and here the movement of an ant hill is seen. The palace, with an arcade in stucco, runs along one side, the clubs on another, cafes and some of the principal shops on another. Here the band plays at night, and the whole town strolls and flirts under the palms, finishing the evening at 9 at one of the cafes where lemonade, gin rickeys and the insipid Cuban decoction of white of egg, sugar and water are sold.

Mulattoes of every shade of yellow and brown loiter around the many open doors, hoping to be used as messengers for a coche. They are big, graceful and fine featured, their chests shining through rents in tattered blouses and their dark ankles flashing below short, flapping trousers, the Cuban hat turned in a large flare back from their faces.

During the shortest walk on a Cuban street you are sure to hear some vender crying his wares. Here comes an egg seller with his "Huevos frescos!" The notes are sweet and high, with a falsetto trill on the last syllable. He comes down the middle of the street, holding a wooden tray before him, with the precious eggs, which just now, owing to Cuba's devitalized condition, are selling at 8 and 10 cents apiece, arranged in careful lines.

A dairyman turns the corner. He has two mules on a string. More often he has three. Each of them bears sacks of cane matting filled with milk cans. He sits sideways on the first, and his insistent chaht is interrupted by yells of command and the flick of a lash to the mules following.

The wood carrier who rolls his barrow into the next street is littered with splinters and shavings. He moves his old head as if with palsy and keeps up a monotonous, rolling song.

Sweetest of all, a minor, barbaric wail which Saxon tongue cannot easily imitate, is the appealing song of the fruit merchant. His shoulders are weighted by the heavy banana stalks, and the mule which jogs beside him has pineapples and yams distending the great pouches falling on each side of his back.

I once heard the cry of a fruit seller in a lonely lane, in a weird, yellow twilight, in the shadow of the grim hospital of Santa Isabel, with the bar sinister of recent yellow fever upon it and a ruined casa beside his waiting mule. It was as if a grave opened and a voice spoke, the complaining sorrow of Cuba in the strain.

Over the Yumuri bridge you reach the Paseo, a broad avenue, edged by a sea wall. There is a curious collection of venders here—boys with live quail, which are tied by the feet and held with heads down, fluttering, sighing bunches of feathers, victims of slow torture in the clutch of these unimaginative owners; young and old mulattoes, variously tattered, selling small loaves with slices of guava paste between; a whole family in a shady spot weaving the big, native hat with grassy brim; negro boys, half asleep, leaning on the sea wall like caricatures in ebony of Raphael's "Cherubs," pails of shrimps before them; honey sellers with the lumps of dripping comb like congealed sun shining between lettuce leaves.

HORSES CARRY THEIR OWN RATIONS.
[From a photograph.]

As you leave the Paseo to return to the more crowded streets you see one of the commonest sights in Cuba, a horse bearing its master as well as its own rations, an enormous load of grass and leaves. These Cuban ponies are sometimes so small and the burden they carry so huge it often seems as they come toward you that a green hill has supplied itself with four slim legs.

The Plaza is the headquarters for the coches of the town. These are barouches in every stage of decrepitude with a horse to match and a lolling driver with ever ready whip.

You may not have any cochero you select even if he has not a fare. Perhaps you want to go too far and it is near his breakfast hour, or he objects knowingly to a direction which forces him to pay toll at a bridge, or his may be a horse which never goes up hill because he would very likely die after he had reached the top, or he may be asleep inside his coche, and among the cocheros, as among all the work people in Cuba, a nap in the warm part of the day has a charm far above that of any peseta ever coined.

But after some exertion and a wish that your teacher had taught you some profane Spanish that might apply particularly to cocheros, you hire a barouche for one hour for a Spanish dollar and drive around the town, getting flashing impressions of the life and the people.

Cameron, Ills., is a town with 15 women in it who can sit together for three consecutive hours and not say a single word. This seems incredible, but reliable witnesses of the phenomenon vow that not even a whisper came from the 15 pairs of lips. They are members of a silent sewing society, and their rules impose a fine of 10 cents for each word uttered during the session.

ABSENT MINDED.

The Maid Was Thoughtful for the Brawny Scot.

An absent-minded professor once invited a number of learned Scotsmen to visit some interesting ruins in his neighborhood, and to do honor to his guests, and being himself a Scotsman, he donned the Highland dress for the occasion. There was to be a luncheon in a large marquee on the lawn, and when the master of the house appeared in all the glory of his kilt, the astonishment of Jane, the housemaid, was great.

Thinking her master was in one of his vacant moods, she rushed up stairs, and reappeared presently on the lawn, where her master stood in conversation with a group of his visitors, with a pair of the professor's best trousers over her arm.

She blushed as she said, pointing to the bare knees of the brawny Scot, at the same time holding out the garment:

"Please, sir, you've forgotten these."—Tit-Bits.

Not Particular.

Clerk—Where for, sor?
Traveller—Let m' shee——
Clerk—What station do you want?
Traveller—Er — what stations you got?

Business First.

Fussy Man (hurrying into newspaper office)—I've lost my spectacles somewhere, and I want to advertise for them, but I can't see to write without them, you know.

Advertising Clerk (likely to be general manager some day)—I will write that ad. for you, sir. Any marks on them?

Fussy Man—Yes; yes. Gold-rimmed, lenses different focus, and letters L. C. C. on inside. Insert it three times.

Advertising Clerk—Yes, sir. Eighteen shillings, please.

Fussy Man—Here it is.

Advertising Clerk—Thanks. It gives me, sir, great pleasure to inform you, sir, that your spectacles are on the top off your head.

Fussy Man—My stars! So they are. Why didn't you say so before?

Advertising Clerk—Business before pleasure, you know.—London Tit-Bits.

The Wary Young Woman.

She called at the store to ask the manager if he could make a place for her brother.

"He's a better business man than I am," said she, "and I am certain he could be of some service if you can find a place for him."

"Older or younger than you?" asked the manager.

"He's twenty-five," said the young woman, naively.

"There's no use talking, you can't catch them on their age," said the manager, after she had gone.

Too Much of a Good Thing.

Mrs. Smith (thoughtfully) — I'm afraid I shall have to stop giving Robby that tonic the doctor left him.

Mr. Smith (anxiously)—Why, isn't he any better?

Mrs. Smith—Oh, yes! But he has slid down the banisters six times this morning, broken the hall lamp, two vases, a jug and a looking glass, and I don't feel as if I could stand much more.—Tit-Bits.

Drew the Line.

The soubrette approached the business manager and her wrinkled old face was aflame with anger.

"I know I'm getting along in years," she snapped, "but I'd have you tell that fresh reporter I'm not as old as that." And she handed the business manager a newspaper clipping which read:

"Miss Tottie Tinkletoze, the soubrette, is one of Eve's fairest daughters."

Enough.

She—You should read this article about the passing of the horse. It's really pathetic.

He—Don't want to read it. I know the whole thing, pathos and all. I entered my trotter for the matinee races and every other horse on the track passed him.—Detroit Free Press.

It Was Love.

"It was a marriage for love, I suppose."

"I suppose so. Love has been described as an inexplicable yearning, hasn't it?

"I believe so."

"Then it was love all right enough. She yearned for a title."—Chicago Post.

Put Straight.

"It's a shame," said the summer boarder, "for you to waste so much land on that pig pen, when you might turn it into a beautiful lawn."

"Nay," replied the farmer, who knew his business. "The pen is mightier than the sword."—Philadelphia North American.

Lost His Case.

Citizen—So my dog tore your clothes, did he? Where?

Hungry Higgins—I've forgot which one them tears is his.—Indianapolis Journal.

On Time.

An epitaph on a tombstone at Whitsett, Ga., reads:

"He went to heaven at half-past nine,
And the heavenly choir he did jine."
—Atlanta Constitution.

Had Use for Them.

Customer—Can you let me have these trunks any cheaper by the dozen?

Dealer—By the dozen?

Customer—Yes. I expect to visit all the summer hotels this year.—Puck.

CURIOUS CUSTOMERS.

The Singular Orders Druggists Have to Fill.

A chemist is making a collection of the queer orders he receives from people who send children to the store for things they need. Here are a few samples of them:

"This child is my little girl. I sent you a penny to buy two sitless powders for a groan up adult who is sike."

Another reads:

"Dear Dochter, ples gif bearer pennies worse of Auntie Toxyn for to gargle babi's throte, and obleage."

An anxious mother writes:

"You will please give the lettle boi pennuf worth of epecac for to throw up in a five months' old babe. N. B.—The babe has a sore stummick."

This one puzzled the druggist:

"I have a cue pain in my child's diagram. Please give my son something to release it."

Another anxious mother wrote:

"My little babey has eat up its father's parish plasther. Send an anecdote quick as possible by the inclosed little girl."

The writer of this one was evidently in pain:

"I haf a hot time in my insides and wich I wood like it to be extinguished. What is good for to extinguish it? The inclosed sixpence is for the price of the extinguisher. Hurry, pleas."

A Young Professor.

"It's positively shocking to hear the rough language you use. Do you learn that in school?"

"Learn nothin'; I teach 'em all."—Soendags-Nisse.

A New Excuse.

"Henry, this is scandalous."

"What's the matter, m' dear?"

"Oh, there's no use talking to you. Don't you know you're in a dreadful condition?"

"Who said s-so, m' dear?"

"I say so. Why, you won't be able to get your hat on to-morrow."

"An' do you know why, m' dear?"

"Yes, I know why."

"Th-then you know about kissin' bug?"

"Kissing bug! What about the kissing bug?"

"Kissin' bug bit me on the brow, an' poor ol' head's swelled twice its nashral size. Look at it, m' dear."

"You go to bed."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Fellow Feeling.

"Listen to this," exclaimed the officer who was reading a newspaper. "The Queen of Spain has been obliged to give up two million pesetas a year."

And from a bunch of palms where the Samoan kings were betting tobacco tags on a quiet game came the exclamation in a rich bass voice:

"Ain't us monarchs having hard luck?"—Washington Star.

Willing to Accommodate.

The British tourist wandered into the "Rustlers' Retreat" and languidly asked for a "'ighball."

"Jake," called the accommodating barkeeper to his assistant asleep in the corner, "the gent wants a eyeball. I dunno wot fer, but he wants it. Go out and ketch a Chinaman."—Indianapolis Journal.

A Good Excuse.

Mr. Binks—What excuse did Edna make for allowing Mr. Rockwell to kiss her?

Mrs. Binks—Oh, she said she is so nearsighted that she did not see him until he was too close to stop him.—Harper's Bazar.

At the Ballet.

"See that girl in the first row?"

"The one with the blonde hair?"

"Yes. She looks as if she had something on her mind."

"If she has it's a pity she can't have some of it on the rest of her."—Chicago Times-Herald.

Too Clever.

Andrew Browning Lang—Your patriotic poem was received, but we have thrown it into the waste basket, in spite of the stamps inclosed for its return. A man who rhymes Dewey with Bouy has too much genius to be encouraged.—Harper's Bazar.

Remembered It Once.

"I am glad to have you safely home again, Willie. I hope you didn't forget to pray every day, as you promised me."

"I forgot all about it, mamma, till I was comin' through Cleveland. I prayed pretty hard then, you bet."

His Bent.

Mother—I wonder what we can do with Johnnie? He has such a way of exaggerating everything. He is always making a mountain out of a molehill."

Father—I think, my dear, we had better make him an auctioneer.—Tit-Bits.

Resented.

"And how did you come to marry him?"

"I didn't come to marry him," answered the womanly little woman indignantly; "he came to marry me."—Chicago Evening Post.

Astonished Pat.

"Pat," said his young wife, "I wish you wouldn't put your knife in your mouth when you eat."

"An' phwere would yez hev me put it," said Pat, in astonishment—"in me eyes?"—Harper's Bazar.

Might Be Worse.

"I should think life would be a constant torture to you," remarked the sympathetic visitor at the dime museum.

"Oh, no," responded the ossified man. "One gets hardened to it."

NATION'S DEFENSE.

THE UNITED STATES USING THE PITH OF CORNSTALKS.

Cellulose Made From the Once Useless Cornstalk Placed In the Steel Walls of American Cruisers—Does Not Stop Shot But Excludes Water.

The use of cornstalk pith as a part of the defensive equipment of the modern battleship promises much to the Western farmer. The manufacture of cellulose is no longer an experiment, but is gradually coming into extensive use.

The Marsden Company of Philadelphia was the first to use cellulose. It is made from the pure pith of the cornstalk and is used to give protection along the water-line and to prevent the entrance of water if the ship's side should be pierced by a shot.

After a ship has been launched and the armor bolted on, the three feet of space between the ribs known as the cofferdam is filled with celluose. Should a shot pierce the side at the water-line the damage would be lessened by the cellulose. The cellulose is fire-proof; water could not enter. Wetting causes the cellulose to swell and close the hole. This device does not stop the projectile, but allows it to pass clear through, while the holes made close up much as if the projectile had passed through a sponge.

The new battleships Illinois, Kentucky, Alabama, Kearsarge, Wisconsin, have all been provided with a belt of cellulose, three feet thick, twelve feet high, six feet above the water-line, and six feet below the water-line, extending around the entire ship. It takes fifty tons of cellulose for each ship. On an average of fifteen tons of stalks to a ton of cellulose, some idea can be gained of the quantity used.

Cellulose is manufactured by first cutting out the joints of the stalks to procure the pure pith. The pieces are run through rollers that crack the outer casing and allow the pith to be extracted. The tubes of pure pith are then cut up fine. After the fibres have been taken out by a fanning process the pith is subjected to fire-proofing, then pressed into blocks six inches square.

From the press the cubes are placed in pasteboard boxes and packed in cases holding 128 cubes, each weighing sixteen ounces. Owing to its lightness, but three tons can be loaded into a car. One company is now working on a 1,000-ton order for the home Government, and a 1,500-ton order for the Russian Government.

In addition to cellulose, celluloid goods are made from the pith by another process. Another by-product is a metal lacquer known as pyroxolin, used in covering metal exposed to the weather. The Dupont smokeless powder factory is also experimenting with a very fine ground cellulose with a view of using it as a base for smokeless powder. The greatest difficulty was to secure a quality free from foreign matter.

The factory at Owensboro, Ky., has been paying $3 per ton to farmers for stalks. The experiment station at Rockford, Ill., paid $4 per ton. The large amount of stock fed near Rockford made the stalks of more value to the Illinois feeder than the Kentucky farmer. During the six months that the Rockford station was in operation, the company paid over $12,000 for stalks. Land which will grow fifty bushels of corn to the acre will produce two tons of stalks. If the corn can be marketed for thirty cents per bushel and the stalks for $3 per ton, allowing $1 for cutting, it means $20 an acre for the farmer.

The practical use of cellulose in battleships will create an enormous demand for stalks. Should England place an order sufficiently large to equip a part of her navy, it will mean the expenditure of thousands of dollars for that which has heretofore been considered of small value. While foreign countries recognize the necessity of equipping their navies with this new protection, no country in the world can grow the stalks as cheaply as the six great corn-growing states of the West.

Fined the Man Who Shot the Dog.

Squire Henry Grelle of Beltzhoover, Pa., does not like lawyers. He believes that they stir up too much trouble by dragging musty old books into his office and insisting that he follow the precedents they dig from them. He has the full approval of his constituents. His justice is the sort that is equitable between man and man, and not that misnamed stuff that depends on the technicalities of law books for a standing.

One of Squire Grelle's early cases was brought against a friend of his, who was accused of cruelty to animals. The man had been bothered by a vicious dog, and he shot at it. The bullet cut a piece off its tail, but did no other harm. The trial attracted a large crowd. There was conflicting evidence as to the dog. Some of the witnesses said it was a gentle animal and others declared that it ought to be killed.

"I will reserf my decision until next weeg," said the Squire after he had heard the testimony.

He was not satisfied as to the dog, and while he had the case under consideration he made some inquiries in the neighborhood. He learned that the dog was bad. But the maiming of it by depriving it of part of its tail was undoubtedly a cruel act, and he did not see how he could get over that, even to favor his friend.

When the day came for him to give his decision, says the Pittsburg Times, it was evident to the crowd that had gathered in his office that he had made up his mind. He called the defendant up.

"You admid shooting this dog?" he asked.

"Yes, I do, 'Squire; but the dog is—"

"Dot will do. Sid down." And he called the owner of the dog forward.

"Your dog is a bad dog," he said to him.

"No, he isn't, 'Squire," said the man; he's as gentle as—"

"Dot will do. Sid down. I haf my mind made up. I fine the defendant $1 and costs for shooting dot dog."

There was applause from the side of the room on which the friends of the dog were gathered.

"Order! Order!" commanded the Squire. "I haf not vinished. I vill fine the defendant $1 and gosts for shooting dot dog, but I vill gif him one more shot at the dog."

CUT DOWN BY STEAMER.

could not see any of the struggles of the passengers in the water. The approaching Jersey Central ferry-boat was among the first to reach the scene. The lights from the latter enabled the watchers in the dock to see some of the efforts made to rescue the survivors.

Some of the passengers of the Chicago, that were picked up by the small craft, were landed at the Central slip. They did not appear greatly excited. One woman, who was rescued, was in great trouble. Her husband had been on the boat with her, and she had no idea whether or not he had been saved.

A mailing clerk in the New York Sun office swam to the Central slip, where he was pulled out. He had been in the woman's cabin and had jumped overboard. He had been in such a hurry that he had forgotten to remove his overcoat and reached the slip still wearing it. His face was badly bruised, but he did not know how it happened.

The Central ferry boat was delayed for half an hour in rescuing the victims. When the Plainfielders boarded it, they were taken within a few feet of the wrecked vessel. A crowd of tugs, row boats and police boats were busy at that time looking for those who had managed to escape death.

Looking for a Factory Location.

Charles Overbaugh, the patentee of the non-refilling bottle, an account of which has been given in these columns, is now looking for a suitable place to manufacture his patented article. He has an option on several places, but has not yet selected one. Mr. Overbaugh was assured a few days ago by an expert, Mr. Winter, of New York, that he has the thing perfected and that he can go ahead and put the article on the market.

Lectured on Commercial Law.

The first of the series of monthly lectures on commercial law at the Gregg School of Shorthand, in the Babcock building, was delivered last evening by Attorney Fred A. Pope, of Somerville. He laid the foundation for future lectures telling why it is necessary to have the laws when and where they originated and under what circumstances.

No Right to Ugliness.

The woman who is lovely in face, form and temper will always have friends, but one who would be attractive must keep her health. If she is weak, sickly and all run down, she will be nervous and irritable. If she has constipation or kidney trouble, her impure blood will cause pimples, blotches, skin eruptions and a wretched complexion. Electric Bitters is the best medicine in the world to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to purify the blood. It gives strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, rich complexion. It will make a good-looking, charming woman of a run-down invalid. Only 50 cents at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store.

A TROUBLED CASHIER.

When a Man is Afraid He May Be Correct.

Now it came to pass that there was a bank cashier who was sorely troubled.

And there came a wise man who saw the care that was in the bank cashier's face, and he spoke unto him, saying:

"Why are you cast down? Your features are the features of one who is in sore straits. Perchance the watermelon was still green?"

"No," said the man who was troubled; "it is nothing that I have eaten. But how shall I gain the confidence of those about me? If I live humbly they say I do so to ward off suspicion, and if I indulge in luxuries they at once declare that I must be stealing. What am I to do?"

Then the wise man opened his mouth and said a great thing:

"Forasmuch as you are so blame fraid somebody will suspicion you, it must be that you are crooked. Behold I am Sherlock Holmes, the younger, and I arrest you in the name of the law." And it was found that the cashier had stolen much.

Moral—Now, therefore, when a man is afraid the chances are that he has something to be afraid of.

His Conception of Them.

"I think it would be a good plan to send Willie up into the country for a month," suggested Willie's father. "He's never been on a farm and it would be rather a novel experience for him.

"No, you don't!" interrupted Willie. "I've heard all about the country and I'm not going anywhere where they have thrashing machines. It's bad enough when it's done by hand."—Chicago Post.

Coincidences.

Fuddy. There is something peculiar about Titcomb.

Duddy. Never saw anything good about him.

Fuddy. I mean it is funny how things turn out with him. He says he has on three different occasions made up his mind to move just as his landlord had made up his mind to bone him for rent. Titcomb thinks such coincidences are wonderful.—Boston Transcript.

Her Fears Realized.

The little yacht was becalmed, and he suggested that she whistle for some wind.

"I'm afraid to," she replied.

"Why?" he asked.

"I can't tell what you'll do when I get my lips all puckered up," she answered.

"I won't do a thing," he promised.

"Then I won't whistle," she retorted.—Chicago Post.

Inevitable Strife.

"Do you think that we will ever have universal peace?" asked the thoughtful man.

"I dunno," answered the musician. "If we do, I'd hate to have the contract of managing the singing organizations who will be assembled to sing anthems about it. The professional jealousy will be something terrific."—Washington Star.

GREAT PROGRESS MADE.

IMPROVEMENTS TAKING PLACE ON THE DENTON PROPERTY.

A Splended Boulevard Being Built to Connect Park and Woodland Avenues—Aggressive Work of Silas D. Drake

Since the advent of Silas Dewey Drake in Plainfield early last summer there has been more or less said and written about the development of the old Denton property for residential plots, but those who have not personally visited the Denton property probably have but a faint appreciation of the marked improvements that are being made there. A Press reporter was driven over the property a few days ago by Mr. Drake, and was really surprised at the extensive changes and progress that has been made in the work of preparing the property for residential purposes. It was reflective, however, of the aggressive methods prusued by Mr. Drake in the operations he has been engaged in for the past thirty years in this section of New Jersey.

The most conspicuous and notable change about the property is the building of a wide boulevard, to be known as Evergreen avenue, from one end of the property to the other. A great deal of cutting and grading has been done, and the avenue is now nearly ready for madadamizing, which, when finished, will make one of the most beautiful drives leading out of the city.

In connection with the enterprise of Mr. Drake in having this avenue built through the property he controls, James E. Martine has given out the contracts for the continuation of the street from its present terminus at the edge of the Denton property directly through his property to intersect Park avenue a short distance north of the seminary building standing at the corner of Park and Martine avenues. When Mr. Martine completes the work this will make one continuous road from Park to Woodland avenues, and form a driveway that will run through one of the most picturesque and and sightly sections of this city.

When the work on Evergreen avenue is completed, Mr. Drake will immediately proceed with plans for the making of two other important avenues. One will be a continuation of the present Martine avenue and will make a connection with Woodland avenue. The other will be known as Thornton avenue.

Mr. Drake, who has been engaged almost solely in real estate operations for the past thirty years, says that the success he is meeting with in developing the Denton tract has been way beyond his expectations.

His Life Was Saved.

Mr. J. E. Lilly, a prominent citizen of Hannibal, Mo., lately had a wonderful deliverance from a frightful death. In telling of it he says: "I was taken with Typhoid Fever, that ran into Pneumonia. My lungs became hardened. I was so weak I couldn't even set up in bed. Nothing helped me. I expected to soon die of Consumption, when I heard of Dr. King's New Discovery. One bottle gave great relief. I continued to use it, and now am well and strong. I can say too much in its praise." This marvelous medicine is the surest and quickest cure in the world for all Throat and Lung Trouble. Regular size, 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at L. W. Randolph's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

Defendant Set Free.

The case of the Treasurer of the City of Plainfield against Andris Bobrowrisky on a serious charge, came up in the Council chambers this morning before City Judge Runyon and a jury of twelve men. Winfield S. Angleman represented the city and Codington & Swackhamer the defendant. The case, however, did not reach the jury as the proceedings were quashed on the ground that they were illegal and irregular. The defendant was therefore set free.

She Sings Four Octaves Ending With G in Alt.

Helen Fredericks, of St. Joseph, Mo., is a coming American prima donna.

Eastern critics assert that her voice is phenomenal in compass and compares with Melba's in purity of tone. Miss Fredericks sings four octaves, ending with G in alt, with facility. Her highest note is above the wonderful note of Ellen Beach Yaw.

Mr. F. R. Donaghey, a musical critic, is responsible for rescuing the young woman from the ranks of a comic opera organization. Hearing her sing at an impromptu gathering he recognized the value of her voice. It was not long before he interested others in the girl, and several musicians of note put forth a helping hand to launch the ambitious girl upon an operatic career. Masters were secured and the prima donna began to work in earnest.

The latest step toward converting the Missouri girl into a full-fledged prima donna has just been taken by a group of wealthy men who have formed themselves into a syndicate to send Miss Fredericks abroad for two years to study with Sbriglia in Paris. During her absence an opera now under way will be completed, a strong company formed and Miss Fredericks enabled to make her American debut under favorable circumstances.

Miss. Fredericks is a society belle in Chicago and other Western cities. In appearance she is a charming blonde, with a superb figure. She is athletic and has acquired a graceful carriage, which will be of advantage on the stage.

The Pope's Health and Habits.

Describing the habits of Pope Leo XIII, the "Domenica del Corriere," of Milan, says that he is so desirous of being considered robust that, though he always makes use of a thick stick while walking, he no sooner observes some stranger approaching than he swings his stick from hand to hand, scarcely using it. He has excellent sight and can read without glasses. He is quite delighted when he has shown that he can support all the fatigue of religous functions, official visits and the not light weight of pontificial robes during some ceremony. He is rather careless of his health during his restless nights. He wears when in bed warm stockings and garments of the finest flannel, and when he is seized with a poetical inspiration he rises from his bed, and, without waking his faithful attendant, Pio Centra, who sleeps in the anteroom, goes to his desk and writes down a Latin distich by the light of the night lamp, and will sometimes linger to compose more verses. In this way he has frequently taken one of those colds that have been reported real illnesses. Formerly the Pope would not hear of other means of warming his apartments than the old-fashioned blazier, but lately he has yielded to the remonstrance of his physicians and the rooms are made comfortable by proper stoves.—London Telegraph.
